FURTHER IMPROVEMENTS IN STOCKS

The Financial Situation in New York at End of First Week in March.

Examiner Special t

New York March 7th, 1908—The first week of March has developed still further improvements in the stock market and in consequence Wall Street is rather more hopeful of the future than it has been at any time since the subsidence of the disastrous panic of last Fall. It is true there has been little or no increase in the volume of business transacted on either the New York Stock Exchange or the Consolidated Stock Exchange, but the general tendency of prices has been upward and at the close of the week practically the entire list shows substantial advances over the quotations prevailing at the end of last week. Moreover, there are distinct evidences of a moderate demand from outside sources, which is accepted as indicating that the temper of the public, both as regards speculation and investment, has changed for the better.

The introduction of the so-called Hepburn bill in Congress, imposing a prohibitive tax on all marginal transactions in stocks, has led to no end of discussion, but from the very drastic character of this measure, Wall Street is convinced that it will fail of passage and even if it should pass its oppressive nature would soon result in its repeal. Aside from this matter, nearly all the developments of the week have been such as to inspire confidence in the future of the Stock Market.

PIE SOCIAL WAS GREAT SUCCESS

Enjoyable Affair Held at the Residence of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Maitland Last Night.

The pie social under the auspices of Rebekah Golden Link Lodge No. 81 I.O.F., last night at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Maitland, Maitland avenue, was a most enjoyable and successful affair. There was a large attendance and the evening was passed most pleasantly. Among those who contributed to the informal programme were Messrs. Clarke and Mendelson in musical numbers, Mr. Redgrave with a phonographic, Mr. W. McLaren, recitations and songs, and Mrs. A. A. Fowler, recitations. Refreshments consisting of sandwiches and many kinds of pie were served. Mr. and Mrs. Maitland proved most hospitable entertainers.

Rebekah Lodge is in a flourishing condition and has a membership at present of close to one hundred members.

Commissioners Appointed To Attend General Assembly

Important Business Was Transacted by the Peterborough Presbytery Yesterday---Dr. Duval Was Nominated As Moderator of the Assembly---Standing Committees Were Appointed.

Some important business was discussed at the afternoon session of the Peterborough Presbytery held in St. Paul's Church yesterday when there was a large attendance of both ministers and laymen.

A request was heard from the Stewart Settlement asking that the services there be continued for six months longer with Rev. Mr. McKenzie as minister, under the present arrangements. The request was granted.

A communication was read from Rev. P. M. Duncan of Colborne thanking the Presbytery for their kindness in connection with his jubilee.

Rev. Mr. Pogue of St. Paul's church was appointed to address the Presbyterial Society of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society in St. Andrew's church in May.

A call from Grafton in favour of Rev. Mr. Brokenshire was withdrawn and an application from Mr. Brokenshire for re-admission into the Presbyterian Church of Canada was granted. Mr. Brokenshire has been connected with the Presbyterian Chuch in the United States.

D. Duval of Winnipeg was nominated as moderator of the next General Assembly which meets in Winnipeg in June. Commissioners to attend the General Assembly were appointed as follows: Revs. W. Beattie, Cobourg; H. G. Abraham, Port Hope; J. G. Potter, Peterborough, and A. K. Church in the United States.

Dr. Duval of Winnipeg was nominated as moderator of the next General Assembly, which meets in Winnipeg in June. Commissioners to attend the General Assembly were appointed as follows: Revs. W. Beattie, Cobourg; H. G. Abraham, Port Hope; J. G. Potter, Peterborough, and A. K. McLeod, Brighton, ministers, and Messrs. R. Nicoll, Norwood; J. C. Shook, Peterborough; J. S. Fitzgerald, Lakefield, and Hugh Donaldson, Cold Springs, elders.

Rev. Mr. McFarlane and Mr. Fowler were appointed to represent the Presbytery on the committee for bills and overtures to the Synod, and Rev. W. Beattie on the same committee of the Assembly. Rev. Mr. Beattie and Mr. J. C. Shook were appointed to support the application of Rev. Mr. Brokenshire before the Assembly's committee on the reception of ministers.

Rev. S. S. Burns of Lakefield reported regarding the Young People's Society work, and Rev. W. Beattie on church life and work.

The following recommendations were passed:

That the Presbytery put on record its approval of the aggressive work undertaken by the new department of temperance and moral reform.

That we urgently recommend that the General Assembly committee on church life and work take steps to have the matter of a home for orphans and neglected children, under the auspices of our church, brought before the General Assembly at the next meeting with a view to establishing such a home.

Rev. Mr. Potter, in the absence of Mr. Keith, submitted the report of Sabbath schools, Rev. Mr. McLeod on systematic giving, Rev. Mr. Peckover of Omemee on foreign missions, Rev. Mr. Reeves of Campbellford, home missions, and Rev. D. A. Thompson, statistics of the church. All these reports were received and adopted.

The standing committees for the year were appointed as follows, the first name in each case being the convenor:

ISOLATION HOSPITAL PROBLEM IS BROUGHT UP ONCE AGAIN

"That the City Council be again requested to provide an isolation hospital in which contagious diseases can be treated as there is no place at present in which such cases can be isolated for treatment."

The average reader may find something familiar in the above resolution which was passed by the Board of Health at its regular meeting this morning. Just how many such resolutions have been presented to the council by the Health Board is not exactly known, but the number must be very large. Whether the council will adopt the attitude of the alder-men of other years towards the question remains to be seen.

The argument over the question arose this morning out of a discussion over the cases of scarlet fever which exists in the Barnardo Home.

Medical Health Officer Dr. Bingham stated that he had visited the home on Saturday last, in company with the sanitary inspector, and had found everything in a sanitary and satisfactory condition. The four children suffering from the disease were in a separate building and there was no danger of infection spreading among the other children, a number of whom are leaving to-day to make room for others who are expected from England. It would be perfectly safe, he thought, to allow these children to come in.

The medical health officer was instructed to see that the building was thoroughly disinfected.

The chairman, Dr. Burnham, considered that the new council should be notified of the need for an isolation hospital.

Mayor Rush was present, and expressed the opinion that a suitable building could be erected on the city's own property at a cost of $2,000 or $3,000.

Dr. Young considered that the city might in the meantime secure a building on the outskirts of the city and equip it so that in the case of an epidemic the authorities would be in a position to deal with the outbreak.

After further discussion along the same lines the resolution given above was passed.

Sanitary Inspector Ball reported that he had inspected the premises at 460 George street and 217 Charlotte street and had found them far from being in a sanitary condition. In the latter house there were no less than fifteen boarders and the building was not connected with the sewer.

On motion the owners of the two properties were instructed to see that they are connected with the sewer and placed in a sanitary condition before May 1st.

There were present Dr. Burnham, chairman, Dr. Young, Dr. Bingham, medical health officer, Messrs. Jas. Edgar, Chas. Murty and A. Parker, and George Ball, sanitary inspector.

St. Peter's T. A. S. Present Ticket To Rev. Father McColl

Ticket to Naples and an Address Which Was a Real Work of Art in its Preparation.

TOOK PLACE AT RECTORY

The officers of St. Peter's T.A.S. waited upon Rev. Father McColl at the rectory, Reid street, last night, and presented him with a ticket to Naples and an address. The event took place in the parlour of the rectory with His Lordship Bishop O'Connor and all the clergy present. The address was read by Mr. Joseph Maher, and Mr. O'Donnell made the presentation. The address was as follows:

To Rev. W. J. McColl,
Rector, St. Peter's Cathedral,
Peterborough.

Reverend and Dear Father,—

Within the last few days we, the members of St. Peter's Total Abstinence, have learned that you contemplate crossing the Atlantic for the benefit of your health and to obtain a well-earned rest.

We take this occasion to offer you our dutiful and loving regards and to express our sincere appreciation of your unfailing and kindly interest in the T.A.S. since becoming rector of the parish.

Your ready sympathy with our spiritual director, Rev. Dr. O'Brien, in your many troubles, and your untiring devotion have earned for you the love and esteem of the T.A.S. as well as the entire parish.

We have noticed with satisfaction your unremitting care in the general welfare and wants of the parish, your solicitude, more especially for the rising generation who will be the hope of the church in the future.

We are pleased, therefore, dear reverend father, to bear this testimony and recognize that time and again that you have shown your paternal love for this society, by your many noble acts of mind and heart.

We feel we would not be filling the dictates of our conscience if we did not tender you some evidence of our appreciation of your many acts of kindness and sympathy.

We could not but remark, dear father, that the work accomplished by you has been done at no little sacrifice on your part, and that your general health has been greatly affected.

We assure you, reverend father, you have our sincerest sympathy, and constant prayers during your absence, and we ask that you will also remember the T.A.S. in your prayers when celebrating the holy sacrifice of the mass in whatever land you may be.

We wish to give some tangible evidence of our sincere regard and affection, and as a token of it we beg you, reverend father, to accept this ticket from Peterborough to Naples.

We trust in God that you will be long spared to us and that you will be speedily restored to full enjoyment of perfect health, is the most earnest prayer of the members of St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society.

The names signed to the address were as follows: Rev. M. J. O'Brien, D.D., spiritual adviser; P. O'Donnell, president; W. S. Merrill, 1st vice-president; W. E. Meagher, 2nd vice-president; M. J. Maher, recording-secretary; A. H. Lehane, financial secretary; Jos. Primeau, treasurer; H. O'Rourke, marshall; F. J. English, assistant marshall; E. Flaherty, guard; N. J. Bibby, Jas. Dram, Jas. Clancy, D. Cushing and J. S. Noyes, trustees; John O'Brien and J. J. Hanrahan.

Addresses

Rev. Father McColl, in a few words, expressed the sincere gratitude which he felt. He had tried to give the T. A. S. every encouragement in his power, and he congratulated Rev. Dr. O'Brien upon the great success of his efforts. He thanked the society for their kindness and assured them that the society would always have his support.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor said it was with extreme pleasure that he saw the expressed appreciation of Father McColl's labours. He had not spared himself, and now the time had come when a rest was required. Rev. Dr. O'Brien also spoke a few words referring to Father McColl's valuable assistance to St. Peter's T. A. S., and wished him a speedy return to renew with fresh vigour his labours among the people.

Comparisons Not Founded On Facts, Says Grain Buyer

He Gives The Prices On Grains At Kendry And At Peterborough On Date Of Criticism.

THE SITUATION DIFFERENT

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Our attention was drawn to an article in the issue of the Peterborough Review of the 6th, which is not only misleading but untruthful and we were rather surprised that the Review would publish such a statement, even if paid for it, without first verifying the source. This article, with scare headlines given from what is called a well-known farmer, comparing in his own mind the Peterborough prices for grain with what he says are being paid at the big burg of Kendry. The price of oats, he says, at Kendry is 50c, Peterborough 48c; actual price paid on 6th March 50 to 52 cents at Peterborough.

Barley he gives at Kendry, is 68 to 70 cents, and at Peterborough 58 cents, while the facts are that for some time the price of barley has been in Peterborough 55 to 70 cents, according to quality, as there is a very wide difference in values in the crop of 1907. Then wheat he gives at Kendry, 85 cents to a dollar per bushel, and at Peterborough 80 to 82 cents. This is either a wilful misstatement or this well known farmer must have been asleep since last summer, as prices of wheat in Peterborough have never been below 90 cents since last August, and have been as high as one dollar and five cents per bushel and on. On the date the comparisons were made by this same man, the prices in Peterborough was the same as at Kendry, namely, 95 cents, given by Mr. Wilson himself. Car wheat in Toronto the same day on the Board of Trade was 95 cents for red and 96 cents for white wheat by car load. Peterborough buyers do not go to Kendry for grain values, but for the information of this good farmer, as well as the public, Mr. Wilson with his cheap outfit at Kendry, nominal rent, nominal taxes, does his own unloading with the assistance of the farmers who take their grain there, can pay just as high a price for grain as any Peterborough buyer.

Nobody finds fault, however, with Mr. Wilson or the farmers. They are running their own show and are at perfect liberty to take their grain where they please. It is a free country and the Peterborough grain buyers have the same right to pay such prices as they find in their interests to pay without any public criticism or dictation from either this well known farmer or the Peterborough Review, unless either or both of them contribute towards the paying for such grain, not that the grain buyers object to being criticized so long as such criticism is founded on facts.

Thanking you for the space in your valuable paper for the above explanation.

I am yours,
GRAIN BUYER.

Another Vicious Dog Has Been Ordered To Be Shot

Mr. Redmond's Big Dog Must Go The Way Of All Offenders—It May Escape a Bullet By Being Sent to Chicago.

IT ATTACKED A BOY

Mr. Robert Redmond of Donegal street was given three days to shoot his large yellow and white dog, and if it is found on the street after that time the police will shoot it on sight. However, it is not likely that a bullet will find its way into the dog's vitals, for Mr. Redmond said, "You might as well shoot me as that dog," and he will probably send it to his son in Chicago.

The charge as read by Mr. Dumble was for habouring a vicious dog which, on March 9, jumped on Chas. Walsh and bit him. In the evidence that was brought forward it was shown that the biting did not occur, but the dog certainly has vicious propensities. Young Walsh was walking along Hunter street west of Aylmer street. He saw Mr. Redmond coming towards him, but did not notice the dog until suddenly it sprang at him and knocked him down three times, barking loudly and acting in a very fierce and angry manner. Dr. Young was passing at the time and beat the dog away with Mr. Redmond's cane. Shortly afterwards Mr. Redmond was walking south on Aylmer street with his dog. A young boy named John Jenkinson was peadling bills, and when coming out of a house the dog ran at him in the same manner as on Hunter street, frightening the boy, who had trouble in protecting himself with his canvas bag.

Shoot the dog

Mr. Redmond explained that the boys pelt himself and the dog with snowballs. The dog is a faithful animal and should not be shot. Mr Dumble could not understand how a person could discriminate a dog's friendly manifestations from those that were vicious, when he jumped on people and knocked them down.

His Worship decided that the dog should be shot. Mr. Redmond wanted to send it to Chicago, but Mr. Dumble said no one wanted a yellow dog in Chicago. Money was no difficulty to Mr. Redmond, who said he would spend $100 to send it away. However, it may still see Chicago if it is packed up and expressed before Sunday.

PETERBOROUGH BUILDING PROSPECTS ARE BRIGHT

"I have figured on more building this spring than any spring for some time," said a well-known local contractor this morning.

"The outlook for building is very bright. There will not be so many houses built, perhaps, but there are several warehouses and public buildings, and other large buildings, which make the prospects for the building trades very good.

"A lot of men are figuring on building if conditions improve, and if the financial situation clears, as I expect it will, the building trades will have a good year."

W. E. MEAGHER SELECTED AS NEW MEMBER OF POLICE FORCE

William E. Meagher, the well-known lacrosse, rugby and hockey player, was, at yesterday afternoon's meeting of the Police Commissioners, appointed to a position on the police force of the city. Mr. Meagher was the choice of twenty-eight applications for the position, and the appointment seems to be a most popular one among the business men and generally throughout the city. Both physically and mentally, Mr. Meagher is eminently suited for the position, and in addition he is a most popular young man with a host of friends in the city. His application for the position was supported by a petition signed by the greater part of the business men of Peterborough, and it is felt that he will make a most capable and efficient officer.

There were present at yesterday's meeting His Honour Judge Weller, chairman; D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate, and His Worship Mayor Rush.

Applications for the position were received from the following:

E Griffin, Frank H Bridgen, R Glover, Arthur Haines, W F Miles, F Smith, J Foster, S N Kingdon, Bruce Menzies, H F Flanagan, Jos. Rosno, Eli Hoocy, Thos H Byers, J M Wells, Fred Newhall, H Castle, Jos R Reynold, Robt. McGuire, Arch Reynolds, G Rose, David Blair, W E Meagher, S Gaskins, Geo Meharry, W E Smith, Wm Ling, Jas. Kearns, and R W Hutchinson.

It was moved by Mayor Rush, seconded by Mr. Dumble, that Wm. E. Meagher be appointed a police constable for the city at a salary of $500 per year, to date from April 1, 1908, and that the Chief procure a uniform for him, his employment to be liable to termination at any time by the Commissioners.—Carried.

SMITH RESIDENTS WERE HONOURED

Mr. and Mrs. "Sandy" Davidson Presented With Chairs and an Address —Coming to Peterborough.

Before leaving their country home on the First line of Smith, to come to Peterborough to reside, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Davidson were last evening surprised by a number of their neighbours and friends and presented with two handsome chairs—a quarter-cut oak and a wicker—accompanied by an address. The address was read by Mr. T. D. Young and the presentation was made by Mrs. Young.

The address was as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Davidson, Smith.

Dear Friends,—It is with feelings of regret that we, who have been for so long a time your friends and neighbours, are assembled here to say farewell before your departure for Peterborough. For many years we have enjoyed your presence amongst us. We have during that time learned to respect you, both for your estimable qualities as neighbours and your industry in following your occupation so that naturally we feel a distinct loss to the community, although separated only but a short distance.

In view of your past, pleasant and profitable relations we desire to present you with these chairs as reminders of the time you resided in this township. With these go also our hearty and best wishes for a bright, lengthy and prosperous future in your new home in Peterborough and we hope that we will still meet many times to renew our pleasant acquaintances of the past.

Signed on behalf of the neighbours, Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Young, W. McKee and J. Tully.

Smith, March 10th, 1908.

Mr. and Mrs. Davidson made suitable replies, thanking the company for their kindness not only by presentations of last night but from their many favours of the past.

Refreshments were served during the evening and a very pleasant time spent.

IBSEN'S "A DOLL'S HOUSE"

Here Saturday at the Grand—A Treat For Theatregoers.

The name of Miss Jane Corcoran is now included in the list of famous actresses who have played Nora in Ibsen's "A Doll's House." Miss Corcoran is the first to appear in the part in any American city excepting New York and Chicago.

The first to play Nora was Fru Hennings, the Scandinavian actress, who made the greatest success of her career in the part. The play was first produced at the Royal Theatre in Copenhagen, Denmark, and the remarkable success it attained led others to play it. Soon it was seen in all the larger cities of Europe.

Nora's startling declaration of independence afforded such an inexhaustable theme for heated discussion that it had to be formally barred at social gatherings in the capitals of Europe.

Among those who have played "A Doll's House" in America are Madame Rejane, Madame Mojeska, Miss Beatrice Cameron (Mrs. Richard Mansfield), Mrs. Minnie Maddern-Fiske and Madame Nazimova.

Miss Corcoran's portrayal of the part of Nora is said to equal, some say it rises above the heights of art reached by her famous predecessors. Miss Corcoran is possessed of charm of countenance and figure, a winning personality, and has youth to her advantage. Miss Corcoran will be seen at the Grand on Saturday, March 14, matinee and night, supported by Mr. James M. Brophy and the most capable company Mr. Arthur C. Aiston could secure.

FIRE DRILL IN LOCAL SCHOOLS

"Parent" Believes a Weekly Fire Drill Should be Held.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

I quite agree with Mr. Martin's suggestion in your yesterday's issue. A weekly fire drill should be made compulsory by the board. I am told that in some of the schools fire drills have been very few and far between in the past. I think each principal should be compelled to keep a record of the fire drills held in his school, and the totals published with the regular monthly statistics supplied by the inspector to the board. They would be quite as interesting and more satisfying to the parents than the average attendance. The trouble is we are only wake up from our complacency by a catastrophe and then go to sleep again.

Yours truly

PARENT.

PROOF!

That Zam-Buk Grows New Healthy Skin.

The unique power belonging to Zam-Buk for growing new healthy skin when it has been destroyed by injury, disease or operation, is illustrated by the recent experience of Mr. J. Schofield, of 467 Hamilton road, London, Ont. He says:—"A friend of mine (Mr. Wm. Ball of London) was severely and terribly burnest through an explosion of kerosene oil. He was taken to the hospital where he suffered intense pain. The wounds refused to heal, and the doctors decided to resort to skin-grafting, and I consented to have some skin transplanted from my leg to his body. Although this was done on several occasions the skin refused "to take" until Mr. Ball heard of Zam-Buk. From the time he applied Zam-Buk new healthy skin began to grow. I then used Zam-Buk for the places on my leg from which the skin was removed, and I am glad to report that new skin has grown, and therefore consider Zam-Buk the best skin food I have known."

Zam-Buk builds up new tissue in a way that is not possible with ordinary preparations. For healing eczema, running sores, cuts, bruises, burns, boils, eruptions, scalp sores, itch, chapped hands and diseases of the skin, it is without equal. All druggists and stores sell it, 50c a box, or postpaid from the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

DOG WAS FROTHING AT MOUTH

Was Killed by Blow From Hammer as It Sprang to Bite

Mr. Wm. Stabler, Stewart street, north, killed a dog last Monday night which was either mad or poisoned. He had a hammer in his hand and as the dog, frothing at the mouth, made a spring at him he struck it on the head with the hammer and killed it at once.

The dog was one of those nomads which apparently has no home or friends. It was a collie and has been wandering around the streets. It probably had eaten some poison which was beginning to act on it although Mr. Stabler is not sure that it was not really mad. It made a vicious snap at him but was killed in the act.

DEBATE ON THE POWER QUESTION

Premier Whitney Answers Critics in Provincial House.

SAYS HE RECEIVED NO OFFER

Rejected Proposals Before They Were Made—Story of Major St. Aubyn's Approaches — Why the Province Could Entertain No Proposition —Liability Too Great—Bound by Former Agreements.

Toronto, March 11.—"We are not a Government professing infallibility, but we propose to continue to conduct this great power question in such a manner as will enable us the continued approval of the people. We propose to go on in the interests of the people, and, as I have said before, with our backs to the wall."

With these words the Prime Minister, Hon. Mr. Whitney, amid Government applause, concluded his explanatory address dealing with the motion of Hon. Mr. MacKay, the Liberal leader for information regarding the Government negotiations with the Electrical Development Co., prior to its reported absorption by the William Mackenzie interests.

Mr. Whitney availed himself of the opportunity to tell the story of the development of the whole power movement from the time when the present administration took office, and the subsequent formation of the Hydro-Electric Commission. He went over the history of the negotiations, told how two representatives of the Electrical Development Co. came with a proposition, "while in their pockets they had the proxies they had procured to turn over the company to Mr. William Mackenzie," denied that Major St. Aubyn ever made an offer, but merely sought negotiations, which it was impossible to grant owing to the clause in the Developing Co.'s contracts prohibiting Government operation and competition, and concluded by dealing an effective blow to the oft-repeated tale that differences had arisen between the Minister of Power and his colleagues.

The Prime Minister emphasized his and the Government's preparedness to stand by Hon. Adam Beck, and bestowed upon the chairman of the Hydro-Electric Commission a vigorous tribute of appreciation.

Hon. Mr. MacKay presented his motion for a return on the negotiations of the Government with the Electrical Development Co. prior to the reported absorption of the company by the Mackenzie interests.

The Prime Minister began by twitting the Liberal leader on his failing to pass any opinion or make any declaration on the subject. He contrasted his position with that of the Liberal organ which had made certain allegations and demanded explanations. He said the paper in question was inaccurate when it stated he had reference to the alleged St. Aubyn offer in his words at the recent banquet.

"I did not allude to any such proposal," said Mr. Whitney. "I referred to the proposition made to the Government on behalf of the Electrical Development Co. by two gentlemen who, at the very time, had in their pockets the proxies they had procured to turn over the company to William Mackenzie."

Mr. Whitney traced the progress of the power movement from the time he took office, the appointing of the original commission of investigation, Messrs. Beck, Pattinson and Ellis, as a result of which the legislation of 1906 was passed creating the Hydro-Electric Commission, with Hon. Messrs. Beck and Hendrie and Mr. C. R. Smith. They found three companies developing power and asked them to tender for supplying the commission. The Ontario Power Co. tendered for $12 per horse-power at high tension; the Canadian Power Co. at $12 at low tension and the Electrical Development Co. did not make a tender. Then the commission secured estimates of the cost and was anxious to favor the Electrical Development Co. rather than a company whose interest was partly in a foreign land. The Ontario Co. tendered at $10.40 up to 25,000 horse-power, and $10 thereafter, and the Electrical Development Co. $12 and $10. The latter company was naturally disappointed at the result. Then the commission and the Government went to the Ontario Power Co. and got them to consent to serve a district east of Hamilton to Owen Sound, and offered the Electrical Co. the right to furnish Toronto and the west at the same figure as the Ontario Co. and they declined.

Coming to the subject of the return Mr. Whitney said he had no knowledge that Mr. Mackenzie had secured a controlling interest in the Electrical Co. other than what he had seen in the newspapers.

"Some time ago," said the Prime Minister, "I received an intimation from Mr. Grenfell, president of the Canadian Agency Co., Limited, whom I had seen when in England discussing the situation as to the bondholders, that Major St. Aubyn would come to Canada shortly with the intention of interviewing the Government in regard to the bonds of the company. Mr. St. Aubyn, I need not say, is a gentleman of high standing in financial circles in England and fought with distinction in South Africa. He came to my office on Jan. 29 and said he came on behalf of the bondholders in England. He urged the ill-effects that would follow any failure of the Electrical Development Co. to meet the interest on them. He then asked if I would consider a proposition for the Government to take over the plant and transmission lines of the company. I said, No, we had practically accepted the contract of the Ontario Power Co. which had offered to supply power at a lower rate than the other company, and could not honorably recede from the agreement. I am sure hon. gentlemen would not expect us, who have the honor of the crown in charge, to accept the offer of this company who had refused to modify its terms. We could not be expected to treat that company in this way, but no offer or proposal was made by Mr. St. Aubyn, either verbal or in writing, nor did he say he was authorized to make an offer, nor did he make any reference to the city of Toronto. The situation in connection with the Electrical Development Co. and the Government or the Hydro-Electric Commission was discussed and I assured him that the Government would do anything in its power to aid any reasonable solution. He took his leave and the next day I received from him a letter, expressing his satisfaction with the interview.

Mr. Whitney added Mr. St. Aubyn had declared he was never interviewed nor had stated what the Globe alleged he had stated, and he was distinctly displeased at his being dragged into a political dispute.

It would, said the Prime Minister, cost the province $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 to take over the plant. But then was another obstacle in the way. Under the regime of the old Government and without being submitted to the Legislature for ratification the Cabinet, through the Niagara Falls Park Commission, closed contracts with Canadian Niagara Power Co. in 1899, the Ontario Power Co. in 1900, and the Electrical Development Co. in 1903, under which the then Government deliberately shut the province off from all opportunity to generate power for itself.

Apart from this deterring fact Mr. Whitney said to take over the Electrical Development Co. the Government would have to assume $8,000,000 in bonds, $6,000,000 in stock, and assume $2,000,000 of floating indebtedness. Besides $250,000 would have to be expended in increasing capacity, and it would involve the purchase of land for an electric railway from Toronto to Niagara Falls. All this would have to be expended, said Mr. Whitney, to serve as far as Hamilton.

The Prime Minister closed with a tribute to Hon. Adam Beck.

"He has borne the heat and burden of the day," declared Mr. Whitney, "and has given services greater in volume and greater in value than any public work or any service by any public man in the history of the province of Ontario. His nine colleagues know somewhat of what his great work has been, and it is with full hearts that the members of the Government are prepared publicly to bear grateful tribute to the tremendous work he has done. He has been attacked in the most unfair, unreasonable and cruel way, but we love him for the work he has done; aye, and we love him for the enemies he has made."

Mr. Whitney referred to the legend of the cave of Adullum, where, he said, were gathered the discontented, ill and in distress, planning their attacks upon the shining mark in this great public service.

"The Government," he concluded, "is not professing infallibility, but we propose to conduct the power question in such a way as to have the continued approval of the people. We propose to go on in the interests of the people, and as I remarked once before, with our backs to the wall."

Spring is surely coming now. The water is running all over the pavements and so the snow disappears.

NEW WAY TO BE WELL

Healthfulness of Oranges.

The one lesson which most people never seem to learn is, how to guard their health.

We have been eating oranges since time immemorial, yet how many of us know that orange juice contains a medicinal principle which has a marked action on the stomach, bowels, kidneys and skin. Some physicians go so far as to say that they can cure the average case of Indigestion, Constipation, Billiousness and Dry Skin with orange juice and proper diet.

This can be easily proved to the satisfaction of any sufferer. Take the juice of one or two oranges every morning before breakfast, take one or two "Fruit-a-tives" every night at bed-time, exercise a reasonable care in diet, and the proof will be found in health.

The cure will be greatly assisted and hastened by taking "Fruit-a-tives" in conjunction with the orange juice. "Fruit-a-tives" are fruit juices in which the medicinal principle of oranges, apples, figs and prunes are many times increased by the special way in which they are combined. Then tonics are added and the whole made into tablets. "Fruit-a-tives" may be obtained at all dealers, or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price—50c a box—6 for $2.50. OLD AGE ANNUITIES WAS DISCUSSED

Mr. Fielding Introduces Measure in House of Commons.

RAILWAY ACT AMENDMENT

Mr. Graham Explains the Bill—Other Measures to Encourage Building of Dry Docks—Telegraphs and Telephones Placed Under Railway Commission — Members Deny Keeping the Returns.

Ottawa, March 11.—Yesterday afternoon the Government accepted some of the proposals of W. F. Maclean (South York) with respect to the duties of the board of railway commissioners.

The principal provision incorporated in Mr. Graham's bill "To amend the Railway Act with respect to telegraphs and telephones and jurisdiction of the board of railway commissioners," which was introduced by Mr. Graham, is one to impose a penalty on railway companies for failure to supply cars for shipment of products. This is commonly known as "reciprocal demurrage." Under the act as it stands the railway board has authority to penalize shippers for holding cars placed at their disposal by railway companies beyond reasonable time.

Mr. Graham, in explaining the features of his bill, said some of the provisions had already been discussed in connection with another bill (Mr. Maclean's reciprocal demurrage bill) which was recently before the House. For some time, he said, the question of placing telegraph companies under the jurisdiction of the board had been discussed, and the announcement was made that it would be done. The new act provided that telegraph companies, with their tolls, connections, etc., would be placed under jurisdiction of the board, the same as the railway companies. Wireless telegraph companies were also included in the bill. The clauses relating to telephone companies had also been readjusted, but there had been no material change in this respect.

One clause provided for "specific performance." This would, he thought, meet the views of several hon. gentlemen who had discussed the question in connection with other bills before the House. It provided for performance of all contracts entered into between railway companies and municipalities or private individuals. Power had been given the railway board to enforce such contracts, and in this respect provisions were very wide.

Mr. Borden asked if the railway board had been provided with the necessary machinery to enforce contracts.

Mr. Graham said the board itself would be a court. He proceeded to say that sleeping car companies and cartage companies in connection with the transfer of freight as well as what was contentiously known as reciprocal demurrage, would be placed under the authority of the board.

Heretofore the board had been empowered to enforce penalties against shippers for holding cars. It was proposed to make the railway companies liable to a penalty for failure to provide cars within a reasonable period.

Mr. Cockshutt asked if the telegraph companies which had been in possession of streets of cities for years would be included in the measure. A case had arisen in Brantford where it was desired to pave streets and where the poles and wires of the telegraph company were in the way. Would the new act compel the removal of the poles? The Dominion Government many years ago gave the power to the company to erect their poles on the streets and the company refused to remove them.

Mr. Graham said it was a board question. In some instances, he thought commissioners might have the power, but the question would arise as to the contract entered into. He could not answer off-hand.

Mr. Northrup referred to the case of the Belleville and Northwestern Railway which had been heavily bonussed and afterwards taken over by the Grand Trunk, which refused to operate the line.

Mr. Graham could not say what the effect of the new law would be, but details would be discussed later.

"An absolute falsehood," R. L. Borden characterized an editorial in Monday's Globe, which charged that he and several other Opposition members, including Messrs. Ames, Foster, Clements, Armstrong, Lake and Kemp, with being responsible for the disappearance of documents entrusted to them. The preceding paragraph was to the effect that the original documents which had been brought down either disappeared entirely or were returned in a mutilated state.

The Globe had carefully overlooked the fact that the return from which it secured information had charged two fyles to the Prime Minister. As a matter of fact they were not original documents and the charge inferentially made, that they had been mutilated, was an utter and complete falsehood.

Mr. Foster had also a grievance. He had been charged by this "veracious journal," edited by a "particularly veracious and reverend gentleman," with purloining five fyles. The statement was utterly "mendacious," as he proceeded to show.

Mr. Fielding introduced his resolution respecting aid to drydocks. It empowers the Government to pay 3 per cent. per year for 20 years up to $45,000 a year on the cost of an approved dry dock; also 3 per cent. per annum for 20 years up to $15,000 a year upon extensions of drydocks. If, after the subsidies are paid and the dock is not operated, the Government may take it over, complete it and operate it until the cost of such completion and operation has been paid out in revenue.

Then the Finance Minister explained his old age annuities resolution, which, he explained, was on the lines of the tentative bill introduced last session in the Senate by Sir Richard Cartwright, but differing from it in several particulars. The bill was not to be confounded with the old age pension proposals now before Ottawa. The only contribution by the Government involved, in the annuities bill was that of a large rate of interest and cost of management. The object of the bill was to provide small annuities at minimum cost. The largest annuity payable to one person would be $600 or to a husband and wife conjointly $600. The minimum limit of age at which annuities would be payable was 55 years, except in the case of a person becoming disabled, in which event the person would receive an annuity in proportion to which he had paid in.

Annuities would not be transferable, not subject to seizure under any procession of law except upon proof that the annuitant had paid money into the fund with the intention to defraud his creditors. The cost of administration would be the same as collectors of customs and other Government would look after collections and deposits at a very small remuneration.

Mr. Fielding did not expect schemes would be very widely accepted at first, unlike the insurance business there would be no solicitation.

NEGROES WERE WHIPPED.

Another Outrage by Night Riders—Much Property Burned.

Brooksville, Ky., March 11.—Fifty or more night-riders came into town early to-day in buggies and on horseback, and before they left 15,000 pounds of tobacco, belonging to Robt. Stanton, one of the wealthiest planters in this section, had been burned.

Paducah, Ky., March 11.—One hundred masked "night riders rode into the Town of Birmingham, Marshall County, late Monday night, shot six negroes, one of them it is believed fatally, and then whipped five others. The riders took possession of the town and shot into every negro cabin in the place. In one of these, John Scruggs, his wife and three children and a granddaughter, were struck by bullets. Scruggs is probably fatally wounded. The riders then took five other negroes to the banks of the Tennessee, where they whipped them. After warning 25 other negroes to leave the place the masked men then rode away.

The raid followed a warning of two weeks ago to all the colored population to leave Birmingham.

Clarkesville, Tenn., March 11.—Near Woodford, about 15 miles from this city, Brown Bennett, a young man, was found early yesterday in the public road in a dying condition, with a bullet hole through his head. Near Bennett were two dead horses and three empty shotguns. It is believed that young Bennett was a night rider, and was shot down by persons whom he and his gang had attacked.

Murdered Whole Family.

Tenino, Wash., March 11.—Warren McKay, a Canadian, formerly of Winnipeg, but a resident here ten years, killed his wife and three children and then committed suicide by taking poison.

Two men discovered McKay's body yesterday, and notifying the town marshal, the latter immediately proceeded to the house to inform Mrs. McKay. They were horrified to find there the mother, 7-year-old girl and 4-year-old boy with throats cut, and a 6-year-old girl with her head crushed by blows from a sharp instrument, probably a hammer.

McKay was suffering from a cancer in the face, which was preying on his mind.

Ten Years for Theft.

Peterboro, March 11.—Charles Burke of Toronto was sentenced to ten years in the Kingston penitentiary yesterday morning by Judge Weller in the County Court. The charge was that of having robbed Jurser's store at Buckhorn of $25, and of pointing a gun at two ladies who were there.

FRED WHITCROFT'S TEAM DEFEAT PORTAGE La PRAIRIE SEVEN

Edmonton, Alta., March 10. — Edmonton defeated Portage la Prairie here last night in the first game of the series for the championship of Western Canada, and they will challenge for the Stanley Cup.

The score was 5 to 4. It was the hardest fought game ever seen in Western Canada. The locals led at half-time by 5-3, Portage scoring only one goal in the last 30 minutes. The ice was soft, but the game was full of brilliant plays.

Ross, Fraser and Kean starred for Portage. Charlie Quinn in goal gave one of the most brilliant exhibitions ever seen here. Parr in goal for Edmonton. Stopped many phenomenal shots.

Fred Whitcroft on the forward line played a most wonderful game, scoring the last three goals for the locals. The next game will be played Wednesday night.

The teams were as follows:—

Portage—	Edmonton
Goal
Quinn	Parr
Point
Ross	Bamford
Cover
Ross	Crowley
Rover
Kean	Whitcroft

Charlton	Deeton

NEW BOWLING ALLEYS WILL BE READY FOR OPENING NEXT WEEK

After three weeks of hard, unceasing toil, during which period his efforts were supplemented by a corps of from eight to fifteen other workmen, Mr. A. Fagerstedt, the Chicago expert, who is charge of the work, expects that another week's toil will about complete his task, and Mr. J. B. Hay, proprietor of the new bowling club, expects to have the opening on Tuesday or Wednesday of next week. The occasion will be marked by the visit of one or two of Toronto's fastest teams, who will be matched against local players. Two alleys will be reserved for the Review-Examiner game and two others will be available for the public, several requests from local bowlers that they be reserved for them on that occasion, having been already received.

The public will hardly recognize the old opera house by the time the alleys are ready for opening. The place has been renovated and decorated, and the alleys themselves have been built up about eighteen inches above the floor. They are constructed on the up-to-date American noiseless plan, and practically every bit of wood used in their construction is brought from Chicago for the purpose. A large number of people visit the alleys daily, and all who care to inspect them will find the doors always open.

The public will be invited to attend the opening ceremonies, a special invitation being extended to the ladies for whom the gallery will be exclusively reserved.

A number of bowlers have expressed a desire to see the Peterborough bowling league revived, and the prospects are that a meeting will be called before the week is over to complete the re-organization. Several teams have already been promised and a valuable team trophy will be offered for competition, together with one for the bowler making the highest single score. A tournament may also be inaugurated at an early date, when local talent will from time to time be given an opportunity of trying their skill against some of the best teams from Toronto.

Strikes and Spares

Let the Review beware! Jim Clarke went into training last night for that all important game at the opening of the new bowling alleys next week. At present he is only taking light dumb-bell practice, but on Thursday he will start leg, arm and lung exercise. The remainder of the Examiner team have taken a week off and the quartette will leave for Toronto to-morrow morning to put themselves in charge of a capable instructor. It is rumoured that Joe Hay is giving the Review men instructions on the side but this report has not been confirmed to date. However, the faithful satellites from the Dury sheet are welcome to any help they can scrape up. They'll need it all.

No, gentle reader, the man who went down George street last night wildly swinging his arms was not a lunatic. It was simply Josh Craig practising the proper swing for that Review game next week.

Thompson's Colts, of Chicago, world's bowling champions, have already wired a challenge to the winning team in the Review-Examiner clash.

The pin boys will wear masks and specially constructed suits of armour when the Review and Examiner stalwarts start to make the timber fly.

The Review crowd look from this distance to be just as poor bowlers as they are hockeyists.

It will be another great triumph for the dear old Grit party, though really, we would rather not give the coming engagement a political aspect.

Let the blame for this horrible catastrophe rest upon Review shoulders.

Three years ago there were no regulation alleys in Toronto, but the game has so grown in popularity that there are now over fifty and the devotees of the great indoor pastime numbers thousands, where there were dozens a few short months ago.

Bowling is a permanency, not a fad.

Peterborough bowlers have been invited to take part in the London, Ont., tournament the latter part of this month.

There are over a dozen bowling leagues in Toronto, comprising from 6 to 12 clubs each, including a Bankers' and a Financial League. The game has caught on like wild fire among the business and professional men.

In Messrs. Frost, McIlroy, Boyd and Gutterson, Peterborough has a quartette of the best bowlers in the province, and there are others in the Electric City who will make the cracks from Toronto and other bowling centres bowl their prettiest.

BRIDGENORTH CLUB LOST AGAIN

Were Defeated Last Night by the Auburns By 5 Goals to 3.

The Auburns defeated the Bridgenorth City League seven last night by 5 goals to 3 in an exceedingly hard-fought and interesting game at Brock street rink. At half-time the woollen men were ahead by 2 goals to 0, but in the second half honours were even, each team scoring three goals. Up to the last minute Bridgenorth were but one goal behind, but just before time was called the Auburns rattled another past Belleghem leaving them 2 up. It was an exciting and rough contest, both teams mixing it up at all stages. Fred Jopling of the Bridgenorth team was injured by a collision with Brumwell, but returned to the game after having four stiches placed in a cut over his eye. The Bridgenorth team showed better form than they have at any time this season and gave the victors a great run for their money. The textile men, however played great hockey at all times.

Harry Munro of the Chieftains was a satisfactory referee.

Following were the teams:

Auburns—	Bridgenorth
Goal
Kempt	E. Belleghem

Brumwell	Conway
Cover Point
Shaw	J. Jopling
Rover
Kenury	F. Jopling

Kenury scored three and Shaw the other two of the Auburns' goals.

GLADIATORS PERFORM IN HAVELOCK, TOO

Two Old Timers Lead Their Respective Teams.

Examiner Special.

Havelock, March 11.—One of the most exciting and scientific hockey matches of the season took place at the Park Grove rink on Monday night between the "Losers" and "Winners," all the players being stars, having graduated from the Boston Correspondence School for hockey players. "Hemlock Butters and "Auxiliary"Voyer headed their respective teams. These two men were chosen as leaders, having played shinny together way back in 57.

Most of the players must be in the poultry business as the game was nearly all fowls (fouls.)

Clipper was there with his wood-chopping apparatus and entertained the crowd by his ice-sweeping acts and even the ice cracked with merriment as it came in contact with his head.

Although to all appearances, there were no stars in the sky, the players declared they saw many. The ice was very soft, but the players found it hard enough.

After the players were winded the score stood 4—3 in favour of Mr. Voyer's team.

It is likely that there will be another game between the star players of town on Monday night next.

The following is a list of the gladiators who took part in this great event:—

MIDLAND ARE INTERMEDIATE O. H. A. CHAMPIONS

Orillia, March 10.—Before 2,000 people to-night Midland won the intermediate championship of the O.H.A. by the score of 8 to 5. At half time the score stood 3 to 2 in favour of Midland.

The game was won by Midland on good combination work, but the big Collingwood team put up an article of the game that pleased their admirers to the limit. Collingwood played a strong game individually, and had a good deal of the hard luck. Herb. Clarke refereed a good game, and showed no favours. President Turner and Secretary Hewitt were spectators.

For Midland, Chase, Hastings, Jook and Hanley were the best. Gould was marked right from the start, and was pretty well used up at the end, but was game to the core. For Collingwood, Fryer played the game of his life, and Collins, when he was playing, was good, too. Belcher, Burns and Cameron did well, and Hammond stopped many good ones.

Collingwood — Goal, Hammond; point, Cameron; cover, Tom Collins; rover, Belcher; forwards, Burns, Fryer, Prebble.

Midland—Goal, Cook; point, Hanley; cover, McLennan; rover, Gould; forwards, Beatty, Chase Hastings.

authority and should be heeded by all who are subject to rheumatism, kidney and bladder troubles, and especially catarrh. While the latter is considered by most sufferers an incurable disease, there are few men or women who will fail to experience great relief from the following simple home prescription, and if taken in time it will prevent an attack of catarrh during the entire season.

Here is the prescription which any one can mix: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bott'e and use in teaspoon-doses after each meal and again at bedtime.

These are mostly vegetable ingredients and can be obtained from any good prescription pharmacy at small cost.

The Compound Kargon in this prescription acts directly upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys to make them filter and strain from the the blood the poisons that produce all forms of catarrhal affections. Relief is often felt even after the first few doses, and it is seldom that the sufferer ever experiences a return attack within the year.

This prescription makes a splendid remedy for all forms of blood disorders and such symptoms as lame back, bladder weaknesses, and rheumatism pains are entirely dispelled.

As this valuable, though simple, recipe comes from a thoroughly reliable source, it should be heeded by every afflicted reader.—1.

Two drays belonging to the Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Company strangely stopped in the centre of the street railway tracks at the corner of Charlotte and Aylmer streets, where the water has bared the mud. LADIES ARE OUT ON THE CRUSADE

Religious Census Being Instituted This Afternoon in the City.

This afternoon 330 canvassers, all ladies, are engaged in taking a religious census of the city and the result will be known to-morrow night when a meeting will be held in the Y.M.C.A. for the purpose of hearing the reports of the visitation. The city is divided into districts each of which is covered by two canvassers and the ladies started upon their work at one o'clock to-day.

Whatever may be the result of the census it has certainly had the effect of bringing the members of the various city churches into closer relationship with each other. At last night's meeting at the Y.M.C.A. to perfect organization there were no less than 315 ladies present, every denomination in the city being represented and with the spirit of cooperation in evidence, there should be no difficulty in making to-day's canvass a success.

OBITUARY

SAMUEL STAPLES

In the person of Mr. Samuel Staples, the township of Cavan this morning lost one of its oldest and most esteemed personages. Mr. Staples had in January attained the ripe old age of eighty years, all of which time he spent in the community in which he passed away. His father was one of the pioneers of Cavan and resided on the farm on which the cemetery is now located where Mr. Staples will be buried.

He leaves a wife behind, and three sons and two daughters. The sons are Henry, Joseph and Frederick, and the daughters, Mrs. S. Purser, Port Hope, and Mrs. Moses Sutton, Cavan. Mr. Staples has a brother, Richard, residing in Souris, Man., and a sister, Mrs. Richard Staples, in Cavan.

The funeral will be held on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock to the Hiatt line cemetery of Cavan.

EDWARD WARD

The death of a well-known and highly respected citizen occurred this morning about 1 o'clock in the person of Mr. Edward Ward, 306 Louis street. The cause of his death is attributed to pneumonia, resulting from a severe cold. Mr. Ward was 53 years of age, and was employed for many years at the Peterborough Lock works. He was a member of the C.M.B.A., and leaves a wife and eight children to mourn his loss.

The funeral will be held on Friday morning at 9 o'clock to St. Peter's Cathedral, and thence to St. Peter's cemetery.

MISS ANNIE ERRETT

The many friends in Peterborough of Miss Annie Errett will regret exceedingly to learn of her death, which occurred in Toronto this morning. No particulars regarding Miss Errett's illness have been received, but a message received this morning by a friend of the family announced that she had passed away.

The late Miss Errett was a daughter of Mr. R. W. Errett, for many years Inspector of Weights and Measures in Peterborough, and an old resident of Peterborough. Miss Errett, along with her parents, removed to Toronto about a year and a half ago, where they have since resided on Isabella street. Previous to going to Toronto the deceased lady was a valued worker in St. John's Church, and took a very prominent part in connection with the Missionary Society of the Church of England. She left behind in in Peterborough a wide circle of friends, who will be shocked indeed to hear of her early demise.

The late Miss Errett was for a number of years the energetic president of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. John's Church. In this and other activities of the church she gave devoted and effective service, and in speaking of her personal and home virtues it would be somewhat difficult to employ exaggeration.

JESSIE GOULD

Word has been received in the city of the death in Toronto last night after a short illness of Miss Jessie Gould, daughter of Mr. Henry G. Gould, of the C. G. E., city. The deceased was well known here, having resided in Peterborough until her removal to Toronto several years ago, and her friends will be grieved to learn of her demise. She is survived by her parents, and one brother, and one sister, the latter, Miss Maude Gould, residing here.

The remains will be brought to Peterborough and the funeral will take place here.

As far as can be seen at present Hogaland, the winner at Kansas City, Blake, the negro and Slater will be among the number. It is expected that at least fifteen will participate in the walk.

Dear Sir,—There is a strong feeling in this section of the riding of East Peterborough that a candidate should be nominated from this section to contest the seat in the Federal Parliament. Pleaded Guilty To Stealing The Property Of C. G. E. Company

Four Employees of the Company Appeared Before Police Magistrate Dumble at a Special Session of the Police Court Yesterday Afternoon—Quantity Taken Not Large.

REMANDED FOR SENTENCE

Four employees of the Canadian General Electric Company appeared before Police Magistrate Dumble yesterday afternoon on a charge of stealing property from the company and after pleading guilty to some extent to the charge, were remanded until Friday morning for sentence.

Three of the men were arrested yesterday morning while at work by P. C. Meharry, and were conveyed to the police station in a cab, while an information was laid against the fourth man in the police court during the afternoon.

Yesterday morning, P. C. Meharry, in company with Mr. R. E. Lay-Layfield, of the C. G. E., and W. K. Pritchard, a Toronto detective, who has been working on the case for some time, searched the homes of three of the men and found in the rooms of the former two a quantity of wire and other property which they were afterwards charged with stealing.

There was a large crowd on hand when the four appeared berore Magistrate Dumble at a special session of the police court in the afternoon.

The charge against the first man read that he did steal, take and carry away a quantity of wire, the property of the C. G. E.

He elected to be tried by his Worship and pleaded guilty to the charge.

Mr. W. H. Moore, who appeared for the prisoner, asked that he be allowed to make a statement, which was granted.

The prisoner said that he was sorry that he had taken the wire. He had done it thoughtlessly, and had taken the wire for another person who had asked him to get it for him. He had given this person the wire on the way home, and he had never taken anything from the works before.

The magistrate remarked that the person for whom he had taken the wire was a thief himself and a mean sneak at that. The prisoner had apparently fallen an easy victim to him.

In answer to a question from the the prisoner gave the name of the man for whom he had taken the wire.

Mr. Moore, on behalf of the prisoner, said that he understood that the value of the stolen property was small. The young man had come to the city not long ago from the country and came of respectable parents. His act was regrettable and he had been seduced to do it by another person. He asked the magistrate at the allow him to go on suspended sentence.

The charge against the oldest of the three persons was of stealing two files, a saw, eight drills, a quantity of insulating tape and silk tape, and several bunches of cord and thread.

The accused denied stealing the drills, saw and files, but admitted taking the tape. He explained that he had purchased the tools nine months ago for $1 from a man who was in hard circumstances. He had not been aware of the fact that they belonged to the company until he had reached home, and when he discovered it he was afraid to return the articles. They wer of no use to him.

The third man arrested in the morning was charged with stealing a small quantity of insulating tape cord and leather thongs and pleaded guilty. He said that he had taken the tape home, believing it to be of little use or value.

An information was laid against the young man mentioned by the first prisoner as the party for whom he had taken the wire, and the accused admitted that he had received the wire. He explained that when walking to work with the other man he had said that he wished he had a piece of wire and the prisoner had said that he would get it for him.

The magistrate remanded all four until Friday morning for sentence, and three were allowed out on their promise to appear at that time. The other, who is not as well known, was locked up again.

It is said that there is a large amount of this petty thieving being done in the C. G. E. works, and the firm have been taking steps to protect themselves as much as possible.

Noiseless Firearms May Revolutionize Warfare

Great Possibilities in Wonderful Invention of an American Expert, Which Permits the Firing of Weapons Without Giving the Slighest Warning, Either by Sight or Sound, to the Enemy Fired Upon.

Washington despatches the othet day told about the invention of a new noiseless and smokeless firearm. The inventor is Hiram Percy Maxim, son of Sir Hiram Maxim, inventor of the machine gun that bears his name.

The principle involved is similar to that made use of in the automobile muffler, the noise of discharge due to the sudden release of gas at the muzzle of the gun being prevented through the action of a transverse-acting piston valve which allows the gas to escape gradually.

Gases Shut off

The device consists of a silencing arrangement that can be applied to the barrel of any ordinary firearm. In the ordinary firearm the bullet when it emerges from the muzzle liberates the high pressure gases, which, by striking the air suddenly, cause the loud explosion. In the new gun the gases are shut off just before the bullet passes. This valve is actuated entirely by the gas pressure in the gun barrel and is free from all actuating mechanism. After the bullet has passed out of the barrel the gases are allowed to escape gradually through small holes. This annuls the noise except a slight hissing sound.

The piston valve is arranged to return to the open position when the gas has all escaped and a safety bolt working in connection with the firing mechanism, prevents the firing of a new cartridge unless the valve is in place. The construction is extremesimple, the gun having the appearance of the usual rifle with a small crosspiece in the barrel about five inches from the end.

Revolutionize Warfare

Military experts apprised of the new invention assert that it holds the power to force revolution of modern methods of warfare. By use of this noiseless weapon skirmishers could work along an enemy's front and shoot down pickets without their presence being noted except upon the discovery of the slain. Sharpshooters would be enabled to pick off the victims without reports of weapons betraying positions. The extended front of an entire army carefully masked by underbrush or natural formations, might even operate with tremendous execution before his position could be accurately defined by an opposing force. Therefore, the force equipped with this weapon would hold an initial advantage overwhelming in its possibilities.

In the world of sport it is held by the inventor that the new weapon would render it possible for a man properly concealed, to kill at his leisure probably every deer in a surprised herd, as no alarm would be sounded. From his cover on shore, a man with this noiseless gun might pick off every bird in a flock without alarming the lessening number to flight.

Its Terrifying Possibilities

Because of its dreadful possibilities in the world of crime many police officials already have insisted that the manufacture and disposal of the new device should be safeguarded by law. Armed with such a weapon, a policeman might be enabled to disable every member of a band of lawbreakers should he surprise them at their work.

On the other hand it would be equally dangerous in the possession of a desperate criminal. The assassin, by its use, would be enabled to pick off his victim and find opportunity of escaping from the hiding place in which he had lain concealed without attracting suspicion. The victim would merely fall dead, and an examination might be necessary before the cause of death could be definitely ascertained. Moreover, no indication of the exact direction whence the deadly bullet came would be available as a clew with which to trace the slayer.

A Simple Suggestion

I realize to the full the dangerous character of the device," said Mr. Maxim in discussing the new invention, "and I must plead that its discovery was practically an accident. I had been carefully studying the problem of silencing the explosions in an automobile engine, when the idea of the silent firearm occurred to me. In entering upon the perfection of the automobile engines muffler it struck me that the same principle might be applied to a gun. I saw how to accomplish this latter result in theory. But I could not determine upon a mode of construction which would allow a weapon to undergo rough usage. Several weeks ago, I was riding in a street car with a friend when sudenly the solution of the latter problem occurred to me as if by inspiration. I reduced the whole matter to paper. I found it was practicable in every way. Then I obtained a patent.

Offered to U. S. Government

Mr. Maxim's friends assert that he will tender the new device first to the United States Government. The family, however, still is mindful of the lack of encouragement which resulted when the elder Maxim tendered the machine gun to the Navy Department. Disappointed, the latter took his invention to England. It's service to the British Army in the Soudan resulted in the Elder Maxim becoming an English subject and being knighted by Queen Victoria. The younger Maxim has carefully protected the European rights to the "noiseless firearm," fraught as it is with world revolutionizing possibilities.

Hiram Percy Maxim is thirty-nine years old and was born in Brooklyn, N. Y. Receiving his early education there, he was graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. From college he stepped into the business field. In 1890 he became Superintendent of the American Projectile Company, of Lynn, Mass., that company then being engaged in developing armor piercing projectiles for the navy and making use of an electric welding process, which only had recently been perfected by Professor Elihu Thomson.

Mr. Maxim was the inventor of many new ordnance missiles and studied the subject of aerial torpedoes for a time. Since 1895 he has been associated with automobile construction and development, having studied every type of the modern motor vehicle.

Stimulating the scalp may allay the itching of the dandruff, but that does not cure the scalp. The disease won't yield to quinine or capsicum nor alcohol, because it is caused by a germ or parasite. To cure dandruff the germ must be destroyed. Until recently there was no hair preparation, or dandruff cure, or hair restorer on the market that would kill that insidious germ that dries up the scalp in little scales called dandruff, and absorbs the vitality of the hair, causing falling hair, and finally baldness. COULD NOT BE HANGED

JOHN LEE RELEASED FROM PRISON AFTER 22 YEARS.

Terrible Gallows Scene Recalled—Was Charged With the Murder of Aged Lady—Found Guilty and Sentenced to Death—But Scaffold Wouldn't Work — Hangman Tried Three Times to Carry Out Execution.

"The man they could not hang," whose name has been periodically before the public for over twenty years in connection with efforts to secure his release from prison, has at last been given his liberty. The individual referred to is, of course, John Lee, the Babbacombe murderer, who was convicted at Devon Assizes in 1885 of the wilful murder of his employer, Miss Keyse. The proceedings that followed his conviction are probably without parallel in the history of criminology, and might have been taken from a novel of the most impossible type. Three times the noose was placed around John Lee's neck, and three times did the trap of the scaffold refuse to do its gruesome work. "It was a mysterious intervention of Providence," said thousands of people at the time, and the Home Secretary of that day, the late Sir William Harcourt, for reasons that seemed sufficient to him commuted the sentence into one of penal servitude for life. Everything in connection with the Babbacombe tragedy was invested with mystery and sensationalism. The murder itself was of the most brutal and sensational character, and its main features will bear recapitulation at the present moment. John Lee, at the time of the tragedy, was a youth of but 20 years of age, while his unfortunate victim was an old maiden lady who had been his benefactress. Miss Keyse, the victim, who lived at a cottage called The Glen at Babbacombe, was 68 years of age, of quiet and refined tastes, and of benevolent disposition, with independent means. Three servants shared the peaceful life of The Glen, two being sisters: Eliza and Jane Neck. The third was Elizabeth Harris, half-sister to Lee. In January, 1884, Harris told her mistress a pitiable story of her half-brother's starving plight, and he also was taken into the household and given the nominal wages of 2s. 6d. a week, in addition to board and lodging. He worked in the garden, but after a time and to force him to mend his surly and slovenly conduct his wages were reduced. From that date to the date of the terrible death of Miss Keyse was a brief time. The anger of young Lee seemed impossible of control, and many were the threats mentioned at the trial he was alleged to have used against the old lady. In the early hours of Nov. 15, 1884, Elizabeth Harris was awakened by smoke in her room, and, rousing the other servants, they went to Miss Keyse's room, and found their mistress in a heap of smouldering debris, dead, and with her head almost severed from her body by a ghastly gash across the throat. Previous to making the awful discovery Lee had passed them in the corridor. The case against him was that after cutting the throat of Miss Keyse, he had attempted to burn the house down, the principal points in the prosecution being that the murder was committed within 5 feet 9 inches of where he slept; a fire lighted to destroy the house a considerable time before the other servants were roused; blood found on Lee's trousers, and a blood-stained knife in a drawer; oil found poured over the body and about the house, and the oil can, which was kept close to where prisoner slept, and which it was impossible for anyone to get at without disturbing him, was empty, although full on the previous day. Before the trial took place the country was fairly alive with the case. Mr. Justice Mannsty was the judge, and the Assizes was held at Exeter in February, 1885. Lee behaved with extraordinary coolness throughout his ordeal in the court. He pleaded "Not guilty" in a clear and steady voice. The prosecuting counsel presented a most deadly case against prisoner, the maids of the murdered woman supplied many serious facts, and, altogether, the police case against Lee had been put together with great cleverness and precision. On behalf of Lee, the defence put forward was that the murderer was a lover of his half-sister, Elizabeth Harris, but no evidence was forthcoming in support of this theory. When sentence of death had been passed, Lee, looking calmly in the face of the judge, said: "The reason, my lord, why I am so calm and collected is because I trust in my Lord, and He knows that I am innocent." Three weeks after the sentence had been passed Lee was taken out for execution in Exeter gaol. He walked to the scaffold with a slow, deliberate step, and, at the bidding of Berry, the executioner, placed himself on the fatal planks. The white cap was placed over his head, and

Developed a Moody Discontent,

The Rope Round His Neck.

The closing words of the burial service fell from the lips of the chaplain (Rev. J. Eitkin), and Berry pulled the lever. All that happened was a grating sound; the trapdoor failed to move, and although the lever was pulled a second and a third time, it had no effect. Berry and his assistant made a hasty examination of the scaffold, and at its conclusion the rope was taken from Lee's neck, the cap was removed, and he was told to step off the plank. Several of the officials present showed signs of breaking down under the strain of the terrible scene. But not so Lee. He stood erect as before, and never flinched. Efforts were made to put the scaffold right, and when at last it was believed to be workable, Lee was again placed on the trap with the rope round his neck. Again the lever was pulled, but again the scaffold refused to work. Berry and his assistant made desperate efforts to make the trap fall, but all to no purpose, and Lee was again taken off. Thereupon he was removed to the back of the building and the services of a carpenter were requisitioned. He planed the sides of the planks, and it was believed he had removed the cause of the failures. For the third time Lee was brought to the scaffold, and for the third time the chaplain read the burial service. But once again the lever failed to release the trap, and after a hurried conference between the governor, the under-sheriff, and the chaplain it was decided to postpone the execution. Lee was thereupon again released from the rope and taken back to his cell. The same night Mr. James, the under-sheriff, traveled to London, and laid all the facts before the Home Secretary. The chaplain and the surgeon considered that the ordeal through which the unhappy man had passed was more than the pain and agony of actual execution. Sir William Harcourt, after hearing these representations, at once ordered a telegraphic message to be sent to the governor of the gaol respiting Lee, on the humanitarian ground that "it would shock the feelings of everyone if a man had four times to bear the pangs of imminent death." Later, Sir William Harcourt ordered the sentence to be commuted to one of penal servitude for life. It is almost impossible which must have been suffered by Lee as time and again he stood on the scaffold with the cap over his face and the rope around his neck. The whole ordeal lasted quite an hour.

"I did not fear to walk into death, because the Lord was with me," he wrote after the attempt to hang him had been given up. "I have been dead to the world three times. I believe what has happened was a miracle. I had a dream on Sunday night that the scaffold was not ready and that they had to make another one."

When the gruesome facts attending the attempts to execute Lee became known the country was astonished, and thousands of people not usually addicted to superstition declared their firm belief that there had been supernatural intervention in order that Lee, who was innocent, might be saved. As a matter of fact, the failure of the lever to act was subsequently found to be due to quite a prosaic cause. The official theory was that the rain, which had fallen continuously during the two days previous, had caused the woodwork of the scaffold to swell considerably, and prevent the proper working of the drop. But the real reason for the drop failing to act was the weakness of the bolts, which buckled when any weight was put on the trap, and could not be drawn. From time to time several attempts were made to procure Lee's release, but in vain, and it is said that he was not granted his liberty at the expiry of the customary twenty years, because of alleged threats made against people concerned in his prosecution. It is understood that Lee, upon his release, went to his mother's house at Abbots Kerswell, near Newton Abbot.

TRAINING SLUM BOYS.

Unique Experiment by a London Barrister.

An interesting experiment in philanthrophy is being made by Mr. C. E. B. Young, a barrister, of Dalesford, in Oxfordshire.

So great are his patience and his faith in human nature that he is spending his life and £10,000 a year in training boys to be good citizens.

While working in London on committees who were inquiring into the condition of the poor, he became convinced that no public effort could deal quite adequately with the question, and he decided to launch out on lines of his own. On the top of Kinglom Hill, near his home, he has built what is practically a luxurious college, and he takes there every year about 200 boys from the poor districts of London.

He clothes them, educates them, and teaches them a trade entirely at his own expense. The feature of his system is that no punishment is allowed. He relies on the theory that the way to make a boy a gentleman is to expect him to be one. Mr. Young is himself a man of culture, and he thinks that by surrounding boys from London slums with refinements, some luxuries, and the open air he can get rid of the influence of their early life.

He ignores all systems of discipline, but there is a little doubt that he manufactures, from what is often unpromising material, men who can earn a good living.

If a boy decides that he would like to go to Canada, his fare is paid, and he is given work on farms which Mr. Young owns there.

If a lad prefers to stop in England, he is taught how to be a farmer, bricklayer, blacksmith, carpenter, clerk, tailor, agricultural laborer, or a photographer, and in due time work is found for him.

Girls' Drinking Clubs.

Canon Denton Thompson, rector of Birmingham, speaking at a meeting of a committee of Birmingham employers held to consider the evils of factory drinking, said that girls and women were invited, encouraged, and even coerced into joining drinking clubs, for which the weekly subscription was from 1d. to 3d.

Sometimes the drink was put surreptitiously in the tea served in the factories, and in one case under his notice it was even introduced into some toffee made in the factory and handed round to the girls. All the girls employed were expected to join these clubs, and were persecuted if they refused.

In some factories—he was glad to say that they were few—permission was even granted for what could only be termed carousals in the factory itself. "I know it is a very serious statement to make," he continued. "But I say that we have very good reason to believe that persons in authority have been commissioned by certain licensed houses to organize these drinking bouts with a view to encouraging these drinking clubs among girls."

The committee, while recognizing that it was impossible for employers to interfere in the conduct of the girls and women outside their factories, stated that if they knew of the existence of drinking clubs on their premises they would insist upon their suppression.

The Blue Pennant.

By PHILIP KEAN.

Copyright, 1907, by A. Barlett.

Helen Marshall was always dressed with a demureness that made an effective foil for the bronze brightness of her hair, the warm ivory of her skin, the red of her lips. Today she wore blue—a trim tailored gown of deep colored cloth, a little cocky felt hat and a great bunch of violets that outshone all the other blues except that of the pennant which she carried at the end of a slender cane.

"You beauty!" Holden said under his breath as he took his seat beside her on the grand stand.

She turned quickly.

"Oh, Irwin," her face was brilliant with color, "it's worth everything to see you again! Aunt Sue," she said to the lady beside her, "this is Irwin Holden, the famous halfback of two years ago."

"The king is dead! Long live the king!" Irwin quoted solemnly. "There have been so many famous halfbacks, Helen, that it isn't any wonder that Mrs. McDonald doesn't remember me."

"But I do remember," Mrs. McDonald assured him. "Helen has talked of you so much—and," she hesitated, "of your accident."

"I haven't been able to walk well on two feet since," Holden said grimly, "and this is the first game I have dared let myself see. It makes me wild."

"To think that you can't play!" Helen's tone was sympathetic.

"To know I can't ever do things that make a man worth while!" bitterly.

"But you have done so many things that are worth while, and they tell me that you are writing a book."

"Oh, a book!" His tone was scornful.

"You might have let me know what you were doing!" she complained. "I think our old friendship deserved that."

He glanced down at her.

"Ah, our friendship," he said. "I had two good feet when we cemented that, Helen. I wasn't a dummy on crutches."

"Irwin," she flashed out reproachfully, "as if that made any difference!"

"But it does make a difference," he said as he bent over her. "You know you worship strength in a man, don't you?"

"Yes," she agreed quietly, "but not always mere physical strength."

"The one isn't much without the other. Look at those fellows now."

Down the field came the teams. The bands of the opposing sides crashed out the good old tunes, college yell succeeded college yell, and the banks of spectators stretching up and up on the seats in solid masses of blue and crimson were agitated to uproariousness.

"Isn't it fine? Isn't it fine?" Helen said breathlessly, having cheered the blue team to the echo.

Holden nodded.

"They are bound to win," he said. "They are made of the right stuff."

"I only know one of them personally," Helen told him—"Van Dorn."

"He's the strongest man in the lot. He's an ideal halfback."

"He is ideal in more ways than one," she agreed.

He flashed a quick glance at her.

"I have heard you thought so."

"Who told you?"

"Some of the fellows."

She turned her back on him squarely.

"I didn't suppose that you talked me over with the fellows," she said over her shoulder.

"I don't," uncomfortably, "but one couldn't help hearing that Van Dorn is awfully daffy over you."

"So were you—two years ago."

She said it daringly, giving him a glimpse of flaming cheeks and indignant eyes, and then once more he was forced to contemplate the knot of bronze hair under the cocky hat.

His face went white, but he said quietly, "We are missing the best of the game," and turned his attention to the field.

All about them people were absorbed by the play. Aunt Sue, unlearned and unlettered in football lore, was oblivious to everything else. These two alone thought of other things.

It was at Van Dorn's touchdown that the place went wild.

"Oh, he's great, great, great!" Helen enthused as she waved her pennant frantically. "I haven't seen anything like it since the last game you played, Irwin. Oh, do you remember the little blue pennant that I made you pin to your sweater for luck—and it didn't bring you luck."

"No," he said dully, "it didn't bring me luck. I lost the game, I lost the strength I gloried in—I lost you, Helen."

"No, no," she protested; "you knew you always had my friendship, Irwin."

"But I didn't want friendship, and you knew it and I knew it. And I hadn't the right to ask for anything else, and so I kept away from you. But after two years of separation the temptation to see you was too great, so I sent you the tickets and asked you to come to the game."

"The whole world was changed when I read your letter," she said simply. "I have missed you so, dear boy."

Then for a moment he let himself go. "Oh, Helen, Helen!" he said brokenly.

But the game was over, and a tumultuous throng poured out of the seats.

"Irwin wants us to go to dinner with him, Aunt Sue," Helen said as they went down the steps.

In their walk across the green they attracted more than usual attention, the younger boys admiring Helen's beauty, the older ones recognizing in the man with the crutch the famous halfback of two years ago, who had then been reported engaged to the girl by his side.

Van Dorn, flushed with victory, came up to their table at the college inn.

"I've won your pennant, Miss Marshall," he said, looking like a young god, with his great strong figure, his fair hair tossed back from his forehead.

"Did I promise it?" Helen asked uncertainly.

"Indeed you did," he stated securely, "and I shall wear it like a knight for his lady."

With her eyes avoiding Holden's, Helen untied the blue trophy slowly from the cane. In the sight of the whole room Van Dorn pinned it to his sleeve. He did it triumphantly, bending over her with an air of possession that made Holden set his lips sternly and turn to a tense study of the menu.

"May I come back and go home with you?" he asked, but Helen shook her head.

"Irwin will take us," she said, "but I wish if you have a minute you'd show Aunt Sue the trophy room. She has never seen it."

As they went away she faced Holden.

"Oh, he took things so for granted," she told him. "I promised as I might to any of the college fellows. But what will people think?"

"What I think," Holden said slowly, "that you are going to marry Van Dorn."

Her steady glance met his.

"I am not going to marry him."

"Why not?" he probed.

"Because of this"—

About her neck at the end of a long chain she wore a locket of dark blue enamel marked with a "Y" in seed pearls.

"You remember it?" she asked as she opened it. "You gave it to me on the evening before that last game."

"Yes," he said, "I remember," and then as he saw what it contained he stopped.

Within was a wisp of bright blue silk stained and torn and crushed into that small space.

"It is all that was left of the little silk pennant that I gave you for luck," she told him. "After you were hurt I made them let me have it. I have kept it ever since."

His hand closed over it eagerly.

"Dear," he said, and his voice broke, "you know how I love you."

"I have never doubted it—even when you stayed away."

"How could I come? How could I ask you to marry me?"

"How does any man ask?" blushingly.

"But other men are not cripples."

"Oh, what difference does it make?" she flung out. "Haven't you the same mind and heart and soul as before?"

The light that illumined his face transfigured it.

"Marry me," he cried, "and mind and heart and soul shall go to the making of your happiness!"

Van Dorn came back presently, making triumphant progress, with Aunt Sue in tow. On his arm was the blue pennant for all the world to gaze, but Holden's eyes rested on it serenely, for above his heart, hidden from the profane glances of the multitude, was the little stained wisp of sapphire silk, the token of his dear lady's favor.

CAUTION.

Put a strong glass on the label and examine it closely every time. Always look for the name "Gillett's."

Like all good articles, which are extensively advertised, Gillett's Lye is frequently and very closely imitated. In some instances the imitators have actually copied directions and other printed matter from our label word for word. Be wise, and refuse to purchase imitation articles for they are never satisfactory.

Insist On Getting Gillett's Lye

and decline to accept anything that looks to be an imitation or that is represented to be "just as good" or "better," or "the same thing." In our experience of over fifty years in business we have never known of an imitation article that has been a success, for imitators are not reliable people. At the best the "just as good" kinds are only trashy imitations, so decline them with thanks every time.

HIS ULTIMATUM.

A Risky Thing to Do, but the Man Was Desparate.

After Crumpet had seen his wife off on the train he returned to his quiet house, closed the door and gazed around at the rows of inviting books, at the table of smoking materials, at the grate fire ready to light, and his eyes glistened with joy.

"Old man," he exclaimed to himself, "what a time you'll have! Wife away at last, and now there will be time to do all those little things you've wanted to do for so long—to read, to loaf, to think and invite one's soul."

At this moment the telephone rang. It was Crumpet's neigbbor, Alstar.

"Hello! Crumpet, this you? Say, I've just learned your wife has gone away. Why didn't you let us know? Of course you mustn't stay alone. Come right over and take dinner with us."

Crumpet's heart sank, but he was equal to the emergency.

"Can't come tonight, old chap, thank you. I've got an engagement."

"Well, tomorrow night."

"Sorry, but"—

"The next night."

"Very well—I guess so. I'll let you know."

"We shall surely expect you."

"Thanks."

Crumpet, heaving a sigh of relief that at least he had that evening to himself, once more sank back in his chair.

But not for long. Telephone once more. This time it was Carter.

"This you, Crumpet? Why didn't you tell me your wife was away? Well, never mind. You mustn't be alone. Shall expect you to take dinner with us every night. Come right over—What! Not tonight? Tomorrow? No? Well, make it Thursday. All right. Good! Know how it is myself."

Crumpet waited to hear no more. He picked up his hat and coat, dashed out of the door and made his way to the nearest stenographer's.

"Here!" he said. "I'll give you a list of addresses. Take this letter and send it to every one at once. I may lose every friend I have in the world," he muttered, "but I can't help it."

The letter he dictated was as follows:

"To Friends and Neighbors—For the first time in years my good wife has gone away on a visit and left me alone. Contrary to all expectations, I am enjoying myself. I've looked forward to being alone for weeks. I love to be alone. I may be peculiar, I may be a crank, but if you have any regard for me don't ask me out to dinner. Don't suggest that at this critical time I leave my home, for I wouldn't do it unless the house burned down. Respectfully, sincerely and firmly, A. Crumpet."—Judge.

A Necessity.

"What makes you keep on talking about war and financial ruin and that sort of thing?" asked the peaceful citizen.

"It's largely the public's fault," answered the sensational statesman. "People are getting so blase that you've got to scare 'em in order to get 'em interested."—Washington Star.

Along the Ties.

"I'm glad I had such a nice, quiet vacation last summer," said Hi Tragerdy. "It's really made me quite an athlete, just what I needed for the exacting winter season."

"Yes," replied Crittick, "I suppose you do need a lot of training to be a long distance walker."—Philadelphia Press.

Old Roman Cooks.

Seneca says that Romans had cooking schools and a teacher of mastication.

Sea Birds.

The cries of sea birds, especially sea gulls, are very valuable to sailors in misty weather. The birds cluster on the cliffs and coast, and their cries warn boatmen that they are near the land.

Olives of Valencia.

With regard to the age of olive orchards in Valencia there are many with authentic histories of 100 to 200 years and a few which were probably bearing fruit when Columbus discovered America.

Sculpture.

Sculpture in all probability began in Egypt. From Egypt the art passed on to Greece and Rome. There was a very early school of sculpture on the island of Crete. Pliny tells us that the Cretan sculptors were the first to carve and polish marble.

Burials in Japan.

There are no undertakers in Japan. When a person dies it is the custom for his nearest relatives to put him into a coffin and bury him, and the mourning does not begin until after burial.

Ancient Beer.

The ancients had beer, but whether it was made from hops does not appear. It is known that the Egyptians made beer from barley, and Pliny writes of a beer that was made in Gaul and other parts of Europe from corn and water.

Divorce in Canada.

In Canada the man or woman who wants to sever the bonds of matrimony must go before the Dominion parliament, when the committee on divorce in the senate takes up the case and goes over the details very thoroughly, and if in the opinion of the committee the testimony warrants the granting of a divorce the report to that effect is made and both houses concur in a bill giving the required relief.

TRAVEL IN THE WEST.

Life in the Small Towns of Manitoba and Pacific Coast.

"If you had much traveling to do in the West you would have some singular experiences," said Mr. Arthur Thornton, the representative of an English house in Montreal.

"I do not mind roughing it, and I have had some experiences which I would not have missed for a great deal. The hotels in the small towns in Manitoba, the Far West, and the Pacific coast are great. There is a delightful candor about the bareness of everything in the new places. They will charge you three dollars a day for board and a room which is chiefly composed of bare walls, rough flooring, and a bed of which the chief feature is broad boards and a coarse quilt.

"There is plenty of food, but perhaps you need to be hungry before you eat it. I am speaking, remember, of new places. The fun, however, is to note the country people when they come into market, or especially when they come to take part in the annual fair. In a small, raw place, there is only the saloon as a social resort. The farmers and small ranchers foregathered here. The men pretty soon began to feel the effects of the hard liquor.

"They became maudlin, and one would beg the other to bring him home. They talked and chaffered far into the night, trading horses and drinking. Close fisted men would fling their bills down at the bar and demand that everybody should drink at their expense. To offer to pay for one's own drink would be regarded as a mortal insult.

"And these were not young men, either. I saw them with white hair—jolly, liberal, flinging the money about like princes. A whimsical "drummer," who had a mechanical snake, placed this toy in the hands of some of the countrymen, who, seeing the thing wriggle, cried out that they had 'got 'em,' and begged their friends to take them home.

"There is this queer thing about the West—everybody expands upon the slightest provocation. The saloon men must simply coin money. There is a working town not far from Port Arthur which is the resort of the 'lumber-jacks.' Well, scores of these fellows, each with, say, $300 in his pocket, strike the town, proceed to the low hotels of the place, place their money for safe keeping with the proprietors, and then proceed to get and stay drunk for a week. At the end of that time the proprietor calmly announces that the money is gone. Sometimes, indeed, the sobered fellow is horrified to learn that he is actually in debt. Sometimes the spree lasts three weeks. But the end is the same. The men go back to the woods dead broke, and work for another six or nine months, at the end of which time the experience is repeated.

"I suppose," said Mr. Thornton, "it is as well that the saloons should fleece them as quickly as possible, for if they kept the spree up it would kill them. Of course, it is robbery, but then, who is to bother?"

Mr. Thornton speaks admiringly of the growth he witnessed during his three months trip through the West.

Petrarch.

Petrarch was at this time a young man of engaging appearance, comely if not strikingly handsome, with a high color and a complexion rather fair than dark. His eyes were animated in expression and remarkably keen of sight—in the Laurentian library portrait they are rather small, but very clear and beautiful—he was of middle height, and his limbs, though not very strong, were well knit and agile. In early and middle life his health was robust, and he was extremely temperate in his habits, "drinking nothing but water throughout his childhood and down to the close of the period of youth." From the Laurentian portrait we see further that he had an intellectual face, with a rather low but very massive forehead, a large, straight nose, delicately arched eyebrows, high and well modeled cheek bones and a beautiful mouth, with lips that shut at once firmly and smilingly. —"Petrarch, His Life and Times."

Plants That Poison One Another.

It is a matter of common observation that grass does not grow so well close to trees as in the open. The same is true of grains. Experiments in England and in this country have shown that the deleterious effects of the near neighborhood of grass and trees are mutual. The tree suffers as well as the grass and grain. This is especially true of fruit trees. The cause is ascribed to the excretions by the trees, on the one hand, of substances poisonous to the grass and by the grass; on the other hand, of substances poisonous to the trees. It thus appears that the failure of grass to grow well near trees should not be ascribed to too much shade nor to the exhaustion by the tree roots of the food supply needed by the grass.—Exchange.

WEALTHY, BUT STARVED.

Old Woman Miser With $22,000 Has Terrible End.

There are some curious features in the case of an old Manchester (Eng.) woman who lived a simple and lonely life and died of starvation, although she had over $22,500 in money and securities.

Mrs. Ellen Cresswell, a widow, lived her life quite apart from the outside world, occupying a house in Billington place, Clifford street, Chorlton-on-Medlock, a typical working-class district. Recently the people who live next door heard a noise like some one falling, but their knowledge of the eccentric habits of their neighbor led them to attach little importance to it. The postman received no answer to his repeated knocks, and when the rent collector called he was told by the neighbors that the old woman had not been seen for a week.

The police were then informed and two constables burst open the door and found the old woman lying dead on the kitchen floor. She was fully dressed and the body bore no signs of violence, though it was in a neglected and emaciated condition. There was little food in the house, and the place generally was in a deplorable state. There was strong evidence that the deceased, who was about 70 years of age, had died of starvation.

A more careful search of the house by the police showed that the late tenant had balances in Manchester banks amounting to over $22,500. She had had transactions with the Manchester and Liverpool District Bank and the Manchester and Salford Savings' Bank, but most of the money was deposited in the district. In drawers and unlikely places the police found $200 in gold, while stitched to the clothing she was wearing were three sovereigns and some silver amounting to $25.

Efforts to find any of her relatives have failed, and what the neighbors say about her is most contradictory. They agree, however, that she has a son on board ship, and that she buried a son at Lancaster four or five years ago. There is every indication that at one time of her life she lived in more comfortable circumstances and better surroundings, for the police found some old jewelry and a quaint miniature portrait of a young man, which is believed to be that of one of her sons.

Gambetta's Lost Eye.

Gambetta, the French patriot, had but one eye. How he came to lose the other in childhood is told by a writer: "It appears that Gambetta had such a dislike to going to school that he said to his father that unless he were taken from school he would poke one of his eyes out. His father insisted on his remaining on at school, whereupon Gambetta did as he had threatened to do, and on his father remonstrating with him he said that if his father sent him back again to school he would poke the other eye out. Such a determined character was he that his father had finally to give way to him."

He Deserved the Watch.

A little boy who had been promised a watch in a too indefinite future showed a tendency to revert to the subject with a frequency which finally overcame the patience of his irate father. "If you say 'watch' again in my presence I'll thrash you!" was the ultimatum. Next morning at prayers, when each member of the family offered a Bible verse, the boy demurely gave his as he fixed his parent with his eye and repeated, "What I say unto you I say unto all, Watch!"

A Woman's Face.

No words can express the almost divine love and tenderness and the perfect trust and happiness of that girl wife's face as she looked into the eyes of her husband—and smiled. Other holiday impressions may grow dim and fade away, but that sweet woman's face remains stamped on my memory forever.—Wynne in London Reader.

Its Qualifications.

I am reminded, says a writer, of the little boy who applied for a job at a squire's house, where he could earn 5 shillings a week by making himself generally useful.

Squire—Can you clean silver?

Boy—Yes, sir.

"Can you cook and light fires and sing and dust old china and make beds?"

"Oh, yes, sir."

"Can you clean bicycles and repair punctured tires and tune pianos?"

"Certainly, sir."

"Can you mend electric bells and do plumbing and gas fitting, teach modern and ancient languages, geography and the use of the globes?"

"I can, and also do anything else that is required."

"Then I think you will do."

Boy—Thank you, sir. By the way, is your house built on a clay soil?

Squire—Well, it happens that it is. But what has that to do with it?

"Well, I thought you would like me to fill up my spare time by making bricks."

He was not engaged for his insolence.—London Answers.

Suggestions For a Merry Evening With the Toothsome Nuts.

From six to ten is the best number to play this game. A leader is chosen who arranges the order of events and takes down the records with pencil and paper. Prizes may be given to the winner in each stunt or to the one who at the end of the game has the greatest number of successes to his credit.

Two or three quarts of peanuts are spread on a table in the middle of the room.

A dish of any kind is filled with the nuts, and each player guesses how many it contains.

See who can hold the greatest number in one hand without the assistance of the other in placing them there.

A peanut is suspended by a thread about a yard long, and on the floor is placed a vase with mouth just large enough to receive the nut. Each player in turn holds the string so that the peanut dangles a foot or more above the vase and tries to drop it in.

Each person is given five peanuts, and at a signal all begin to shell them. He who finishes first is the winner. The inner skins must be removed and no nut broken. If one gets broken, another may be taken in its place.

Five nuts are placed on a chair at one end of the room. Each player in turn must take them, one by one, and put them on a chair at the opposite end of the room, returning them in like manner. The one doing it most quickly is the winner.

A large pin is stuck upright in the floor, and each player in turn pitches five peanuts at it, one by one. He who makes a nut remain nearest the pin wins.

Each shells five peanuts, and the one who catches the greatest number of these in his mouth after tossing them in the air wins.

A player is chosen by lot to stand at one end of the room with mouth wide open, while each of the others tries to toss three peanuts into it, one at a time.

Conundrums.

If a father gave 19 cents to one of his sons and 6 cents to the other, what time would it be? A quarter to 2.

If a postmaster went to a menagerie and was eaten by one of the wild beasts, what time would it be? Eight p. m.

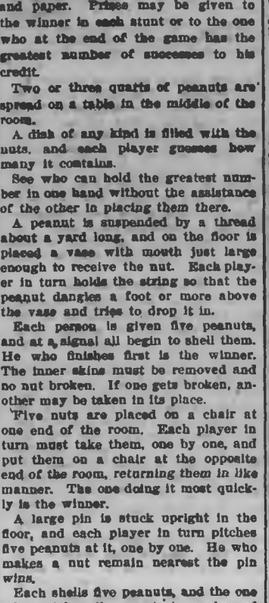
If a guest at a restaurant ate a lobster and a second guest did the same, what would be the second guest's telephone number? 3-1-2.

How can you spell barge with thirteen letters? Bee, aye, are, gee, e—barge.

To what state should maidens and bachelors go? To Mary (marry) land.

Why is borrowed money like a man without friends? Because it is a loan (alone).

A New Version.



Hongkong Granite.

A very considerable product of Hongkong is granite. It is taken out in large quantities and apart from its liberal use in building up the city on the mountain sides is shipped long distances.

Swamp Draining.

The best and cheapest swamp draining is done by driving a six or eight inch wrought iron pipe down the lowest part of the swamp to the sand, gravel or rock formation. A pit three feet square is then sunk and filled with stone and gravel to filter the water going down the pipe.

A Scold's Chair.

A fine specimen of a "scold's chair" is among the remaining contents of Sherfield manor, Basingstoke, England. It dates from 1723 and is in oak and is elaborately carved in high relief in bold scroll ornament. The seat is worked in a lever from behind, and the sitter is locked in by falling arched bars in front.

Deep Breathing.

Many hundreds of years before the Christian era the people of India practiced deep regular breathing as a cure for disease, and no better cure has been found today if it is kept up regularly.

Snowflakes.

Snowflakes contain about nine times as many volumes of air, entangled, so to speak, among their crystals, as they contain water, so that a fall of snow ten inches deep is about equivalent to an inch of rain.

Synopsis Of Canadian North-West HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-west Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

TALKS OF IMMIGRATION.

Allan Studholme Would Stay the Indiscriminate Rush.

"The question of immigration is perhaps one of the most important problems before the public at the present time," said Mr. Allan Studholme, M. P. P. "With times as they are now and so many of our Canadian workmen laid off or working short hours, it seems to me necessary that the Legislature should take some immediate steps to stop the wholesale immigration planned by the Dominion authorities and the Salvation Army for next spring. The Legislature granted the Salvation $10,000 for its work at the last session, and should be in a position to regulate the traffic and take counsel with the army upon its plans.

"From information which has reached the Labor people the Salvation Army is already chartering and fitting out boats in view of a busy season of immigration. This should be checked until we find out where we are at in this province.

"Have you any proposals regarding the question?" Mr. Studholme was asked.

"I'm waiting to hear the program," was the Labor man's response. "Then I may have something to say concerning immigration and colonization. The establishment of a colonization bureau in London is a move in the right direction and the creation of an agent-general is a good suggestion, if he is a good man and has a strong staff. In many respects Labor will stand ready to co-operate in that undertaking if it is carried out on broad lines."

Mr. Studholme was asked if Labor was hostile to the immigration work of the Salvation Army.

"When it comes to a matter of Christianity and humanity I hold up both hands for the Army and its work," he declared. "But it is taking up this immigration matter as a business and lending itself to criticism by the wholesale way in which it is bringing people in. The present situation is, to some extent, made more serious by the number of arrivals, most of them with very little money and no work in sight. This immigration work should be regulated by the Government."

Mr. Studholme added that the Labor interests were anxiously awaiting the report of the Prison Labor Committee and the proposals of the Government in relation thereto.

The Archives of Canada.

Dr. Doughty, Dominion Archivist, is to be congratulated on the unanimity with which fifty thousand dollars was voted in the House of Commons for his department. The leader of the Opposition, Mr. J. G. H. Bergeron and the Minister of Agriculture all paid tributes to Dr. Doughty's abilities. Mr. Bergeron went so far as to suggest an increase of salary to the archivist, and Mr. Fisher paid him a signal compliment by stating that Dr. Doughty was desirous of more money for his work rather than of an increase of salary.

But Dr. Doughty is to be congratulated further on deserving the unanimity of the Commoners. He is the real creator of a valuable branch of Government activity.

The department had been in operation for a number of years before Dr. Doughty was appointed, but, partly for lack of room and partly for other reasons, its usefulness was seriously crippled. Now, largely owing to Dr. Doughty's enthusiasm and ability, it is established in a new building adequate to present demands and is in shape to be of practical as well as historical service to the Dominion. On the practical side, the Archives are frequently applied to for evidence as to land titles, of which a striking instance is a case now before the United States courts over the ownership of an island which used to be Canadian territory, a case in which the decisive documents are in the possession of Dr. Doughty.

Canadian history comes into the Archives in ton loads, and is there sorted and classified. Among the special treasures trove now in the collection are the documents on which Lord Dufferin based his famous report—or on which Charles Buller, his secretary based it. There, too, are the records of negotiations which the Indian chief Pontiac, signed with his own hand. The future historians of Canada will find the Archives indispensable, and will draw therefrom records of nation-building which will inspire the builders of the Greater Canada yet to be.—Montreal Herald

HYPNOTISM AND CRIME

NEW SCIENCE OF GREAT SERVICE IN ITS DETENTION.

Famous Surgeon Tells of Suggestion In the Treatment of Disease—Persons Cannot Be Made to Commit Crime Against Their Will — Some Marvellous Cures — Girl Sleeps Seven Months.

The progress of hypnotism in regard to the treatment of disease was enthusiastically commented on by Dr. Forbes Winslow at a meeting held recently at the Dore Gallery, New Bond street, London. He further expressed the view that it will be of great service in the detection of crime in the future. He denied the suggestion, which has frequently been made, that a person under a hypnotizer's control can be made to commit a crime against his will. This Dr. Winslow illustrated by directing a young man, whom he is in the habit of hypnotizing, to steal the umbrella of a gentleman in the audience, the young man being in a cataleptic condition. The man absolutely declined to do this, though he implicitly obeyed other commands.

Skating on Thin Ice.

The lecturer said he had with pleasure accepted the invitation to lecture on this subject, though, if he had discussed such a question on a public platform a few years ago, he would have felt as if he were skating on thin ice. But, inasmuch as the subject was at last obtaining a hearing by the medical as well as by the scientific world, he did not feel that his position was an unsafe one. The pioneer of any great movement had many things to contend with. This was so in the case of Lister, who discovered the antiseptic treatment of disease; Simpson, who discovered chloroform; and Harvey, who discovered the circulation of the blood. The members of his own profession who had from time to time dared to suggest that there was a subtle power which in itself exerted influence in the treatment of disease and in the alleviation of human suffering had been regarded until very recently as charlatans, or something worse, by some members of the profession through lamentable ignorance on the part of those who ventured to sit in judgment on those who were advocating the adoption of the science. Nothing daunted, but believing in the correctness of their views, they continued to persevere in what they considered to be right and humane.

The Progress of Hypnotism.

Dr. Winslow traced the progress of hypnotism from the time of Mesmer, in the eighteenth century, to the present day, and referred specially to the power possessed by the Egyptians many years before Christ. He divided the schools of hypnotism into three: (1) That of Mesmer; (2) the Nancy school; and (3) the Paris school, originally carried on by Charcot. The school he desired to advocate and support was the Nancy school, founded by Professor Liebault, who contended that suggestion forms the most important factor in producing hypnosis. This school was established in 1866. It was erroneous to imagine that any harm could ensue from hypnotism. He had never known of such an instance. He also denied that anyone under the control of a hypnotist could be made to commit a crime against his will.

Stop Short at Crime.

He further denied the possibility of hypnotizing anyone whilst giving evidence in a court of law, so as to make him subservient to the will of anyone who might endeavor to influence him improperly. In his opinion, a suggestion made to anyone hypnotized would stop short at crime. This would not, however, apply should the hypnotized individual be a person who would commit crime under ordinary circumstances. He was of opinion that in the detection of crime hypnotism would form a prominent feature in the criminal cases of the future, and quoted illustrations of this. It was also pointed out that at a recent meeting of the British Medical Association at Exeter, Dr. J. F. Woods gave results of 881 cases of various nervous complaints treated by psychotherapeutical methods, in which 741 recoveries were recorded. Dr. Winslow added that what was good enough for Charcot, Lombroso, and the leading physicians on the Continent to adopt was good enough to receive proper recognition in our own country, as a curative agent.

Amongst the interesting cases mentioned by Dr. Winslow was that of an hysterical girl who had been suffering from 30 fits a day, which came to the notice of one of the leading physicians in Brussels. Everything had been tried, but was of no avail, and it was decided to hypnotize her and send her to sleep when the snow was on the ground, and wake her up in the summer time. She was in this condition for seven months, during which time she was only attended by the doctor and nurse, and went about doing her ordinary work, seeing no body else. At the end of that time she had perfectly recovered. On waking, she thought she had been asleep five minutes. Another case was that of a lady living at Tournai, near Brussels, who suffered from persistent headaches. This was a peculiar case, because it was treated by suggestion at a distance, without direct contact with the subject. The physician wrote a letter to the patient and sent it to the doctor who had consulted him at Tournai, to this effect: "Mademoiselle, when you receive this letter you will go to sleep for half an hour, and you will wake up perfectly well." This was handed to the lady, who got perfectly well.

Rheumatism's Ruthless Hands Clutched him for Five Years—Two Bottles of South American Rheumatic Cure Gave him his Liberty.

William McAteer, Farmer, Creemore, P.O., writes: "For years I have been a sufferer from acute rheumatism. At times I have been completely laid up with it—could not put on my clothing without assistance. Before I had completed the second bottle of South American Rheumatic Cure I was a well man. If those two bottles had cost me $50.00 I would have considered it cheap medicine."

Time and the Man.

Some one may suggest that if Cromwell and Napoleon Bonaparte and Bismarck and George Washington and Abraham Lincoln had not appeared to do the work they did others would have arisen equally capable of doing it, though perhaps in a different way. To this suggestion there are two answers. One is that it is pure conjecture. The other answer is that history shows us many occasions when the great man was needed, and when the need of him was acutely felt, and yet when he did not appear. The greatness of some men is largely due to favoring conditions. Other men, perhaps more brilliant, achieve less than their powers seemed to promise because they were not quite in key with their own age. Perhaps they were ahead of it.—James Bryce in Pall Mall Gazette.

Great Events From Little Causes.

While staying at the court of Frederick II. of Prussia Voltaire presented Mme. de Pompadour's compliments to the king, who scornfully replied, "Je ne la connais pas." Out of vengeance for so much insult, as she deemed it, madame induced the weakminded Louis XV. to convert his country's long standing hostility against Austria into friendship. A Franco-Austrian army then took the field against Prussia, and as it was an easy matter for madame to enlist the practical sympathy of Elizabeth of Russia, who had been the subject of Frederick's indiscreet remarks also, half a million lives were lost.—London Notes and Queries.

The Retort Courteous.

A well known New Yorker was talking about the London cabby.

"It is impossible," he said, "to ride in a London cab and pay only the legal fare of a shilling for two miles. Try cab-riding without liberal tipping and the cabman will assail you with the most brilliant and witty sarcasm.

"I know a lawyer, who, through ignorance, rode from the British Museum to the Ritz Hotel in Piccadilly, and only gave his driver the shilling required by law.

"The driver looked at this shilling and bit his lip. Then in the most courteous manner, he motioned to the lawyer to get in again.

"'Go on,' he said. 'Do step in again sir, I could ha' drove ye a yard or two further for this 'ere.'"

British Immigration.

Recent British official emigration returns show Canada's unquestioned supremacy among countries receiving British emigrants. In 1906 Canada received 5,300 more Britishers than the United States, and in 1907 she received 16,969 more. The rest of the British Empire is nowhere as compared to Canada. Despite the assisted passages, Australasia received only 14,369 as against Canada's 117,586. Of course a large proportion of these are adults. It is probably true to say that Great Britain presented to Canada last year a population hardly less than that of the Province of Saskatchewan.

A remarkable feature is that this unprecedented British exodus synchronises with the unprecedentedly large foreign trade.

Swallows In Palestine.

In Palestine the swallows are allowed the freedom not only of the houses and living rooms, but of the mosques and sacred tombs, where they build their nests and rear their young.

Carriage Springs.

Carriages with springs were practically unknown prior to the seventeenth century and did not come into general use until well into the eighteenth century.

Costly Coffins.

Zinc coffins are largely used in Vienna; but the more expensive ones are made of copper and cost as much as £500, while a bronze and copper coffin made for a Russian archduke cost over £1,000.

Christmas.

Christmas seems to have first been observed between 180 and 190 A. D.

Vertical Life Line.

The highest point that has ever been reached by living men in a balloon is seven miles. It is almost certain that at the height of eight miles, absolutely certain that at the height of nine miles, no animal could continue to live.

Changed His Taste.

The Empress Eugenie, whom Napoleon III. chose to share his throne, had a ready wit, which, although it never veiled a sneer, often confused those on whom it was directed. The late Dr. T. W. Evans tells in his reminiscences the story of a distinguished senator, who, on being asked what he thought of the speech in which Napoleon had declared his marriage intention to the deputies, replied:

"A fine speech—excellent! But I prefer the sauce to the fish," meaning that Napoleon's words were better than his choosing of a bride.

Some weeks later, at a dinner given at the Tuileries, this senator was seated next to the empress, who, observing that after having been helped to the turbot he declined the sauce, said to him, smiling roguishly:

"Monsieur, I thought it was the sauce you liked and not the fish."

With rare presence of mind the senator hesitated but a moment.

"A mistake, madam," he said, "for which I am now trying to make amends."

AN ERA OF INVENTION.

The Wonderful Things Accomplished From 1876 to 1896.

A careful study of the history of mechanical progress convinces me that the inventive age attained the prime of its splendid career in the years inclusive of 1876 and 1896 and that in that wonderful period the world witnessed the conception and practical development of a larger number of valuable devices than any preceding era; also that it is decidedly improbable that any future generation will approach its record. Before our optimistic friends scoff at this rather dismal prediction I will ask them to name some really great invention or discovery which has been announced since 1896. He may name scores of little devices, but if he will look into the facts he will likely find that all of them are based on the superb series of fundamental inventions and discoveries which marked 1876-96.

Suppose that those years were stricken out of mechanical and scientific advancement. What would the world be denied? The telephone, electric lights, both arc and incandescent; gas lights of high intensity and economy, electric railroads, wireless telegraphy, duplex and multiple telegraph, the typewriter, electric heating, all the innumerable forms of electric bells and signaling, automobiles, bicycles, motor cycles, motor boats, typesetting machines, the phonograph, high speed elevators, scientific cold storage and refrigeration, steel buildings which have revolutionized our cities—the list is far from complete, but those who are not properly impressed with this list may reflect that 1876-96 also added such lesser inventions and systems as cable railroads (now discarded), cameras and all sorts of photographic material suitable for popular use, air brakes, safety couplings, safety razors, smoke consumers, pneumatic tubes, electric photography, moving picture machines, the wonders of modern dentistry and the bewildering assortment of breakfast foods.

It will be urged that the principles of such inventions as the telephone, electric light, typewriter and other epoch making devices were known in advance of 1876. Admitted, but what of it? We now know the principle of extracting heat and power directly from coal without combustion and the consequent waste, but this fact will not detract from the credit of the man who solved the problem, if it ever is solved. None of the things I have enumerated was in practical operation in 1876.—Frederick Upham Adams in Appleton's.

Market For Dried Locusts.

Quotations are invited by the Cape department of agriculture for the supply of dried locusts during the forthcoming season in bags of not less than seventy-five pounds net, delivered free on rail at the nearest railway station. The locusts must be thoroughly dried before being bagged and the bags guaranteed free from earth or stones. It may interest our readers to know that two raisers of poultry in the Cape peninsula state that as a poultry food they find dried locusts most suitable if given in the warm mash. They then efficiently take the place of the imported American meat scraps and are much cheaper.—Rhodesia Herald.

Armor Beats Guns.

The excellence of British shooting was exemplified by a performance done by the armored cruiser Duke of Edinburgh. With her guns directed from the fire control positions she made hits at 13,000 yards, or seven and a half miles. The battleships Hibernia and Dominion fired armor piercing projectiles from their big guns, but they failed to pierce the armored portion of the Hero. The experiments have thus confirmed the results observed in the Russo-Japanese war and shown that at the present time a battleship's armor is capable of resisting projectiles at all practical ranges.—London Mail.

Saving Time in the Barber's Chair.

The busy man will not have to waste much time getting spruced up in the barber chair these days. One of the innovations of a tonsorial parlor here is the individual telephone, which is attached to each chair. The man who is pressed for time can lie in the chair and dictate a letter to his stenographer while the atelier artist is mowing off the alfalfa, the bootblack is performing on his shoes and the manicurist is taking some real estate off his hands. Some one ought to come along now with a tabloid breakfast food to complete the tonsorial outfit.—New York Corn Pittsburg Dispatch.

Regular Bargain.

"You refuse me," said the ardent youth.

"I do, indeed!" replied the beautiful girl.

"Ah, then I shall go off to the war. Suppose I return minus an arm, minus an ear and minus a chin. Suppose I return a mere remnant of a man. What would you say?"

The beautiful girl brightened up.

"I should accept you on the spot. I always had an irresistible fascination for remnants."

With new hope the modern Romeo started off for the scene of battle.—Detroit Tribune.

The Sun Life of Canada
Has Had Another Year of Great Prosperity

(From THE MONETARY TIMES)

New policies issued to the number of 12,420, an income premium of close upon $3,000,000, and a net surplus of $2,151,884 is the record of the Sun Life Company for last year. The large volume of new assurances is particularly gratifying in view of the prevailing financial conditions; as a matter of fact, over 4,000 more policies were applied for than were granted. The total amount in force on the books of the company is $111,135,694 under 83,401 policies. The total income last year was $6,249,288 and the assets $26,488,595. The profitable nature of the business enabled the company to pay dividends on a scale which has given great satisfaction, and which, it is believed, are not surpassed on this continent. The amount distributed was $422,950. After setting aside the full reserve, assuming only 3½ per cent. interest for all policies issued prior to December 31st, 1902, and but three per cent. for all those issued since, there remains an undivided surplus of $2,046,884 over all liabilities and capital stock. This is, indeed, a good showing.

The Corner Days.

Some aged country folk like to take note of what they call the corner days—the 20th of March and the 20th of September—when the sun crosses the line and the days and nights are of equal length and the 20th of June (the longest day of the year) and the 20th of December (the shortest). After the 20th of June they say, "When the days grow shorter the weather grows hotter," and after Dec. 20, "As the days begin to lengthen the cold begins to strengthen."

Levi Beebe, a noted old weather prophet, who used to watch the weather from his eyrie on Beartown mountain, southern Berkshire, Mass., made prophecies which were greatly prized. He made his prognostications from a study of the winds, the clear, cloudy and stormy days for ten days each side of the corner days and multiplied them by 3 to tell the weather for each succeeding quarter, and he made some marvelous guesses.—New York Press.

A COUGH COLD IS DANGEROUS.

There are different kinds of colds, and various ways in which they affect different people. Some constitutions will throw off a light cold, while to others it will stick tenaciously. There is one kind—the kind accompanied by a cough, the kind that turns to bronchitis, the kind that ends in consumption—that should never be neglected.

Many a life history would read different if, on the first appearance of a cough, it had been remedied with

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

This syrup contains all the virtues of the "Norway Pine Tree," combined with Wild Cherry Bark, and the soothing, healing and expectorant properties of other excellent herbs and barks.

Mrs. E. S. Akerly, Akerly, N.B., writes: "My little boy had such a bad cough he could not sleep at nights. I tried several remedies but nothing seemed to relieve him until I got Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. From the first few doses he commenced to improve, and when he had taken one bottle he was completely cured."

Be careful in purchasing to see that you get the genuine Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark. Price 25 cts.

Mr. and Mrs. Vance,

Your many friends and neighbours feel that they cannot allow you to depart from their midst without showing some mark of the general esteem in which you are both regarded in the neighbourhood. While you have not for a great many years resided in our immediate neighbourhood, yet you and the much respected houses which were joined by your happy union a few years ago are no strangers to us, and during your sojourn amongst us and our neighbours and social intercourse, you have contributed abundantly toward making life pleasant in the circle in which you have moved. Mr. and Mrs. Vance, let us assure you that our very best wishes go with you to your new house which you are about to select in the attractive West, where we trust and hope prosperity and happiness await you. When you occasionally return to our Province, as we sincerely hope you will, be assured that you will always be welcome visitors amongst us.

With a deep sense of the occasion those assembled here desire to present to you this purse, as a slight token of our esteem. We know that you will not regard it for its intrinsic value, but for the motive which prompts us in giving it.

Signed on behalf of the above—

Ottowell Pue.

HARDSHIPS OF SURVIVORS

Were Two Months at Sea In an Open Boat—Suffered Terrible Privations—Two Men Since Dead—Stuck to Their Vessel Till Obliged to Abandon Her—They Were Finally Rescued by a Steamer.

New York, March 12.—A tale of the sea rivalling in horror and hardship any tragedy of the deep was brought here yesterday by Wm. Kuhlmann, a seaman, who was a passenger on the steamer Voltaire from South American ports. Kuhlmann is one of six survivors of the crew of the American ship Tillie E. Starbuck, which was abandoned last August more than a thousand miles off the Pacific coast of South America. He and his companions were rescued by a British ship after drifting about for eight weeks in an open boat. Two of the six men in the little craft died after succor had come to them, and Kuhlmann spent many weeks in a hospital at Valparaiso recovering from the effects of his terrible experience. No word has ever been received from the other boat which put off from the abandoned Starbuck, and it is believed that its occupants are dead.

The Tillie E. Starbuck sailed from New York last April, bound for Honolulu. Down the Atlantic coast all the way to the Horn she had only pleasant winds, and even in the turbulent stretch of ocean south of the Cape she encountered no serious trouble. It was when she was well on her way across the Pacific that the Starbuck ran into the storm which ended her career. The gale broke during the latter part of July, and on the last day of that month the vessel's masts were twisted out by the gale and she was left to wallow, water-logged and helpless, in the tumbling seas. For sixteen days the men stuck to the doomed craft, but finally they were left no choice but to take to the little boats and trust to being picked up by some passing vessel.

A full thousand miles separated them from the nearest shore, that of South America. As the last man left the doomed hulk of the Starbuck the torch was applied to her, that she might not continue to float aimlessly about, a menace to other ships. For a time after the start the occupants of the two boats kept each other in sight, but eventually they became separated. Day and night, week after week, the occupants of Kuhlmann's boat maintained a constant watch for the sailor wreath of smoke which might mean life to them. At last, after eight weeks of indescribable suffering, the Cambaskeneth hove in sight.

The signal of distress which had been set at the first warning was answered, and a few minutes later the half-famished shipwrecked waifs were safe on board the big vessel. There they were cared for as tenderly and as carefully as the facilities at hand would permit, but so serious was the condition of all that it was necessary to transfer them to the hospital as soon as the ship reached Valparaiso. Two of the sufferers were there found to be beyond human help, however.

Orchard Pleads Guilty.

Caldwell, Idaho, March 12.—Harry Orchard, before Judge Fremont Wood, in the District Court, was allowed to withdraw his former plea of not guilty to slaying former Governor Steunenburg, entered at his first arraignment by order of the court, when he stood mute, and entered another plea of guilty to the charge of murdering in the first degree, as charged in the indictment.

Judge Wood will sentence Orchard on March 18.

The stand he took was a surprise to most persons, and his attorney says it was entirely voluntary on his part and against the advice of many who had seen and talked with him.

WOULD FIGHT THE FELL DISEASE

Debate on Mr. Downey's Bill in the Legislature.

ALLAN STUDHOLME'S APPEAL

Calls Attention to Danger of Insanitary Workshops—Auto and Farmer Don't Get on Together—Scathing Denunciation of City Road Hogs—Country Roads Destroyed—What the Premier Says.

Toronto, March 12—The vexed question of the automobile had another airing in the Legislature yesterday, the applause which greeted every strong statement showing the sentiment of the rural members on both sides of the House against the machines being any longer allowed the untrammelled use of the country roads.

The Prime Minister renewed his promise of a special committee to consider the whole question, and Mr. Devitt's bill, which was under discussion, was referred to this tribunal.

Towards the end of the sitting the House went into committee on supply and put through a number of items in the administration of justice branch.

Mr. McElroy (Carlton) secured the first reading of his bill to have the sheriff's office at Ottawa close every Saturday afternoon at one o'clock.

Mr. C. C. Hodgins (North Middlesex) introduced an act respecting the city of London, legalizing bylaws, authorising the issue of debentures for local improvements, such as procuring lands and buildings for sanitarium, cost of a plant for distributing electric power after receiving the consent of the electors, building and equipping additional fire halls, etc.

Mr. J. J. Preston (Durham) is the father of the first completed piece of legislation this session. His bill respecting the united counties of Northumberland and Durham was the first to secure a third reading and finally pass.

Other third readings were:

Mr. Fraser—Respecting the City at Niagara Falls and the Suspension Bridge Co.

Mr. Carscallen—To confirm bylaws at Napanee.

Mr. Fraser—To confirm bylaws of Crowland.

Mr. Downey—Respecting Wellington County and Mt. Forest.

Mr. Preston (Durham)—Respecting renewal of debentures for Port Hope and the harbor.

Mr. Torrance—Respecting the town of Listowel.

Mr. Preston (Lanark)—Respecting the town of Perth.

Mr. Hoyle—Respecting the division of the surplus income of St. James' rectory.

Mr. Macdiarmid—To amend the act incorporating Alma College, St. Thomas.

Mr. Godfrey—Respecting the township of York.

Mr. Duff—Respecting the town of Collingwood and the Ship Building Co.

Mr. Jamieson—Respecting the village of Markdale.

Mr. Studholme (East Hamilton) resumed the debate on Mr. J. P. Downey's bill respecting county boards of health and to prevent the spread of pulmonary tuberculosis. The Labor man made an impassioned appeal for the workers in the workshops who suffered danger through unsanitary conditions.

Hon. Mr. Hanna paid a tribute to Mr. Downey for his able and untiring efforts to securing means to battle with the dread disease, and he felt that the province was indebted to him. At his suggestion the Provincial Board of Health had investigated the matter and were preparing to take action. Mr. Hanna approved of Mr. Downey's demand for prompt compulsory notification of the authorities, such notification to be confidential. The Minister, in view of the board's action, did not favor Dr. Godfrey's proposal of a commission of enquiry. As a result of the conference between the Minister and Mr. Downey the bill will stand pending the plans of the Department along similar lines.

In moving his bill to confine automobiles on country roads to certain days of the week Mr. Devitt declared that in his constituency alone two lives were lost last year from the reckless driving of motors.

Col. Atkinson thought the legislation asked for was absurd. He did not think there was much real grievance.

Mr. Ferguson (Cardwell) challenged that statement. In his county they had spent $200,000 on the roads and were planning to spend $37,000 more. "Is it fair that they shall be torn up by these great heavy reckless cars?" he asked. Mr. Ferguson said he had seen with his own eyes horses run away and people thrown out and maimed.

"If the unsufferable arrogance of these motor fiends continues," declared Mr. Sutherland (Oxford) warmly, "they will soon be swept off the country roads altogether by the indignant public sentiment of the rural people."

"The general public have some rights in this country," was the way Mr. Sam Clarke (Northumberland) put it, in another hot speech. "Their lives are not safe from the auto," he declared.

Hon. Mr. Whitney was greeted with applause when he declared that, while the auto had come to stay, it was not entitled to equal rights on the roads with foot passengers and horse vehicles. The bill was then referred to the special committee to be appointed to consider the whole matter.

Fall From Ladder Fatal.

Ottawa, March 12.—On Monday a man named Paquette was repairing the lights at Rideau Rink, for which purpose he had mounted a ladder, a young man was seeing how near he could skate around the bottom of it, which stood on the ice. He succeeded in going near enough to shake it and the man came down. He died yesterday.

A DUTY ON PULP WO PROPOSED

Mr. E. N. Lewis Would Help Create a Great Industry.

TO MAKE PAPER IN CANADA

Canada's Representative In Japan—Duties to Be Defined by Order-in-Council — Motion to Stop Bonus For Immigrants — Mr. Pringle and the Banks—Complains of Toronto Newspaper Articles.

Ottawa, March 12.—R. L. Borden yesterday directed attention of the Prime Minister to a despatch to the effect that R. L. Drury of Victoria, B.C., had been appointed representative of the Canadian Government in Japan, and asked whether he would discharge his duties under the British Ambassador. Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied that for the last part of the question he would bring down an order-in-council.

Mr. Monk gave notice that on going into supply he would move for the abolition of the bonus or bounty system in the matter of immigration.

Mr. Fielding, replying to Mr. Armstrong, said the importation into Great Britain of hay and straw from many countries had been prohibited, but Canada was not included in the embargo.

James Waugh, immigration agent at Chatham had not refunded $654 to the Interior Department, as demanded, Mr. Oliver told Mr. Clements, but if necessary action would be taken.

Rising to a question of privilege, Mr. Pringle (Stormont) complained of some comments in The Financial Post of Toronto on his recent speech on the banking system, in which it was stated that the value of Mr. Pringle's speech was destroyed by his malicious attack on one of the great banks of the country.

The Post said: "In his conclusion Mr. Pringle said: 'It will be stated that Mr. Pringle has attacked the banks; Pringle has not attacked the banks.' On this point we must take issue with Mr. Pringle and state the fact that he has been most successful in his attacks on two banks now in process of liquidation.

"His attack on the Sovereign Bank was also successful. If Mr. Pringle had confined himself to theoretical attacks on the floor of the House the same exception could not have been taken to his remarks."

Mr. Pringle repudiated the charge that he had attacked one of the banks, he had merely quoted an extract from the report of the royal commission on insurance to show that the Bank of Commerce was one of the biggest gambling institutions of the country. What he said he did not propose to withdraw. As to the statement of The Post regarding his transactions with the Ontario Bank, he proposed to settle that with the publishers in a civil action. The statement was untrue and libelous.

Mr. Pringle also referred to The Monetary Times, which had spoken of his speech as "vitriolic." Such attacks would not swerve him from what he considered to be his duty. He proposed on a future occasion to bring the matter up in another way by moving for an investigation of the Bank of Commerce, based on the findings of the royal insurance commission, and he expected that the Government would grant an enquiry.

E. N. Lewis (West Huron) provoked a debate on the pulp wood question by moving "That in the opinion of this House such duty should be placed on the export of pulp wood as will be sufficient to induce its manufacture into paper in Canada, and thus save to the labor of Canada $6,000,000 now lost."

Mr. Lewis began by quoting an expression by President Roosevelt that "No other question of equal gravity is now before the nation." There was no desire in Canada that the people of the United States should be without their daily paper, but the product of our forests should be manufactured in Canada.

He believed no Government in Canada would permit our pulp forests to become a dreary waste. We were handicapped by lack of concerted action or lack of funds. For years we had grumbled because Britain had made bad business arrangements for us with the United States. Now we had an opportunity to make our own bargain or laws in a vital issue affecting our national prosperity. The International Paper Co., controlling over 30 mills, in a little over a year acquired 1,255,000 acres of timber limits, mostly in Canada. If the export of pulp wood from Canada were cut off the paper manufacturing of the United States would collapse. Millions upon millions of spruce logs, hundreds of thousands of cords of pulp wood were exported yearly from Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia to feed pulp and paper mills of the States, and what did Canada get for this? The Government got $1 a cord; the man who handles the wood not much more; the railways a low rate. They did not even allow us to carry pulp wood in Canadian vessels. Mr. Lewis pointed out that every cord of wood ground to pulp had a value of $20; made into fibre $30 to $32; made into paper $40 to $45.

He asked the Government to take such action as will save to labor men of Canada $6,000,000 lost annually, or perhaps $20,000,000 would be nearer the mark. The United States shut out our finished products, paper, but took our crude product, pulp wood, made it into paper and undersold us in Europe with their surplus dump.

The farmer would be helped by an export duty on pulp wood. In two years enough mills would be removed to or built in Canada to supply the world. The pulp and paper industry gave more healthy and steady day and night employment to a larger number of men and women at higher wages all the year round than any other industry in Canada.

What happened when the Liberal Government of Ontario restricted the export of saw logs? Sawmills started [illegible] in all directions and factories followed.

Mr. Lewis asked the Government to appoint a committee of investigation which would report at another session.

Dr. Beland (Beauce), in opposing the motion, said it was based on the assumption that the timber resources of the United States had been practically depleted. He quoted an authority that the forest wealth of the United States amounted to 21 billion feet, which meant that the supply was practically inexhaustible. That country had a forest reserve of 1,094,000 square miles, about 37 per cent. of the total area of the country. It must also be remembered that only 11 states were importing pulp wood.

He believed such a proposal as that of Mr. Lewis would be an infringement on provincial rights. Moreover, the provinces had the remedy in their own hands by imposing the restriction that timber cut under license must be manufactured in the provinces. To impose an export duty might be considered by the United States as an unfriendly act.

Messrs. Morin (Dorchester) and Hunt (Compton) opposed an export duty, as it would injure the interests of the south shore of the St. Lawrence.

Mr. Bastedo's Appointment.

The order-in-council appointing Mr. S. T. Bastedo agent on behalf of the Dominion Government to discuss fishery regulations with provincial authorities was tabled yesterday.

The document sets forth the unsatisfactory condition in which the question was placed by the decision of the Imperial Privy Council, and attempts that have been made to come to an arrangement, adding: "Nearly ten years have elapsed since the Privy Council decision without any settlement in sight and in some of the provinces the situation is becoming somewhat acute, requiring early action."

OFFICIAL STOLE $60,000.

And Large Loan Company Was Forced Into Liquidation.

Indian Head, Sask., March 12.—Some time ago the H. H. Campkin Co., Ltd., who were doing a very large loan, insurance and real estate business, with branches in Saskatoon and several other towns, were forced into liquidation and made an assignment to the Northern Trust Co. of Winnipeg.

It had been regarded as one of the most solvent and progressive companies in eastern Saskatchewan, operating in a large and lucrative field, assuring large profits. Mr. Campkin was regarded as a shrewd and capable business man, and voluntary liquidation caused some surprise.

Now, however, it is explained that failure was due entirely to misappropriations of O. Manford, secretary-treasurer, who has disappeared. The sum total of his defalcations is believed to be in the neighborhood of $50,000.

Mr. Campkin has manfully shouldered all financial loss, guaranteeing that none of the creditors shall lose by the unfortunate affair.

KILLED IN A DUEL.

Young Political Leader In Louisiana Shoots Senator-Elect.

Amite, La., March 12.—The strained political situation in Louisiana Democratic circles was on Monday night responsible for the killing of Democratic State Senator-Elect D. S. Kemp of this city. He was shot and killed by C. F. Hyde, a young political and business leader of this section, who has not been arrested.

The men quarreled about the recent Democratic primary for lieutenant-governor, and Hyde is alleged to have called Kemp a liar. Tuesday night Kemp, with a drawn revolver, walked into Hyde's place of business, accompanied by a friend, and demanded an apology, which was refused. Kemp then slapped Hyde's face and the two men thereupon agreed to fight it out.

Hyde secured a revolver. When he came out he shouted to Kemp to wait for him. The two approached each other and Hyde opened fire. Kemp did not shoot.

Death of James Cleland, ex-M.P.P.

Meaford, March 12.—The death occurred here yesterday of James Cleland, ex-M.P.P., at the age of 69 years. The immediate cause of Mr. Cleland's death was pneumonia, from which he had suffered for about ten days.

Mr. Cleland was born in Glasgow, Scotland, and came to Canada when a young man, settling at Meaford. He was engaged in the mercantile and manufacturing business here up to the time of his death, and was recognized as a very successful business man.

He took an active part in public affairs, was mayor of Meaford for two years, and also held the offices of reeve, councillor and school trustee. Deceased was a Liberal in politics, and was the chosen representative for North Grey in the local Legislature from 1890 to 1898. He is survived by a widow and five sons.

License Law Breakers.

St. Catharines, March 12.—License Inspector King threw down the gauntlet to license law breakers in the Police Court yesterday, his announcement that he would in every case proceed against men caught drinking in hotel bars during prohibited hours, indicating that he intends to put on extra steam to enforce the law. Norris Stephens, proprietor of the St. Catharines House here, pleaded guilty to selling liquor after hours last Saturday night, and it being his second offence, he was fined a hundred dollars.

When he rounded up the hotel Saturday night Inspector King took the names of all the men in the bar-room, and yesterday informations for frequenting were laid against them. There were nearly a dozen, and their cases were adjourned until Friday.

PITTSBURG NO-KIX-GO CLUB ALREADY THINKING OF SUMMER AT STONY LAKE

Down in Pennsylvania they are already, in memory, travelling over to Peterborough's popular summer resort, Stony Lake, where so many have spent scores of pleasant hours during the holiday seasons of the past. The Examiner this morning received a communication from a member of the "No-Kix-Go" Club, an organization of young men who many will remember visited Stony Lake a few years ago. The club is again desirous of visiting Kawarthadom and are beginning to make their plans in time. They have written seeking a cottage for a couple of weeks in August and those who became acquainted with the boys on the occasion of their last visit will be pleased to hear of their decision to return.

PEOPLE OF THE CITY ENTERED HEARTILY INTO THE SPIRIT OF THE RELIGIOUS CENSUS

House-to-House Visitation Yesterday Seems to Have Been Most Successful—Ladies Were Courteously Received Everywhere They Went.

RESULTS KNOWN TO-NIGHT

As far as can be ascertained today the house to house visitation yesterday was in every way a great success. An Examiner reporter invaded the room in the Y.M.C.A. today in which Mr. Yellowlees, of Toronto and his assistants are busy in tabulating the returns and examining the tickets and was informed that the promoters of the scheme were satisfied that it had proved all that had been counted upon. The ladies who had in charge the canvassing had done their work promptly and well. The information they had obtained was complete as had been expected and few mistakes had been made in the work of securing the particulars that were required in each household.

The people of Peterborough seem to have entered thoroughly into the spirit of the occasion and co-operated with the canvassers that made the work of securing information comparatively easy. The ladies were pleasantly received wherever they went, and information was given courteously and freely in regard to the number of inmates in the family, their religion and the other particulars needed. This was the rule everywhere throughout the city, according to the reports of the ladies, and the thanks of the inaugurators of the movement are gratefully extended to the citizens for the hearty manner in which they co-operated in the work.

The scrutineers have been hard at work all day upon the returns and expect to have the totals completed by 10 o'clock to-night and they will be published to-morrow. A meeting will be held in the Y.M.C.A. to-night to which are invited all those interested in the movement.

One feature of the canvas is that very few people were encountered who would not express a preference for one denomination or another. One lady stated that she had met but one person in her district who stated that he did not go to church nor had he any preference in the matter.

ASSISTANCE FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF NEW BRIDGE AT CHEMONG

ALD. HARRY PHELAN,
Chairman of Board of Works, a member of the deputation to the Capital

COMES FROM WHERE MERCURY DROPS TO 65 DEGREES BELOW ZERO

From the "top o' the world," almost, comes Mr. H. M. S. Cotter, who is the guest of Dr. Boucher, Brock street, for a few days. Mr. Cotter hails from that part of Canada that is probably least known, the Ungava Bay district of Labrador, where white men are few and far between, and where the population is composed for the most part of Indians and Eskimos. He is a factor in the employ of the Hudson Bay Company, and just now is back in Ontario on a furlough, arriving in Toronto in January. In Labrador he made the acquaintance of Dr. Geo. Boucher, son of Dr. R. F. Boucher, also in the Hudson Bay Company's employ, and hence his visit to Peterborough.

While here he will also visit Rev. Dr. Marsh of Springville, president of the Peterborough Astronomical Society, whom he met in Labrador in 1906, when the party of Canadian astronomers, under the leadership of Dr. King, chief astronomer for Canada, were in the Ungava district for the purpose of observing the eclipse of the sun visible from that point. Rev. Dr. Marsh was a member of that party, which was quartered at Mr. Cotter's post.

To an Examiner reporter, who had a few minutes' chat with Mr. Cotter yesterday, he said that Labrador was a country of great possibilities in the mining line and in other ways. There is a large timber growth there and the lumbering industry on a large scale has been begun by Nova Scotia people, so that the country is being opened up now, and white men are not so scarce as they were some time ago. Communication with the great world outside is still limited, however, and only five or six mails are received during the year, in fact, only one in the winter time, when letters and papers were brought on the long trip overland. In the summer four or five steamers from the south call in connection with the cod-fishing.

The weather for three-fourths of the year is decidedly wintry. The winter sets in in September and there is no really warm weather again until July of the next year. Peterborough people who have been talking of the 29 below zero weather experienced this winter since the cold spell, will begin to realize that conditions might have been much worse, when it is stated that Mr. Cotter has seen the thermometer drop to 65 degrees below zero. The highest point ever reached in the summer was about 70 degrees.

Mr. Cotter, who has spent sixteen years in the north country, will return there in June of this year.

In connection with the above it is interesting to mention the section of Rev. Dr. Marsh's report of the Government Expedition to the north in August of 1906. It reads as follows:—

"Our last night on shore will not soon be forgotten. The kindliness of Mr. Cotter will ever be remembered. Mr. and Mrs. Maunder occupied the only bed in Mr. Cotter's house at the Hudson Bay post. Bear skins without number were spread on the floor and on these six of our party slept, Dr. Marsh against the wall, Mr. Jenkins next to him, then Prof. Stewart, Rev. Father Canaugh, Dr. Chant and Prof. DeLury. A number of others fared the same way in other rooms of Mr. Cotter's dwelling. Mr. Collins, secretary of the Royal Astronomical Society, was the speechifier, punster and singer. The man who dug a hole in the sea to bathe in, slept with Mr. Mabon in the old church, Mr. Cotter supplying more skins to cover the homeless mortals. On leaving the shore next morning Mr. Cotter and his men did all within their power to make the Dominion Expedition remember with pleasure at the Hudson Bay Post factor's dwelling on the northern bank of the North West River."

TWO FORMER LOCAL MINISTERS RENEW THEIR ACQUAINTAINSHIP

Plainfield, New Jersey, March 12.—(Special)—Rev. Herbert Symonds, M. A., D.D., vicar of Christ Church Cathedral, at Montreal, Canada is the guest of Rev. E Vicars Stevenson, rector of Grace church, and will conduct two courses of sermon lectures at the church during the week. The first lecture of the course on Tennyson's "In Memoriam" was given at the vesper service at the church on Sunday afternoon, and he began a series of daily talks on "The Bible in the Twentieth Century" at the church Monday morning, when he gave the introductory lecture of the course.

At the Sunday morning service Dr. Symonds occupied the pulpit, speaking on the place of religion in the present day society.

COOL HEADED BANK MANAGER INVITES HIS ANARCHIST STRANGER FRIEND TO HAVE LUNCH WITH HIM

Examiner Special.

Omaha, Neb., March 12.—An unknown machinist yesterday morning entered the Merchants' National bank and demanded a large sum of money. He was arrested.

The anarchist displayed a bottle believed to contain nitro-glycerine, and threatened to blow up the bank if his request was not complied with.

The man entered the bank soon after the doors were thrown open and asked to see President Luther Drake in his private office. Mr. Drake seated himself opposite his visitor, who began talking incoherently about having had $5,000 in the National Bank of Commerce in Kansas City when that bank failed.

"And since all you fellows are in together, you had just better hand me over my money, or I'll blow you and the bank and all of us to kingdom come," suddenly said the fellow, producing a three-ounce bottle containing a thick yellow liquid.

"You don't want to die yourself, do you?" coolly asked Drake.

"Oh, yees, I came in here ready to die," responded the stranger.

Invites Stranger to Lunch

Drake then told the man he would talk it over with him and the stranger accepted, all the time keeping the bottle in his hand and within sight. Noticing that the man was thin and pinched, Drake suggested they have breakfast together and talk it over.

"All right, I haven't eaten anything for forty-eight hours," replied the anarchist, "but don't try any monkey business or you are a dead man," he said.

Vice-President Hamilton, of the bank, entered the room during the conversation and heard enough of it to enable him to know what was going on. As Drake and the stranger left the room together Hamilton telephoned the police station for plain clothes men and followed the two men to a nearby restaurant.

Slipping up behind the stranger the detectives pinioned his arms and relieved him of his bottle before he knew what was up. He was then taken to the police station. There he refused to talk. The bottle was sent to a chemist for analysis.

WAS A DISASTROUS BLAZE

Tweed, March 12.—(Special.) — Although Mr. Thos. Evans, the well-known cattle dealer of Erinaville, lost about $5,000 worth of property in a disastrous fire that destroyed his dwelling and outbuildings on Sunday, he can feel thankful there was no loss of life. The house Mr. Evans occupied as a home was at one time a hotel, and the sheds and outbuildings were near the dwelling house, so that when the main building took fire the flames soon spread to the adjacent buildings.

The fire was discovered in the kitchen early Sunday morning, but had got considerable headway before it was seen, and the occupants had to run from the burning building for safety. An anxious few minutes were spent when it was noticed that Mary, the eight-year-old daughter of Mr. Evans, and the hired girl had not come out with the rest. Mr. Evans rushed back and found the little girl in the kitchen partly overcome with the smoke, but he carried her out safely to the open air. In the meantime neighbours were saving the girl, who had climbed out on the verandah and refused to jump to the ground. She stood on the roof of the verandah until a ladder was brought, and she was carried away to a safe distance just as the wall fell out on the verandah where she had stood.

Totally Destroyed

The fire was a terrible one while it lasted, owing to the high east wind that was blowing, but spectators say that this saved the rest of the village, which might have caught fire had the wind been in any other direction.

The buildings and contents were totally destroyed, but the loss will be partly covered by insurance. All the livestock was removed before the burns caught fire.

C. P. R. CABLE BROKEN BY STREET RAILWAY CART

This morning one of the semaphores in the C. P. R. yards was put out of commission for a short time. The high platform cart which is used to repair the street railway wires was crossing the tracks on Townsend street when the top of the platform caught the cable which controls the semaphore. The driver may not have noticed the state of affairs. At any rate, the cable was snapped and the two men who were driving had to repair the break.

PETER McFARLANE

Keene, March 12.—(Special) — The death occurred on Wednesday morning at the home of his mother, Mrs. D. McFarlane, of Peter McFarlane, in his forty-fourth year. The deceased was stricken on Sunday with paralysis and was only ill three days. He was a native of Otonabee and has spent all his life in this vicinity. His mother, three brothers, Duncan and Donald of Keene and James of New Liskeard, and one sister, Mrs. Marshall Weir, survive.

The funeral will be held Friday at 3 o'clock and interment will take place at Keene cemetery.

ASKS WHY THEY DIDN'T CALL?

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—I live at the north end of Water street and I would like to know why those taking the religious census did not call. I have discovered they missed me and three or four others in the vicinity. Was the census thorough? Were there any others forgotten or overlooked?

Yours truly,
QUESTIONER.

FARMER FOUND DEAD IN SLEIGH; HORSES WANDERING ABOUT

Kingston, March 12. — (Special.)—The police are investigating the death of Michael Ryan, Wolfe Island, who was found dead in his sleigh on the ice off this city last night. A bruise on the head might have been made by a blow or a fall. Ryan had started for home at 7 p.m., after being about the city all day and an hour later was found in his sleigh, his horses wandering about. He was aged 46 years. If he had sold his hay he should have had $35. All he had however, when found was 30 cents.

PEDESTRIAN FELL INTO WATER HOLE ON A STREET CORNER

At the corner of Brock and George streets there is a water hole which is supposed to be a receptacle for surplus water from the streets. But if its history were written to-day, a page would tell of it being a receptacle for pedestrians as well.

A trench has been dug to allow the water an avenue of escape into the hole at the corner of the street, but the hole has not been protected. Last night about 10 o'clock, while a lonely wayfarer was wending his way homeward he tumbled into the hole. Unfortunately, the water found no means of escaping into the earth, and the man—at least the greater portion of him—was soaked in water.

An eye-witness of the scene assailed the old gentleman out of the pool, and he states that had it been a boy who'd tumbled in he might have lost his life in the deep water.

He believed that too much care could not be taken by the street officials in looking after the streets with a view to the protection of the public, and suggested that if some sort of railing were placed around the hole accidents of this nature could be easily averted.

BANQUET FOR MEN OF THE ALL SAINT'S CONGREGATION

The Men's Association of All Saints' Saints' church have decided to hold a banquet for men of the congregation on Wednesday, March 25th. Great preparations are being made for the event and it is expected that at least 400 men will be present. The purpose is for the propogation of the great laymen's movement which is spreading throughout the Dominion and the principals in the movement here are desirous of interesting the men more than they have been in the past in matters pertaining to the obtaining of a deeper knowledge in religious affairs.

Among the speakers for the occasion is Rev. Canon Tucker, of Toronto, missionary of the Diocese. Committees have already been appointed to look after the banquet, programme and other necessary arrangements. A toast list is also being provided.

VERDICT REACHED BY CORONER'S JURY IN LOUISA HOWELL CASE

The inquest into the death of the late Louisa Howell was concluded yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock. Coroner Grey conducted the proceedings, which resulted in the following verdict:

"That Louisa Howell came to her death by suicide while temporarily deranged."

The jury was composed of Messrs. Jas. Connal, W. A. Bell, D. Drummond, Wm. Lillie, W. H. Stroud, Geo. Ball, Ed. Campbell, H. Stenson, W. J. Oke, W. E. Lech, I. Richardson, W. H. White, A. Laidlaw, R. Turner. Mr. G. Hall was foreman.

Chief Rexsel acted as constable.

The evidence which was received dealt merely with the facts of the case, and nothing of importance more than has already been published was brought forward. Those examined by Mr. R. E. Wood were Dr. McClelland, Dr. Carmichael, Mr. Melbert and Mr. W. Austin. The adjourned meeting of the jurymen was opened at 3 o'clock.

Will Inspect An Invention

Mr. Wm. Bibby, General Road Master of the G. T. R. was in the city to-day on his way to Indian River. The object of his visit to the Otonabee station on the C. P. R. was to inspect a new switch closing device which has been invented by Mr. P. G. Walker, of Indian River. The switch so operates that when a train has passed by it locks itself. The advantage of this can be seen in the case where a train is on a siding and passes onto the main line. It will not have to stop while a brakesman closes the switch and locks it.

Mr. Walker claims that his invention is very simple and will not fail to work.

Mr. Jos. Maher accompanied Mr. Bibby.

There were fire tests in the various Public Schools of the city to-day performed under the supervision and at the instance of the members of the Board of Education. The above figures represent the length of time it took to clear the schools of the pupils.

Messrs. Fair and Hill went to the Central School and state that the pupils marched out in double quick time, taking only 40 seconds. They were cool-headed, too, although the test was in that case, as well as in the others, a complete surprise.

Messrs. Ackerman and Robinson visited the King Edward, and report that the time was 45 seconds. The South Central test was supervised by Mr. Crane and Dr. Morrison, resulting in the school being cleared in 1 3-4 minutes. The same gentlemen visited the West Ward the time there being 1 1-4 minutes.

Mr. Dumbis reported that the Queen Alexandra School was emptied in 58 seconds, and at the East Ward,

TRADES AND LABOUR COUNCIL NOT IN FAVOUR OF LIBRARY

At a meeting of the Trades and Labour Council last night the Carnegie Library question was discussed quite freely, and the general opinion was against asking for assistance. The members considered it would be beneath the dignity of the city to take the money. While no resolution was passed regarding the library, the majority of the opinions were not in favour of asking Mr. Carnegie for a grant.

Mr. John Alexander was in the chair and introduced Mr. Chas. A. Miles, vice-president and general organizer of the United Textile Workers, of which a branch was formed in Peterborough last Saturday night. Mr. Miles addressed the council regarding the textile work and general labour conditions.

A resolution of condolence was passed to the family of the late Edward Ward, who was a member of the Trades and Labour Council.

WANTED A MIDNIGHT SUPPER; DISTURBED A HOUSEHOLD

Clamouring that he wanted something to eat and wanted it in a hurry too, an unknown man rudely disturbed the slumbers of a family living on George street north on Tuesday night. The hour was well nigh unto midnight, but that did not deter the hungry man from rapping loudly on the front door of the house, and after succeeding in arousing the household he announced his intention of coming in to have his supper. The lady of the house who on the alarm had projected her head out of an upstair window remonstrated with the individual who appeared to be intoxicated, on the unseemingly nature of his condition. She further threatened to telephone for the police and made her bluff good by setting off an alarm clock but the marauder saw her and stayed in the game.

This was the position of affairs when several well known citizens who happened to be passing, arrived on the scene. To them the "murderer of sleep" explained that he was from Smith, that he had no money and that he wanted something to eat and he had to have it. The delegation pointing out the lights of a distant grocery store, persuaded the man that it was a restaurant and he at last reluctantly took his departure.

MR. GEO. WILLIAMSON IS DOING GOOD WORK AT FORT WILLIAM

Mr. J. J. Thornton received a letter from Mr. George Williamson, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Fort William and formerly of Peterborough. Mr. Williamson gives an encouraging report of the progress that the society is making under his charge. Work on a new building will be commenced in a short time to replace that which was destroyed by fire. Mr. Williamson is energetically conducting special services at a foundry where the men are nearly all foreigners. In the other Y. M. C. A. work his classes have goodly numbers on roll and are proving successful.

BRIDLE WOVEN FROM HORSE HAIR BY HORSE THIEF IN PENITENTIARY

The Examiner was shown to-day something decidedly new and out of the ordinary in the way of horse trappings in the shape of a bridle composed wholly of horse hair, cunningly interwoven and coloured so that it is both serviceable and beautiful. In addition to its hand construction the bridle has an interesting history. It was made by a convict named McLeod in the Montana State prison, a man who is serving a term on a charge of horse stealing. He is endeavouring to secure a new trial and is obtaining the funds needed by manufacturing bridles of horse-hair.

The ingeniously constructed bridle is in the possession of Mr A B Purdy, of Red Deer, Sask., who is at present in the city visiting relatives, and the product of the genious of the western convict is being put to an interesting use. The Masons of Alberta intend to hold a Masonic fair this year in connection with the big fair at Calgary for the purpose of raising money for the construction of a Mason's Home and School in Alberta and it is proposed to have the bridle made the prize for a drawing competition, tickets for which are being disposed of by Mr. Purdy in the east.

The consumption of tea in England increased from 1 1-2 million pounds in 1740 to 117 million pounds in 1870, and to 241 million pounds in 1907. In Canada, since the introduction of "Salada" Tea, the consumption of tea is increasing in a like ratio.

SPASMS.

The action of the School Board in personally inspecting the efficiency in fire drills at the several school buildings, as they were doing to-day, is in every way commendable. But is this interest any more than a spasm? In the matter of permanent results, it should be something more than a man looking at his face in a glass and straightway forgetting what he saw. The letter of "Parent" in yesterday's issue of the Examiner touches the desired spot. Fire drill, to become effective, should form a definite and permanent part of the school curriculum. We can't expect a fire to break out obligingly while fire drill is diligently practised, as it has been for the past few days. But months hence, after the present spasm has disappeared and fire drills have been abandoned, the fire might come. If our fire department drilled its horses and men for only a day or two after some great fire, no more folly would be shown than having fire drills in our Public Schools for a few days only after a Hochelaga or Cleveland school disaster. If the School Board's visit of to-day leads to the adoption of measures looking to the continuity of fire drills it will have been of some value; otherwise it will only amount to their time and the time of the schools they visit being wasted.

HABITS OF THRIFT.

In addition to the provision for old age, the chief benefit from the legislation proposed by Hon. Mr. Fielding to provide annuities, is the development of the habit of thrift among persons of limited income. Not only do these persons, but far too large a proportion of the people at large, live up to their incomes; and old age finds them without savings to fall back upon, or as a shelter for the "rainy day." If the people of Canada would cultivate and acquire the habits of thrift practised by the French people, an old age annuity scheme would not be necessary. The heavy war levy imposed, as a result of the Franco-Prussian war, would, in the case of any other European power, have sent the Governments scurrying to the moneylenders. But the immense indemnity demanded by Germany was paid entirely from French domestic resources, subscribed from millions of small hoards, the savings of thrifty French citizens. Mr. Fielding's bill will be a national benefit if its adoption will tend to develop habits of economy and saving, which are so universally non-existent among Canadians. This winter there has been great destitution here and in other parts of Canada among the unemployed. In the vast majority of these cases the destitution is self-created. During the summer employment was plentiful, but the wages earned were not wisely spent—they were wasted, if not in riotous living, in improvident expenditure, in the pursuit of frivolous pleasures, with no provision made for winter and the period of enforced idleness, when work would cease and, of course, the income would likewise come to an end. A squirrel shames such persons—it lays by a store for the winter. If all wage-earners would do the same there would, barring illness or accident, be no destitution to relieve, no draft upon the means of the industrious and thrifty. Habits of thrift generally prevalent among the people of Canada, with its abundant reward for honest toil, would eliminate winter destitution from the problems that confront society.

OLD AGE ANNUITY SYSTEM.

The House of Commons on Monday discussed in committee Mr. Fielding's bill declaring that it is expedient to authorize the sale of Government annuities to the people of Canada to provide for old age by means of annuities of not less than fifty dollars a year, nor more than six hundred dollars per year to be purchasable either by paying a single sum or by the payment of a stipulated sum periodically at fixed and definite intervals; the Governor-in-Council, by regulation, to fix the rate of interest to be allowed in the computation of values in tables which are to be the basis of such purchases; such annuities to be payable after the annuitant has reached the age of fifty-five years, or has become disabled; the monies paid in by an annuitant to be repayable should the annuitant die before the annuity is payable, to the heirs of the annuitant with three per cent. interest compound yearly; the property and interest of an annuitant to be unassignable, and to be exempt from legal process except the contract be entered into and consideration therefor paid with intent to delay, hinder or defraud creditors. The monies received to go into consolidated revenue fund, and the monies payable to be paid therefrom.

Mr. Fielding explained that substantially the bill was very little different from the one introduced in the Senate. It was necessary, said the Minister, to guard against any confusion between this bill and the proposals for old age pensions discussed in the house recently. It was not proposed under the bill that any contribution be given by the Government, unless it be in the form of a concession in the way of a little larger interest. The insurance companies had power to take annuity business, but it had not been used to any large extent. Under the Government's proposals, no annuity would be larger than $800 to one person, or more than $600 to husband and wife jointly.

The payments might be of two kinds, periodical payments, or independent payments, to suit a person's own convenience. A young man who at the age of 20 began paying in 25 cents a week, and continued to do so regularly till the age of 55, would be entitled at the latter age to an annuity for his life of $87.25. If he allowed the money to remain without further payment till the age of 60 the annuity would be $126; at 65 the annuity would be $189.47; or at 70 it would be $301. At $1 per week the annuity would be $349 at 55, and $504 at 60. Monthly and quarterly payments could also be made. An independent payment at the age of 20 would entitle the annuitant to an annuity of $36.60 at the age of 55, or if he paid $100 every five years the annuity would be $149.28.

THE PRESERVATION OF WATER-POWERS.

Bound up directly with the question of forest-preservation, to which attention has of late been so frequently called in these columns, is the question of the preservation of water-powers. This is one of several important considerations which make the solution of the forest problem an absolutely vital concern for the people of the eastern provinces, and especially for those of Ontario and Quebec, as containing the finest timberland and the finest and most generally distributed water-powers in the world to-day. If the forests are allowed to be devastated, the value of the water-powers of the country goes with them; for the usefulness of a water-power depends on the manner in which its current is regulated, and without extensive forests at the sources of streams to draw and retain moisture—to act as reservoirs and prevent the too rapid melting of the snow in spring, there can be no regulation. When the forest is gone the river is either a flood or a trickle and the water-power, however great, is practically worthless.

That people may understand how terrible would be the loss to Canada and Canadians in the destruction of their water-powers by reckless woodcutting, it is only necessary to give a few figures showing the tremendous and incomparable energy these powers contain. Taking the Ottawa river alone, it is estimated that within a radius of fifty miles of the Federal Capital there is an available power of water equal to 900,000 horse-power; and this estimate is based on a low average of water. Besides the power could be greatly increased by building a few dams. The water-power available between Ottawa and Mattawa, a distance of two hundred miles, is estimated at 1,500,000 horse-power, and what is generally designated as the Trent Valley has large water powers. To take another region there are in the basin of Lake St. John rivers and streams capable of furnishing over 700,000 horse-power for manufacturing purposes, which alone is greatly in excess of what be furnished by all the Rivers of Norway and Sweden together. Nor are Quebec and Ontario the only provinces favoured in this way. New Brunswick has fine powers on the St. John, Restigouche and Miramichi rivers, and their tributaries; and some of the rivers of Nova Scotia are also valuable in this way. The people of these provinces are therefore deeply concerned in this question of the preservation of water-powers, as well as those of Quebec and Ontario.

In talking of these tremendous water-powers the ordinary person, whose knowledge of engineering is apt to be slight, finds difficulty in setting a value upon this colossal energy. The figures must be translated into dollars and cents before he clearly understands. To do this it is necessary to make a comparison with steam power. Taking as a basis the 900,000 horse-power said to be available within fifty miles of the city of Ottawa, the cost of generating by steam that amount of electrical energy would, at the rate of $25 per horse-power a year, involve an annual expenditure of $22,500,000, while the same amount of power might be obtained from the water at an average cost of $10 per horse-power, a saving of $14,500,000 a year in this small district alone. It is this which makes the water-powers of Canada of almost immeasurable value to the country and its people; and this is why every possible means should be taken to safe-guard this national treasure.

That the cry of warning to Canadians to protect their water-powers is not an idle bogey or an alarmist nightmare, is shown by the conditions of the eastern townships of Quebec, and indeed the whole southern shore of the St. Lawrence, and of many regions of Ontario. There the reckless stripping of the timberlands has already produced its effects, and water-powers which once turned mill wheels and promised to be the motive force of thriving industries are now unfit for even the floating of logs. There is scarcely a stream in the section of country indicated whose banks do not show somewhere or other the melancholy traces of abandoned mills and factories. The logs have gone, with the exception of those from Ontario in recent years, to feed American industries, which would otherwise have been forced to come to Canada and would have developed and protected the water-powers they have been the occasion of ruining. The time for action should not be long delayed.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Saturday Night speaks of the "mulish" obstinacy of the Federal Opposition. Mulish is good. The Opposition prided itself on its long nose for scandal, but, the London Advertiser remarks, merely revealed long ears.

The Review ingenuously remarks that the Liberal-Conservative party in East Peterborough "is thoroughly united once more." "Once more" is good. Our contemporary has been maintaining with a great show of indignation that there never was a surcease of harmony.

WHERE THE GRIEVANCE LIES.

(London Advertiser.)

In its clamour for "original documents" the Opposition is in the position of a borrower who abuses his creditor for refusing to advance him more money without security, before he has repaid previous loans.

One of the most vociferous of the band—Mr. Foster—has kept original returns since the last session of Parliament, and when reminded of the fact promised to "try to find them." Yet, attached to every return is this printed request:

"This sessional paper is the property of the House of Commons and must not be taken from the precincts of the House. The member receiving the same for reference or information is requested to return it to the journal office at his earliest convenience."

Mr. Lefurgey, another Pargiamentary noise, kept a paper for 261 days and returned it minus several pages. Mr. Ames, of Montreal, the Pinkerton of the Opposition, has not returned five documents of the many he took out. Mr. Baker, of Hamilton, retained a return improperly for 108 days. Since January 356 returns have been brought down at the request of the Opposition, involving an enormous amount of labour in the departments. One return demanded by Mr. Borden consisted of 1,000 typewritten pages, and he admitted forgetting that he had asked for it! The practice of furnishing copies of documents instead of originals was a protective measure, in view of the mutilation and disappearance of so many original returns. The Government adopted the rule that the originals would be supplied only when reasons were given, but the Opposition raised such a din that it was agreed to supply originals, but under the strictest safeguards in future.

It will be seen that all the fuss and clamour at Ottawa arose from an abuse of privilege by Opposition members, and that it is the Government that has had a grievance, not its opponents.

AN UNIQUE RECORD.

The Ottawa Free Press gives the following details of the Parliamentary record of Hon. C R Devlin who is well known in Peterborough, will be of local interest. Mr. Devlin delivered a St. Patrick's day lecture in the Old Opera House here some years ago, under the auspices of the Emerald Beneficial Association:

When Hon. C R Devlin took his seat in the Legislative Assembly of Quebec at the opening of its session a day or two ago, he made a unique record in the history of Parliament. He had within two years been elected at three elections and had taken his seat for the third time during the session of the Parliament to which he had been elected. The first of these occasions was in the Parliament of Great Britain and Ireland, when he was presented as member for Galway by Mr. P. O'Brien, M.P. for Kilkenny, and by Captain Donaldson, M.P. for Cork. The second was last year when, after his election to the Canadian House of Commons for Nicolet, he was introduced by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux; and he third came when he took his seat in the Legislative Assembly of Quebec as member for Nicolet and Minister of Colonization and was chaperoned by Hon. Lomer Gouin and Hon. Adelard Turgeon.

But these are not Mr. Devlin's only claims to hold Parliamentary records. Although still only a young man, he has won six elections and taken his place six times in various Parliaments. The first was in the Canadian House of Commons as M.P. for the county of Ottawa in 1891; the second as M.P. for Wright at Ottawa in 1896; the third as member for Galway at Westminster in 1903; the fourth again at Westminster in 1906; the fifth at Ottawa as M.P. for Nicolet in 1907; and the sixth at Quebec as M.P.P. for Nicolet in 1908.

If there is any other Parliamentarian in the British Empire with a similar record, we should like to hear of him.

BLACK SQUIRRELS IN THE CITY

Seen This Morning in the Cedars South Of Barnardo Avenue.

Signs of spring are on every hand. This morning a gentleman noticed two black squirrels frisking about in the cedars just south of Barnardo avenue, and chirping after each other in great glee. This is rather unusual at any time in the year as black squirrels are becoming scarce in this vicinity. They ran across the snow, up and down the trees and had a merry frolic as this gentleman watched them. If the bad boys do not locate them they may remain unhurt throughout the whole year.

It Is Possible To Reduce Flesh Without Dieting Or Exercise.

It is not only possible but being done everywhere. Exercise, unless carefully superintended by a physician and expert athletic director, may easily do a deal of harm to the gr at overburdened body. The untutored fat man and woman determined to get thin are only too likely to overstrain their fat encumbered muscles by their awkward, ill-advised gymnastics and so cause nerve and muscle troubles that may develop into something far worse than a little too much flesh. Same way with dieting. Starvation is certainly effective if kept up long and faithfully enough but it is almost certain to injure the nutritive process and so weaken the patient constitutionally, while it is abominal torture, of course, especially to a good-natured, high-living, fleshy man or woman.

Fortunately neither dieting nor exercising are required or desirable if one uses the right remedy for reducing fat, and, strange to say, the remedy is a simple, wholesome home mixture, the ingredients of which are obtainable at any drug store for a few cents. This mixture is as follows: 1-2 oz. Marmola, 3-4 oz. Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, 4 3-4 ozs. Syrup Simplex, and the proper amount to take is one teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime. This mixture takes the fat off rapidly, but naturally, so that no wrinkles are formed and no harm is done to the stomach, as is so frequently the case with "patent" or "secret" advertised remedies.

LONDON HAS 70,000 EMPTY DWELLINGS

Notwithstanding This, 12,000 New Ones Are Erected Annually.

It has recently been stated, though we hardly know upon what authority, that there are at present some 70,000 empty houses in the metropolis, and that this huge number may be taken as representing the average for several years past, and that, notwithstanding this, some 12,000 new houses are annually being erected within the metropolitan area," says the statist.

"Though these figures may be correct it does not follow, so far as the new houses are concerned, that they form a net increase on the previously existing number, for many of them certainly stand upon sites which were occupied by older houses. Yet the extension of London on all sides is taking place at a great rate; and this circumstance is made all the more remarkable from the fact that houses of quite modern construction are standing empty in large numbers in those districts in which new ones are being erected most rapidly. A particular instance may be seen at Hampstead, one of the most attractive of London suburbs, where building operations are being conducted on a large scale, while great numbers of houses very similar in construction to those now in progress are vacant.

"The newer houses are perhaps somewhat more conveniently arranged and more elaborately fitted, so that purchasers or tenants give them the preference, with the result that, as the supply of new premises is large, it is difficult to deal with the similar but older houses, the attractions of which are not quite so much in evidence. In a less noticeable degree the same thing is taking place in other parts of London, where builders of good class houses, in order to secure tenants or purchasers, are seeking to render their newly erected premises more attractive than those previously existing in their vicinity."

BRIGHT PROSPECTS FOR ANOTHER BUSY YEAR

The Mann Planing Mill, Lumber and Cheese Box Company Ready for Another Big Season.

The Mann Planing Mill and Cheese Box Factory have been busy all season and has not been closed down for a day for want of work this winter. Some portions of the works have been busier than others. As was to be expected when little building is going on during the winter, there has been less business done in planing mill work as lumber. But this has given more opportunity for the cutting of farmers' logs, etc. Large quantities of these have been hauled in from the country this winter, and are still coming in in large quantities to keep the portable saw mill working up to its full capacity.

The prospects for a busy spring and summer's trade is developing every day, so that the Company are making wise preparations to be ready for a brisk season.

Mr Simpson, who has been in charge of the operations of the mill during the winter, is looking forward to as large an output as last year, if not larger. From the inquiries now being made respecting building supplies, office and store fittings, lumber, shingles, posts, cheese boxes, etc., he believes the mill will have another splendid year.

The Company has secured the services of Mr. W Irvine, of Deseronto, a practical man, who has had an experience of over thirty years with the Rathbun Company. Mr. Irvine has been principally engaged in planing mill operations and in the manufacture of doors, sash, fittings and all shop work. He is also well qualified to undertake office and store fittings of the finest quality, and estimating on important work of this character. As superintendent of the company the public will have the benefit of a skilled specialist whose experience has been gained where large orders for all classes of this character of work prevail his inspection.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days, or money refunded. 50c.

GREET FRENCH PRESIDENT.

g Edward Continues to Nourish the Entente Cordiale.

London, March 12.—The announcement that one result of King Edward's visit to France has been a tentative arrangement for an official visit of President Fallieres to London next year, the details of which will be settled when the King passes through Paris on his return, gives the greatest satisfaction here.

It is understood that President Fallieres' visit will be one of state, corresponding in the main outlines with President Loubet's visit to King Edward in 1903.

The King thus continues his well-known efforts to assist diplomacy in preserving a good understanding with neighboring powers. His letter to the Emperor of Germany, combined with Mr. Asquith's statement in the House of Commons yesterday that it was the government's intention to maintain that Britain's unassailable supremacy at sea, is calculated to give a serious to the commotion raised by the Emperor's letter to Lord Tweedmouth.

The acting Premier's announcement is given in a manner to please all parties and to inspire confidence that there would be no relaxation in the efforts to maintain the navy up to the standard the public desires. At the conclusion of the statement Mr. Asquith said:

"I hope that is quite explicit. It is the policy of His Majesty's Government. It remains on record and it is right to reassure the House that we do not intend in this matter to be left behind."

The Times in an editorial yesterday says: "After so clear and explicit a declaration of policy as this we will be satisfied, and it will be received with satisfaction by the country at large."

TRAGEDY IN GIRLS' SCHOOL.

Crazed With Overwork Mistress Shoots Her Best Friend.

Boston, March 2.—Suffering from melancholia, due to overwork, Miss Sarah Chamberlin Weed shot and killed Miss Elizabeth Bailey Hardee and then committed suicide at the Laurens' School, a fashionable girls' seminary in the Fenway District yesterday. The bodies of the two women were found in bed yesterday by Mrs. Weed, the matron of the school.

Each was about 35 years of age, and they had been intimate friends since their graduation from Wellesley College.

Last summer the two women decided to open a boarding school for girls in Audubon road, in the Fenway. On Oct. 1, the day upon which the Laurens' School, as they called it, was opened, Miss Weed broke down as a result of overwork, and was taken to a sanitarium in West Newton, where she had since been under treatment for nervous prostration. While there Miss Weed had been subject to severe attacks of melancholia. Tuesday night she escaped from the institution and went to the Laurens' school. Miss Hardee volunteered to care for her during the night.

Both women were awakened by Mrs. Weed about 5 a.m. and notified that they must get up if they were to catch the 7.35 train, on which Miss Weed was to be taken back to West Newton.

Mrs. Page then left them, and a few moments later the shooting occurred.

Mrs. Page thinks the mention of returning to the sanitarium must have excited Miss Weed and induced the shooting. The revolver was of 32 calibre.

Hindu Immigration.

Ottawa, March 12.—In the Senate yesterday Senator MacDonald of Victoria offered a resolution declaring that the immigration of Hindus should be limited as much as possible and the Canadian Government should invoke the aid and counsel of the Imperial Government to limit the influx of so undesirable a class.

Senator MacDonald realized that the question was an awkward one. Hindus were British subjects, and to restrict their movements throughout the British Empire was a delicate matter.

The Canadian Government has asked the British Government's attention to the matter, and has sent Mackenzie King to explain the situation to the British authorities. Hon. Mr. Scott said he could not say what action the British Government would take, but he hope it would be favorable.

No Hope For Miners.

Birmingham, Eng., March 12.—The long period of anxiety and suspense over the fate of the 26 entombed miners at Hampstead Colliery came to a heart-breaking end last night for the crowds waiting at the mouth of the pit when it was announced that there was no possibility of any being taken alive.

Fire broke out in the colliery last Wednesday evening. Since then every man available has been engaged day and night in building a new culvert, with the object of reversing the ventilation and clearing the shafts of the fumes.

Holdsworth Pleaded Not Guilty.

Woodstock, March 12—Alfred Holdsworth of Oriel, who shot his son William some weeks ago and then turned the gun on himself, inflicting serious injuries, and who has since been confined at the General Hospital, appeared before Magistrate Ball yesterday. He pleaded not guilty to the charges and the case was adjourned for two weeks. He was allowed out on $2,000 bail.

One of the cars ran over a fallen cushion and dashed out of its course. A policeman and two spectators were killed and 14 spectators injured.

Invalid Ladies

This Is For You.

There are thousands of females who suffer untold miseries common to their sex.

This is largely due to the peculiar habits of life and fashion, and the improper training of girlhood. Then, too, the physical changes that mark the three eras of womanhood (the maiden, the wife, and the mother) have much to do with her sufferings, most of which are endured in silence, unknown by even the family physician and most intimate friends.

To all such whose hollow cheeks, pale faces, sunken eyes and feeble footsteps, indicate nervousness, palpitation of the heart, weak, faint and dizzy spells, we would earnestly recommend a course of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

Mrs. Jos. Sharp, Brighton, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with palpitation of the heart, weak spells and nervous trouble, and found no relief until advised to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I got one box and that helped me so much I sent and got five more. I am now cured completely."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. per box or three boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

DANCING MOUNTAINS

Wondrous Mirage That Came With the Break of Day.

A SUNRISE ON THE DESERT.

Strange and Fantastic Scenes on the Arid Wastes of the Colorado—An Aerial Exhibition of Most Bewildering Magnificence and Variety.

Our little party of four, two old hunters and prospectors and two "tenderfeet," was far out on the Colorado desert, near the Mexican boundary line. We had pushed on late into the evening, cooked a hasty supper and, dead tired with our hard day's march, had at once rolled ourselves in our blankets.

I awoke some time later feeling stiff and uncomfortable. I rolled over and took a minute to think out the cause of this, ending by lifting my head and looking about me. The air was perfectly clear, and, though no moon was shining, the night was quite light from the myriad of stars that seemed on the point of bursting out of the sky with the energy of their twinkling. My eyes dropped to the desert's level, and I looked across its flat stretch of sand, thinly planted with stunted cactus, to the jagged range of low mountains that reached along the eastern horizon.

As I looked a light seemed to be growing there, but so slowly that I had to compare that part of the horizon with other places to assure myself that it was there. Little by little it grew and diffused itself upward and outward. The silhouette of the mountains became more distinct. The stars on that side of the sky began to lose their brilliancy. A hound, sleeping with his back against that of one of the guides, broke the deathlike silence with a long drawn, muffled whine. One of the horses drew a deep sigh, got to his feet, shook himself and began to munch at a little pile of hay left over from his evening's meal. This little stir of life had to do duty for the universal hum and whir and movement that mark the break of dawn in habitable parts of the world. Over all this flat waste no sound or sign of animation greeted the coming of another day. The expanse lay stark and still while the life awakening light spread out over the sky.

As I watched the pale blue tinted glow evenly spread over the eastern sky gradually deepened at the bottom and took on a reddish flush. Suddenly long white beams shot upward, their tips almost directly above radiating like the ribs of an open fan. These silvery rays shimmered a few moments and then died down as all at once a scintillating point of dazzling light flashed out at their base. Distant hill and nearby cactus leaped out of their semiobscurity and stood up bold and clear as in the garish light of noonday. The point grew until it was the half of a blazing disk, which suddenly melted and ran along the horizon, where it lay, a glowing lake of gold.

Then a curious thing happened to the low range of mountains that lay beneath and extended beyond the lake of gold. They proceeded to conduct themselves in a manner wholly unheard of in such staid and dignified features of the topography. Mountains have long done yeoman service in poetry, song and elsewhere in literature as type of all that is firm seated, lasting and unyielding. These particular mountains, however, set out to make a new reputation for their kind. First those in the shallower waters of this lake of light detached themselves from their firm set bases and slowly floated upward, while their companions on the dry land at the edge tottered and reeled in an intoxication of amazement at their wonderful performance. The mountains then sank slowly down again upon their bases; then they jumped up and down quickly several times just to make sure that they had mastered this accomplishment, new to the mountain family. After taking thought for a moment our gymnastic mountains proceeded to turn handsprings, alighting sometimes on their heads and standing there in a most marvelous manner, considering how top heavy they must have been with their prodigiously big feet thus up in the air. Their neighbors seemed to regard this exhibition with a spurt of envy which sometimes broke into emulation, but this emulation proceeded no farther than the evolutions of a quadrille, advancing and receding, bowing and scraping, right hand to your partner and all hands round.

Tiring at last of this form of amusement, our surprising mountains now engaged in another—one not less astonishing. They became workers of magic, painters, scene shifters, and I was treated to a most wonderful display of modern cities and mediaeval castles, floating battleships and cathedrals of massive and intricate architecture, scenes of peaceful rural life with sleeping lakelets and feeding herds, Indian tepee villages and streets of Chicago skyscrapers. It was truly an exhibition of most bewildering magnificence and variety, and I know I must have watched it with mouth agape.

But something meanwhile was happening to our lake of fire. It was drying up and all at once condensed into a huge blazing ball, hanging clear of the horizon. Our mountains, whose antics were thus so near to being revealed in the broad light of day, swiftly sought their accustomed places and after a final tremble or two reassumed the severe demeanor, the unmoving attitude and stony stare that their kind always present to the world, except at daybreak on the desert.—Harvey H Kessler in Los Angeles Times.

A Confidence.

"Does your wife allow you to smoke in the house?"

"Yes, but she wouldn't if I smoked the cigars she gives me."—Washington Star.

IS BRITAIN TO LOSE INDIA?

Native Women In America Stirring Up Sympathy For Hindoos.

Driven from her country by British secret agents, according to her own story, Mrs. Phiroozi Rustom Cama, wife of a Bombay solicitor, recently arrived in New York from India, in the interest of a propaganda for the release of that country from the British.

She says she has been driven from country to country by British secret agents, who are constantly on her track, and that she is never free from espionage.

Even while she was talking to a reporter two women, acknowledging themselves to be Englishwomen, sat near, and one was detected making surreptitious notes of every word Mrs. Cama uttered.

Mrs. Cama was aware of the surveillance. In a distinct voice she threw down the gauntlet, informing them she feared neither them nor their country.

"The British Government," she said, "may drive me out of America, as it has driven me out of Germany, Italy and France, but it will simply drive me to some other land where I will spread the truth and show the people how England rules her colonies. They may kill me, they may imprison my husband, who is in Bombay, but the Government cannot quench this fire, which in the end means the freedom of India."

Mrs. Cama dresses in the flowing fantastic robes of her countrywomen. She travels as a rich tourist.

"In India," she continued, "there is a National Political Party. There are two factions in the party, the Moderates and the Extremists. The Moderates are simply the representatives of the English Government, masquerading as natives. The Extremists are the real natives of India, who wish to be free.

"The plan of the Extremists, of which I am one, is to refuse absolutely to pay the exorbitant taxes imposed by England. We realize that we are the richest possession of the crown. We realize that we grow every particle of raw material owned by England, but we are unable to manufacture it into the finished product. Instead, it must be sent to England and then shipped back to us

"The real estate tax must be done away with. Not only do we have to pay an acreage tax, but we have to pay a tax on the net income from our crops. This combined tax now amounts to 65 per cent. per annum of the value of the land.

"But the struggle will last only a few months more. When the tax collectors try to levy their tribute again they will be met with a refusal to pay. They may throw the natives in jail, they may flog them until the flesh is cut to pieces, and that bruised flesh will be the opening gun of a war that will echo throughout the civilized world.

"Even then the natives will not rebel. They will take their floggings, they will be thrown into jails, they will bear everything without protest. But the coffers of England will remain empty. The taxes will remain unpaid.

"Then it is expected old England will throw regiment after regiment into India. The native regiments, commanded by English officers, will be asked to shoot down their countrymen, and they will refuse. When England fires the first gun—then will come rebellion."

The movement represented by Mrs. Cama is so far advanced that the leaders have chosen a name and a flag for the country when a republic. The country is to known as the United Colonies of India.

The flag is three broad bars of different hue. The bar at the top is the green of Mohammedanism, on which are eight lotus flowers, symbolizing the eight provinces of India. The centre bar is in the old gold of Buddha. The third bar is the crimson of Hindoostan, on which representations of the sun and moon appear in white.

A Spelling Reform.

One of the witnesses in a lawsuit, who had just been sworn, was asked to give his name. He replied that it was Hinckley. Then the attorney for the prosecution requested him to give his name in full.

"Jeffrey Alias Hinckley."

"I am not asking you for your alias," said the lawyer impatiently. "What is your real name?"

"Jeffrey Alias Hinckley."

"No trifling in this court, sir!" sternly spoke the judge. "Which is your right name—Jeffrey or Hinckley?"

"Both of 'em, your honor."

"Both of them? Which is your surname?"

"Hinckley."

"And Jeffrey is your given name?"

"Yes, your honor."

"Then what business have you with an alias?"

"I wish I knew, your honor," said the witness ruefully. "It isn't my fault."

"What do you mean, sir?" demanded the judge, who was fast losing his temper.

"I mean, your honor, that Alias is my middle name, for some reason which my parents never explained to me. I suppose they saw it in print somewhere and rather liked the looks of it. I'd get rid of it if I could do so without the newspapers finding it out and joshing me about it."

"The court suggests that hereafter the witness begin his middle name with an E instead of an A. Counsel will proceed with the examination," said the judge, coughing behind his handkerchief.—Youth's Companion.

Magic Ink.

The writing done with this ink has the singular property of fading when exposed to the light and recovering its color when taken into the shade or placed in perfect darkness.

LORDS THREW OUT BILL.

Ministers Maintain Silence as to Campaign Against Gilded Chamber.

London, March 12.—Undismayed by threats of penalties to follow the second rejection of the Government's Scottish small holdings bill, the House of Lords last evening, after a debate which lasted for two days, refused to give the measure a second reading, by a vote of 153 to 33.

The Scottish clans have not risen in support of the bill since it was rejected by the House of Lords at the last session.

During the recess the Ministerial spokesman threatened freely that if the Upper House again threw out the measure the Government would promptly introduce the necessary legislation to restrict the powers of the hereditary chamber. Since these threats were made, however, there have been a number of bye-elections disastrous to the Government and considerable differences of opinion have developed among the rank and file.

As a result of these circumstances the silence of the Ministers yesterday on this subject leads to the belief that the Cabinet is not yet prepared to inaugurate its threatened active campaign against the House of Lords.

Farmer's Tragic Death.

Smith's Falls, March 12.—Peter Fox, a farmer living in Burgess Township, was found dead on the road about three miles from Smith's Falls Tuesday night. He had bought a load of oats here during the day and about 10 o'clock at night left for his home, 14 miles from here. He had fallen from the load and went under the sleigh.

He was caught by the runner just at the neck and was dragged some distance. When found he was under the sleigh and the horses were standing still. He was 38 years old and unmarried. It is said an inquest will be held.

Saved Life, Lost $350.

Welland, March 12.—John W. Follick, a Wainest farmer, lost $350 in the bottom of the Welland River yesterday. He was driving over the ice to town with a load of hay, when the ice gave way and he had a hard scramble to get out himself.

Probing Freedman Mystery.

Victoria, March 12.—Detectives are working on the pantry murder mystery, which resulted in the death of Charles Freedman on Monday night, on the presumption that the motive was revenge, arising from some grudge originating in the days of the Klondike rush, and Dawson City has been communicated with for particulars of Freedman's past.

The city is overrun with thugs and twelve hold-up incidents have been reported during the past ten days. No arrests have been made.

The Circassians.

The Circassians, who live in the northwestern part of the Caucasus and who think it is more honorable to live by plunder than by industry, make it a custom to bring their daughters up to be sold as slaves to the Turks and Persians. Circassian beauties therefore shine not in their native land, but in the harems of the orient.

A Dubious Compliment.

"It looks well, but I am afraid it is dubious," said a financier, speaking of a proposed scheme. "Yes, it is dubious. It reminds me of the Turkish pasha and his wife.

"A Turkish pasha lay dying. He summoned to him the youngest and fairest of his forty-six wives and said to her in a low, weak voice:

"'Put on your richest costume, your most brilliant jewels. Deck your hair with pearls and brighten your finger tips with henna.'

"The young wife blushed. Even in her grief she was flattered.

"'And why, my lord,' she said, 'do you desire me to make this sumptuous toilet?'

"'So that death when it comes,' the man replied, 'seeing you so beautiful, may perhaps carry you off instead of me.'"

Motion of the Sun.

Owing to the revolution of the earth the sun seems to make its daily circuit around us, which of course is not the case. But the sun is revolving about its center quite as truly as the earth is. It was one of the conceptions of that most remarkable man, Sir John Herschel, that the whole solar system had a motion in space and was advancing toward a point in the heavens near the star Hercules. Sir John's conception—as bold an idea as ever entered the human mind—is now generally accepted by astronomers, and the opinion is quite universal among them that the entire system is tracing out a curvilinear path in space, a course around some mighty center, probably at Hercules.

WILD MAN OF THE WOODS.

Weird Story of Shiprocked Mariner On the French Coast.

A remarkable mystery, which has filled a large number of Belgians with stupefaction and even with awe, has (says the Brussels correspondent of the "Daily Telegraph") been discovered in the forest of Soignies, near Brussels. The forest guards were not a little taken aback one morning when they met in the midst of the woods an unknown being, looking and behaving as much like a monkey as like a man. The police opened an inquiry, and a trap was set. The policemen hid themselves behind trees to catch the monster, but the latter made his escape by climbing up the trees and running through the thicket. The mystery was solved later, when the strange being was found in a starving condition at the foot of a tree. It was really a man, but his aspect was terrifying. His hair and his beard were those of a savage. It was found that he could not answer questions put to him except by terrible shrieks. He was frightfully thin and dirty, and wore nothing but a piece of cloth tied around his chest. As he was lying under the tree several doctors were called to examine him, and the first idea was that the man was a lunatic. After further examination he was found to be wearing round his neck a chain with a silver medal attached to it, bearing the word, "Mygraan." Mygraan is the name of a Norwegian barque which ran aground on the French coast more than ten years ago, and at the time no survivors of the catastrophe could be traced. It was surmised that the man might be one of the survivors of the wreck. A Norwegian philanthropist, Baron Grundsael, took the necessary steps to have the man sent back to Norway. He was sent to Antwerp, and was immediately placed on board the steamer Gumar, which was to leave that night for Helsingborg. On board the ship an extraordinary scene occurred. The ship's captain tried to chat with the man, and addressed him in Norwegian. On hearing at last his mother-tongue the man burst into tears and began to talk with much lucidity. From what he said it appears he really was a member of the Mygraan's crew, and that he had been living ever since the shipwreck in the French and Belgian forests like a wild man.

WHERE THE WOMEN VOTE.

What New Suffrage Movement Has Done For Australia.

Apropos of the Suffragette movement, several papers have been at pains to point out that the granting of woman's suffrage in certain States in Australia has been followed with disastrous results—the demoralization of political issues no less than the demoralization of male voters themselves.

The papers voicing these sentiments have received communication from the Rev. W. A. Hobson, a Congregational minister, who has just returned from a journey through Australia. He declares that the women who vote there are not partisans, "but always make for a clear moral issue, and refuse to support any party which refuses to make pre-eminent not financial considerations, but national and civic morality."

"During the five years I resided in Queensland," the writer continues, "the women's vote decided the question as to shop closing and eight hours per day labor, with the result that the people do just as much shopping before 6 p. m. as they do in England before 9 or 10 p. m., and the people, young and old, are free for healthy amusement and recreation. A further result is a minimum of crime and immorality.

"Again, the Australian women recently supported a bill which was carried, forbidding betting on the race course and everywhere else, also excluding betting tips from all newspapers.

"Before this last measure Sydney and Melbourne were inundated with tipsters and bookmakers, children received a holiday from school on race days, and the Government encouraged betting through a Government totalisator. The shops of bookmakers are now closed, the newspapers cleansed, and war to the knife is being pursued by the women against this evil, intemperance, and all social evils."

To Clean a Mandolin.

If your mandolin has become soiled and greasy through being touched by moist fingers, take a mixture of one teaspoonful of vinegar in four teaspoonfuls of water and lightly wash the parts affected. Then rub dry and continue to rub with a dry, clean cloth, which must be entirely free from all roughness. After this polish with some good furniture polish.

The Subject Of Sin Dealt With At St. John's Mission

Two More Speakers Heard Last Night—Prayers That Are Short Are Effective.

A LARGE CONGREGATION

Again last night was St. John's church well filled with an audience unmistakably interested in the work for which the mission is being held. Each night the congregation grows in size. The service last night was of a simple, devotional nature, yet it was one that could not fail to leave impressions of an edifying character.

After the usual street service in which many of the men participated, the Rev. Mr. Barber and Mr. Lloyd, the Welsh evangelist, assumed charge at the church. They spoke on the subject of sin, depicting its offensive nature and referring to the courses to be taken to overcome it. The service opened by the singing of old and familiar hymns with splendid orchestra accompaniment after which Rev. Mr Barber spoke on the text "Lord, if Thou Wilt, Thou Canst Make me Clean." These were words from the lips of a man in real distress who had realized his unfitness and unworthiness to dwell with men. He was a human being estranged from all society of a clean character and he realized the penalty because of the dread disease. He was afflicted with leprosy.

Although banished from his fellow men there came to him wonderful stories of what Jesus of Nazareth had been doing and he came to Him with these pathetic words—with the heart-throbs of a hungry man— to ask for assistance. Because of his great need he had placed his petition before God. It was a short prayer but it's the short and pointed cry that brings down what a man needs.

Degrader of Mankind

The dread disease of leprosy, which has been known to attack even houses and crumble them to dust, is used in God's Word as a type of sin because it reveals the foulness and uncleanliness of the afflicted. Sin contaminates and degrades man. It caused the ruin of the world in the first instance and has estranged man from God.

Men most clean in outward appearances are too often the most foul of sinners and it is not the "speck and span" that denotes an immaculate man.

The speaker exhorted his hearers to give themselves up to God because God has the power to save a man against his will.

Nature of the Harvest

Mr. Lloyd, after the singing of a hymn then addressed the congregation. People are too often ashamed, he said, to let the sinners know they are the children of God. There is no wonder, therefore that the Christian life too frequently falls short of what it ought to be.

There is the thought that our hearts are temples for the Holy Ghost that should remain uppermost in us and we should never be ashamed of the holy presence of God. Familiarity with sin leads us sometimes to love it more fondly than we do God and there is always the great motto to remember that "what we sow that also shall we reap."

Rev. Mr. Lloyd's appeal was a very forcible one to the congregation. He spoke in a very earnest manner adding weight to his discourse and leaving behind him a problem upon which to ponder.

Kokomo Woman Gives A Fortune

Receives Hundreds of Requests Daily.

In the past few years Mrs. Cora B. Miller has spent $125,000.00 in giving medical treatment to afflicted women.

Sometime ago we announced in the columns of this paper that she would send free treatment to every woman who suffered from female diseases or piles.

More than a million women have accepted this generous offer, and as Mrs. Miller is still receiving requests from thousands of women from all parts of the world, who have not yet used the remedy, she has decided to continue the offer for a while longer, at least.

This is the simple, mild and harmless preparation that has cured so many women in the privacy of their own homes after doctors and other remedies failed.

It is especially prepared for the speedy and permanent cure of leucorrhoea, or whitish discharges, ulceration, displacement or falling of the womb, profuse, scanty, or painful periods, uterine or ovarian tumors or growths; also pains in the head, back and bowels, bearing down feelings, nervousness, creeping feeling up the spine, melancholy, desire to cry, hot flashes, weariness and piles from any cause, or no matter of how long standing.

Every woman sufferer, unable to find relief, who will write Mrs. Miller now, without delay, will receive by mail free of charge, a 50-cent box of this simple home remedy, also a book with explanatory illustrations, showing why women suffer and how they can easily cure themselves at home without the aid of a physician.

Don't suffer another day, but write at once to Mrs. Cora B. Miller, 5478 Miller Building, Kokomo, Indiana.

Deputation To Toronto In Regard To County Affairs

City and County Present Petitions Regarding Norwood Model School, Chemong and Deer Creek Bridges.

ARE IN OTTAWA TO-DAY

The deputation to Toronto yesterday returned to the city last night after presenting their petition to the Government through two of the ministers, and the general feeling was that their demands will be given favourable attention. In the morning a deputation from the country waited on Mr. A. H. U. Colquhoun, Deputy Minister of Education, who received them in the absence of Dr. Pyne, who had been called from Toronto early in the morning. The deputation was introduced to Mr. Colquhoun by Mr. T. E. Bradburn, and consisted of the following gentlemen Warden Thompson, Messrs. Russell, of Belmont; Brault, of Norwood; Oakman, of Asphodel; Hales, of Chandos; Coben, of Galway; Ingram, of Harvey; Killen, of Emmsmore; Scott, of Smith; Brown, of North Monaghan; Mr. E. A. Peck, County Solicitor; Mr. Richard Lees, Inspector of Public Schools.

Their Petition

This deputation presented a petition asking that that the Model School at Norwood be maintained and not done away with as the new act has provided. Those gentlemen who spoke in behalf of the school were Warden Thompson, Messrs. Russell, Hales, Coben and Brown and Inspector Lees. The various speakers presented strong arguments in favour of continuing the Model School at Norwood, and Mr. Colquhoun after asking questions regarding particular information, promised that the question would be seriously considered by the Department, but did not pledge himself in any way.

Chemong Bridge

In the afternoon the same deputation, with the exception of Mr. Geo. Bennett, Inspector of County Highways, who replaced Inspector Lees, waited on Hon. J. O. Reaume, Minister of Public Works, respecting the proposed Indian bridge at Chemong. Ald. Buller, Elliott and Phelan representing the city, were also present. The gentlemen who spoke regarding the bridge were Warden Thompson, Messrs. John Brown, Jas. Ingram and Robt. Scott, Ald. Buller, Phelan and Elliott and Mr. Geo. Bennett. The petition was favourably received by Hon. Mr. Reaume, but nothing definite was promised the members. However, they are hopeful of receiving a grant from the Legislature to assist in the work.

Deer Creek Bridge

The deputation also asked for assistance to construct a bridge at Deer Creek, Harvey.

Part of the deputation returned on the local. Those who went to Ottawa on the midnight were Ald. Phelan, Elliott and Buller, and Messrs. Coben, Oakman, Ingram, Scott, Brown and Mr. Jas. Moore, of Lakefield. Robt. Pike, of Otonabee; Dennis Maloney, of Douro; Mr. Ed. Elliott, county clerk, and Warden Thompson.

They intended to ask for several things. Among them as a further quest regarding the Buckhorn dam; the Minister of Marine will be asked regarding a new steel swing at Gannon's Narrows, to replace the present one. A grant will be asked the Government for the new floating bridge at Chemong.

Sweden may go to war with Russia, it is said, over Finland. Canadians a few years ago waged war against the adulterated and unclean teas of China and Japan, in preference for the delicious and flavoury teas of Ceylon. The enormous and rapidly increasing sales of "Salada" Ceylon Tea prove conclusively how thoroughly Canadians appreciate a fine blend of Ceylon Tea.—5.

CHILDREN WERE NOT AT SCHOOL

Must be Sent When They Have Recovered From Illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Guy appeared before Magistrate Dumble this morning charged with neglecting to send their children to school. Mr. Geo. Cochrane, truant officer, and Mr. A. Mowat, inspector, were present. The latter showed that since the beginning of the new year the two children have been at school only a few half days. He considered that when the children could go now and then they could attend every day. However, it was shown that the children had a disease which, coupled with the measles, prevented them from going to school.

As soon as they are better they will have to be sent to school or the parents will be held responsible.

BULL DOG GIVES THEM TROUBLE

Chases the Pigs Around the Market and Bites Them.

The farmers and cattle buyers who frequent the market are up in arms against a bull-dog which for the past few days has been causing trouble among the hogs. It chases them as they are approaching the scales, and also gets into the pens. The practice it delights most in is to bite at the pigs, and yesterday and on Wednesday it cut quite a number of them as it chased them around the market.

If the dog appears again it will get into trouble, if not from a gun, from a hammer or cleaver.

THE KENNEL

Dr. King yesterday received two pedigreed Boston bull terriers that have just taken high prizes at the Bench Show in Buffalo. The dogs are the sensational winners of first prize at Boston last year. Miss Fritz also won at Buffalo last week, and the other dog is Gobolo Tess, which won a second and third prize at Buffalo last week. Peterborough has now four of the finest Boston bull terriers to be found in Canada today. Those four will be shown at the Ontario Kennel Club Show, held on the 17th, 18th and 19 of next month.

SOME NEW FASHIONS FOR THE MEN

A Little of Everything That Has Gained Favour.

A Tuxedo waistcoat has a deeply pointed front. The pattern is a scheme of diagonal lines converging to the centre, giving to the wearer a slim trim appearance.

Full dress mufflers and protectors are handsomer than ever this season. One, of peau de crepe, takes the reefer form and is a very long way in advance of the ordinary.

Tab collars with rounded points are sufficiently distinctive to make them welcome in dressy quarters.

Soft hats of every shape are popular among school and the younger college boys, but men are favouring the stiff varieties almost exclusively.

Red, green and brown are the moment's colours in neckwear.

Combination suits in underwear like the coat skirt were a long time gaining a foothold in popular esteem, but their fortune is fixed—they have got there.

Beautiful are the new shades in half hose. Grey, helio, garnet, azure and tan in lisles; pearl, gun metal and old rose in silk. For best dress of course we still are wearing black silk.

ANOTHER NEW FAD FOR WOMEN

Jumping the Rope to Restore a Full Figure.

If you would retain a sylphlike form or attain one, in case the accumulation of adipose tissue has distorted your former slenderness into unsightly lines jump the rope.

This is what certain New York women are spending their spare time in doing nowadays. When you see a women who once tipped the scales at 200 and now balances them at 135 you may be sure the table has been following the latest form of beauty culture.

From Paris comes the beauty cultivist who introduced this simple method of flesh reduction, and though she pretends that some mysterious medicinal virtues emanate from the handles of the skipping ropes yet those who have tried the system with ordinary skipping ropes report remarkable results from the sport.

As a matter of fact this reformer herself might recommend almost anything in the line of beauty culture for flesh reduction and her adherents would follow it, even to standing on their heads, if that would do any good, for she has a sylphlike form herself. Encased in sheathlike corsets over which hangs easily a princess gown of white broadcloth she presents a picture of grace that any woman would do much to acquire.

EXPERIMENTS WITH VEGETABLES

Educational Work Being Carried on at Guelph—Vegetables Offered For Testing.

INSTRUCTIONS ARE FREE

The practical educational work carried on by the Ontario Agricultural College, through the Experimental Union, is now well known throughout Ontario. Thousands of people in both town and country, interested in farming, fruit-growing or gardening, are carrying on experiments under the direction of the college, and are profiting by the experience.

The seeds or plants for these experiments, and full instructions for conducting them, are furnished free on the understanding that each experimenter will report the results of his experiment at the end of the season.

Owing to the great demand for the experiments with fruits and the limited funds for the purchase of plants for this purpose, the supply of these for this year is already exhausted. But we have on hand a good supply of seeds for the experiments with vegetables, and hope to be able to furnish these to all interested in the growing of the best kind of garden vegetables.

Three of the leading varieties of each of the following kinds of vegetables are offered for testing this spring, viz.—Beets, carrots, onions, lettuce, early tomatoes, and later tomatoes.

The early tomatoes are best for northern sections where the later and better varieties cannot be depended upon to ripen.

Any person in Ontario who wishes to join in this co-operative testing may choose any one of the experiments above mentioned and send in his application for the seeds and instructions for conducting the same. These will be sent by mail free of charge, but each applicant must agree to follow the directions furnished, and report the results at the end of the season, whether successful or not.

Applications will be filed in the order in which they are received, until the supply of seeds is exhausted. Address all applications to H. L. Hutt, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, Ont.

A PICTURE TAKEN IN YEAR 1872

Secretary and Librarians of the George Street Methodist Church.

An interesting picture of the secretary and librarians of the George street Methodist Sunday school, taken in 1872, was seen by an Examiner reporter to-day. Those represented in the picture are Messrs. W. A. Allan, F. H. Dobbin, A. H. Clegg and T. H. Robinson. At that time they were all young men, and the picture displays the fashions in dress of that day.

Editor Post-Card Column:

Dear Sir,—Alderman Phelan deserves great credit for the manner in which the problem of sidewalk clearing has been handled. The snow ploughing contractors have been kept well up to the mark, and considering the heavy and frequent falls of snow there has been room for very little complaint. The soft weather is creating more trouble, and many streets are almost impassable, except to persons wearing firemen's boots. Would it'n of b.a good idea to run the snow plough over the walks to remove the surface slush? This would make temporarily better footing, and would facilitate thawing and the clearing of the walks.

Yours, etc.,
PEDESTRIAN.

THIRTY-SIX HOUR WALKING RACE TO BE HELD THE WEEK OF APRIL 20

It has been practically decided to hold a thirty-six hour race in the Brock street rink here during the week of April 20th and from the interest the best known pedestrians on the continent are taking in the affair there is no doubt of it being a great success. Some of the details were settled at a meeting held in the Oriental Hotel last night, when the date was decided upon. It is the intention to have the walkers perform between 7 and 11 o'clock on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday of the week, while on the two market days, Wednesday and Saturday, they will walk for ten hours between 1 and 11 o'clock, making a total of 36 hours for the week. Any walker who does not travel at an average of 4 1-2 miles per hour, or better, will have to drop out of the race, a condition that will tend to make the contest an intensely interesting and exciting one.

The presence of most of the famous pedestrians who took part in the Kansas City walk is assured. W A Hoagland, of Auburn, N.Y., the world's champion, who won the Kansas City race; Tom Slater, of Buffalo, N.Y., who finished second; Blake, the Florida negro, who was sixth; Graham, of Buffalo; Brooks, of Toronto, and Bennett, of Hamilton, are among the entries, who are already assured, and other well known American walkers are expected to take part in the event. Dave Hartley, the local crack, will of course, be entered and confidently expects to beat the men who were ahead of him at Kansas City.

Mr. George Stevens is making the arrangements for the race which is under the patronage of the three local papers. Mr. E S Clarry has consented to act as referee.

Hoagland, the champion will be here at least a week before the contest opens in order to get into shape.

TOM SLATER OF BUFFALO WANTS A MATCH HERE WITH DAVE HARTLEY

Tom Slater of Buffalo, N.Y., who finished second in the big Kansas City walking match ten days ago, is very anxious to secure a match with David Hartley and will get his chance, i.e. the 36-hour walking match to be held in Brock street rink in April, mention of which is made in another column. Mr. Hartley has received the following letter from the American pedestrian:

Buffalo, N.Y., March 10.

Friend Dave,—

"I received your letter to-day and am glad to hear from you, also to know you arrived home safe. Now, Dave, it is just as I expected—you took a wrong view of what I said on the track.

"Hoagland and I agreed before the start on Saturday (that we would walk only nine hours that day, as we had our places sure, and we were to quit at 11 o'clock. I told you that, but did not mean you had to stop at that time. You could have gone as far as you cared. It was none of my business. I merely wanted to stop at 11 o'clock to make it easier for myself, and to tell you the truth, when we started Saturday I did not think you would do the limit; in fact, I did not think a man in the race would go so far the last day, but you did it, and I am glad you did, and I told the Peterborough Examiner in a letter last week of the fine race you made.

"Now, Dave, April is not far off, and we can have a race in your city. You promised me one, and I took your word for it—that was good enough for me. We would make a fine race for about fifty miles, or any distance you would name would suit me. I am satisfied with any proposition you make: you won't find me a bad fellow to get along with. You know, you have got to race with some one with a reputation, as the public wants to see good walkers. I have two races in Buffalo this week—one Thursday and the other Saturday—and I have a little race at Albany, N. Y., next week, so you can see I am not lying idle. Would you like to walk me in this city? I think I can arrange a race for us for Decoration Day. I got a letter from Trenton, N. J., and they may put a big race on there soon. I will let you know about it when I hear from them. You arrange something, and it will suit me."

Yours truly,
TOM SLATER,
Buffalo, N.Y.

QUICK TIME MADE IN THE SCHOOL FIRE TESTS

according to Mr. Nelson's watch, the time was about 40 seconds.

Reasons for Difference

There appear to be well founded causes for the difference in time in which the tests were completed. The South Central was built in sections, making it difficult for the pupils to get out. The West Ward School has only one stairway.

Mr. Dumble reported in connection with the Queen Alexandra School there are ten rooms, of which nine were occupied. The halls in this school are ten feet wide and there are two large double doors and one single door leading out. There are three separate wide stairs and there is an exit from the basement and three stairs leading into the basement. In an emergency the pupils could get from the windows on the ground floor. The school is heated by steam and there is no fire except in the boiler room, which has four brick walls and a cement floor. "It would be all put impossible to have any calamity from fire," said Mr. Dumble. There is a fire drill every two weeks.

The gong was sounded by the principal this morning and before the second stroke the children were in motion. The usual fire alarm is five strokes.

King Edward School

In the King Edward the halls are twelve feet wide. There are two wide stairs leading from the upper rooms to the ground floor. There are three pairs of large double doors all of which open outwards. In both these schools all doors are kept unlocked during the sessions. The King Edward is also heated by steam and the boiler is distant from the stairs, so that it may be said to be fireproof.

The trustees claim they are fully alive to their responsibility, that all schools are being inspected and that anything required to add to the safety of the pupils will be promptly done.

The superintendent of city schools in Toronto place more dependence on fire drill than on fire escapes. These often lead past windows not available in case of fire.

CHILDREN'S AID AT THE CRYSTAL

The Attendance Was Fairly Large This Afternoon.

The Children's Aid benefit at the "Crystal" this afternoon saw a fairly large number of people attending up to the time of going to press. The illustrated songs were sung by the little Misses Rosalyn and Glory Machan and were greatly appreciated. Mr. Edwards' kindness in thus providing an afternoon for such a worthy cause should be a means of helping the society, and large attendances should result.

EDITOR POST CARD COLUMN

Editor Post Card Column.

Dear Sir,—By the notice at the Crystal Opera House door that there was a change of programme this week, I was lured into seeing the show, but was treated to the same old show of last week. This I would not mind so much if it had not been for the repetition of the brutal exhibition of a ferocious bull terrier immercifully worrying a defenceless fox. Such exhibitions are only fit for those who delight in bull-baiting and cocking mains. Surely such a feature could be dispensed without loss to the management.

TEA AT EDEN CHURCH A SUCCESS

Substantial Sum Was Raised for the Erection of New Driving Shed.

Examiner Special.

Mount Julian, March 11.—The tea and literary entertainment for Eden Methodist church on February 28 was a success socially and financially. The bad state of the roads did not prove as detrimental as was expected, and a good crowd was present to enjoy the fine supper and excellent programme.

The pastor, Rev. H C Garbutt, was chairman, and although unavoidably disappointed in not having the support of Rev. G Nickle and Rev. Mr. Marks, proved a host in himself and added much to the pleasure of the audience.

A pleasant thing in the entertainment was the presence of the choir of Zion church, Dummer, who favoured the audience with several choice selections.

The proceeds amounted to $47.50, besides which a subscription of $30 was raised, and both will be devoted to the erection of a driving shed for the church in the near future.

The programme given was as follows:

IN MEMORIAM

In ever loving memory of David McIlmoyle, who departed this life February 1, 1908, in his sixty-third year;

He has gone to be with Jesus on the other shore,
Where pain and sickness will trouble him no more;
It was hard to part with him, but God knoweth best—
His spirit is in Heaven, his body now at rest.

Gone to be rewarded for the battle he has fought,
Though in his lonely home he will never be forgot;
God pity his lonely widow with a tear-stained face to-day,
And brighten the path before her, and wipe her tears away,

Her boys and friends are around her, but there is one that is not there,
And at the family table we see his vacant chair;
We cannot wish him back again to this world of trouble and pain;
We put our trust in Jesus to meet us Heaven again.

At the convention of Supreme Council of the Canadian Order of Home Circles being held in Toronto Mrs. M. A. Anderson of Peterborough was elected on the Committee on Laws. The Supreme Leader is Mr. W. B. Graham of Toronto.

It was agreed to make a special levy of fifteen cents per capita on the whole membership for extension work purposes in Western Canada. The convention also approved of Mr. P. M. Pattison, the founder of the order, retiring on full pay during the rest of his life. On his decease Mrs. Pattison is to receive half the allowance during her life. In the meantime, however, Mr. Pattison is to be a permanent member of the Managing Committee, which will carry on the organization work in the territories where the order is not now represented.

It was announced that St. Catharines Lodge, No. 63, had captured the trophy banner for securing the largest number of new members during the year. Toronto Lodge, No. 57, was a close second. Toronto also secured the convention for next year.

THREE POUND LOAF THE STANDARD

But It May Cost 14 Cents—Master Bakers Endorse Proposal for the Three Pound Loaf.

FANCY BREAD WIDELY USED

The master bakers of the Province have approved of Mr. W. K. McNaught's bill to make a standard three-pound loaf of bread for the Province, allowing fancy bread to be of different weights, provided it is properly labeled.

If the bill is passed the five-cent loaf will disappear, and not only "ordinary" bread will be raised to seven cents, but "fancy" bread as well.

There has been no definite price fixed for the bread under the new law, but several bakers who were interviewed estimated it would have to go up to seven cents.

It was also stated that by far the greater portion of the 200,000 loaves used daily in Toronto are "fancy" bread; that this kind is being demanded the last year or so by the people. This, the bakers expect, will continue to be the case.

"The three-pound loaf is the Provincial standard in Nova Scotia and the price is seven cents," said Mr. Mark Bredin of the Bredin Bread Company.

"Will the five-cent price for fancy bread remain after the other goes to seven cents?"

"No; the 16 or 18 ounce fancy bread will be slightly increased in size, and sold at the higher price. It is far more convenient to have a uniform price, so as to avoid getting different sets of tickets."

"Then the five-cent loaf will disappear?"

"That will be the result."

"What about the labels that so many people object to in the present system?"

"The feeling will die out; we know they are clean. There is no mucilage on them, and the gluten in the bread makes the paper adhere."—Toronto News.

Smith Township Man Makes Good In Insurance World

Rapid Rise of Mr. Frank Sanderson —Now Joint General Manager of Canada Life Assurance Co.

MOST SUCCESSFUL CAREER

Among the Peterborough county men who are rising rapidly in the business world is Mr. Frank Sanderson, formerly of Smith Township, who has been appointed joint general manager of the Canada Life Assurance Company. The following reference to his promotion is made in the "Insurance Press," of New York:—

The directors of the Canada Life Assurance Company have announced that at their last meeting they appointed Mr Frank Sanderson, M.A., F.F.A., to be joint general manager of the company.

Mr. Sanderson, who has been connected with the Canada Life for seventeen years, was appointed assistant actuary in 1895 on the special recommendation of the former president. In 1900 he was promoted to be chief actuary, with full charge of the actuarial department and of late years he has been closely identified with the executive of the company.

The long illness and recent death of the secretary, Mr. Hills, and the increasing responsibilities thrown upon the president and the general manager in the conduct of its large business, not only in Canada but in the United States and Great Britain, has made advisable the identification of the actuary of the company in the responsibilities and counsels of the management.

Mr. Sanderson, who is well known in insurance circles in the United States as well as in Canada, is a fellow of the Faculty of Actuaries of Scotland, an associate of the Institute of Actuaries of Great Britain, and a fellow of the Acturial Society of America. Of the last-named institution he was chairman of the Board of Examiners for several years, and is at present a member of the Council. He is a past president of the Insurance Institute of Toronto, and, taking a deep interest as he does in educational work, he has had much to do with the success of the society.

Mr. Sanderson has made a special study of insurance contracts and has been closely identified with the readjusting of his company's affairs to the new and varying legislation of the States where it transacts business.

Mr. Sanderson, while retaining the office of actuary, will devote more of his attention than formerly to the general welfare of the company, and his services will doubtless be increasingly valuable to it in the wider field he is called to occupy.

Mr. Sanderson is a son of the late John Sanderson, of Smith Township. He is 45 years of age and has the best of his years before him.

AGREEABLE MEN, THE PLUMBERS

According to Charles Dudley Warner—A Story He Tells.

Charles Dudley Warner says in the Independent Forester:

Speaking of the philosophical temper, there is no class of men whose society is more to be desired for this quality than that of plumbers. They are the most agreeable men I know; and the boys in the business begin to be agreeable very early. In the dryest summer day my garden fountain became disabled; the pipe was stopped up. A couple of plumbers, with the implements of their craft, came out to view the situation. There was a good deal of difference of opinion about where the stoppage was. I found the plumbers perfectly willing to sit down and talk about it—talk by the hour. The work dragged a little—as it is apt to do by the hour. Sometimes they would find, upon arrival, that they had forgotten some indispensable tool, and one would go back to the shop, a mile and a half, after it, and his companion would await his return with the most exemplary patience, and sit down and talk—always by the hour. I do not know but it is a habit to have something wanted at the shop. They seemed to me very good workmen, and always willing to stop and talk about the job, or anything else, when I went near them. Two of them will sometimes wait nearly half a day while a comrade goes for a tool. I think they have very nearly solved the problem of life; it is to work for other people, never for yourself; and get your pay by the hour. You then have no anxiety and little work. Working by the hour tends to make one moral. I never heard a plumber swear or exhibit the least impatience at any small vexation, working by the hour. Nothing can move a man who is paid by the hour. How sweet the flight of time seems to his calm mind!

MR. REDMOND SENT HIS DOG AWAY

Made Sure That It Would Not Die by Order of the Court.

Mr. Robt. Redmond, who was ordered to dispose of his big yellow and white dog within three days sent it away to Chicago yesterday. He had a box made and left the dog in charge of the Canadian Express Company, who shipped it yesterday morning. Mr. Redmond was at the station to take farewell of his faithful pet and he certainly was true to his word that the dog would not be shot but that he would send it to his son if it cost $100.00.

The dog has been Mr. Redmond's close attendant for several years and wherever he went the dog was at his heels. It is therefore quite evident that he should be loth to part with, let alone seeing it shot.

ANAEMIA OR POOR BLOOD

Don't Wait Too Long to Correct It—As It Often Leads to Something Worse.

Anaemia is a defective state of the blood in which there is a lack either in quantity or quality of the little red corpuscles.

It may result from any cause that serves to deplete the general system and is recognized by a pale and haggard face—colourless lips, poor circulation and short breath, and the system is at such low ebb that more serious diseases are easily contracted.

Anaemic people should eat plenty of fruit, eggs, milk, meat, vegetables, good butter and cream and whole wheat bread, and as for a medicine nothing excels our delicious cod liver preparation. Vinol, which is made by a scientific, extractive and concentrating process from fresh cods' livers, combining with peptonate-of-iron, which is a needful constituent for the blood, all the medicinal, healing, body-building elements of cod liver oil, but no oil. Vinol is not a patent medicine, you know what you are taking as all its contents is named on the label.

Any anaemic or run-down person in Peterborough who will follow the above suggestions is sure to be restored to health and strength in a short time. We will return your money if Vinol fails to give satisfaction. Mulvenna & Jury, Druggists, Peterborough, also the Market Drug Store.

Marvelous case of Leo Corrigan

which shows that skin diseases heretofore considered hopeless can be cured.

Since childhood, Leo Corrigan had been tortured with the burning agony and itching of Eczema. His parents had spent a great deal of money in consulting physicians and buying medicines—but all to no purpose.

As he grew older he sought other doctors—some of them specialists. He was eleven weeks in a Toronto hospital—eight weeks in bed. At times the irritation and pain caused by the Eczema were so severe, life was a burden. He would get so bad he could not walk. Several winters he could do no work.

He wrote, on February 20, 1906:

"In November, 1905, I had another attack, and was advised to use Mira Ointment. (I thought this would be like the other remedies I had tried, and of no use to me). But, to my great delight, a few hours after the first application, I felt great relief.

I have used it, now, two and a-half months, and unhesitatingly state that it is the best remedy I ever used. It has worked wonders for me. Since using Mira Ointment I have been able to work every day—without irritation or pain—no stiffness of the limbs or soreness. I feel a new person.

"From a state of great irritation and sometimes excruciating pains to freedom from all such, being capable of doing hard work every day, is a marvelous change. Mira Ointment has effected it.

"I strongly recommend any person afflicted with this terrible complaint—Eczema—to use Mira Ointment."

What this wonderfully effective Ointment has done in this extreme chronic case, it can do in other seemingly incurable conditions. If you suffer from any form of skin-disease, don't delay. Certain relief and cure is waiting you in Mira Ointment. Get a box to-day. 50c. —6 for $2.50. At drug-stores—or from The Chemists' Co. of Canada, Ltd., Hamilton—Toronto. 18

RED-HAIRED CALEDONIANS.

Scientist Has Been Studying Pigmentation In Scotland.

Red hair is found in distinct excess north of the Grampians, and especially in the northeast of Scotland. Mr. Tocher, Peterhead, who has made the question of pigmentation a special study, and has just been helped to conclude a color survey of the school children—over 500,000—of Scotland, announced this as one of his results in a lecture to the Educational Institute at Dumfries.

In most European countries,' he said, there is a distinct predominance of one type over the others. In North Germany and Sweden, it is the blonde type; in Italy the brunette. No such predominance is found in Scotland. Dark hair and fair are present in equal proportions. The dominant color among Scottish children is brown, and it has to be shown how far brown is really a blend of fair and dark. If it is so there is evidence of the formation of a new type in Scotland.

The proportion of red hair throughout the country is a little over 5 per cent.—high compared with the continent. One cannot overlook the reference of Tacitus to the red-haired Caledonians. Some curious facts brought to light suggest that red hair is not entirely or strictly a racial trait. It may have some peculiar physiological if not pathological connection.

Mr. Tocher has found a distinct difference between the color distribution of children in densely populated parts and in rural and less populated districts. Emigration has also produced an apparent tendency to excess in certain forms of mental and physical defects. In the main the difference between the distribution of color in Glasgow and the general population is due to children of both Irish and foreign nationality.

AN EPICURE'S MISTAKE.

Dined on Puppy and Thought It Was Rabbit.

Lieut.-Col. Newnham-Davis, in the course of his remarks when opening a food exhibition, said that as one who was much interested in cookery and feeding, he hoped it was as an epicure and not as a freak that he was complimented by being asked to open that exhibition. In that connection he would tell a story. Last year he received from an American editor a letter which ran somewhat as follows: "Dear Sir,—I hear you are the most wonderful eater in the world, and that you devour anything from snakes to dogs. Will you be good enough to forward me some particulars of your feasts, and, if possible, have photographs of yourself executed? I intend to publish an article, and I may add that it would perhaps be better if you wrote it yourself."

Well, he acknowledged eating dog—but it was on the occasion of his dining with a Chinese merchant at Hong Kong, and he thought his host had really given him the best rabbit he had ever tasted. He was, however, informed that he had been eating a Hong Kong puppy. But the snakes and other things he denied. Col. Davis went on to say that he belonged to the fleshly school of eaters, but he regarded no meat as complete without fruit and vegetables. It was at Christmas time that the gardens of this country lacked vegetables, and thus the present exhibition would do good in showing what our colonies and foreign countries could supply in this way. Man to-day ordered his dinner very much as though his doctor had put him upon a diet; he did not order enormous quantities of food, chiefly meat. From being a glutton he had become a gourmet.

Lords and Commons.

The Nation, London, asks, "What relationship will operate between the two Houses of Parliament twelve months to-day?"

Few situations have been more difficult to forecast. The choice indeed—perhaps unfortunately — rests with the Lords. If they agree, however reluctantly, to swallow these three bills (Small Landholders' Bill, Land Valuation Bill, and the Education Bill) on their second presentation, they will undoubtedly take out the heart of any anti-Lords campaign in the country. They will be able to ask with some complacency, "What is all this pother about, when we have done exactly what you design us to do in the very scheme which you have yourself prepared?" If, however, they decided to fight, a fight would appear to be inevitable. The Prime Minister, in an interesting interview published recently in The Manchester Guardian, anticipates two or three years more of sound and useful Liberal legislation. But the decision of the Lords at the end of the year once again to defy the action of the Commons would seem to make the prospect of such sound and useful legislation chimerical. It would relegate to the session of 1909 those necessary rectifications of electoral machinery which are demanded immediately before the appeal of the elected House against the hereditary House is placed definitely for the decision of the people.

Politics, which two or three years ago seemed dead and an offence, have to-day. The Nation remarks, become serious, compelling and alive.

British Cabinet's Difficulties.

A good many rumors are going about of Cabinet difficulties in finance. It has been intimated to me pretty broadly by someone who ought to know, says The Manchester Guardian's London correspondent, that the Cabinet as a whole is very uneasy about military and naval expenditure, and is inclined to drastic action if it finds Liberal members in the right mood for economy when Parliament assembles. Mr. Asquith can hardly propose a heavy increase of taxation, and then he has the problem of the sugar duties to face. What will happen to the extra load of twenty millions added to army and navy since 1898 is therefore, the most pressing problem of finance. I hear that a carefully worded document has been despatched to a large number of Liberal members which gives the case for retrenchment.

It Was There.

Composer—Did you hear the torment and despair in my tone poem, "Tantalus," that I just played you? Listener—No, but I noticed them on the faces of the audience.

THE "TUPPENCE" HABIT.

It Has a Firm Grip on London and Its Inhabitants.

Tuppence—meaning, of course, twopence and equal to the sum of 4 cents in United States currency—is the dominating sum in London. It is as much an institution as the war debt, beer or the game of cricket. Wherever you go, whatever you do, whatever you sell or whenever you open your mouth it is tuppence or a series of that sum that is extracted from you. It more than takes the place of the five cent piece in America or the threepenny bit in the British possessions.

Tuppence is as much as a fairly well to do worker can afford for his meal at midday. In the poorer restaurants that sum gets him two slices and a big mug, or three slices and a little mug, or a portion of cake and a drink, or a fried egg, slice and small mug, or a sausage with mash or bread, or a rasher of bacon. In the next higher class everything drinkable is twopence per cup, while pastry, pies, etc., are the same sum per head. At the "popular"—i. e., "no gratuities"—restaurants the waiters expect a tuppenny tip (though it is advertised otherwise by the proprietors), and the nontipper has a bad time. At most cafes tipping is the usual thing, and tuppence is expected and is accepted with the servile bow and pleased expression that distinguish the English and continental waiter upon such occasions.

The tuppenny tube is well known. You deposit that sum, and you get in anywhere and get out anywhere else you please. On trolley cars and buses that amount will carry you for an hour or two very often, usually to the terminus. The railroad porter who carries your rug a few yards or who says "Yus" when you ask if the train has stopped always has his hand out for the usual fee, though he will carry your two large bags and whatever else you have for half a mile over high stairs and low lines and accept the same amount with the same satisfaction.

The cabby to whom you give coppers over the legal fare salutes you respectfully, but if you pay double fare in a lordly manner he wants more and is apt to make disparaging remarks about your breeding, as may the bootblack to whom you give 1 instead of 2 pennies. The cabby is the surer of the two, however, for disparaging remarks, to which characteristic, I really believe, can be traced the advent of the taximeter.

THE ART OF JUGGLING.

It Demands Much Hard Work and Unlimited Patience.

"To be a successful juggler it is necessary to possess infinite patience. Some tricks require such long and continuous practice that unless a man possessed great patience and unlimited powers of perseverance he would despair of ever being able to perform them," says Paul Cinquevalli in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. "Take a trick, for example, like balancing a tall glass on four straws placed on the forehead. It looks easy enough, but it took me years of practice before I could do it. While I am balancing the glass I also juggle with five balls at the same time. I never, as a matter of fact, see the balls. They are handed to me by my assistant, and I then set them going, but the whole time my eyes are fixed on the straws upon which the glass is balanced. If I took my eyes from the straws for a hundredth part of a second their balance would be upset. I know instinctively where the balls are all the time and know exactly where each ball is when I put out my hand to catch it.

"It took me close on eight years' practice before I was able to balance two billiard balls on top of each other and then balance the two on a billiard cue. I started practicing it an hour a day, as a rule. After a couple of years' practice one night I woke up, having dreamed that I had performed it. I got up, rushed downstairs and began to practice with my cue and two billiard balls, and at the first attempt I balanced them. About five years later I performed the feat in public.

"For the cannon ball trick I first used a wooden ball weighing just one pound. I caught it on the wrong place and was knocked senseless, but I kept on practicing until I found out how to do it. Now I use an iron ball weighing sixty pounds. If I didn't catch the ball on the right place on the back of my neck it would kill me, but there is no chance of my making a mistake."

HAD THIRTY-TWO BOILS ON HIS BACK AT ONE TIME.

TWO BOTTLES OF BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS CURED HIM.

Boils are simply evidence of the bad blood within coming to the surface.

Just when you think you are cured of one, another seems ready to take its place and prolong your misery.

The only way to rid yourself of boils, pimples, and all skin blotches and blemishes, so that they will never return to bother you again, is to have the blood thoroughly cleansed of all of its impurities.

For this purpose there is no other blood medicine to equal Burdock Blood Bitters.

It has been on the market for over thirty years, and in that time we have received thousands of testimonials stating positively that it will cure the worst known cases of boils.

Mr. James Combs, Eden, Ont., writes: "I think Burdock Blood Bitters a great medicine for boils. I had them so bad I could not work. I had thirty-two on my back at one time. I used only two bottles of B.B.B. and they completely cured me. I cannot recommend it too highly.

TRANSVAAL IMMIGRATION.

Restriction of Orientals Causes Considerable Feeling In India.

The Spectator, London, fears that the Colonial Office was in the right in refraining from withholding its sanction to the law passed by the Transvaal further restricting the immigration of natives of India into the colony.

The future is with the colonies, and nothing could be more ill-advised than to fill them from the first with colliding races. Not to mention the danger which might arise of a diminution of the energy most necessary in the population of new lands, there might arise also racial antipathies tending to produce either an oppressive system of caste difference—an aristocratic system, in fact, of the very worst kind—or, worse still, a disposition to re-establish the system of slavery from which it has taken so much energy, expenditure and bloodshed to liberate the world. On the other hand, India may be profoundly irritated by what her literary class will unquestionably denounce as gross unfairness. Well, we must bear that, and we can bear it all the more easily because, though we fully admit the unfairness, that unfairness will not produce any substantial injury to India. Her people are not seeking emigration in any large numbers, and if they need the relief which emigration affords, they can find it in the Crown Colonies, and still more easily in the provinces which, like those in the valley of the Brahmapootra and in the centre of India, are only half filled up. It is a choice of evils, and this is, on the whole, the lesser of the two, especially if the Transvaalers will vote a fair compensation to the innocent victims of a political necessity.

"Indians," it is added, "will not be rejected in Guiana, the West Indies, and the vast regions of East and West Africa, where the tropical conditions will be even more acceptable to the natives of India than those of states like the Transvaal."

"An Omen of Separation"?

The Nation, dealing with the same subject says: "We think Lord Elgin might fairly have referred the brand-new Transvaal Government to Cape Colony, and asked for the postponement of a measure like the Immigration Restriction Act until the unification of South Africa was an accomplished fact, and the great color problem could have been calmly considered by the federating States. We shall wait to know why he has failed to exercise a function of guardianship expressly reserved to him under the free and very liberal constitution of 1906, which, like all constitutions worth the name, was designed to bestow rights, not to destroy them. For if one class of the King's subjects cannot freely enter or leave one part of his dominions, cannot trade there, or vote there, or hold land there, we must cast aside the great Roman example, and admit that we are unable to fix a common standard of Imperial citizenship. And will not that be an omen, almost a confession, of separation."

Mystery of Vault.

The mysterious movement of coffins in a sealed vault at Christchurch, Barbados, West Indies, is described in the "West India Committee Circular."

On successive occasions when the Chase family vault in the churchyard near Distin's Town was opened the coffins were found to be disarranged.

A manuscript account by the Hon. Nathan Lucas, who witnessed the opening of the vault in 1820, states that the vault was opened several times for the interment of bodies in the first decade of the nineteenth century. Each time the coffins were found in extraordinary positions, and after a burial in 1819 the matter became a much-talked of mystery. Mr. Lucas was discussing it with friends in 1820, and they decided then and there to open the vault and see if the coffins had moved again.

They found the heavy slabs over the entrance untouched, and no marks of violence were anywhere visible. But in the vault itself the six coffins were once more disarranged, lying on top of each other and at curious angles. The vault was in such a position that water—of which there were no signs—could not have flooded it. There had been no earthquake to account for the mystery and no attempt to rob the corpses.

Negroes' fear of the dead rendered it certain that they had no hand in it, and the theory of a practical joke was never entertained.

Subsequently relatives removed all the coffins from the "haunted" vault, and buried them in ordinary graves.

Origin of Thimbles.

The thimble was originally called a thumb bell by the English, because worn on the thumb, then a thumble, and finally its present name. It was a Dutch invention, and was first glass and pearl. In China beautiful carved pearl thimbles are seen, brought to England in 1695.

Thimbles were formerly made only of iron and brass, but in comparatively late years they have been made of gold, silver, steel, horn, ivory, and even glass and pearl thimbles are seen, bound with gold and with the end of gold. The first thimble introduced into Siam was a bridal gift from the King to the Queen; it is shaped like a lotus bud, made of gold and thickly studded with diamonds arranged to spell the Queen's name.

Servants In Spain.

Servant worries in Spain are reduced to a minimum, not because the domestic class is an ideal one, but for the reason that nothing very exalted is expected of it. Servants are taken less seriously than in England and allowed fuller play of those impulses natural to their youth and class. Spanish servants sing over their work as a matter of course. As they wash in the courtyard they talk and laugh freely over the wall with neighboring maids at the tub, their mistress' proximity on the balcony being no hindrance to outbursts of merriment.

TO WALK AROUND WORLD.

Englishman's Curious Wager—Must Go Masked and Push Perambulator.

In the face of a north-east wind a man started recently from Trafalgar Square, London, on a tour around the world. The adventurer undertook the task for a wager of $10,000, the details of which he gave in the course of an interview.

"This wager," he said, "was laid by a friend of mine, a well-known American millionaire, as the outcome of an argument that took place at a club in Pall Mall. He declared that no Englishman could walk around the world and push a perambulator. After hearing the conditions I at once made up my mind to accept the wager myself. Upon telling him of the decision I had come to he at once made arrangement with another well-known American gentleman to accompany me. He is only doing it for sport."

When asked how he was going to subsist he replied:

"I am starting penniless and I shall sell photographs and pamphlets while on the journey. I am allowed to expend any sum not exceeding $5 for photographs and pamphlets for sale at the start. That is how I shall subsist."

A very difficult task is before the walker. In order to win the wager he has to touch every county in England, to visit Scotland, Ireland and Wales and to call at twenty countries. He is to buy a postage stamp at every town passed through on his journey. Among the other conditions of this most remarkable wager are that he is to find a wife on the road, to forward an account of the miles walked and the towns visited and to obtain a signed document from the mayor or some other responsible person in each town. He is to be allowed to "go as you please."

"Good-bye," the wayfarer called out merrily as he disappeared: "See you in ten years."

BRIDEGROOM LOSES MEMORY.

Wanders For Hours Around Streets of English City.

An extraordinary story of a sequel to a Christmas Eve marriage came to light at Bristol recently.

A man went into a Bristol postoffice and stated that he had not only lost his memory, but had lost his bride. He remembered being married at Wigan the previous morning and setting out for Bristol, where he was going to spend his honeymoon. On the way he missed his wife, though he was unable to remember how this happened.

Finding himself in a strange place, without any knowledge of his name or address, he applied for assistance to the postoffice officials.

The one clue he had was that before leaving Wigan he recollected sending a telegram to relatives in Bristol, advising them that he was coming by a certain train. He knew the time he handed it in, and was able to give the name in which it was sent, but there his memory ceased.

The post office officials made enquiries, and were at length able to find the address to which the man wished to go. They sent him there in charge of a messenger.

He had been wandering about in Bristol streets for four or five hours before it struck him that the postoffice people might help him. When given a clue to the address he jumped readily at it, and said it came back to his memory like a flash.

After expressing his thanks to the officials, he left, with the remark, "This will be a lesson to me."

Surfacing Natural Woods.

White pine, birch, cherry, whitewood, maple, sycamore, gum and hemlock need no filling at all. They are classed as the close grained woods, and their surface presents no pores or cellular tissue to be filled. Still the surface needs to be sealed up so the wood will not suck the oil out of the varnish. This is called surfacing. It consists of coating the surface with shellac and then sandpapering down to a smooth finish. When thus treated the wood is ready for the varnish.

Priscilla's Philanthropy

By Martha Cobb Sanford.

[Copyright, 1907, by J. G. Read.]

"Will you be kind enough to tell me where Murphy street is?"

It was the fifth time that Priscilla had asked the question that afternoon, but turn and twist as she would at each new jumble of directions she seemed no nearer the clearing house of domestic panics.

"Two blocks back, miss, then three blocks east and"—

Priscilla frowned. She did not wait for the policeman to finish, but, thanking him hastily, retraced her steps with the energy born of despair.

"Is there anything more inhuman on the face of the earth," she put to herself, "than a maid of all work? To think of it—running off the day before New Year's without deigning to invent an excuse even! I wouldn't have thought it of Delia after being with us six whole months."

Here she stopped her mental soliloquy long enough to get her bearings and turn east, as directed.

"It wouldn't matter so much if only Gerald Hollister were not coming to dinner. Relatives don't count. Oh, why did I invite him? He's so accustomed to having everything absolutely comme il faut. Catch me letting my sympathies run away with me again just because a man's family happens to be out of town! And he could have asked our whole family over there to dinner and with all his servants never bothered to lift his finger! But that wouldn't occur to him. It's the one thing I don't like about Gerald Hollister anyway. With all his wealth you never hear about his doing any big, generous thing."

Just here Priscilla's rapid little monologue stopped short.

She suddenly remembered that she had come to the end of her directions. For the sixth time she was about to frame automatically the monotonous inquiry for Murphy street when a bright blue sign of "Female Help" dazzling itself down a side street caught her eye.

Priscilla made a precipitate dash toward it, which ended in an ignominious collision with a corner newsstand. When both had regained their equilibrium, Priscilla, giving her fur boa a careless toss over her shoulder, started a second time toward the garish symbol of her hopes.

This time a plaintive little wail restrained her. Where did it come from? There was not a child in sight. She walked a step or two in the direction of the sound, and there, curled up under the shelter of a newsstand, was a mite of humanity, blue and pinched with the cold.

"Why, you poor dear!" exclaimed Priscilla. "Where is your mother? Are you lost?"

But the mite didn't move, only moaned pitifully.

Priscilla looked about perplexed. Seeing a shopkeeper watching her curiously from behind his show window, she beckoned him to come to her.

"Do you know who this child is?" she asked almost accusingly.

"Shure," replied the shopkeeper. "He tinds the shtand and does a smar-rt business too."

"But he's only a baby and sick and cold," pleaded Priscilla.

"Oh, he oftin cr-rawls undher ther-re t' git war-rm. The men takes their piper-rs just the same an' laves their pennies."

"Where does he live?" demanded Priscilla imperatively.

The man pointed to a dingy looking tenement house next door to the employment office. To his utter amazement, Priscilla stooped down, gathered the whining waif in her arms, wrapped her fur boa around him and walked toward the house with her burden.

From the curious tenants she soon found out which particular door led into the child's home. The key was hanging in a dark corner near by. Once inside, Priscilla laid the child down on a broken, disorderly bed and then shivered as she stood helpless in the gloom and chill of the place.

There was neither fire, fuel nor food.

Priscilla knelt down beside the child and chafed his little cold hands till there was some degree of warmth in them. Then she summoned up her courage, knocked at the door of the adjoining flat and begged the woman who answered to take the child in beside her fire while she herself went out to get food for him.

She had just returned with her arms full of bundles when she bumped into a man in the dark hallway equally incumbered. An avalanche of paper bags followed.

"I beg your pardon," came simultaneously from both.

Then as they stooped to the task of picking up their respective belongings the man ventured an inquiry.

"Can you tell me where the Horrigans live, I wonder?"

"I haven't the least idea," replied Priscilla. "I'm a stranger here myself."

The commotion had caused the sudden apparition of several tousled heads from behind half opened doors. In the dim light that flickered out Priscilla stole an inquisitive look at the man beside her.

"Gerald Hollister!" she exclaimed excitedly and in her amazement dropped all her paper bags again.

"Priscilla Ballad!" he exclaimed, and his paper bags followed Priscilla's.

It is quite probable had not the squeaking doors stretched their curiosity a bit too far that Priscilla and Gerald would have spent the rest of the morning dropping and picking up parcels. But Priscilla, catching sight of the woman in whose care she had left her little charge, rushed past her, grabbed up the child and commanded Gerald to follow her.

...ggie Mrs. Horrigan's surprise a half hour or so later, when she came in from her day's cleaning, to find seated by a crackling hot stove, with little Jim in her arms, an "illigant gintleman wid a fur coat at the back iv 'im, and, more than that, shtandin' near 'im, shtirring gruel as if her life depended on it, a beautiful young lady with cheeks glowin' like roses."

The woman listened like one spellbound to the explanations that followed, only half comprehending how it was that a gentleman who had become interested in little Jim from buying papers of him night and morning should for that reason be now holding the child in his arms "fr all the wor-rld," as she afterward told the neighbors, "as if he was Jim's father that's dead, bless his sowl." Nor was Priscilla's part in the fairy story perfectly clear, either.

However, there was one thing Mrs. Horrigan grasped with true feminine instinct.

"You was saying you was looking f'r some wan to cook yer New Year's dinner for ye tomorrow, miss, an' I was just after thinkin' if you'd thrust me"—

"Oh, would you help me out, Mrs. Horrigan?" begged Priscilla gratefully.

Until this moment Priscilla in her excitement had forgotten the utter failure of her domestic quest.

"Shu-re I'll help ye out, miss," returned Mrs. Horrigan, beaming. "Before Pat died an' there was plenty to do wid I could make th' best t'ings to ate av any woman yo ivir saw."

"I'm sure of it, Mrs. Horrigan," Gerald agreed enthusiastically, "but you can't cook anybody else's New Year's dinner tomorrow. You've got to cook your own. Just look at the things piled up on the table there, and there'll be a fat turkey waddling over tomorrow. Miss Ballad doesn't need you. She and her family are coming to my house to dinner."

"Why, Gerald!" interposed Priscilla incredulously.

"Yes, you are. I shan't accept any excuses. I wanted you to all the time, only I didn't dare ask you. Now, let's get started for home and give Mrs. Horrigan a chance to hold her own child."

As they hurried along in the fast falling darkness outside both looked most remarkably happy, even taking into account that tomorrow was to be New Year's day.

"Oh, I just love that little Jim Horrigan!" Priscilla suddenly exclaimed. "Don't you, Gerald?"

"Oh, I'm not losing any sleep over him. But there's some one else that I do love, Priscilla. What do you say to our announcing our engagement at dinner tomorrow?"

Gerald beamed under the effulgence of his inspiration and gave Priscilla's hand an ecstatic little squeeze.

"I didn't know we were engaged," demurely commented Priscilla.

"But don't you think we could arrange to be by tomorrow, dearest?"

"Well," answered Priscilla condescendingly, "suppose you come over this evening, and we'll see what we can do about it. It's so very sudden. If I should say 'Yes,' Gerald, would you promise to give little Jim Horrigan a turkey every New Year?"

"Every New Year and birthday and Christmas," promised Gerald indulgently.

And Jim got his turkeys.

Brought Up to It.

A lady engaged a country girl as general servant. One evening the lady asked her if she thought she could manage to poach half a dozen eggs for supper. The girl quickly and laughingly replied that she could do that right enough.

"Very good," said her mistress, "I'll just see what you can do," and went away. Shortly afterward she had occasion to speak to the girl again, but to her great astonishment she was not to be found in the house. Presently she came tripping in with her hat and jacket on, smiling radiantly.

"I've got 'em all right, mum," she said, "half a dozen beauties."

"Half a dozen beauties!" repeated her mistress questioningly. "What do you mean?"

"Eggs, mum," she said, smiling.

"But there are plenty of eggs in the house, girl, without buying more," remarked her mistress.

"Lor, mum, I didn't buy 'em," she said, "You told me to poach 'em, and I managed it fine. You see," she added by way of information, "my father and brothers do a bit of poaching, so I knew in a minute what you meant."—London Mail.

What She Feared.

"I am not a bit afraid of the dark," said little Ethel to her mother one night. "Of course you're not. What should you be afraid of?" queried her mother. "Well, once I was afraid when I went into the pantry for a tart." "Why, what were you afraid of then, Ethel?" "I was afraid the tart might not be there," answered Ethel.

Beth's Hero

By COLIN S. COLLINS

Copyright, 1908, by Homer Sprague

Beth looked curiously about the hall. Behind the scenes had always been a domain of fairyland to her. The thought that she was to witness a rehearsal, and a dress rehearsal at that, overpowered her.

It was not at all as she had pictured it. The long, low ceilinged hall was very unlike the stage, and the mass of properties and scenery thrown about in apparent chaos bewildered her. A huge bowlder lay against an Italian fountain, and flower beds, stacked one above the other, looked very unlike the flower beds she knew.

Over in one corner a group of men were pulling and hauling at a girl dressed as an Indian. In the center of the hall half a dozen men were struggling through some unfamiliar music, and not far away a heavily built man was deliberately slitting a new leather coat into shreds and rubbing it on the dirty floor to take off its aspect of newness.

Other girls were going through dancing steps at the behest of a stocky little man, who beat time with a thick pole he carried when he was not using the stick to threaten some unruly girl. And over all presided a thin, nervous looking man, who seemed to have the faculty of being in three places at once.

Tom Seaton detached himself from the group about a cage in one corner and came toward her. "It doesn't seem much when you see it close to, does it?" he laughed.

"It is a little disappointing," she admitted, "but I find it very interesting."

"They are going to dress soon," he said carelessly, "and then run through the pantomime. It's a pity that they cannot get the hall upstairs, where they can get the scenery up. There's a wedding or something going on up there."

"It was awfully good of you to bring me," she said impulsively.

"It's good for you to come," he laughed. "A glimpse of a dress rehearsal is the best cure for the stage fever that I know of. It was lucky that Hermes was in a good humor last night when I asked him if I might bring you over."

TOM HEADED THE BRUTE INTO HIS CAGE JUST AS HERMES RUSHED IN.

"Is that Hermes?" she asked, pointing to a tall, handsome fellow who posed in one corner.

"That's the man who made the costumes," he laughed. "Hermes is that little fellow who is all over the place. He and St. Elmo, the ballet master—that little fellow with the stick—are doing about half the work."

Beth glanced with new interest at the flying figure. She had seen him on the stage dressed in mystic robes and with all of the advantages of scenic environment. He looked vastly different as he flew about the place in an old pair of trousers and a tattered flannel shirt.

Even when the players who had slipped out of the room began to come back in gaudy costumes, the illusion was not restored, for the nervous little ballet master kept jumping into the space outlined by chairs to represent the stage and, roughly throwing some one aside, took her place to show what he wanted done.

Not until they came to the trick to which the pantomime worked up did Beth regain her interest. The beautiful white girl was supposed to be thrown into a lion's den, but an Indian maiden, by virtue of a talisman, took the place of the infuriated beast.

The others crowded about the cage to see the trick worked, and Tom dragged Beth over, with a whispered, "You mustn't tell the trick to any one."

She nodded assent with a delightful feeling of mystery and watched with interest the elaborate working of a trick that seemed simple enough from the audience.

Half a dozen times the trick was tried before Hermes straightened up with an "All right! Dress for the next act," and the crowd of fantastically dressed players rushed off to the anteroom.

Tom led Beth back to the tiny platform that formed her seat of vantage.

"Disillusioned?" he said, with a smile.

"Entirely so," she shuddered. "Of course I knew it was all play, but I never dreamed it was such hard work."

"You should have been to one of the early rehearsals," he laughed. "There was one afternoon when St. Elmo got so excited at the way one of the stupid girls behaved that I had to jump in and catch his arm to keep him from striking her. He's a queer lot, his temper is something awful. It's no worse, though, than with some of the big companies."

"I don't think I shall want any of it," she shuddered. "It has cured me completely of my desire to go on the stage."

"Do you think you could settle down to being just Mrs. Tom Seaton?" he pleaded. "I want you so, dear."

"Don't, please," she begged. "You know how I feel."

He turned away. He knew all too well how she felt. That naive romanticism that urged her to the stage acted against him. He was just Tom Seaton, big, good natured and a faithful friend, but entirely too unromantic to appeal to her heart. He had destroyed the glamour of the stage for her by bringing her to rehearsal. Only a miracle could work the other change.

He had slipped his coat off when he had come in, following the example of the rest, and now he turned to a cigar for solace. He was carefully selecting one from his case when a cry from Beth caused him to turn.

There just below the platform stood King, the lion used in the trick. In the excitement some one had neglected to fasten the door of the cage, and while they had been talking he had slipped out and started on a tour of investigation.

All of the players had gone to change their costumes, and the property man had taken advantage of Hermes' absence to slip out to the corner for a glass of beer. They were alone. Just below him on the edge of the platform were a couple of revolvers loaded with blank charges. With a bound he caught one of these up and discharged it into King's face. With an angry snarl the brute turned and charged toward the other end of the room.

Tom caught up the other revolver and slipped it into his pocket. Then he seized St. Elmo's wand and followed the retreating form. Back and forth they went, up and down the hall, until at last with a quick turn Tom headed the brute into his cage just as Hermes rushed in.

It was he who latched the door of the cage, for now that the danger was over Beth was clinging to Tom, murmuring praises that sounded sweet to his ears.

Hermes came forward, but Tom, disengaging himself from Beth's clasp, went toward him and whispered in his ear. Hermes smiled knowingly and darted out. Presently he was back again.

"There is a carriage at the door," he said. "I am sorry that Miss Albright should have had so unpleasant an experience while my guest."

"All's well that ends well," laughed Tom. "Good night, Hermes, and many thanks for your courtesy. I'll see you tomorrow."

In the carriage Beth clung to Tom as though the danger were not yet over. "And to think," she sobbed penitently, "that I did not realize what a brave man you were! I do love you, Tom, but somehow"—

"I know," he said gently as she faltered. "You wanted a hero, and I was so dreadfully commonplace."

"You're not!" she cried indignantly. "Only I—well, I never realized before how big and brave you were."

"All's well that ends well," he chuckled. "Tomorrow morning you will be wearing the biggest solitaire that an engaged girl ever had."

"I don't deserve it," she said meekly. "You're awfully good, Tom."

Some hours later Seaton sat in his little den absorbing a brandy and soda in absolute content. He looked up at Beth's picture on the mantel.

"I guess you've had a lot of ideals smashed tonight, little girl," he mused, "but it was good for you, and if any one ever tells you that that poor old brute was a darned sight more scared than you ever could be I'll knock his blamed head off."

For Mothers.

Don't forget that you are or ought to be your children's ideal of all that is perfection and that it is your duty to live up to their ideals in every possible way—not an easy task, but wonderfully inspiring.—Home Chat.

Highly salted and smoked herrings, haddock, mackerel or other fish are greatly improved if they are laid overnight to soak in a little sour milk. This effectually draws out the salt, besides considerably improving the flavor of the fish and making it less smoked and highly seasoned.

He Came Back at Her.

"Many mendicants," said a New York charity official, "are humbugs, and we do well to refuse their requests for help. What excellent digs, though, they sometimes give us in return. I remember the case of a farmer's wife who refused a tramp a night's lodging.

"'Well, then, ma'am,' said the tramp, 'would you mind if I slept in that big meadow there behind your barn?'

"'No,' said the woman, 'you may sleep there if you like.'

"'One thing more, ma'am,' said the tramp, 'before I say good night. Will you please have me called at 4 o'clock sharp? I want to catch the cattle train to market.'"

Italian Diet.

The low resisting power of the Italian, even among the more favored classes, to the assaults of disease has long been ascribed to the profession of the well nigh farinaceous and leguminous fare on which he subsists—the call on the heart in the later stages of pneumonia, for example, too often finding inadequate response from the defect of the muscle forming constituents in the diet of the patient.—London Lancet.

Geography.

"I'd like to see that young Japanese prince."

"A Japanese prince! Where is he?"

"Oh, he's traveling incognito."

"Is he? I'm so dreadfully weak about geographical names. That's in Manchuria, isn't it?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

A CURIOUS CURRENCY

Notes That Were Issued by the Mormons In Early Days.

MONEY BASED ON GOLD DUST

An Issue of Scrip in Denver Which Was Unique in the Financial History of America—Some of It Redeemed in Gold When Gold Was Above Par.

The need of a circulating medium brought into existence a curious currency among the Mormons of Utah in the early days. They had a fairly abundant supply of gold dust, but no form of money. When taxes were collected, for instance, they were paid in gold dust. The tax collector was often unable to give fractional change and had to issue due bills for small amounts.

Finally so great became the need for a convenient circulating medium that the suggestion was made by some of the leaders that the circulation of the Kirtland notes be authorized, the community to stand sponsor for them. And this was adopted.

The Kirtland notes were the product of a bank of the wildcat species which was in operation in 1837 at Kirtland, O., where under the leadership of Joseph Smith the Mormons had a settlement. The institution was known as the Kirtland Safety Society bank and issued notes in the denominations of $1, $3, $5 and $10.

Fully $50,000 worth of these notes were said to have been issued. Then the bank failed, not having at the time of suspension more than $5,000 with which to redeem its issue. The result was that the notes became absolutely worthless. Many of the Mormons kept their notes, regarding them as curiosities, while others retained possession of them in the faith that the prediction of Smith would one day be realized, be being reputed to have said that the notes one day would be as good as gold.

The action of the Mormon leaders in Utah in 1849 made this prediction come true, for the Kirtland notes at once went into general circulation and were placed on a par with gold. Each and every one of them was redeemed at the Mormon headquarters in gold dust, of which there seemed to be a greater supply than of representations of money.

There were two issues of paper money or script in Denver, which were redeemed in gold. Some of them were redeemed at a time when gold was at a premium and so deserve to be ranked among the curious currency representations of which this country has seen many examples.

In September, 1861, the firm of C. A. Cook & Co. of Denver issued notes of the denominations of 10, 25 and 50 cents and $1. This firm conducted a large general merchandise business, in the course of which they handled great quantities of gold dust, the latter at the time being the only circulating medium in Colorado or Kansas territory, as it was then called.

Later the firm dropped the merchandise business and took up banking. Great need was felt for fractional currency which would be worth as much as gold and at the same time save the inconvenience of handling the gold dust. To supply the prevailing need, Cook & Co. issued these notes, which were all finely engraved on steel and bore the promise of the firm to be redeemed in gold dust.

The notes were snapped up by everybody, but more particularly the merchants, and it was not long before Cook & Co.'s notes were in general circulation in Denver and the contiguous mountain regions. They were promptly redeemed whenever presented and, being redeemable in gold dust, were preferred to the regular United States currency. They were the smallest gold notes ever issued.

Some time after the banking house caught fire and was entirely consumed. At great risk the senior member of the firm entered the burning building and rescued the stock of gold dust, which amounted to something like $88,000.

The following day the holders of the notes, fearing a possible loss on account of the fire, asked for the redemption of their notes, which was granted in every instance. But this seeming want of confidence so provoked Mr. Cook that after the last note had been redeemed and canceled he determined never to issue another, and thus ended an issue unique in America's financial history. It is not probable that a specimen of this interesting series of notes is in existence today.

Fickle Fortune.

The reverses of fortune are well illustrated among the descendants of the old French nobility.

According to M. Lescure, a grandson of that same Marquis d'Hauteroche who chivalrously requested the English troops at the battle of Fontenoy to "fire first" ended his days as a common policeman.

One of the noble family of Babou de la Boardaisiere is now a washerwoman.

Representatives of other noble families equally famous in their time are or were, according to the same authority, occupying the humble places of gamekeeper, carpenter's apprentice, house painter, cab driver, miller's assistant, innkeeper, conductor of an omnibus, box opener at a theater, gas man, bathing man, maker of mouse traps, chorus singer at the opera and woodman, while one who is a great-grand-cousin of the illustrious Cardinal de Rets unites in his own person the lowly offices of gravedigger and village fiddler.—London Tit-Bits.

Humor

A SHOW CARD SIGN.

How It Aroused the Curiosity of a Windy City Man.

A tall, slim, loose jointed man was strolling carelessly along the street. He stopped, says a writer in the Chicago Tribune, in front of a shop with a swell front, which had this sign painted on its plate glass window:

"Ready to Wear Garments Inside."

He stepped in and accosted the person who seemed to be in authority—a middle aged man, with a smooth face and an affable, self acting smile.

"I beg your pardon," he said, "but that sign on your window interests me."

"Yes?" encouragingly responded the other.

"Yes. It arouses my curiosity."

"Yes? You are wishing perhaps to look at some"—

"It occurred to me, as I was looking at it and studying it, that possibly it might be a question"—

"Oh, no"—

"Oh, yes. Only it hasn't any interrogation point. Then the idea suggested itself that it must be an assertion, conveying the assurance that the person who painted the sign is ready to wear gar"—

"That sign, sir," interrupted the middle aged man, his smile narrowing perceptibly, "is so plain that anybody with a grain of common sense"—

"Then the fault must be with me, of course. That idea also occurred to me. I ought to understand it. Viewing it in my blundering way, however, as a question—am I ready to wear garments?—I unhesitatingly answer yes. I have been ready to wear garments for fifty-three years. But to wear them inside—no! If it's going to be the fashion to wear garments inside"—

"Say, look here"—

"You can count me out every time. On the other hand, considering it merely as the statement of a fact that you or the proprietors of this establishment are ready to wear garments inside"—

"You'll oblige me, Mr."—

"Gwilliams. My name is Gwilliams. I say if you are ready to wear garments inside, wear them. What does the public care how or where you wear your garments? What is the use of your sticking out a sign like that, in all the pomp and blazonry of gold leaf"—

"Will you stop just a minute?"

"I will."

"I'll try to bring that sign down to the level of your intelligence. You have heard of garments that are ready made, haven't you?"

"Now that you mention them, I think I have."

"Well, garments that are ready made are garments that are ready to wear—ready to wear garments—and we keep them here—inside. See?"

The tall, slender, "gangling" caller scratched his jaw reflectively.

"I think I do," he said, a genial smile wrinkling his lean features, "and I am greatly obliged to you. My only object in coming in was to get you to diagram that sign." Here he lowered his voice and became confidential. "And now, my friend," he added, "by way of conclusion, may I suggest that there is one important duty you owe to this community?"

"What is it, sir?"

"Get an intelligent schoolboy to edit that sign—have him put in some hyphens—so it will mean something. I believe that's all. Good afternoon!"

Too Much Cornstarch.

Little Johnnie doesn't like to be kissed, but sometimes he is compelled by some gushing friends of his mother's to submit to the ordeal. The last time they called he went through the operation as gracefully as possible. But after their departure he remarked, vigorously rubbing the powder from his face:

"Mamma, I don't like to have them kiss me. It tastes just like kissing a marshmallow."—Judge.

The Succession of Parts.

The Old One—In adopting a theatrical career you are entering a touchy and jealous profession. Keep guard over your tongue.

The New One—Oh, I've found out that I'll have ample opportunity to think before I speak.—Puck.

The Weight of the Spider's Web.

Here is something you never heard before and will doubtless find hard to believe when you do hear it, although it is true. The spider's web is so light that if you were to take a pound of it and unravel it it would be long enough to reach all the way round the world with a sufficient quantity left to reach from New York to San Francisco.

The Fitting Vehicle.

"I met my tailor out sleighing, and he looked sporty, I tell you, in his new sleigh."

"Well of all vehicles where could a tailor find a fitter one than a good cutter?"—Baltimore American.

A Different Thing.

"Then, Mr. Roxley didn't really give according to his means?" said the minister's wife.

"No," replied the minister, "merely according to his meanness."—Catholic Standard and Times.

"Competent medical advice, my friend."—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

WASH DAY IN A CHATEAU.

Mme. Waddington's Account of This Tremendous Event.

It was unfortunate perhaps that we had arrived during the "lessive." That is always a most important function in France, writes Mme. Waddington in Scribner's. In almost all the big houses in the country—small ones, too—that is the way they do their washing. Once a month or once every three months, according to the size of the establishment, the whole washing of the household is done. All the linen—master's, servants', guests', house—is turned out, the linen closets cleaned and aired. Every one looks busy and energetic. It is quite a long affair, lasts three or four days. I often went to see the performance when we made our "lessive" at the chateau every month.

It always interested our English and American friends, as the washing is never done in that way in either of their countries. It was very convenient at our place, as we had plenty of room. The "lavoir" stood at the top of the steps leading into the kitchen gardens. There was a large, square tank sunk in the ground so that the women could kneel to their work, then a little higher another of beautiful clear water, all under cover. Just across the path there was a small house with a blazing wood fire, in the middle an enormous tub where all the linen was passed through wood ashes.

There were four "lessiveuses" (washerwomen), sturdy peasant women with very short skirts, sabots and turbans (made of blue and white checked calico) on their heads, their strong red arms bared above the elbow. The Mere Michon, the eldest of the four, directed everything and kept them well at work, allowing very little talking. They generally chatter when they are washing and very often quarrel. When they are washing at the public "lavoir" in the village, one hears their shrill voices from a great distance. Our "lingere," Mme. Hubert, superintended the whole operation. She was very keen about it and remonstrated vigorously when they slapped the linen too hard sometimes with the little flat sticks like spades they use. The linen all came out beautifully white and smooth, hadn't the yellow look that all city washed clothes have.

A GREAT BEAUTIFIER.

Laugh and Give Your Nerves a Holiday.

There is no doubt that laughter is a great beautifier, and so, too, is relaxation," says a New Zealand exchange. "Indeed it is marvelous how some women manage to perform their various duties at all without ever giving their nerves a holiday by relaxing them. As they go on day after day the worried minds seem to twist the nerves until they are tense and strained, like the spring of a clock that is kept tightly wound up. The tension shows in the face, which grows sharp and thin; in the voice, which becomes querulous and bad tempered, and in the manners, which become hurried, abrupt and disconcerting. Women who have allowed themselves to sink into such a condition usually complain that they have no time to rest. As a matter of fact, they have lost the power of resting and simply must be doing something. They seem to be afflicted with the disease of perpetual motion, and if they could only realize it are rapidly wasting their nervous strength and preparing for a physical breakdown. This is plain speaking, but only plain speaking will make some women stop their suicidal folly and take themselves well in hand. They may think that they have no time to rest, but the housework, the cooking, washing, cleaning, ironing, mending, must be done day by day or else their work will come to an end. But there is no housework under the sun that cannot be rearranged in such a way that a weary and worn woman may lie down twenty minutes and rest at some time during the day. And if she cannot see her way to rearranging her work then she must let some of it go. There are no two questions about it. We cannot juggle with our health, we women. Either the work must go or we must. And there is no work of ours that another woman cannot step in and do quite as well—perhaps better. This sounds hard, but it is true. So when we find that our passion for doing things is sapping strength of body and elasticity of mind, let us stop and consider whether it is, after all, worth sacrificing health, happiness and good looks for—a bed or a padded cell in a hospital.

Quilt From Extra Cuffs.

Women whose husbands do not wear the extra cuffs which come with almost every shirt can make good use of them by cutting off at buttonhole edge and also at length, then pulling them apart, and you will have two colored or figured pieces and one plain white piece (sometimes two) from the inside of the cuff. By sewing these pieces together and using a little judgment you will have a pretty and durable quilt, as almost all shirts wash well. It does not take long to save enough, as you have six and sometimes eight pieces from a pair of cuffs.

Sincerity Gives Power.

There is nothing which will add so much to one's power as the consciousness of being absolutely sincere, genuine. If your life is a perpetual lie, if you are conscious that you are not what you pretend to be, you cannot be strong. There is a restraint, a perpetual fighting against the truth going on within you, a struggle which saps your energy and warps your conduct, says Home Chat. Sham and shoddy are powerless; only the genuine and the true are worth while.

G. B. S.'s Market Value.

Milton took £5 for "Paradise Lost" because he could not get any more. I should ask £5,000 for the same quantity of pen and ink work because I need not take any less.—George Bernard Shaw in London New Age.

SATURN'S RINGS.

A Scientist Tells Why They Seem at Times to Disappear.

Are the rings of the planet Saturn falling off, as an American astronomer is said to have announced not long ago? An English scientist explains: "This statement goes considerably beyond the truth, although it has some foundation in fact, but that fact is not very alarming. Saturn's rings are now almost if not quite invisible, but there is nothing very surprising about this. The contrary would really be more surprising. These rings are flat annular disks, fitting one within the other, with small interspaces between, the outermost diameter being about 168,000 miles and the thickness of the disks about a hundred. Saturn's period of revolution about the sun is nearly thirty years, and for half this time the sun is shining obliquely on and illuminating one side of the plane. For the other fourteen or fifteen years it lights up the opposite side. At the epochs when the sun's light passes from one side to the other of the ring plane, only its thin edge is illuminated, and this is seen if at all as a fine bright line, and Saturn's rings are said to disappear.

"This configuration happened on July 26 last. Moreover, about this epoch the earth is sometimes north, sometimes south of the ring plane, and if the earth as seen from Saturn is north when the sun is south we are looking on the unilluminated side, and for this reason the rings will be invisible. This is happening now. The sun is south of the plane of the rings. On Oct. 14 the earth passed to the north of the same, and the rings, which had been seen as a fine line, then became invisible. Not quite, however, though theoretically invisible, still they were seen in the latter part of October as faint as needles on either side of the orb of the planet, the suggestion being that the sun was shining through an interspace upon the edge of the second ring, and it is this lit up edge that is seen.

"As to the 'jostling and colliding' particles mentioned in the American telegram, it is a well known but nevertheless remarkable fact that these apparent disks are made up of a swarm of separate or 'discrete' particles, each a little independent moon, pursuing its own path round the planet. The rings are not falling off."—Chicago News.

"Mugging" in New York.

A young man was taken before a New York magistrate on a charge of larceny. The policeman who made the arrest asked permission to take him to police headquarters. "What for?" asked the judge. "To mug him, of course," was the response. "There is no 'of course' about it," the judge responded with emphasis. "You have no right to take a man's picture against his will until he has been convicted. This young man has not been convicted, and there is to be no 'mugging' in his case. The sooner the police understand the situation the less liable they will be to get into trouble." Other New York police magistrates have expressed themselves in similar terms.—Exchange.

Chinese in Cardiff.

Among sea-faring men in Cardiff the steady increase in the number of Chinamen who obtain berths on vessels at that port is causing alarm. It is stated that the Chinamen accept half the wages of European seamen, and are less particular as regards food, requiring only a few cheap though wholesome articles of diet.

The Chinaman does not ask for peas and haricot beans, flour, oatmeal, milk, syrup, suet, pickles, and dried fruits. He lives for a month on the same quantity of salt beef, salt pork, and preserved meat as the white man requires for a week. Even of coffee and tea he wants less in a month than his white competitor in a week.

"Four years ago," said the Cardiff secretary of the Sailors' and Firemen's Union, there was not a Chinese boarding-house in Cardiff. Now there are seven. Four years ago you could not go along Bute road without seeing the Greek and Spanish flags. The Spaniards drove the Greeks away to a great extent. Then the Italians came in. Now the Italians are disappearing gradually, and also the Arabs and Turks, and the Chinese are taking their places.

"There are between 200 and 300 Chinamen always on shore, and available for engagement. If the rate of increase of the past year or so is kept up we shall have a new Chinese boarding-house established every month or two."

Pleased Three Sovereigns.

The Grantham acrobat, Henry Johnson, who boasts of performances before three British sovereigns, has just attained his 101st birthday.

A native of Norwich, Johnson has had a most interesting career. Early in his teens he entered Sanger's Circus, and later with the Hughes Troupe traveled to Pekin as an acrobat. While abroad, Johnson entered into partnership with the famous Chinese juggler, Mullaba, with whom in 1830 he gave a command performance at Buckingham Palace.

King William IV. was so pleased that his majesty gave each of the men a purse of gold and granted them the Royal License to perform in any town, market or hotel.

Johnson afterward performed at Tunbridge Wells before the late Queen Victoria and her mother, the Duchess of Kent, and at Sandringham before King Edward (then Prince of Wales).

He has lived at Grantham for the last forty years, and is now in poor circumstances. He enjoys good health and despite his checkered career and weight of years is moderately active.

When a man can tell his principles from his prejudices he is tolerably educated.

The button hole for the stud, in the back of the neck in our shirts, is not placed in the neck-band as it is in all other shirts.
Instead, there's a small flexible tab of stout cotton with a button-hole in it, as illustrated.
Easy to put in the stud, and it cannot chafe the neck.
This feature alone should make every man give Tooke Shirts a trial—after that the shirt will do its own talking.
Tooke Shirts are the only shirts that have this tab feature.

Wolf or Sheep?

By J. LUDLUM LEE.

Copyright, 1907, by C. H. Sutcliffe.

There was a run on the Ilion National bank, and depositors were standing in line hour after hour waiting their turn to withdraw their money. Paying tellers worked with deliberation that was maddening. Some days only half a dozen people would be paid off, but still the line increased, hoping against hope. For two days and nights the figure of a young girl had been noticed. She was slowly working her way to the front. At 2:45 p. m. on the third day she was admitted to the bank and withdrew her entire account.

To avoid confusion depositors were admitted at one door and passed out through a side entrance, and as she emerged from the latter she cast a hurried glance about her. She gave a sigh of relief when she saw that she was quite alone and apparently unnoticed. Then suddenly a tall man appeared in the doorway behind her.

Lillian Burkhart trembled as she clutched the roll of bills, her teeth chattered, the color faded from her cheeks, and she was conscious that her hands trembled visibly. The man looked at her sharply, stepped forward and asked if he could be of service to her.

"You seem to be in trouble. Can I do anything for you?" he asked, with some concern.

"You can go away," she managed to answer.

The man calmly proceeded to button his heavy ulster, slipped his hand in the pocket thereof and pulled out a heavy pair of gloves, which he drew on slowly. His tall, broad shoulders were surmounted by a handsome clear cut face; his whole appearance was faultless. He glanced concernedly at Lillian, whose color had not yet returned and who seemed to tremble from head to foot.

"Really, I feel that I must call for assistance. Will you have a cab or a doctor? It would be nothing short of brutal to leave you here shivering like that. Are you ill or simply cold? I insist upon knowing."

Lillian was forced to look at him again, and it seemed to give her courage to speak.

"Were you ever hungry?" she murmured as she took a firmer hold on the bills.

"Yes, indeed," said her companion. "But never with that amount of money in my grasp."

Lillian started with a sudden jerk at the mention of her money and dropped the entire roll of bills. He stooped to pick it up, and after one wild shriek she called distractedly:

"Stop thief! Stop, I say!"

The crowd was massed in front of the bank, and the cry seemed to have passed unnoticed. The man picked up the bills despite her exclamation and handed them to her. Lillian laughed a sickly little gurgle, saying:

"Perhaps you're not a thief after all—are you?"

"No, I'm not! Are you?" suggested the man. "I am merely one of the many depositors trying to get a few dollars. But you were more fortunate than I. When I reached the window the cashier pulled it down, saying it was 3 o'clock and too late to draw. Better put that wad out of sight and not tempt the hysterical mob outside," he added.

"That's what I wanted to do, but you won't go away and let me. A woman doesn't have pockets all over her clothes like a man. And, oh, I wish you would go, for I'm so hungry and want to get home! I've stood in that line for nearly three days to get money for the landlord. My, but I hate that man!" she expostulated, with a shrug of her pretty shoulders.

"Well, I'll be on my way, and be sure you tuck it safely away in its hiding place. I'll promise not to look back." He laughed and turned on down the street.

Lillian hurriedly slipped the bills in the bosom of her gown and nervously started in the opposite direction toward her little home. Her mother met her at the door, and after some hot luncheon the girl was equal to relating her troubles.

"But, mother, we have the money, and that old Shylock can be paid. I'll take it around to him myself in the morning and just tell him what I think of him," said Lillian, with some satisfaction and a threatening intonation of her voice.

The next morning about 10 o'clock she started for the landlord's office, and as she passed the long line waiting at the bank she thought how fortunate she had been. "Extras" were out saying that no more depositors would be paid.

Arriving at the offices of Payne & Payne on Main street, she entered the snug little reception room and asked for Mr. Payne.

"Which one, ma'am?" asked the office boy at the door.

"Why, the one who owns our house, the cross one," she added by way of further explanation.

The boy seemed to know which man she wanted and disappeared in the inner office. He returned in a few minutes, saying that she might go right in, ushered her to the door and closed it after her.

Once inside, Lillian, blushing to the roots of her red brown hair, found herself confronted by the man who had offered his assistance the day before.

"I am looking for Mr. Payne," she managed to mumble.

"I am Mr. Payne," said he as he proffered her a chair beside his desk; "also among my employees I have the reputation of being the 'cross' member of the firm. You see, father is very old and apt to be easy going as to the observance of rules. What can I do for you, Miss Burkhart?"

"I came to pay my rent. Your agent said if it wasn't paid today he would dispossess us. You see, we had money in the bank, but it was tied up, and he wouldn't wait. He said, 'Them's my orders.' Here is the money. Will you give me a receipt, please?"

"I never authorized any agent to say that, Miss Burkhart, and I tell you what I wish you would do. Just put that money back in that mysterious pocket of yours and pay the rent when it is perfectly convenient. I promise that you shall not be bothered by an insolent collector any more. I will call for the rent myself—if I may," he added, with some hesitation. "That collector of mine needs a lesson."

"It would be so nice if I could keep this money to pay the poor tradespeople, if you do not mind. You see, only part of our money is in that bank, and the trust company has closed its doors too. Mother's pension never comes before the 15th," said Lillian by way of explanation.

"Won't you let me drive you home in my sleigh?" Payne asked as she rose to leave. "The streets are rather riotous these days with the howling mob crying for their money." And without waiting for her answer he put on his fur coat that hung on the door. "You have quite persuaded yourself, I hope, that I am not a thief?" he added.

"Oh, Mr. Payne, how can I ever apologize sufficiently for my rudeness and at the same time thank you for your kindness? You know, I was frightfully hungry, and standing in line so long had affected my brain, I fear. I seemed to feel that every one who looked at me wanted to steal that money. And, oh, I'm so delighted to have that sleigh ride!"

He tucked her in the sleigh, and off they started down the busy streets, then on to the outskirts of the village, the longest way home. The ringing sleigh bells, the clear, cold air and the glorious sunlight filled them both with life, and they chatted incessantly for an hour, when they drove up to the little cottage. Mrs. Burkhart waved them a welcome from the window and met Lillian at the door, beaming with pleasure. It took some time to tell the mother how it happened, and the mother was happy because Lillian smiled and went about the house with renewed energies. The landlord was not such a terror after all.

Mr. Payne called several times that month, always insisting that the rent was not yet needed, and his daytime visits generally meant a sleigh ride over the hills and back to the open fire, where they soon grew to be great confidants.

It was the first day of another month, and Mr. Payne called that evening. Yes, he had come to collect the rent this time, he answered as they drew two easy chairs before the fire.

"But mere money won't do," he said slyly as he drew a little nearer to her and took her hand in his. "I want you, little girl, to be my wife. Will you?" he pleaded.

"Are you sure you love me—sure you want me?" she said, with drooping glance and flushed cheeks.

"I am so sure, dear heart, that I want nothing else in all the world but you. And I'll try not to be such a cross husband as I am a landlord. Say 'Yes,' Lillian, and my life shall be yours to do with as you will."

"Yes, surely yes," Lillian murmured as he drew her lovely head to his shoulder and kissed the wavy locks that would slip out of bondage.

Laconic.

"Is the proprietor in?" asked the visitor.

"No, sir," replied the office boy.

"Is he in the city?"

"Yes, sir."

"Will he be back soon?"

"No, sir."

"Tonight?"

"No, sir."

"Tomorrow some time?"

"No, sir."

"Did he leave any word for Mr. Nash?"

"No, sir."

The stranger looked at the office boy sharply.

"When did he go?"

"Yesterday afternoon."

"Didn't he say when he'd be back?"

"No, sir."

"Well, where the dickens is he?"

"At the undertaker's."

"What's the matter?"

"He's dead."—Harper's Weekly.

Nor Any Other Creature.

By Ina Wright Hanson.

Copyrighted, 1907, by C. H. Sutcliffe.

Looking up from a long drawn reverie before the unfinished picture on my easel, I saw Iolanthe beaming at me from the doorway.

"Come on!" she cried. "Put up your work and come with me into the country. I believe you don't even know it is May day. Don't you remember the month of May, when the air is so full of sweetness and love that even one shaving begins to feel an affection for another shaving? Come, let us a-Maying go."

"I can't," I answered. "I'm up against it. I'm crowded to the wall. I'm broke."

Iolanthe laughed—the sweetest sound in this wise old world.

"I had an intuition so, but that doesn't matter. This is my treat. You see, Isabel Dory took me to dinner yesterday, so I have enough to take us picnicking today. Come, brave knight, put on thy helmet and hasten."

I hastened. No one could resist Iolanthe. I took her little covered basket, and we went along the hall and down the stairs, with mock-doleful messages following us from our fellow workers, who were not going out into the blossoming May day world.

"What car are we going to take?" I asked as we reached the street.

Iolanthe blushed deliciously.

"We are not going to take a car. You see, I got so interested in buying a 'scrumptious' lunch that I forgot about the car, and"—

"I see," I said gravely. "And you don't know how glad I am that we are to walk. It is so much healthier. Then we won't have to mingle with the plebeians on a common car. When rich aristocrats like us"—

Iolanthe glanced up at me rather sharply, I thought. It couldn't be that she knew—of course she couldn't know. No one knew but my uncle's lawyer and myself, and maybe my uncle. I wondered if my uncle did know in that unknown country he had lately entered. By and by I should tell Iolanthe that, when the preliminaries were over, I should have enough money to buy her everything she wanted, even if on this blithe day I had not a penny, and all due to a never known rich old uncle, now dead. But Iolanthe was proud, so first I would win her promise—win it while she believed me poor as herself.

WE ATE OUR "SCRUMPTIOUS" LUNCH.

Purity and courage and gentleness and beauty—that was my Iolanthe. Mine? Ah, when our May day was over, should I be calling her mine?

"Who are you today?" she asked, stopping to fill her lungs with the buoyant air.

We had a habit of playing we were other folks when we went on these excursions—childish no doubt, but we were never going to grow old, we said, so it was best to be children a long time.

"Why, I am King Cophetua," I answered promptly, with a great inflating of my kingly chest and throwing back of my kingly head as we walked on.

"Her arms across her breast she laid;
She was more fair than words can say.
In robe and crown the king stept down
To meet and greet her on her way."

"Who are you today, Iolanthe?"

"It's a pretty story," she mused, not answering my question, "but suppose it were turned around. Suppose that it were Queen Cophetua and the beggar man. Would he be good and let her love him? And would he be willing to sit on the throne with her?"

"Oh, that's different!" I said. "Of course a man could not take favors from a woman. The beggar man would have to go out into the world and win his fortune. He couldn't take it from his queen. You know he couldn't, don't you, Iolanthe?"

"No, I don't know anything about it," she said a bit crossly. But Iolanthe never could stay cross long enough to make it pay, so in a moment she was talking merrily again.

Presently we reached the spot we were bound for, a spot of sun and shade and running water and new spring flowers. We ate our "scrumptious" lunch, and then we sang and talked and had long spells of social silence, and all the while I was wondering how I should make her say "yes" if at first she happened to say "no."

"I am going to tell you a pretty story," she remarked after one of these silences. "It's a true one too. I am invited and so are you, and you'll go, won't you?"

"Oh, sure!" I answered recklessly. "Where?"

"A reception tomorrow evening to meet the richest girl you ever saw. She has so much money she doesn't know what to do with it all, but folks have just found it out. She has pretended to be poor for reasons. We're both going because you said you would."

"I would do anything or go anywhere to please you, little girl," I answered with so much meaning that Iolanthe flushed and her dear eyes wavered before my gaze. I don't know quite how it happened, but suddenly I had my dream in my arms—my unresisting, perfect, red lipped dream—and I was quite mad with delight.

Then presently she cried out that I must never let anything come between us.

"'Nor height nor depth nor any other creature,'" I said reverently.

"'Nor any other creature,'" she repeated after me and made me say it every little while all the rest of that wonderful day, and I did not tell her about my fortune after all, though I had intended to. When you come to think of it, money is a sordid thing to discuss when two folks are quaffing nectar and nibbling ambrosia.

The next evening I went to the reception and was presented to the lady of riches. It seemed to me that all the room hushed its breath and waited while we two went through what was required of us. It seemed to me that I lived an eon before we were free from the great eye of the room and in some place where there were a splash of water and quiet and heavy perfume of flowers. There in the dim light she stood, slender as an English laburnum tree, swaying in her yellow silken robes toward me. Her hands, weighted with jewels, were held out to me. Her mouth that I had kissed was smiling at me—was saying:

"'Nor any other creature!'"

I stood there staring at this wonderful new Iolanthe, and all I could think of and all I said was:

"Barefooted came the beggar maid,
Before the king Cophetua!"

Which, considering the circumstances, could hardly have been more absurd.

Iolanthe's laugh rang out; then she came closer to me, and her eyes grew very grave.

"Dearest," she whispered, "I was too rich to be happy, and so I ran away from everybody and went to work in the studio. I wanted to accomplish something. I wanted folks to say, 'She is a great painter,' not 'She is the richest girl in the country.' Then I found you, and—and—I didn't care any more for fame, because I wanted something greater, love—your love—and—you said 'Nor any other creature,' you know you did?"

"And meant it, too, my angel!" I exclaimed, coming out of my trance and taking her hands in mine. "You shall give me all the money you think I need, and I will sit on the throne with you like a good little man."

"I am so glad you are going to be sensible!" she said fervently.

And then I had to explain to her why I was laughing.

No Use For a Pessimist.

Freddie and his mother were having a thoroughly satisfactory romp when a visitor was announced. As one topic of conversation after another came up it developed that the caller was in an extraordinarily pessimistic frame of mind and expressed her disapproval in no measured terms of everything and everybody under discussion.

This impartial "knocking" disturbed Freddie's amiable soul mightily, and he slowly drew nearer and nearer until he finally stood before the lady, with his small face puckered and the corners of his mouth drawn down.

She stopped in the midst of an "Oh, a dreadful bore, my dear!" to say:

"Why, Freddie, please do unscrew your face. I don't like to see little boys look like that."

Freddie surveyed her for a moment and then said trenchantly, but with an obviously sincere wish for information:

"I guess you don't like most anything, do you?"—New York Times.

Our Cemetery In Mexico.

"Though very few people are aware of the fact," said an army officer the other day, "the United States government owns and maintains a national cemetery in Mexico. It is located at San Cosme, near the City of Mexico, and was purchased and established in the year 1850 for the purpose of interring the remains of the soldiers of the United States who died or were killed in that vicinity during the war with Mexico, and also for the purpose of interring the bodies of citizens of the United States who have died in that vicinity since that period. The existence of this cemetery was forcibly recalled to the minds of the officers of the war department recently by the receipt of a requisition from the superintendent amounting to $40 for the payment to the government of Mexico for expenses incurred in connecting the cemetery with the sewer system of the city."—Washington Star.

THE LANDED ASTORS.

Methods by Which the Great Family Maintains Its Millions.

If ever the phrase "fat of the land" meant anything, it does so in the case of the Astor family. Land! That is the keynote of this wealthy organization—the soildest aggregation of self increasing wealth in America. The Astor millions, invested in New York real estate, are absolutely intact and impregnable. By the most insidious methods of leasing, subleasing, purchasing, renting (but rarely ever improving property themselves), the Astor heirs, ensconced in a plain, stout little two story brick building just off Madison square, are gradually picking up acre after acre of priceless land on Manhattan Island.

There are more than fifty heirs, many in the fourth generation, to the Astor millions, but upon the shoulders of William Vincent Astor, a lad of sixteen, will probably fall the management of the bulk of this enormous estate. At St. Paul's school and Eton, England, he showed himself to be a good student with a bent for mechanics. Young Waldorf Astor is a level headed man of twenty-seven, who recently married Mrs. Nannie Langhorne Shaw, one of the three beautiful Langhorne sisters of Virginia. He and his brother, John Jacob, nephews of Colonel John Jacob Astor, are sons of William Waldorf Astor, the expatriated American. They have never renounced their American citizenship and should they return may divide the management of the estate in this country with William Vincent. John Jacob, second of the name living, is unmarried and lives with his father at historic Cliveden, one of the finest estates in England.—New Broadway Magazine.

Serious For the Middies.

The question of graduating expenses has become an increasingly serious one to midshipmen at Annapolis. In a letter to a friend one of the members of the class of '80, which is soon to be graduated, writes: "I had no idea that graduating was so expensive. I have just ordered my necessary outfit. It cost $1,000, and there are still incidental expenses to be met in connection with my graduation which will amount to several hundred more. Many of my classmates tell me that their bills are even heavier, and I think only a few of the members of the class have been able to save much from their salaries to anticipate these bills. We are all wondering how we are going to meet them." Under the regulations of the Naval academy the paymaster reserves $7 from the salary of each midshipman each month in order that he may have "an amount available" to meet his graduation expenses. This provides, however, only a little over $300 at the end of the four year course.—New York Tribune.

A Bad Shot.

A hot headed Irishman accidentally insulted an equally hot headed Frenchman, who insisted on fighting a duel with the Hibernian to wipe out the slight. The Irishman suggested that the two of them should each draw a card from a pack, and the one who drew the lowest was to go into an adjoining room and blow his brains out. The Frenchman demurred at first, but finally fell in with the idea, and the two opponents drew out the cards, one of which was bound to carry death in its wake. The Irishman drew the lowest card, and, with a smile, he charged his revolver and betook himself off to a small anteroom to complete the tragedy. Presently a loud report rang out, and the white faced people ran wildly to the little anteroom, fully expecting to see the Irishman a gory corpse. Instead he came coolly along the passage to meet them, and as they stared wonderingly at him he cried:

"Begorra, Oi missed meself!"

Peculiar "Cure Stones."

Occupying an isolated position on the moors about five or six miles above Penzance, in Cornwall, a peculiar trio of stones is to be seen. They are arranged in a straight line, the two outside ones being four feet high and upright, while the center one is a little lower, but much wider. In the last mentioned there is a round hole large enough to admit of a man passing through. This pile is known as the "Men-an-tol," or "holed stone." Popular tradition states that any one crawling through the hole in the center stone will be forever immune from rheumatism and allied complaints. In times gone by the country people used to bring their children to the holed stone and pass them through.—Strand Magazine.

TORTURING SKIN DISEASE
Afflicted this bright little girl

LITTLE LORINDA MINER, GUELPH

Mrs. F. Miners, of 311 Suffolk Street, Guelph, Ont., says: "A year since, while living in Oshawa, Ont., my little daughter Lorinda, six years of age, contracted a skin disease on the upper part of her body. This first broke out like tiny water blisters, afterwards taking the form of dry scabs. These would disappear for a short time and then reappear worse than ever. The clothes coming in contact with the skin set up such a severe irritation that it was impossible to keep her from scratching. We tried various preparations and healing lotions yet obtained no good results until we began using Zam-Buk. With each application the irritation and soreness was greatly relieved, and the child rested easier. Thro' continued using, the eruptions and scabs fast disappeared and in a short space of time the skin was completely cleared from the disease. It is now some months since we used Zam-Buk, and there being no sign of any more eruptions breaking out on her body, we believe Zam-Buk has worked a complete cure."

"Keep Zam-Buk handy" is a sound home motto. Daily mishaps make Zam-Buk a daily need, and to treat one's skin troubles with this pure healing balm means speedy relief from smarting pain as well as from itching and inflammation.

TO HAVE MORE MEMBERS IN LEGISLATURE

Redistribution Bill Brought Up in Legislature Yesterday.

IS SENT TO A COMMITTEE

Principles Which Govern the Bill Are Adhesion to County Boundaries and Equalization of Population—British Precedents Quoted — Allan Studholme Is Anxious—Reduce City Property Qualification.

Toronto, March 13.—Hon. J. P. Whitney laid the Redistribution Bill with its series of empty schedules on the table in the Legislature yesterday. The measure was immediately referred to a committee of Messrs. Whitney, Hanna, Matheson, Macdiarmid and Dargavel, representing the Government, and Messrs. May, Bowman and Clarke, representing the Opposition.

At the opening of the sitting two important bills were introduced by Mr. J. J. Preston (Durham). Under the first measure the councils of towns and cities are permitted by bylaw to provide for holding municipal elections on the first Monday in December, nominations being held the Monday previous.

Mr. Preston's second measure had reference to committals to county Houses of Refuge, and provides that when the indigent person has not been for one year a resident of the municipality, the county has to pay the cost of maintenance.

Mr. D. J. McDougal (Ottawa) introduced an amendment to the Municipal Act, reducing the real property qualification in cities from $400 to $300.

In moving the second reading of the Redistribution Bill, Hon. Mr. Whitney referred to the course adopted by Sir Wilfrid Laurier in introducing the last Dominion Redistribution Bill. "Our bill," said the Prime Minister, "is founded on the form of the bill there." It was not a cut and dried scheme, but the Opposition was to be invited to meet the Government representatives in the committee room and discuss the whole matter together. Mr. Whitney referred to the last British redistribution under Mr. Gladstone, when the leaders conferred as to the principles of the bill and a boundary commission was appointed to delimit the constituencies.

"I am quite satisfied," observed Mr. Whitney, "that we could obtain an impartial tribunal of three or five judges to do the work, but I see no reason why the representatives of the people should be allowed to get away from their responsibility. I do not mean to say it will be impossible to pick flaws in the committee's work, or that everyone will be satisfied, but I do express the conviction that the general public will be satisfied." The Prime Minister called attention to the fact that under the British redistribution by the Royal Engineers the Government had now a majority of some 300 in the House of Commons, while the vote showed that the majority should be about 60.

Mr. Whitney said that the present Legislative membership of 98 must be increased. Toronto was entitled to larger representation, although it would not be fair to distinctly observe the same system of population calculation which governed in rural constituencies. Northern Ontario was particularly deserving of increased representation, and Mr. Whitney ventured to predict that five years hence any one of the new northern constituencies would have a larger number of voters than any of the existing rural constituencies. In the riding of East Nipissing in 1902 there was a population of 25,000, to-day there was over 60,000. One portion of that riding showed an increase in population from 1,800 in 1901, to 30,000 at the present time.

"The principles to govern the bill," said Mr. Whitney, "are adhesion to county boundaries and the equalization of population."

In concluding the Prime Minister said that the representation according to population was less than that of many of the states he quoted.

Hon. Mr. MacKay stated that he did not want to complain at this stage. English methods had been referred to—there the principles had been determined by the leaders. Had that course been followed no objection could have been taken. The Government leader had also intimated that the work of distribution was already nearly done.

Mr. Whitney, rising—"Not at all. That could not be until the committee passed on them. What I said was there were ridings like Dundas, Glengarry and Stormont that nobody would think of altering."

Mr. MacKay—"The Premier said that the number of ridings to be changed was growing less every day, implying they were being dealt with."

However, if the committee did it's work well Mr. MacKay said he would have no objection. He challenged Toronto's right to increased representation. Toronto had two Cabinet Ministers and was the seat of Government. Toronto was well served. It had only five members in the Dominion House. As to representation by population he was surprised that Mr. Whitney had gone to the States where there was one representative to 20,000. Why did he not go to Britain where the average was 50,000 to 70,000.

Mr. Whitney said there was no precedent in England, consequently he could not go there. There were no Provincial Legislatures in England, Scotland, Ireland or Wales. As to Toronto the matter was solely in the hands of the committee.

Mr. Studholme wanted to know if the third party would be represented on the committee.

Mr. Whitney—"We will do anything he wants. If he wants we'll put him there."

Mr. Studholme—"I only want to be assured that the Independent Party will have the opportunity of saying something."

Mr. Whitney—"I have not yet noticed any occasion where the Independent Party failed to say something. (Laughter)

Mr. Studholme—"The Independent Party is not afraid to say something."

Mr. Whitney—"I am satisfied that neither the Independent Party or its representative is afraid of anything."

Mr. Preston (Brant) thought it was unfortunate that the parties had not had opportunity to confer as to the principles of the bill.

Mr. Whitney—"What other just principles could there be but county boundaries and equalization of population?"

The bill then passed its reading and was referred to the committee.

TO KEEP BIG TREES.

Government Will Set Aside Eastern Slope of Rocky Mountains.

Montreal, March 13.—The important announcement was made by Hon. Sydney Fisher at the Dominion Forestry convention here yesterday that the Dominion Government had decided to set aside the whole eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains forever as a forest reserve, extending clear from the boundary to the extreme northern limits of the country.

This vast region, he stated, would be kept free from settlers and held for forest growth, which would be cut from time to time under such strict regulations as would preserve it for all time as a forest resource for the west. The announcement was received with hearty cheers by the delegates.

The convention, which is held here for the first time in many years, had a most auspicious opening, the marked features being the introduction of the bi-lingual system, in an effort to interest the people of Quebec in forest conservation, and the lively interest in the matter displayed by the Catholic clergy of the province. When Lieut.-Governor Sir Louis Jette formally opened the convention he was accompanied by Hon. Sydney Fisher, Archbishop Bruchesi, Bishop Racicot, Mgr. Laflamme, and Canon Dauth of Laval, all of whom took a very active part in the convention.

Archbishop Bruchesi spoke at length on the work by the cures in Quebec province to guard the habitants from recklessly wasting their forest wealth, and promised his own co-operation and that of his clergy in the convention.

Robert Meighen, who is interested very largely in New Brunswick timber limits, declared that the forests were neglected, and that neither the Dominion nor Provincial Governments were doing their duty in the matter.

A proposition was brought up to try and induce the Governments in issuing land patents to insert a clause providing that certain sections of each grant should be preserved for all time as timber lands. This, however, was considered by Ontario representatives as impossible, and provocative of political wire-pulling and will be further debated.

Fire on Big Bridge.

New York, March 13.—Fire of mysterious origin started Wednesday night at a comparatively inaccessible place, far up on the unused elevated railway on the new Williamsburg bridge, close to the Brooklyn anchorage. The blaze was discovered quickly and there was little wind blowing. Otherwise great damage to the splendid and costly structure might have been wrought.

Following so closely on the finding of dynamite which had been hidden at one of the towers of the uncompleted Blackwell's Island bridge, the blaze on the Williamsburg span led the police to suspect a general anarchistic plot against the great public works of the city as the outgrowth of the labor troubles.

Machine Guns Against Strikers.

San Francisco, March 13.—Machine guns, operated by the Government forces of Chile, in a great conflict with strikers at the nitrate beds and in the City of Iquique, laid 2,500 men low, most of whom were killed, according to advices received by the Norwegian steamer Christian Bros.

This is supposed to be an exaggerated report of a clash reported some time ago, when 900 were killed.

Tokio, March 13.—The demand of the press and the public of Japan for aggressive action against China in connection with the Tatsu affair is subsiding.

Fleet Ends Journey.

Sandiago, Cal., March 13—The United States fleet steamed into Magdalene Bay yesterday, ending its historic cruise of 13,000 miles.

WOULD ABOLISH THE COURTS

Mr. Aylesworth Would Transfer Jurisdiction of the Admiralty.

BILL IS STRONGLY OPPOSED

Proposal to Compensate Officials—Sharp Criticism of Intended Change—Would Tend to Delay Trials—Million and a Half for Carrying the Mails — Fruit Marks Act Is Enforced—46 Convictions.

Ottawa, March 13.—A bill was introduced yesterday by Mr. Aylesworth to transfer the jurisdiction of the Admiralty Courts to the Common Law Courts.

Mr. Aylesworth explained that it was proposed to compensate officials of the Admiralty Courts for loss of fees by granting to each of the present judges and to the marshal of the Quebec admiralty district an annuity equal to two-thirds of his salary; to the registrar of Toronto district $1,000; to registrar of Nova Scotia district $1,250, and to the registrar of the New Brunswick district $1,500, these sums being equal to the amount of the emoluments for their respective offices for three years.

R. L. Borden said that the old system had given satisfaction. In the Province of Nova Scotia at least it was absolutely impossible to fuse the admiralty and general law.

There the practice in the Admiralty Courts was the simplest form in any court and things were dealt with in admiralty law that were absolutely unknown in common law. Furthermore, to adopt a different procedure in Canada than was the practice in England was to create confusion.

Guss Porter claimed the advantage of the present system was that a speedy trial was secured, while it would be unwise to relegate to the courts, now overworked, any further jurisdiction.

W. M. German declared that vessels often got out of the jurisdiction before the machinery provided by the present act could be set in motion. Therefore he strongly advised a change.

Mr. Gervais (Montreal) opposed the bill in toto. The bill was inexpedient. Was it fair to abolish all Admiralty Courts because there were one or two inefficient judges. As well argue that the House of Commons should be done away with because there were a few bad members or that the Senate should be abolished because there might be some useless Senators.

Mr. Gervais protested also against the usurpation of provincial authority involved in the proposed measure. He pointed out that abolition of Admiralty Courts would substitute for a concise code of marine law a series of statutes scattered through several volumes. Mr. Gervais wanted to know who was asking for this; it was not the shipping interests, not the bar, not the bench. Nobody seemed to want an act that was retrogressive and inexpedient.

The Commons passed the bill creating the Quebec Battlefields Commission and providing for the celebration of Champlain tercentenary.

During the question hour, the Postmaster-General gave figures showing the cost to the Government in the past five years of carrying mails on railways, the average being a little over a million and a half a year. For the same period amounts paid to steamship companies for carrying mails were in the neighborhood of $80,000 a year.

To Mr. Blain, Mr. Pugsley said $21,114 had been spent to date on dredging work in the harbor of Port Dufferin. The Government was considering the question of completing the work.

Mr. Fielding said in reply to Mr. Porter that in the Counties of Hastings, Lenhox, Prince Edward, Northumberland and Peterboro there had been 48 prosecutions and 48 convictions under the Fruit Marks Act.

F. E. O'Flynn of Belleville had been appointed counsel in 23 of these cases.

Dividing the Court List.

Mr. Aylesworth introduced a bill to amend the Supreme Court Act. The purpose of the amendment is to divide the list of cases before the court into five classes—1, election cases; 2, western provinces; 3, Maritime Provinces; 4, Quebec; 5, Ontario.

George Taylor (Leeds) called attention to a return just brought down by Mr. Pugsley regarding purchase of fire extinguishers.

The return stated that 196 of these devices were purchased from two firms, whereas by reference to the Auditor-General's report Mr. Taylor discovered that other fire extinguishers had been purchased.

Mr. Pugsley promised to look into the matter.

Mr. Monk referred to a despatch from London giving an account of the trial of some individuals at Liverpool for practicing fraud on emigrants. It seemed that one Dickey communicated signs to applicants passed, by which they were to be known to officials on this side. But this practice was not safe and more care was advised. Mr. Monk said it appeared to be a case of fraud practiced on emigrants or of taking money from undesirable persons to have them admitted to Canada.

Mr. Oliver promised an answer today.

The discussion was continued by Messrs. Conmee, Crocket, Turgeon, Devlin, Fowler and Clements. Mr. Fowler convulsed the House by his reference to Pugsley, who, he said, had been restricted in the small field in New Brunswick, where "there isn't much to steal if you steal the whole thing."

The discussion went on till after midnight, when the Finance Minister demanded of Mr. Osler to name the places he had seen in Nova Scotia where money was wanted on wharves.

Mr. Osler said he could not name the places.

"He was never there," shouted R. M. Macdonald of Pictou, and Mr. Fielding pressed his request.

Finally Mr. Osler asked: "Did I make a statement that is untrue?"

"I believe he made a statement that is absolutely untrue," replied Mr. Fielding.

TO PROTECT CROSSINGS.

Senator Beique's Amendment to the Lancaster Railway Bill.

Ottawa, March 13.—Mr. Lancaster's bill to limit the speed of trains at crossings in thickly settled communities was before the Senate yesterday.

Senator Beique proposed an amendment to have the Railway Commission order crossings to be protected, or in default of affording protection railways should be compelled to reduce speed to ten miles an hour. The Lancaster proposal was to leave it to juries to say what was meant by proper protection. The debate was adjourned.

The Quebec battlefields bill was read a second time. It is expected that it will be finally passed to-day.

TRIED THE SALT METHOD.

Richard Tague Adopts Novel Plan to Make Wife Confess.

Trenton, N.J., March 13.—It was when Richard Tague of South Amboy was distressed by an unhappy domestic situation that he fell in with an ancient sea captain, one who had been in many strange climes and knew many curious customs of the east and other parts of the world. He listened to Tague's narrative of his marital woes and gave him some advice.

When Tague went to bed that night he took care to lie awake until his wife was sound asleep. Then he quietly arose, procured a basin of salt water and placed Mrs. Tague's hands in it. Presently Mrs. Tague began to talk in her sleep. Her recital was slow at first; then it became voluble and in a little while she had told him all he wanted to know, and more; the story of her life, single and married.

Anyway, that's what Tague said when he appeared in the Court of Chancery yesterday and asked for a divorce. Vice-Chancellor Walker, however, was not so profoundly professed by the salt water method of obtaining evidence, and he held the case under advisement.

Mrs. Tague denies the charges and brought counter accusations in a suit for divorce which she had begun before her husband started his action.

JAPANESE MURDERED.

Prince Rupert Increasing—Hindus to Appeal For Clemency.

Vancouver, March 13.—Including the man now employed on a large land clearing work there are now about a thousand people in Prince Rupert. On Saturday nights and Sundays, when men come in from the woods, the town is quite congested.

Japanese murdered a country man last Saturday at Swansea Bay, three hundred miles up the coast. The murderer escaped in a fishing boat, which he stole from the waterfront and has not since been seen. The victim was disemboweled.

Application will be made to-day for habeas corpus for the eighteen Hindus recently convicted under the Natal Act and sentenced to fines of $500 each. Failing this the Hindus will appeal for executive clemency of the Dominion Government. They declare it is a shame that as loyal Britishers who fought under Lord Roberts in South Africa they are subjected to fines or years of imprisonment because of imperfect knowledge of the English language.

Strike on the Tunnel.

Windsor, March 13.—The strike situation at the tunnel is becoming aggravated. Men who are out claim the contractors are trying to import men from Detroit to take their places.

Wednesday night about 80 Italians were brought across the river on the understanding, it is said, that they would be paid three dollars a day, but when they arrived at the tunnel they were told wages would be $2.50, this rate being paid for those who worked under air pressure. Less than a score accepted the terms.

Arrested Shah's Brother.

Teheran, March 13.—Salar Dowleh, the Shah's rebellious brother, who was pardoned at the time of the Kourban Bairam, was again placed under arrest yesterday. Letters which he sent to his father-in-law, Louristan, were intercepted and proved his intention of escaping from Teheran and again beginning a rebellion.

It is rumored here that Salar Dowleh took part in the recent bomb outrage when an attempt was made to assassinate the Shah.

Casey Baldwin's Flight.

Hammondsport, N.Y., March 13.—In the aerodrome Redwing, F. W. (Casey) Baldwin yesterday made a flight of 319 feet over the ice. This is the first successful public flight yet made in America by a heavier-than-air flying machine. Many witnesses watched the machine as it skimmed along ten feet above the earth.

British Mine Owners Threatens.

London, March 13.—The colliery owners who have been conferring in this city on the subject of the Government's bill and being an eight-hour day for miners, yesterday decided, should Parliament pass the measure, to advance the price of coal 38 cents per ton and to make all future contracts on this basis.

Cows Have Tuberculosis.

Winnipeg, March 13—The city council are taking very rigid steps for the extinction of tuberculosis among cattle and milch cows. It is stated that 75 per cent. of the cows in the city are affected with tuberculosis, some in very mild form, but others in a very advanced stage.

King Abandons Cruise.

Biarritz, March 13.—King Edward's projected cruise in the Mediterranean after his visit here, has been abandoned.

Bones of Victims of Inquisition?

Mexico City, March 13.—A despatch from Guadalajara reports that a secret underground chamber has been uncovered while excavations were being made at the ancient Universidad Church at that place. In the secret chamber were found many human skeletons. It is believed that they were victims of the Spanish Inquisition.

PETERBOROUGH FRIDAY MARCH 13 1908

TOLD BY THE CENSUS

The Number in the Various Religious Denominations in The City—The Roman Catholics in Lead.

THE POPULATION IS 16,718

The completion of the census of Peterborough in one afternoon is a matter for congratulation to the officers of the Sunday School Association. Under the direction of Mr. Thos. Yellowlees, Extension Secretary for the Ontario Sunday School Association the local workers were organized with Mr. Richard Lees, M.A., as chairman and Mr. J S Knapman as Secretary. Both of these gentlemen worked very hard and had everything arranged so that the entire canvas was made with wonderful accuracy. The district supervisors and the excellent staff of 300 ladies did faithful service. It is most gratifying that so many ladies, representing all the churches in the city, and in most cases meeting for the first time, should find so much enjoyment in a work that they all felt would be for the best interests of the city.

Every where the visitors went they found cordiality and courtesy, while only in a few cases was information refused. In 80 homes there was no response and information could not be obtained elsewhere so that 350 could be added with safety to the total inhabitants. About 80 homes are included in the list, that are actually not yet included in the corporation but are an integral part of the city for all purposes save taxation, so that for accurate count these two figures would offset each other. The results are very gratifying. The population of Peterborough is much in advance of what many thought it to be, and as far as the commercial and church interests are concerned if all the inhabitants in the immediate neighbourhood were counted the population would be placed at 17,000 at least. The practical aspect of the case is the most important. Hard work awaits the workers in the churches and Y.M.C.A. and Y.M.C.A.

The Roman Catholics are meeting the conditions already in the south end; All Saints' will be encouraged and encouraged to go forward with their new building; St. Andrew's must take advantage of the growing time in the west end, for the accommodation of the Presbyterian churches is regarded as not proportionate to the number claiming that church. The large number of Methodists will be a strong incentive for the Charlotte street Board to carry out their proposed building at an early date.

The returns in connection with the boys 12 to 18 years of age and the men 18 to 30 years will give zest to all the members of the T.A.S. and Y.M.C.A. These returns do not give the full number because some of the cards used for the information did not contain the questions regarding ages.

The executive requests the Examiner to express their very hearty thanks to all the ladies who so readily and cheerfully co-operated to make the canvas such a success to the district supervisors and assistants for their untiring devotion and to the press for the publicity and encouragement they gave to the undertaking, and also for their generous reports of all meetings.

SOME FINE CATTLE SOLD YESTERDAY

Most Successful Sale Held at Mr. John Lynch's Farm.

Mr. John Haggart conducted a successful sale yesterday afternoon at the farm belonging to Mr. John Lynch, lot 4, con. 11, North Monaghan. Mr. Lynch disposed of all his cattle, which from the reports of those who attended the sale, were excellent stock. The prices were good and a large crowd was present. Among those who purchased some of the cattle were Messrs. Robt. Leary, Thos. Lee and Sam. Redmond. For well-groomed cattle those sold yesterday were the finest that have been seen for some time at a sale.

SCARED WOLF JUMPED THROUGH THE WINDOW

Pearl Park, Man., March 13.—(Special).—One evening recently, while F. W. Pinder and family were at supper the window glass was suddenly shattered and a large wolf leaped into the room. Mr. Pinder got his gun and shot the animal. The wolf apparently had been pursued by Mr. Pinder's hounds and coming through the gate was bewildered in attempting to get through the woven wire fence and dashed into the lighted window. It was Mrs. Pinder's Birthday, but the wolf had received no invitation to the birthday feast.

The four employees of the C. G. E. who were remanded from Wednesday afternoon, charged with petty thieving of small articles from the shop, appeared before Magistrate Dumble this morning for sentence. All of them were given their liberty; the man who stole the bits, besides tape and cotton, was allowed to go on suspended sentence, and the others have no record against them, Magistrate Dumble deciding to permit them to leave the courtroom with their characters unblemished. In the case of Albert Costello, it was shown that he merely gave some wire to a friend to repair a canoe, and himself did not profit to any extent. He has returned to his employment with the company.

Mr. W.H. Moore represented one of the men, Mr. G. N. Gordon two of the rest, and the fourth man was without counsel.

In referring to the affair, Mr. Dumble stated that in each home that had been searched, articles taken from the C. G. E. were found. He hoped this was a mere coincidence, and that it was but by chance that these houses had been chosen. He said he could not but believe that it was so.

The first man dealt with was the oldest. He was the one who had been found with the drills. His Worship, addressing him, said his explanation of obtaining the drills was the usual one given. He had bought them from a person who now could not be found. The story might be true, but the prisoner had pleaded guilty. Mr. Gordon produced a testimonial showing that the man had worked for 17 years with one firm in Kidderminster, and had always been found trustworthy and honest.

Suspended Sentence

Mr. Dumble said he would make a conviction against him, but would permit him to go on suspended sentence. His Worship was dealing with him very leniently, but he reminded the prisoner there would be no second suspended sentence for him.

"This has been a lesson for you, and I hope you will never again soil your character."

In letting the other men go, Mr. Dumble said their actions were not so much criminal in their nature as they were disloyal to the company. The employees depend on the success of the company for their daily sustenance and they should be honest in all their dealing and not try to rob them. His Worship said he hoped the men would be worthy of the generous treatment they receiving from the court, and from their employers at the C. G. E. in taking them back to work. The three men were allowed to go perfectly free.

An Inhuman Act; Little Dog's Head Severed From Its Body

Belleville, March 13. — (Special.)— One of the most despicable acts that has been committed in this vicinity for a long time occurred sometime between midnight Monday and five o'clock yesterday morning, when someone coaxed the pretty little spaniel dog belonging to Mr. John Maiden, a commercial traveller residing at 171 Victoria avenue, out to the street and in a brutal manner nearly severed its head from its body. Its neck had been cut by a sharp instrument. The means of the cruel [illegible] the fiendish [illegible] about five o'clock. The deed was done on the pavement on Victoria avenue, as there was blood in pools there.

What the object was is hard to conjecture. The little dog was not in the least ugly, but on the contrary was a great pet with the children in the neighbourhood. There is no clue to the miscreant, but suspicions rests upon a certain person residing not far distant from where the deed was committed and the police have been furnished with the name.

The poor animal had to be killed to end its suffering. No doubt if the guilty party can be found he will get his just deserts.

Pick Punched Hole In The Roof And Water Spoiled The Cigars

Mr. M. Pappas, proprietor of the George street cigar store, complains of the water coming through his roof and spoiling a quantity of stock in a warerooom. The stock includes many hundred cigars and several cases of tobacco.

On entering the room on Wednesday evening he discovered the water coming through, and upon investigating the interior and top of the building, states he found a man busily engaged with a pick breaking ice on the roof. Evidently the point had gone through and caused the leakage.

He also states there were $2,000 worth of goods in the room, but fortunately only the cigars will be spoilt. The merchant owning the building, who gave orders to the pick man, will probably repair the loss, which will not be more than $75.

The Ice Harvest At Stony Lake Has Never Been A Bigger One

The ice harvest at Stony Lake has been in full swing for the past week on the lake. A good number of the farmers have been putting in ice for their own use during the coming summer for the cooling of milk for the factory and keeping fresh meat. A large number have also been putting in ice for the campers and the lake has been a lively scene for the past two weeks. There was never more ice housed on the lake before.

Would Call Another Meeting Of The Conservative Party

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I notice considerable correspondence and comment re the recent Conservative convention of East Peterborough.

There seems to be general dissatisfaction regarding the manner in which the convention was handled. Now, one fact which cannot be denied is that four substitutes were allowed to vote in place of legally appointed Belmont delegates. These substitutes were put on in the town hall the day of the convention and to be explicit their names are as follows:—F Taylor, Wm. Pasey, D Maquade and Elias Williams, license inspector for East Peterborough. The latter gentlemen lives in Havelock, but was allowed to vote as a Belmont delegate. Why then were other substitutes not allowed to vote?

The general opinion seems to be that a meeting of the Conservative party in East Peterborough should be called and some fair-minded arrangement made which would commend itself to all parties and thus further the best interests of the party.

Yours truly,
A HAVELOCK DELEGATE.

A Perilous Ride In An Auto Over Snowdrifts 20 Feet High

Saginaw, Mich., March 13.—(Special.)—Fifty miles in an automobile over honeycombed and melting ice that threatened to give way every foot of the last fifteen miles, was the thrilling experience of Edward Doan of Saginaw, and John Milwiss, an old-time pilot, who made a 17-hour trip from the latter port over Saginaw Bay and up the river to this city.

Leaving Sebewaing in a 20-horse-power machine, the travellers had exhilarating sport for 20 miles. Then they became lost and but for a compass the old pilot found in his pocket there is no telling where they would have landed. They were out of sight of land and many miles out on the bay.

They encountered numerous leads and snowdrifts 20 feet high. Frequently they bridged chasms with frail planks, and often these cracks and drifts compelled wide detours.

"The real excitement, however," said Doan yesterday, "came after we left Bay City, up the river. The honeycombed ice cracked all the way. There was open water on both sides of us much of the way, and we were powerless to reach shore."

Crystal Proceeds Were Handed Over to the Children's Aid Society Yesterdry—$18.60 Secured.

IT WAS WELL PATRONIZED

It was Children's Aid Society afternoon yesterday at the "Crystal," and that popular amusement place was well patronized during the afternoon. The entire receipts of the half day were turned over to the society, with the result that the funds were augmented by the substantial sum of $18.60. The programme given for the occasion, in addition to the usual bill of the Crystal degree of excellence, included singing by Miss Gloria and Miss Roselyn Machan, the numbers of the children being much appreciated. The moving pictures were unusually good and included such subjects as the "Witch's Kiss," "Fashionable Paris," "Carrying a Plank," and others equally as interesting.

The kindness of Mr. Edwards is thoroughly appreciated by the officers of the society, whose thanks are extended to him for his charitable act.

MANY WANTED PICTURES REPRODUCED

"Humanity" Answered by the Crystal —Don't Want to Rob Him.

Editor Examiner.

Dear Sir.—In yesterday's issue appeared a letter signed by "Humanity" which was evidently written by some person who was more ignorant of the situation than human. The facts are that on Saturday night so many persons asked to have the pictures he mentions reproduced in order that they might bring their friends, that on Monday and Tuesday nights that particular portion of the programme was repeated. But if "Humanity" had eyes and brains he might have noticed that the remainder of the bill was completely changed.

In addition, we would like to add that if the wife and children of "Humanity," prowling he has any, think him human we shall believe him. Neither has the "Crystal" any desire to do him out of his five-cent piece or rob him of his beer.

Yours, etc.,
THE CRYSTAL.

WATER DEEP ON THE BRIDGE

Street Cars Have a Regular Wash on Charlotte Street.

The street cars that ply on Charlotte street have their tracks partly submerged in many places, but it is almost a submarine stunt that they have to perform when they pass through the muddy lagoon that has formed on the new bridge in front of the English Canoe Company's works. The wheels do the "Old Oak on Bucket" act as they disappear on one side of the bridge to come out again with a splash like a dolphin.

THE SOUP KITCHEN IS WELL PATRONIZED

The Children's Aid Society's soup kitchen on Albert street is still continuing to serve the purposes for which it was established. Yesterday sixty-seven persons were supplied with soup, bread and meat from the relief restaurant. One family, in which there are ten children, depends entirely upon the society for sustenance, and will have to be supported until the snow disappears, and the head of the family secures the employment he is promised. The kitchen will be kept going as long as there is need for its existence.

The Conditions Revealed By Religious Census; In Eighty Homes There Was No Response

By the religious census taken on Wednesday, it has been discovered that the population of the City of Peterborough is now 16,718. Yesterday a committee was engaged in making a summary of the result of the House to House Visitation, when some interesting revelations were as will be seen from the accompanying figures:

Their were 82 homes in which the visitors either found no one at home or were refused information. Against these may be set the homes that were visited in the adjoining townships bordering on the city limits.

The following table gives the number of persons in the city belonging to the various religious denominations:

The first column of figures indicates the total number of each denomination; the second the number over 18 years of age and the last the number under 18 and over four years.

Bag Of Chop And A Blanket Among The Missing Articles

The disappearance of several articles in the vicinity of Zion, Otonabee, has awakened the residents there to a sense of their loss and they are now on the warpath for the light-fingered gentry.

A few nights ago a Zion farmer returned home from Peterborough with a sleigh load of bags of chop for fodder. Leaving the sleigh and horses standing on the roadside for a few minutes while he secured a lantern, he discovered that one of the bags was missing on his return.

On another occasion while visiting at a neighbour's residence, a horse blanket disappeared from view.

Several other petty thefts have been reported of similar natures and the farmers in that district will henceforth sleep with one eye open and a shot gun beside their beds. They are determined to catch the thief or thieves on the next occasion of his inroads into Zion territory.

Card Table Made Of Brazilian Mahogany Is Now On Exhibition

An unique table in the window of Robt. Fair & Company is attracting much admiration. It was carved by Mr. G. W. Mulligan, who about a year ago made a medicine cabinet of specially selected woods, which was very much admired, and at the time many young men endeavoured to imitate it. It was on exhibition for four days. He has just completed a card table of pure Brazilian mahogany, inlaid with some especially difficult work, the centrepiece being a twelve-point double star and [illegible] corner pieces of curl maple, burl walnut and quartered oak. The "V" shaped pieces in the legs are made of oak root, quarter cut.

He has placed it on exhibition for two days only in Mr. Robt. Fair's store window. It will be taken out on Saturday night and shipped to a lady in Toronto. He desires to encourage young men to improve their spare time, and any young man wanting pointers as to how to begin he will gladly help.

Mr. Mulligan is a pattern-maker with the Quaker Oats Company and made the table in the evenings during the winter after work.

The Peculiar Death Of A Stranger In A Toronto House

Toronto, March 13.—An unknown man, who was rooming at 206 Victoria street, was found dead in his bed this morning. There was nothing on his clothing to identify him, but the buttons on his vest have the C. P. R. stamp on them, indicating that he was in the railway's employ. The man is thought to have come from Lindsay. He had been at the Victoria street house only since Tuesday. The cause of death is not yet known.

Crossings Considered To Be Dangerous Examined To-day

Ald. Geo. Morrow's desire to have gates placed on Aylmer street at the C.P.R. crossing and on Reid street, where the G.T.R. crosses near the William Hamilton Company's buildings will be considered by the Railway Commission which convenes in Peterborough on March 17th. To-day Mr. Geo. Ball spent several hours at each crossing taking an inventory of the general traffic at each place. They are both dangerous to vehicles and pedestrians and Ald. Morrow has been considering the question for some time now and the council has sanctioned his motion to have the matter dealt with by the Railway Commission.

Inspector Ball stated to-day that there is considerable traffic at each crossing and Aylmer street is perhaps the more dangerous. There are three tracks, the main line and sidings and trains are passing throughout the entire day. The general feeling is that gates should be placed at both these crossings.

Reported To Have Been Left $15,000.00 By English Relative

It was reported by friends of Mr. Jas Wood, fireman on the G. T. R. flyer that he had received word from England to the effect that $15,000 had been bequeathed to him by a relative. Mr. Wood was not on the flyer this morning so that the rumour is partly substantiated and Mr. Wood's friends hope that he has been that fortunate.

THE SHEFFIELD CHOIR

Dr. Charles A. E. Harris, of Ottawa, unfolded his plans for bringing the Sheffield choir, the champion choral organization of Great Britain, to this country next fall, at a private banquet at McConkey's, in Toronto on Wednesday night. Mr. Stewart Houston, manager of Massey Hall; Inspector James L. Hughes, of the Public School Board; Dr. A. S. Vogt and the musical critics of the various local news papers enjoyed the hospitality of the genial Dr. Harris, and expressions of loyalty and support were extended to him from all sides.

The Sheffield Choir, 200 strong, will give three concerts in Toronto, beginning on November 5th, 6th and 7th, and will be under the able direction of Dr. Henry Coward. The choral organization will arrive in Montreal on the steamship "Grampion," of the Allan Line, on November 2nd and will return, sailing from Quebec on November 13th.

Accompanying the chorus it is expected that there will be 150 of their friends, including the Bishop of Sheffield, Dr. Mann, Professor of Music in the University of Cambridge, and the Lord Mayor of Sheffield. A number of editors and prominent newspaper men will accompany the party, including the editors of the Sheffield Independent, the Yorkshire Post, the Harrowgate Herald, and representatives of at least two of the leading London daily newspapers.

Dr Harris declared that if England was kind enough to send over her best choir, Canada should at least reciprocate by sending over the Mendelsohn Choir to English shores early next year. This proposal was taken up at length and after Inspector Hughes and each of the newspaper men had spoken on the subject, Dr. Vogt expressed himself as pleased with the idea.

Waterworks Engine In Commission Clearing The Ice From The Gratings On The Street Crossings.

FREE PASSAGE FOR WATER

The waterworks steamer for the past couple of days has been engaged thawing out the crossing gratings to let the water run off. The ice forms in the gratings and unless this is done it remains until the sun melts it away.

When the steam is turned on it only necessitates the work of a few seconds to clear away the ice.

FOUND FIFTY POUND FISH

Explorer Returns With Magnificent Specimens From Northwest Lakes—A Mild Winter.

CATTLE OUT ALL WINTER

The Winnipeg Free Press has the following: J. H. Davis returned on Saturday from an exploration trip through the district between Prince Albert and Athabasca, where he was inspecting the lakes as to their resources in fish-producing areas. He covered a chain of lakes, visiting hundreds which are not marked on the maps and some of which could yield hundreds of tons of fish every season. Among the samples brought down with him are four monster salmon trout from the lakes. One of these weighs 54 pounds and is 46 inches in length and 30 inches in girth. The other three are 42, 39 and 37 inches in length. The big one will be mounted and presented to the Government as a sample of what the West can produce. Mr. Davis was seven months away, and earlier in the season caught several trout weighing more than the one he brought down. They would not keep in perfect condition, so he measured them and weighed them. One tipped the scales at 61 pounds and was a beautiful specimen.

From one of the lakes covered by him he thinks 1,000,000 pounds of fish could easily be taken every season without depleting the waters. There is, however, at present a lack of transportation facilities. The number of lakes is astonishing, and there are large ones, capable of yielding thousands of tons of fish, of which there is no record on maps usually employed.

Ducks have been flying all winter, while there were countless crows in all parts. The rivers are not frozen over, and the land looks as though it would make excellent farm land. Cattle have been running at large all winter, and the excellence of the herds struck Mr. Davis. The Indian Department has furnished bulls to the natives, and they have succeeded in raising a good brand of cattle. Furs are reported to be scarce, but Mr. Davis secured a couple of fine pelts of cinnamon bear.

HAS GONE TO SPOKANE TO LIVE

Mr. Norman Smith Will Go Into Business In the West.

Mr. Norman Smith, who has been connected with the firm of Miniconi Bros. during the winter, left on the 4.48 C. P. R. train yesterday for Spokane, Wash., where he was located last year. He purposes to go into business for himself on the western coast and his many friends will wish him every success in his enterprise. Mr. Smith, who was a trombone player in the 57th Regimental Band, will be missed by that organization as well as in many other circles in the city.

CHOPPED HORSE TO DEATH WITH AN AXE

Montreal, March 13.—(Special)—The police yesterday was informed of a brutal act committed on Tuesday night in a stable owned by Mr. A Gauthier on Voltigeurs street. Mr. Gauthier states that on going to his stable in the morning he found his horse lying dead on the floor. The animal had been hacked about the head and body in a fearful manner with an axe. Many of the wounds were several inches in depth. Mr. Gauthier is convinced that the cruel deed was the work of enemies who wreaked their vengeance upon his horse.

THE REVIEW'S BLUNDER.

On different occasions the Review has made more or less indirect references to Hon. Mr. Stratton being opposed to the imposition of an export duty on Canadian saw-logs. One was at some difficulty to understand what it was aiming at, but last night's issue is more explicit, and it revealed at once the drift of the Review and its astonishing ignorance upon the subject.

A few days ago the Examiner had an answer to Hon. Mr. Whitney's bombastic boast, made at the banquet given in his honour, in which he asserted that his Government, in the three years of its office, had enacted more beneficial legislation than had been enacted during the previous thirty years. The Examiner submitted a series of enactments which showed how unfounded and, indeed, ridiculous, was the Premier's boast. Among other things, the Examiner made this inquiry: "What Government was it that procured the manufacture of saw-logs in Ontario, and enacted that no pine timber nor pulpwood should be permitted to leave the Province in an unmanufactured condition?"

To this the sapient Review makes reply as follows:

"It may please the Examiner to know that it wasn't Mr. Stratton, as he opposed the export duty on saw-logs."

In the course of an elaborate—as to space—article in reply to the Examiner's instances of beneficial legislation, the Review has the following gem of wisdom:

"Then as to saw-logs and pulpwood. There's scarcely a schoolboy in Peterborough to-day who does not remember the awful struggle to get the (Ontario) Government to put an export duty on logs."

Thus does the Review exhibit its dense and grotesque ignorance. As a matter of fact, there was no "awful struggle" to get the Government to put an export duty on logs, for the simple reason that the Ontario Government never did put an export duty on logs; and, as a further matter of fact and of law, the Ontario Government had, and has, no more power to impose an export duty on logs, or anything else, than it has to enact a Home Rule Bill for Ireland. The levying of duties, export or otherwise, is in the exclusive province of the Federal Government. What the Liberal Government of Ontario Government did do was to cause the insertion in timber licenses of a condition requiring that all logs cut on Ontario limits must be sawn in Ontario. This was the only thing that could be done, and was a shrewd and effective rejoinder to the obnoxious United States Dingley Act, which imposed a duty of two dollars per thousand on Canadian lumber, with the provision that the amount of any Canadian export duty should be added to the duty on Canadian lumber. If the Canadian Government had put an export duty of three dollars on logs, as was done in 1888—the total duty on lumber would have been raised to five dollars per thousand, a figure that spelled absolute ruin to the exporting business of Canadian lumbermen. Of course, Mr. Stratton, as well as every Canadian of sense, opposed an export duty on logs as unwise and suicidal at the time, as it was, for similar reasons, on many occasions since the abrogation of the Reciprocity Treaty in 1886. In all the period between that and 1888, the see-saw of negotiation as to the lumber export business showed a great deal of bad faith—on the part of the United States—and there seemed to be no way out of the impasse till the Ontario Government, when the time became opportune, devised and applied a plan that checkmated our neighbours and provided ample protection to Canadian interests.

The Review might consult its schoolboy authority to discover what it doesn't know about the conditions surrounding an export duty on Canadian saw-logs.

THE RELIGIOUS CENSUS.

The religious census of the city taken on Wednesday, apart from what may be called its business aspects, possesses a remarkable moral significance and importance. It demonstrates the essential unity of Christianity. No matter on what lines of dogma or doctrine denominations may be organically divided, the census shows that there is common ground upon which they may all unite, and all acknowledge the claims of the one Divine Overlord. In no other sphere of human association or activity—politics or commerce or social interests—does there exist a possibility of such complete, harmonious and happy combination of effort as in the case cited. This condition demonstrates the catholicity of the the Christian religion and must give an impetus to renewed effort to provide for the enlarged resources of church affiliation revealed by the census. Much duty is neglected because it is not placed distinctly before us. But now none of the churches have any ground of excuse for failure to do the work which is so palpably and evidently placed before them. Counting noses, however, is vain effort if the responsibility revealed is not faithfully discharged.

A GREAT PROFIT IN ALFALFA

No Other Plant Can Equal it as a Milk Producing Food.

Throughout the Dominion, Alfalfa is now recognized as the most profitable crop the dairyman-farmer can grow. No other plant can equal it as a flesh-forming and "Milk-Producing" food. Animals pastured on it show a rapid gain in condition, especially milch cows and hogs. After the first season it will yield three heavy crops each season for many years, and that of a food proven by analysis to bear nearly equal to bran in nutriment.

Alfalfa can be grown in any part of Canada where red clover will grow. An expert authority advocates that the seed be sown only after the surface soil has become warmed, generally speaking, about the first of June, as cold and damp kills off the germination. Alfalfa will require no cultivation for years excepting a coat of farm manure every winter to make up for the vegetable matter that has been taken off with the crop.

But it is as a fertilizer that Alfalfa is so remarkably valuable. It collects immense quantities of nitrogen from the air, and thus furnishes the soil in a natural way with large quantities of the richest fertilizer. The roots of Alfalfa penetrate deeply into the subsoil bringing to the surface rich mineral food that could never be reached by any other plant. Its deep rooting habit opens up the subsoil, allowing free access to air and water which sweeten and renovate the land.

Alfalfa is certainly destined to revolutionize farming in this country. Its food values, bounteous yielding properties, and rare fertilizing action render it the most valuable plant known to Agricultural Science.

SHOULD BUY GOOD SEED

The Best is None Too Good to Put Into The Land.

These are several things the buyer of seeds should observe. These may be summarized as follows: Buy only from reliable seedsmen; buy the best grade of seed; insist upon a statement of the percentage of seed which will germinate; test the seed yourself.

Do not expect, however, to get first-class seed at the price of poor stuff. The best and highest priced is none too good to put into your land after you have expended days of labor in preparing the seed bed. Poor and cheap grades of seed are really more costly than the best and highest priced. Some tests have shown that unclean seed especially in clovers and grasses may contain 20,000,000 or more weed seeds a bushel. Then poor seed may contain such a small percentage of germinable seed that a thin stand of crops is obtained. It may be necessary to buy 5 or 6 bushels of low grade seed in order to secure as much germinable seed as is contained in one bushel of good seed. You will, therefore, save time, money and labor by buying the best quality of seed and at the same time avoid seeding your farm to all kinds of weeds.

LORD ROSEBERY FAVORS FREE TRADE

Britain's Former Premier Makes Plea for "Sane Imperialism."

CALLS SOCIALISM A MENACE

Lord Rosebery Gives Stirring Address Before London Liberal League—Denounces Protection In No Measured Terms—Calls It Great Tyranny and Service of Corruption — Defends the Lords.

London, March 13.—"The active menace of Socialism" with which Great Britain is confronted was a prominent and striking feature of Lord Rosebery's Presidential address before the Liberal League yesterday.

The former Premier was discussing the necessity of the league's unceasing support of "sane Imperialism," which category he included the maintenance of the policy of free trade.

"Protection," Lord Rosebery declared, "is a great evil, a great tyranny and a great source of corruption." Continuing the speaker said that he foresaw, however, a time when the present movement in Parliament founded on ideas of social reform, might lead to such enormous pressure in the way of direct taxation as to make the nation seek relief from its intolerable burden by shifting a part of this burden to the taxation of imports. The time might come, but Lord Rosebery said he trusted to God it never would, when the Liberals would be forced to choose between allowing the Socialist to gain the upper hand or allying themselves with the party of protection in order to defeat Socialism. Of these two conditions he, for one, without hesitation, would prefer protection. This would be a great evil and a source of corruption, but Socialism would mean the end of the Empire, religious faith and freedom, and prosperity for many years, and that of a food proven by analysis to bear nearly equal to bran in nutriment.

In the elections of 1907 Lord Rosebery went on, the country had seen the Liberals and Conservatives flying at each other's throats for the husks and letting the Socialism slip away with the kernel, namely, seats in Parliament, and they had witnessed the tragedy of the Liberals fighting under the banner of "No Second Chamber" at the very moment when a second chamber was most necessary in order to combat Socialism. Formerly Great Britain had a strong second chamber backed up by the veto of the sovereign. The veto of the sovereign has long since disappeared, said the former Premier, and now it is sought to do away with the second chamber. Contrast this, Lord Rosebery continued, with the conditions in the United States, the most democratic community in the world.

"There you find a written constitution not one syllable or letter of which can be altered without grave and lengthy constitutional processes. You find a Senate of overpowering authority, and you find a veto in the hands of the President. Not a veto that has fallen into desuetude but an active and vigorous element in the constitution. Here we have nothing but the feeble barrier of the hereditary second chamber, which it is now said ought to be entirely abolished."

"I honestly say, considering the menace of Socialism, which has reared its head in this country during the last year, and which is prepared to rear itself on every occasion again, that it strikes me as amazing that the Government, at the present time, should embark on the policy of abolishing the only barrier remaining between it and the people."

Lord Rosebery admitted that the House of Peers needed reform, but no such reform as was suggested by the present Government.

Italian Stabbed at Hamilton.

Hamilton, March 13.—What may turn out to be a case of murder was reported last night. In a row among Italians employed at Doolittle's quarries, near Dundas, one of the gang was stabbed in the abdomen.

He was brought to the city hospital at a late hour, and his condition was pronounced to be very serious. Two of his fellow-countrymen accompanied him, but as neither could speak English, the police could learn no particulars.

Grand Lodge Will Secede.

Vancouver, March 13.—The A.O. U.W. Grand Lodge decided yesterday in favor of secession from the American Supreme Lodge and the formation of a purely Canadian organization.

Toronto, March 13.—Thomas J. Woodcock, police magistrate and justice of the peace for the County of York, was again remanded a week in the Police Court yesterday morning upon two charges of perjury and one of conspiracy to defraud.

County Constable Savage also was remanded a week from the latter charge.

Will Hang Assassin.

Denver, March 13.—Guiseppe Alla, who shot and killed Father Leo Heinrichs in St. Elizabeth's Church in this city, Feb. 23, was yesterday found guilty of murder in the first degree. Hanging was the penalty fixed by the jury.

Dublin Jewels Recovered.

London, March 13.—There are unconfirmed reports, both in London and Dublin that the crown jewels, recently stolen from Dublin Castle, have been recovered from a pawnbroker and returned to Dublin Castle.

Boys Poisoned.

Like Alexander Of Old, The Examiner Is Undefeated

Their Season Was Closed at Lindsay Last Night, When They Scored Three Goals To The "Types" Nil in a Friendly Game.

BECOMING FAST FRIENDS

When the undefeated Examiner hockey team calsimined the Lindsay Post seven on their own ice last night by three goals to nil they revenged the defeat of the Strathconas and evened up matters between the two towns. It was a slushy game, with needle and shower baths and even plunges provided, owing to the soft condition of the ice. The last great hockey event of the season is now over and the Examiner seven will hang up their pads and sticks after the most successful series of games in their history. First the Review misfits were branded by an overwhelming defeat and shortly afterwards Lindsay's pride, the Post seven, were put away on the local ice by 5 goals to 2, but this latest conquest was the proudest of them all.

The Cock Crowed

On the bills that announced the game was the famous rooster that has marked Lindsay's victories, but it was introduced to the hatchet last night and was noticeably silent this morning, as the first streak of dawn announced the advent of old sol on his diurnal round. However, he may have a chance to crow again, but not for many moons.

It would be useless to describe the progress of the game. It may be mentioned that a desirable feature was the friendly spirit that was manifest. The Lindsay players are all gentlemen and good sports, and while they tried hard to make good the Examiner's lead of three goals from the last game, their play was clean at all stages. The ice was rather heavy but there were flashes of combination and individual rushes that pleased Lindsay's fairest, who turned out to cheer the Typos. Mr. Barrie and Mr. Higginbotham, of the Post, led the "com" and the individual work was done by Mr. Riley and Mr. Johnston.

For the Examiner

For the Examiner all the players showed up well. The forwards worked in several rushes that counted and Mr. James D. Clark and Mr. Roland M. Glover intercepted nearly everything that looked dangerous.

A Hard Find

As it was there were times when the duck egg was almost cracked but the Examiner's new goal tender, Mr. Hugh Graham, stopped everything after the manner of a Mr. Riley Hern or a Mr. Percy Leseur. The Lindsay people would scarce believe that he was not a "pro" and many of them still have their doubts.

The Goal Getters

The three goals were scord in the first half. Mr. Huston took a neat pass close to the Lindsay goal and managed to get it past Mr. Connel. Mr. Theobald several minutes afterwards let go through the Lindsay defense and was fortunate in duplicating the trick. Mr. Henry, with the assistance of the forwards, made a nice shot on Connel, who probably, did not see it as it went by him.

In the second half the Examiner was content with a defence game. Mr. Burridge doing stalwart work behind the line. During the whole game he watched Mr. Riley so closely that the latter's dread shots were very few.

The only regrettable feature of the contest occurred about five minutes before the finish, when Mr. Riley was taken ill and had to leave the ice. Mr. Clark evened up.

The teams lined up as follows:

Examiner	Post
Goal
Graham	Connell
Point
Glover	Williamson
Cover Point
Clark	Johnston
Rover
Theobald	Barrie
Centre
Huston	Higginbotham
Left Wing
Henry	Riley
Right Wing
Burridge	Hanley

Referee—Mr. Taylor.
Timekeeper—Byron Green.

Notes

Quoth she, "it was a famous victory."

Mascot Bennie Taylor wore a glad smile at the banquet.

In his speech at the aftergathering Mr. Hughie Graham disclaimed a professional part. The Post may investigate his antecedents.

WALTER MILLER HOME AFTER A GOOD YEAR IN PRO. HOCKEY

Walter "Jiddy" Miller, son of Mr. F. W. Miller, Water street, arrived home last night from Brantford, where he has been playing hockey this season with the Telephone City's team in the Ontario professional league. Walter looks none the worse for his strenuous winter, with the exception of a discoloured optic, the result of injuries received in the game with Berlin and again in the game between the All Star Pros. and the Torontos on Wednesday night.

He is very well satisfied with the treatement he has received in Brantford, and likes the town and its people. The team was very successful at the start of the season, but the Ioleggen slide was reached when Cap. McDonald, the cover point, left, followed by the illness of Roy Brown, the point, and the blowing up of Mickus, the big goal keeper. With the demoralisation of the defence the downfall of the team was rapid and soon all chances of winning were gone.

Miller does not think much of the Toronto Pros' chances to win the Stanley Cup, although, he says, the have a good team with several stars. He will likely return to Brantford in a short time and will be found there next season. The Telephone City have gone crazy over hockey this season and will have a pro. team next year. There is not a good hockey player in the place, according to the Peterborough boy, and, although there is a city league it is not nearly as fast as the Peterborough organization.

WALTER MILLER,
The Peterborough boy who made good this season with the Brantford Professional Team.

KOYLE SCORED ONLY GOAL IN FINAL GAME OF BELLEVILLE LEAGUE

Belleville, March 12—The hockey season was wound up here to-night by a game in the City League between the Lehigh and Bankers teams, which were tied for the city championship. Both teams had strengthened up for to-night's game, the Bankers imported Koyl, the fast Lindsay fielget, and the Lehighs bringing down the Moffatt brothers from Cobourg. A most exciting and very close game resulted, there being no score at half or full time. After a short rest, in extra time Koyl, for the Bankers, scored unassisted, taking the puck from point right up to the Lehigh goal, and scoring the only goal of the evening. The game was by far the best seen here in several years, Koyl for the Bankers and Pepper for the Lehigh teams doing gilt-edged work. The Bankers presented a heavy and skilful delgue, which the Lehighs found hard to penetrate. Boland, in goal for Lehigh, showed class in stopping a ram of shots in the first half. Hemmook of Toronto kept the game clean and moving every minute.

THE CURLERS LOST TO LINDSAY

Were Eight Points Down at the Finish—The Friendly Relations.

As a result of the more frequent visits of Peterborough curlers to Lindsay ice this season, due to the destruction of that club's fine rink by fire early in the season, says the Lindsay Post, the friendly relations existing between the members of the respective clubs has been greatly fostered, and the bond of sympathy and good fellowship was never stronger than at present.

The local players have enjoyed thes frequent friendly games to the utmost and were delighted yesterday when word was received that three or four rinks would be up on the 6.30 train, although Heiverton had been taken on in the afternoon and Bobcaygeon between 5 and 7 o'clock. The ice was stiff and players had to work hard. Rinks and scores:

FINISHED SECOND IN TWO LEAGUES

The Record of the Norwood Hockey Team During the Past Season.

The Norwood hockey team drew the season to a close at home last Friday evening when they played their second games in the final round with Madoc. It was a closing that did not all comply with the wishes of the boys. However, even outside of this they have made a record this winter that will be hard for Norwood to beat in years to come.

In entering a team in the City League the boys showed they were not afraid to spend a few dollars to provide hockey for all. It was generally recognized that the senior team were to play in the City League while the juniors were to uphold the honours in the Trent Valley. During the first of the year the juniors won all their games, but towards the close the games became too strenuous and they called on the senior team to help them out of difficulties.

In the City League Norwood won all the games except one, and that one against the Strathconas' O. H. A. team. The score of the Strathconas was not a score to reflect any credit on an O.H.A. team against a village team. Losing this one game also lost to Norwood the championship.

Last Friday evening Madoc played the return game here, defeating the home team by 4-3, and winning the round by four goals. This is Norwood's first defeat on home ice in years.—Norwood Register.

SPORTING NEWS AND VIEWS.....

On paper the Toronto ball team looks far stronger now than it did this time last year. It is practically a new line-up, the only man to hold his position being Jimmy Frick, and it was not until the advent of Schlafly—with two l's—that Jimmy played his best game. Kelley looks better than Buck Connors, Schlafly is an improvement on Flood, and Cockman will always be in better shape than Phyle. Merles, Gettman and Grimshaw look as good as Thoney, Kelley and Wotell, inasmuch as three men are better than two. Last spring on the training trip there were two catchers, Bailey and Millman. The former will be there again, and Brown of Boston will be an improvement on the other fellow. McAllister of Buffalo would round out the receiving end nicely. The pitchers this year are all tried men, and there will be little or no experimenting. That will be an advantage.

The big three—Kelley, Thoney and Carrigan—will certainly be missed, but the team will be stronger all round. Gettman is not a has-beat, by any means, and Grimshaw will surely play for Toronto. The catching department will be strengthened, if not by McAllister, by a man equally as good. Cockman should be an improvement on Phyle; Wendy will be kept for utility purposes; Wotell will likely be sold; Merles came here at a National League salary, and Kilroy and Connolly's records indicate that they will be able to deliver the goods.—Toronto Star.

Just while the A.A.U. is hammering away at the C. A. A. U., and Tommy Longboat, let us instance just one of the several crooked deals of the Jim Sullivan crew last summer.

Take Archie Hahn, the crack Chicago sprinter. Hahn is still an A.A.U. man in good standing, yet last summer in Michigan he ran Walter R. Knox, the Canadian professional, a hundred yard dash for $500 a side—at least it was advertised for $500 a side, and some poor sucker was strung for his bank roll, when the Canuck trimmed Hahn. The race may have been on the level, but whether it was or not is neither here nor there. The point is that Hahn, an A.A.U. amateur, ran Knox, a "pro," and still holds his A. A. U. card, and if Sullivan and Co. do not know about it they are asleep at the switch, for the Michigan papers were full of the big race.—Toronto Star.

IMPORTANT CONCERN OF THE FARMERS

Cow Testing A Necessity for Accurate Knowledge of Cattle.

Cow testing is one of the most important questions affecting dairy farmers. A man may be a good feeder, may study carefully his cows and be well posted in the care and breeding of his herd, but unless he keeps an individual record of each cow and uses the Babcock test as well, he is not at his best.

We have been using the scales and testing our herd for three or four years. Previous to this, we were not raising any calves but buying our cows as needed. We bought none but good cows as appearances go. We soon discovered, however, that something more than "good looks" was needed, and we began to keep records. We had scales placed in a convenient place near our separator room, and on the way to this room with each cow's milk, the milker weighs and makes record of weight on sheet and at once leaves the milk in the room where it is entirely shut off from the stable. The records soon told us that the best looking cows, even the cow with the ideal dairy type, was not, in every case, the best paying cow. We were convinced that if we wanted to grade up our herd, we must raise our own cows, so we discontinued buying cows and for the past three years have been raising the heifer calves from our best producers. We were able, also, at the end of each year, to take stock intelligently and to value our cows at their proper worth and knew exactly what cows to get rid of.

The record keeping is a great incentive to the milkers and feeders. The milker will do his best to keep up the flow day after day, thereby doing better and cleaner milking. The feeder will watch the effect of the different feeds and the manner of feeding and watering as well. Both can see at once how any rough treatment or exposure to cold or draughts will lessen the flow of milk, while kindness and good care will increase it. The time taken in weighing the milk is fully compensated for by the extra attention given to the herd by the attendants.

Again, the keeping of records will tell you the best time of the year for the cows to freshen. We have found that our cows that come in during the fall or early winter will, during the year, give more milk than if they come in at any other season.

We have not as yet been able to complete a system for keeping an accurate account of the cost of production. This is important, however, and until the dairyman can tell exactly the cost of producing the milk, he has not solved the whole question.

Every man who keeps cows should weigh and test the milk of his herd. If he cannot do this, let him join one of the many cow testing associations which are formed or are being formed throughout the Dominion by the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

THE PRODUCTION OF GOOD CHEESE

Some Points Which Should be Always Remembered.

First and foremost in the production of a first class cheese, is the raw material; we must have a better quality of milk, as all depends upon the flavor of the cheese for its true value. The milk producer must make improvements in the quality of our dairy products is to be of the finest. A poor flavor is always to be traced back to the patrons of factories. Although people often send very inferior quality of milk to the factories, they expect the maker to turn out a first class cheese. If the maker is foolish enough to accept such milk he is blamed for everything.

Second to flavor comes the texture, for which we can hold the producer responsible to a greater extent, especially if his milk is over ripe. This over ripening is due to the faulty method of caring and handling of the milk. We cannot hold the patron responsible alone, however. The maker comes into the game. We cannot hope for any great improvement until we have makers who have the backbone to return bad flavored over ripe, or any milk that is not suitable to make the most and the best article out of. Many makers have not the courage to return bad milk. Some will not for fear of vexing their patrons so that they may leave them and go to a neighboring factory that is waiting with open arms to receive them.

Fortunately, defects in milk are not general, they are nearly always confined to a few patrons. The evil effects the whole, however. One or two defective cans of milk in a vat of about 5,000 lbs. will contaminate the whole lot. The quantity will be reduced to the extent of from 5 to 15 lbs. a 1,000 or about 25 to 65 lbs. on the whole vat. The resultant inferior quality may amount to from ½ to 2 cents a pound. Allowing 11 cents to be the price of cheese, the total reduction (taking 10 lbs. cheese a 100 lbs. of milk) would be $9.63, striking an average on both price and number of pounds lost. In taking in such milk, therefore, a loss of about 3 times a maker's salary is incurred. Despite this fact, the majority of offenders refuse to do any better.

If the maker wishes to run the risk of manufacturing this sort of raw material; and the buyer will accept the inferior product, it would be a step forward if we could place a penalty upon the maker for accepting such milk. We should hold the patron responsible for bad flavor and the maker for bad texture. Many makers depend nearly altogether upon the inspectors to keep their patrons in line. This is all very well, but it is just so much energy expended for nothing. If the makers will not back the inspector and carry out his instructions, no good will be accomplished.—N. J. Kuneman, cheese factory instructor, in an adress to Manitoba dairymen.

THE ADULTERATION OF MILK

Two Men Appointed to Inspect Methods Of Production.

The executive of the Dairymen's Association of Eastern Ontario, met at the Parliment Buildings, Toronto, on February 27, and consulted with Mr. G. A. Putnam, Director of Dairy Instruction, regarding the work of the coming season. It was decided by the Association, that they would furnish two men to deal with the question of adulteration of milk. These men will be known as public prosecutors. In the past more or less of the time of the instructors has been devoted to this feature of the work, and as the Department is anxious that the instructors and inspectors shall devote their whole time to purely instruction and inspection work, the Association has met their wishes by deciding to appoint two men to act as official prosecutors. The system adopted by the Eastern Association, was followed by the Western Association for the first time, last season, and the results have been entirely satisfactory.

It was decided by the Association to again arrange for district dairy meetings in the fall of 1908. The Eastern Seciton of the province is now divided into 16 districts, and it is the aim to hold a special meeting in each of these some time during November or early in December. The Association expressed their gratification with the work done by the Department, in sending out instructors, and in furnishing literature to factorymen and producers. It is the intention of the Department to furnish each factoryman with a full statement regarding the intentions of the Department in the matter of instruction and inspection for the season of 1908. The co-operation of the factorymen during the past season has been much appreciated, and we are practically assured of the continuation of this co-operation for the coming season.

The Association recommended that the instructors so far as possible, visit the premises of the producers in order to give instruction and advice in the handling of milk on the farm. The Association highly approves of the action of the Department in sending speakers to annual meetings of factories last season. In this way a great many producers were given instruction as to the care and handling of milk, which is one of the most important features from the quality standpoint.

Russia is becoming a great buyer of British-grown teas. Partly owing to the enormous increase in the quantity they are using, the price of tea at the gardens has advanced greatly during the past year, making it necessary for the "Salada" Tea Company, in order to maintain the high standard of quality for which "Salada" is noted, to advance the price of "Brown Label" from 25c to 30c per pound.

CROP ROTATION IS IMPORTANT

System Varies With the Nature of the Soil and Other Considerations.

ADOPT SOME SYSTEM

The reasons for adopting some regular crop rotation on every farm, are numerous, and important. A proper crop rotation helps in maintaining soil fertility, in renovating impoverished soils, in the destruction of insects, and weed pests, and in the more economical distribution of labour throughout the year, thus increasing the profits.

A proper system of rotation is essential to continued success in farming, and yet there are more farmers to-day who are farming without any regular crop rotation, than are farming with one. There is not a farm, however, that would not be benefitted by some system of rotation.

The rotation to be adopted on different farms will vary with the nature of the soil, the kind of farming followed, the markets, and other considerations. It is impossible, therefore, to lay down any one system, which every farmer could adopt, and carry out successfully. At the recent dairymen's conventions, Mr. J. H. Grisdale, of the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, gave a system of rotation well adapted for dairy farming. This has appeared in recent issues of The Canadian Dairyman and Farming World.

Where a farm is so situated that manure canot be applied regularly, a three year rotation of grain, clover, hay, pasture, in succesion, would work well. A three year rotation, corn and roots, grain and clover hay, is well suited for a farm, where it is desired to keep a large number of cattle, and where there is more or less broken land to serve as pasture. For the average farmer, who is engaged in general farming, a four year rotation, consisting of corn and roots, potatoes or peas the first year; grain the second year, followed by clover, hay, and hay or pasture, the next two years, is well suited.

A five year rotation—grain, with 10 pounds of clover seed to plow down for fertilizer; corn, roots, potatoes, or peas, grain; clover hay, hay or pasture, sown in succession, may be followed with some advantage, where there is a moist climate. Where climatic conditions permit of a good growth after the corn crop is harvested, clover is very profitable to plow down as a fertilizer. Another five year rotation—Grain; clover, hay or pasture; corn, potatoes, roots or peas; grain; clover, hay or pasture, is perhaps better adapted for the average farmer anxious to quickly put his farm in good heart, and keep it in that condition.

In the recent dairy farms competition, held in York County, a number of the competitors lost points, because the judges found that they did not have any system of crop rotation. In other words, they were not maintaining the fertility of their soil. Farm this year, as though you were going to enter a good farms competition. Adopt some system of crop rotation.

CURSE IS REVOKED AFTER 32 YEARS

Woman Signs Legal Document Retracting Invocation of Evil.

PRONOUNCED ON BOARDER

Philadelphia, March 13.—(Special).—A strange legal document by which an aged woman lifts a curse she pronounced thirty-two years ago, has come to light in this city. In 1876, Dennis Comey, a labourer, aged 28 years, who was out of work quit his boarding house owing the boarding-house mistress, Mrs. Mary Costello $90. Mrs. Costello, who was then 62 years of age, fell upon her knees and called down the curses of heaven upon him and his. Nothing more was thought of the curses, but neither Mrs. Costello nor Comey forgot the board bill.

Some time ago Comey fell heir to money, and Mrs. Costello, who now lives in Atlantic City, attempted to collect her bill through attorneys. Comey informed the lawyers that he owed the bill, but would not pay it until Mrs. Costello removed the curses. As he was not satisfied with a verbal retraction, but wanted legal evidence, Mrs. Costello's representatives for a time were in quandary. Finally they agreed upon the following retraction, and had it signed by Mrs. Costello and attested by witnesses:

"Know all men by these presents: That I Mary Costello, do hereby revoke, recall and retract to the utmost of my power the curse which Dennis Comey claims that I put upon him in 1876, calling down upon him and his, as he claims, ill luck, disease and disaster through life and eternity, living and dead, at all times from the present to the end of the world, even unto the tenth generation, and do hereby declare that I hold for him nothing but sentiments of good will and respect."

Comey went to Atlantic City and also got a verbal expression of good wishes. Comey then paid his bill.

Music and Drama

MILLE MODISTE

The most important light opera event of years in Toronto will be the appearance at the Princess Theatre for one week, with Saturday matinee only, of Fritzi Scheff in the light opera triumph, "Mlle Modiste," which was written for her by Henry Blossom and Victor Herbert. She has played three long runs of the opera in New York, and returns there for a fourth engagement after her Toronto engagement. Her only former appearance in Toronto was when she sang before their Royal Highnesses the present Prince and Princess of Wales, a few years ago. At that time she made a great impression on music lovers in Toronto, and her reappearance has been looked for eagerly.

Charles Dillingham, her manager, is sending with Madame Scheff precisely the same big organization that supported her in New York at the Knickerbocker Theatre. The cast will include William Pruette, Claude Gillingwater, Robert Michaelis, Leo Mars, Howard Chambers, Josephine Bartlett, Blanche Morrison, Bertha Holly, the sisters Constantine, and many others. The choral organization is especially noted for its singing ability. The orchestra will be largely augmented, the musicians carried by the Fritzi Scheff Opera Company being added to an enlarged orchestra at the Princess Theatre.

The opera is called by critics the highest form of light musical entertainment to be seen to-day on the English-speaking stage. Blossom's book being pure and witty, while Herbert's music is of an entrancing quality. Fritzi Scheff, herself, is so well known as a Grand Opera singer with the Metropolitan Grand Opera House forces, that little comment is necessary on her. She is the most vivacious little creature imaginable and is possessed of a wonderful amount of personal magnetism.

The prices during Madame Scheff's engagement will range from 50c to $2.00. The sale of seats opened on Thursday, March 12. Mail orders, when accompanied by cheques or money orders, will be filled from out of town points as soon as received.

A rate of one fare and one-third from points outside Toronto will be granted for the round trip by the Canadian Pacific and the Grand Trunk Railways during Madame Scheff's engagement at the Princess.

The Father Puts His Heel On The Neck Of Romance

Colville Parent Recaptures His Daughter Who Eloped and Puts Bridegroom and Best Man In Prison.

BRIDAL CHAMBER ARREST

Colville, March 13th, (Special) — A beautiful maiden, an ardent suitor, his devoted friend and an unromantic, unforgiving father were the star actors in a drama in which romance and comedy were eclipsed by narrowly averted bloodshed and tragedy. The bridegroom and his best man are in jail, the bride weeps, and there is much unhappiness for all the principals in the denouement.

Nettie Martin, the 13 year old daughter of John Martin, a prosperous pioneer, father of ten children, in the vicinity of Gifford, Stevens County, a girl long-wooed by various suitors, finally thought she saw her soul affinity in Addy Robb, 22 years old, who had come to the community about two years ago.

Emulating one Lochinvar, and with the newer story of "Cheyenne" fresh in his mind, young Robb, in company with a friend named Johnny Pitt, came to Colville, and on February 25th, appeared before County Auditor Savage, and on oath of Pitt that both were legal age, secured a license, and the following day, seized his waiting sweetheart, took her to his father's house, where the nuptial knot was tied by Justice S. G. Sturman of Maud.

Stevens County farmers have their rural telephone lines, and it didn't take the news long to reach Pater Martin. No "God bless you my children," gush for him. He didn't gather the erring ones in his arms. He raged and became very busy. He called up his numerous sons and sons-in-law, and they, with disappointed suitors of the girl, placed themselves at the service of the old man, with Constable Owens, backed by his volunteer posse, reached the Robb home about dusk, only a few hours after the marriage had been performed. Martin demanded the return of his daughter, but young Rob refused. Thereupon, Martin left five of his trusted followers in the neighborhood to prevent any flight from the Robb home, while he called up the officers at Colville and conferred with them. A warrant for the girl on the charge of incorrigibility was recommended, and, as the irony of fate would have it, Justice Sturman, the same man who, a few hours before had joined the young couple in marriage, was now the source to which the father appealed to tear them asunder. The appeal was heeded.

Through the disposition of the Robb family to be conciliatory, the Martin party were admitted to the house, when after midnight, armed with the court's warrant, they appeared to demand the young bride. The bridal party had retired for the night. When Martin attempted to ascend the stairs after his girl, he was, however, stopped by Robb, senior, who forbade him to invade the bridal chamber without a warrant. Officer Owens was sent up and placed the girl under arrest. As soon as she could prepare for departure, Nettie was hurried off and taken to Owens' home for safe keeping. In the meantime the elder Martin went to Colville and swore out a charge of perjury against Pitt for alleged false swearing in securing the license, and one of subornation of perjury against the bridegroom.

Both young men were brought to Colville Saturday and given preliminary hearing before Justice W. L. Terry. They were held to answer to the superior court in May. Pitt's bail was was fixed at $1800 and that of Robb at $1000, in default of which they were sent to jail.

During the hearing F. J. Ranzona, a brother-in-law of Pitt, rode in with a message that a mob was forming to intercept the young defendants on their way home should they be discharged. Officer Owens was immediately despatched to the scene with instructions to take whatever action might be necessary to forstall disorder. The bride was ordered discharged from the officer's custody and will probably be restored to her father.

Think Kingdom Of God Is Long Distance Away

Rev. Mr. Barber of Bobcaygeon The Speaker At St. John's Church Mission.

A LARGE CONGREGATION

"The reason why so many people are temporizing and not taking advantage of their spiritual privilege is because they think the Kingdom of God is still a long piece away." Thus spoke Rev. Mr. Barber of Bobcaygeon at the mission service at St. John's Church last night. The church was well filled and the spirit of the service was entered into with heartiness. The hymns sung were familiar to all present and they were sung with enthusiasm to the accompaniment of Mr. Gliddon's orchestra.

"Repent ye, and believe the Gospel," was Mr. Barber's text, and his address was in two parts, a hymn being sung between the first and second portion. The speaker began by giving a clear definition of what repentance meant. To repent meant to turn away from something—it mattered not what. It was a complete change from the course one had been following. There were many in the world who were following paths of sin. There were two roads in the world—the steep and narrow path that led upwards to glory, and the broad and pleasant road that led downward unto destruction. Every person was following either one of these roads, and every one knew which path he or she was travelling along. If they were on the wrong path it was necessary to repent and turn their backs upon the life that had been followed, and proceed along the lines laid down by Jesus Christ. There was no use attempting to deceive God as to the kind of life one was living. One might deceive the world and even deceive one's self, but there was no deceiving God. He saw into every heart and knew the kind of life that was being led. The speaker made a strong appeal to his listeners to repent if their lives had not been what they should. "Repent ye, for the Kingdom of heaven is at hand," St. John the Baptist had said. It was right in our midst at the present time. People are called away suddenly, and no one knew when the end might come. There should be no putting off in regard to repentance. The Kingdom of God was right now, not some time in the dim future.

After a hymn had been sung, Rev. Mr. Barber proceeded with the second part of his text, "Believe the Bible." He pointed out the necessity of Christians having faith. There should be no doubt whatever in the heart of the true believer. He told the story of the boy who was flying his kite on an exceedingly foggy day. It was impossible to see the kite, but the boy said, in response to a question, that he knew it was there because he could "feel the pull." There was a pull that would be felt by the Christian who was strong in faith. He would have full and perfect satisfaction.

Mission Notes

Rev. Canon Davidson, under the stress of work and interest in the mission services, had to temporarily resign work, and has been confined to his bed since yesterday morning. However, the rest has done him so much good that he will be at his post this evening.

To-night's mass meeting for men is not to be literally construed. Ladies will be also welcomed. The addresses will be given by Mr. E. J. B. Pense, M.P.P., and Mr. W. H. Hoyle, M.P.P.

To-day's services were conducted in the morning by Rev. W. J. Creighton, Lakefield, and in the afternoon by Rev. Dr. Langfelt.

Rev. Messrs. Creighton of Lakefield and E. W. Pickford of Norwood assisted at last night's services.

OBITUARY.

CLEMETH GUERIN

The death occurred this morning at 5 o'clock of Mr. Clemeth Guerin, a very well known citizen who had been a resident of Peterborough for over half a century. The deceased was 86 year of age. He had been ill for a long time, and his death was not unexpected. He was born at Point Lewis, Quebec, and came to this city 54 years ago, residing here ever since. He was well known and esteemed by a large number of friends and acquaintances, who will regret to learn of his demise. Three daughters and one son are left to mourn his loss. They are Mrs. Wm. West, Miss Evaline and Miss Clara, and Mr. Wm. Guerin, all residing in Peterborough.

The funeral will take place Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the family residence, 75 Ware street, to St. Peter's Cathedral, and thence to St. Peter's cemetery.

MISS ELLA DONNELLY

Yesterday afternoon the sad death of Miss Ella Donnelly, a sister of W. H. Donnelly, of Donnelly, Watson and Brown, took xplace at Mr. Donnelley's residence, 530 Sixth Avenue, west. The particularly sad circumstance of her death was the fact that Miss Donnelly was in good health and attended the service in the Central Methodist Church last Sunday evening. She contracted a sudden chill the same night, and yesterday took a relapse which resulted in her death at 5 o'clock. Two weeks previous to her death Miss Donnelly had recovered from an attack of the grippe. She was 21 years of age, and was born in Peterborough, Ont., but had lived for a number of years with the family in Manitoba. One year ago the family removed to Calgary, where they have been residing since. The deceased was a teacher in the primary classes, and dearly loved by a large circle of friends, notwithstanding her brief residence in Calgary. She was also a staunch member of the Methodist church and the funeral ceremony will be conducted by Rev. G. W. Kerby. The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed, but will be taken charge of by Messrs. Shaver.—Calgary news.

The finances are in a healthy condition, a handsome balance being on hand to begin the work with. Rev. Dr. Langfeldt was also present. In a short address he expressed his hearty appreciation of the good work of the W.A., and thanked them for their loyal support in all the activities of the church.

A resolution of sympathy to Mrs. R. Tivey and Mrs. T. H. Adams in their recent bereavement was moved and passed by a standing vote. The election of officers resulted as follows:

Hon. President—Mrs. E. A. Peck.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE MR. WARDE

Brethren From Two Societies and One Institution Were Present

The remains of the late Mr. Edward Warde were this morning laid to their last resting place in St. Peter's cemetery. The funeral was held from the family residence, Louis street, and was attended by forty members of the C. M. B. A., fifty moulders and fifty employees of the Lock Works, where the deceased had been employed. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Father Kelly, the body being taken to St. Peter's Cathedral previous to being conveyed to the cemetery.

From a distance there were present Mrs. Derry, a sister; Miss Nellie Warde, a daughter; Miss Mary Warde, a niece, and Mr. John Warde, a nephew of the deceased.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Thos. Fortye, G. Cochrane, Wm. Hardill, Edward Carr, Jas. O'Brien and John McGrath.

Owing to the enormous advance in the price of teas at the gardens during the past eighteen months The "Salada" Tea Company has had to raise the price of "Brown Label" from 25c to 30c, and "Green Label" from 30c to 35c per pound. No other changes in prices have been made. The chief reason for the advance in the price of Ceylon Teas is due to two causes: First, the enormously increased demand coming from Russia, which country is abandoning China Teas in favour of the finer teas of Ceylon. The other cause is due to the planting out of Rubber, which is more profitable to the grower than tea.

Former Peterborough Man On Important Commission

Dr. Trevor Kincaid To Go To Japan To Study Moths For The United States Bureau of Entomology.

WAS HERE FEW WEEKS AGO

Dr. Trevor Kincaid, a nephew, of Mr. John Kincaid, of Peterborough, and who was born here is another of the Peterborough boys who has won distinction abroad. He was until recently head of the Zoology department in Seattle, and has now been appointed special commissioner to Japan to study the gypsy moth.

Dr. Kincaid visited Peterborough a few weeks ago, and is now on his way to Japan. A Seattle paper referring to his new appointment, says:—

Dr. Trevor Kincaid head of the department of zoology, has just been officially appointed by Dr. L. O. Howard, of the United States Bureau of Entomology, as special commissioner to Japan to study the gypsy moth and its parasitic foe and bring a colony of the parasites back to exterminate the moth pest in the New England States.

The appointment comes as a result of Dr. Kincaid's extensive study, of the insect at Harvard in 1896-8 while doing post-graduate work

Leaves for Japan in March

Dr Kincaid will probably leave on March 2nd, on the steamship Minnesota, unless the Government Bureau has other plans for transit. It is expected to take about five months to complete the investigation.

Moth a Pest in New England

The gypsy moth is from Europe and Asia, originally and was introduced into the New England States, where it has become a dreaded pest, by an amateur entomologist, who conceived the idea of crossing the silk worm with a silk-bearing moth and increase the silk output. His collection of gypsy moths got loose and since 1889 it has been a great menace to every form of vegetation, and necessitated millions of dollars expense in appropriations for destroying it and in the damage to the orchards and forests.

"The gypsy moth has become one of the most important biological problems of the day from the economic standpoint," said Dr. Kincaid, yesterday. "The pest is rapidly embracing more territory and each year new states are infested by having the eggs carried into them by trains and other conveyances on which the moth sometimes lays its eggs.

Menance to Western Forrrsts

"In this way it could easily be carried to the west, and once in our forests and orchards, it would strip every tree bare in ten years, unless some means of extermination were discovered The pest thrives on poisons and sprays and it is to find the parasite, which successfully prevents the moth's multiplication in Japan that I am going to the islands this spring."

Will Make Zoological Collection

When the Government research is completed Dr. Kincaid plans to visit the Misoka Maine Station, University of Japan, and spend two weeks investigating the local sea fauna. Incidentdentally he will collect Japanese butterflies, ants and any other insects or animals he may fancy, for the national museum. A duplicate collection will be presented to the University of Washington.

Course in Evolution Dropped

Dr. Kincaid will continue his university work this semester until he leaves, when Professor Prentiss, assisted by H. L. Osterud, '09, will take charge of the zoology department. The courses in evolution and ethmology have been dropped this semester, but will be resumed next year by Dr. Kincaid.

OBITUARY

JAMES HOPWOOD

Word has been received in the city of the death in Toronto yesterday of Mr. James Hopwood, aged eighty-seven years.

Mr. Hopwood was an old resident of Peterborough and vicinity, having for many years managed the business for the late Mr. Goodfellow at Springville, and also being employed as a buyer of grain by Mr. Clinton, of this city, after which he spent a number of years as accountant for Needler & Sadler Company, Lindsay. The family removed to Toronto about twenty years ago, where they have since resided. In his earlier years he was assessor and auditor for the township of Cavan where he was well known and had many friends. He was one of the few surviving volunteers of the rebellion of 1837, when he did picket and garrison duty along the front from Port Hope to Niagara.

He was married at Cavanville 58 years ago and his widow, three daughters and two sons survive him, Mr W J Hopwood, of this city, being the oldest surviving son.

Sweden may go to war with Russia, it is said, over Finland. Canadians a few years ago waged war against the adulterated and unclean teas of China and Japan, in preference for the delicious and flavoury teas of Ceylon. The enormous and rapidly increasing sales of "Salada" Ceylon Tea prove conclusively how thoroughly Canadians appreciate a fine blend of Ceylon Tea.—5.

Interesting Items From the Y. M. C. A.— Parlour Baseball.

Nineteen magazine covers have just been received at the Y. M. C. A. and add greatly to the appearance of the reading room. Each cover has the name of the magazine endorsed and Peterborough Y. M. C. A. on the outside of the cover.

A fine parlour baseball game has also just been received and placed in the junior department. It is intensely interesting and all the boys are anxious to play. Teams will be chosen and matches played, so that all the boys may have a share in playing the game.

The Intermediate Bible Club held their record meeting last night. Five new members were received and twenty-one were present for supper and Bible study. A contest is on for members with Messrs. A. THE GREAT MINERAL WEALTH OF CANADA'S HINTERLAND AND THE POSSIBILITIES OF THE NEAR FUTURE

Vast Salt Deposits Near Lake Athabasca—Coal From Belly River To The Arctic Sea

CLAY ROASTED INTO BRICK

Tar Flowing in Streams—Gold, Silver, Copper and Iron in Abundance.

There has always been a romantic interest in the great hinterland of northwestern Canada which for so many years has been associated with the Hudson's Bay Company and its immensely valuable fur trade, but until comparatively recent times the possibility of the country becoming one of the greatest agricultural and mineral producing regions on the American continent, or perhaps in the world, has evoked but little attention. However, now that settlement is extending into the Peace river district and there is a prospect of a railway way being built as far as the Peace at least in the near future, a keen and widespread interest regarding the natural resources of the country will undoubtedly be awakened, followed by an inrush of explorers and prospectors. At the present day the the country between Hudson's Bay and the Rocky mountains, north of the Saskatchewan river, is practically a terra incognito, and much of its nature and resources have yet to be discovered and unfolded to the world. Nevertheless, thanks to the intelligent observations and enquiries of Hudson's Bay officials and missionaries, and explorations in certain sections by geologists, botanists and surveyors sent out by the Dominion Government, considerable information has been collected which shows that the territory is rich in natural resources of great economic value, including agricultural tracts of unknown extent, vast timber reaches, illimitable fisheries, salt, asphalt, iron, coal, copper, silver, gold and other minerals.

It only remains now to ascertain the extent of these resources by systematic explorations, which can be carried on cheaply when the country has been opened up to some convenient point in the north whence ample supplies can be handled cheaply by water. Last month the agricultural possibilities of the northland were described in these columns very fully, and it is felt that some particulars of the mineral resources will be received with appreciation by our readers.

Vast Salt Deposits

A few days ago a telegraphic despatch from Montreal announced on the authority of a man who had been employed with an oil boring party near Lake Athabasca that an immense bed of salt of great thickness had been struck there and that the area of the deposit was 300 by 600 miles. The existence of salt in the country through which the Athabasca and Mackenzie rivers flow has long been known to the fur traders, missionaries and Indians. At Salt river on the Slave river what is probably the finest salt in the world is found. There is a perfect mountain of salt there. At the foot of that mountain, along the Salt river, there are salt spring, the salt of which crystalizes in winter, and in the spring one can get any quantity of the salt, as fine as any in the world, at these places. A short distance from the springs beds of rock salt exist a few inches below the surface of the ground. At other places, both south and north of Salt river, salt is met with and the deposits supposedly cover vast areas. At any rate they are so extensive that, as the Montreal despatch already referred to states, with a railway to Hudson's Bay the Mackenzie river basin could supply the world with salt for ages to come. His Grace Bishop Clut has stated that he used the northern salt on his table just as nature had crystalized and purified it and it was equally as good as any salt that had ever been placed before him in Canada or Europe. At all the Hudson's Bay company's posts in the Mackenzie river country this salt has been used from the time the posts were established.

On the right bank of the Mackenzie opposite old Fort Good Hope, where there are natural ramparts of limestone, traces of fire are visible, and and here are to be found haematite, or oxide of iron; sulphate of iron and sulphate of magnesia; alum, which exudes from the fissures in the stone, and red ochre. At the second rampart of the river, called the Narrows, the limestone banks expose alum and saltpetre. There are also sulphur springs in various places, those on the Clearwater river being the best known. The Clearwater empties into the Athabasca, and the odor from the sulphur is so powerful that when travellers pass they sometimes have to hold their noses to prevent themselves from being choked. East of Lake Athabasca plumbago is found and on the Peace river there are large deposits of gypsum.

Coal From Belly River to Arctic

There is not the slightest doubt, according to the assertion of a scientific gentleman connected with the Dominion geological department, that the coal of the Belly and Bow rivers and the Saskatchewan, extends away down to the Arctic sea. There is coal at Little Slave lake and at Pembina river there are seams fourteen feet in thickness. The Pembina is a tributary of the Athabasca. Throughout the Peace river valley and on the lower Mackenzie, and even on the Arctic coast is frequently met with, and in places has been burning for years.

Describing one of the localities where a subterranean fire has been in progress ever since Mackenzie discovered the great river, and for how long before no one knows, Rev. Father E Petitot, a clever geologist, says: "Six miles above Fort Norman, and for an extent of from eight to ten miles, the Mackenzie is bounded on its right bank by a precipice which reaches at first 150 feet in height and gradually diminishes in height to thirty feet. It is a vast tertiary deposit composed of alternate stratifications of friable schist, lignite, pipe-clay and vegetable mould. The schists are in a state of combustion, winter and summer, but the subterranean fire, smoking of bitumen, is intermittent and breaks out sometimes at one point and sometimes at another. It is not always visible on the surface.

Clay Transformed to Brick

The soil is very hot, damp and movable in the neighbourhood of these smoke holes. Walking is obstructed by heaps of volvanic earth and puzzolana. The pipe clay has been rippled by the subterranean fire and transformed into brick. It contains, or rather, it is nothing but an immense mass of leaves of trees, the parenchyma of which has been destroyed, but the fibres and all the lineaments of the leaf appear upon the thin bed of clay which covers them in such a way as to resemble impressions. I have been able to distinguish perfectly leaves belonging to the genera acer viburnum, taxum, and pinus. It may also be said that impressions of cuttyphes of maples in thick tufts are found in the pipe-clay. The lignites are not fit for firing work. Sometimes even the trunks of the trees which form the bed of it have not been transformed into clay; however, all this debris has evidently undergone the action of fire. They contain numerous petrifications. Several pieces of smooth grain, which I took at first for palms, now seem to me to be maple. Many others which I have found and handled are white spruce. I observed an immense petrified spruce stump at the mouth of Great Bear Lake River. These petrifications present places converted into quarts, or rather incrusted with quarts, whilst others are incrusted with iron slime. Indeed, certain parts are still intact and show the wood just as it was. The geologist cannot fail to find an interesting field there. Porcelain clay, red ochre and asphalt hardened by water are also to be remarked there in great quantities."

The Esquimaux have informed Father Petitot that on the Arctic seashore to the eastward there are tertiary deposits in combustion similar to those at Fort Norman. There are also others on the west side of Bathurst cape. These fires are probably volcanic and not of the same origin as those found along the Mackenzie.

Asphaltum Deposit

Throughout the Athabasca-Mackenzie region there are enormous deposits of natural pitch or asphalt. It occurs on the Athabasca river near Fort McMurray, on Athabasca river, and in various places along the Mackenzie, and also on rivers and lakes east of the last-named stream. On the Athabasca river the pitch pours out of the river bank for a distance of fifty miles. The springs boil up in the summer, and large quantities of the material are found along the shore. It is black and very adhesive. It is described as having a resemblance to English pitch, but has no smell of tar. It has been used at Fort McMurray to cover the roofs of houses, and when applied in this way is said to look like an asphalt pavement. The Hudson's Bay Company use it for pitching their boats and similar purposes. It has been estimated that these northern bituminous springs are to be found in all parts of a territory over a hundred thousand square miles in extent, between the primary rocks of the Laurentian system and the foot of the Rocky Mountains, and even some distance up their slope. But this has yet to be determined by actual explorations.

Referring to the deposits of the Athabasca, Dr. R. Bell has reported that the deposit is of cheerotaneous age, but rests directly upon limestone of the Devonian system. The bedding of the latter undulates gently, while the asphalt sand lies in thick horizontal layers upon its surface, and in some cases fills fissures in the upper part of the limestone. The asphaltic matter has no doubt resulted from petroleum rising up out of the underlying Devonian rocks, in which evidence of its existence can be detected. In descending the Athabasca river it was first observed a few miles above the junction of the Clearwater branch, below which it becomes more conspicuous, forming the whole banks of the stream, with the exception of a few feet of limestone at the base, for a distance of many miles.

Tar Flows in Streams

These banks are sometimes about one hundred and fifty feet in height and frequently maintain an elevation of about two hundred feet for considerable distances. Except where they have been long exposed to the weather, they generally look as black as coal. A thick tar is often seen draining out of the deposit, and in numerous places on the ground at the foot of either bank, or on terraces lower than their summits, this tar collects in pools or flows in sluggish streams to the lower levels, among the peaty materials in the woods. The surface of these accumulations of tar is usually covered with a hardened pitchy crust. The boatmen on the river break through the crust in order to collect the underlying tar which they boil down and use for pitching their craft. Some parts of the banks are rendered plastic en masse from being over-saturated with the asphalt, and in warm weather they slide gradually down into the bed of the river, incorporating the boulders and pebbles in their course.

As regards the utilization of these substances, the most appropriate application of the former and that for which it would appear to be admirably adapted, would be for asphalting purposes. It has one of the most important qualifications of a good bituminous concrete, viz., intimate combination of the mineral and organic constituents, and this in a degree which no artificial preparation of the kind could be expected to possess. It will in all probability be found that a very slight treatment will render it suitable for employment in the construction of roads, footpaths, courtyards, etc., for asphalting the flooring of granaries, basements of warehouses and the like and further as a roofing material. Should it be deemed more expedient to separate the bitumen, this may be effected by simply boiling or macerating the material with hot water, when the bituminous matter entering into fusion will rise as a scum to the surface and may be removed by skimmers, whilst the sand falls to the bottom of the vessel.

An experiment was made by Dr. Bell, in order to ascertain the greatest state of purity to which the bitumen could be brought by this method; it was found that of the 81.73 per cent. sand, 99.28 per cent. had been removed, the extracted bitumen containing 50.1 per cent. sand, and —owing to the extreme fineness of a portion of this matter, as already mentioned—it may be questioned if the purification by this method could be pushed beyond this.

The sand separated by this process, when carefully conducted, if free or almost free from bitumen, and might, after being heated to redness in a reverberatory furnace—to destroy any little adhering bitumen—be advantageously employed for the manufacture of one of the better qualities of glass. The above treatment requires but the simplest of appliances, and might be readily carried out on the spot.

Gold, Silver, Copper and Iron

It will be news to no one who has read or in any way learned anything concerning the Peace and Laird that gold is to be found in the sand bars of those streams but it will be fresh interest to many to learn that on the headwaters of the Peace, Liard and Peel rivers there are from 150,000 to 200,000 square miles, which may be considered auriferous, while Canada possesses west of the Rocky Mountains a metalliferous area, principally of gold-yielding rocks, thirteen hundred miles in length, with an average breadth of four to five thousand miles, giving an area far greater than that of the similar mining districts of the United States. In addition to these auriferous deposits, gold has been found on the west shores of Hudson Bay, and has been said to exist in certain portions of the barren grounds. There is silver on the Upper Liard and Peace rivers, and copper upon the Coppermine river and in other parts of the country. It is said that large blocks of pure copper are to be found on the banks of the Coppermine river in great quantities. The Indians and Esquimaux carve crosses and ornaments from this copper. Iron is also found on the northeast side of Lake Athabasca and north of Great Slave lake in considerable quantities, and also in various other localities, in fact traces of it can be found almost everywhere.

Variety of Food Fishes

In the immense lacustrine area of the eastern and northern portions of the hinterland there are immense quantities of food fishes of various species, and it is said that from there will come the future supply of a great part of the North American continent. Salmon are found in four of the rivers emptying into Hudson Bay on its western shore, and in all the rivers flowing into the Arctic ocean, except the Mackenzie, where an entirely different but also valuable species, the Salmo Mackenzii, having the local name of the inconnu, exists in great numbers. The capelling is found on the coast of the Arctic ocean and Hudson Bay, thus implying the presence of cod upon banks near by, and the rock cod has been frequently taken. The Greenland, or harp seal, and the grey square flip-per seal are common to the eastern coasts, while the present favorite whaling grounds of the New England whalers are Hudson Bay, Fox Channel and Boothia Bay. These animals are all found with the walrus and porpoise off the mouths and in the estuary of the Mackenzie, as well. Following is a list of the different kind of fish found in the lakes and rivers of the Athabasca-Mackenzie basin: Perch, upper waters of the Churchill; Bear lake bull head, Bear lake and other large lakes; six-horned bull head, small rivers near the Coppermine river; grey sucker, common in nearly all rivers; red sucker, very abundant and extending far to the north; the piscobou, found with the two preceding species; pike or jackfish, pickerel, carp and gold eyes in all fresh waters to the Arctic sea; salmon, Churchill rivers and west coast of Hudson Bay; Ross' Arctic salmon, Regent's inlet and Boothia Felix; Coppermine river salmon, abundant at mouth of the Coppermine river; long-finned char, small rivers northeast of Back's river; the amaklook, rivers near Prince Regent's inlet; Hood's char, Coppermine and other rivers; brook trout, abundant in all streams and lakes; lake trout, abundant in all large lakes and many rivers; inconnu, abundant in Mackenzie river; capelin, very abundant at the mouth of Back's great fish river on sandy shoulds in Bathurst inlet; Back's grayling, Arctic and mountains frequent; lesser grayling, waters around Bear Lake and Coppermine River; whitefish, immensely abundant in all

DRESS-MAKERS

The nervous strain through which dressmakers have to pass at certain seasons of the year seems almost beyond endurance, and frequently brings on nervous prostration, fainting spells, dizziness, sleeplessness and a general breaking down of the feminine system, until life seems altogether miserable.

For all overworked women there is one tried and true remedy.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

restores the feminine system to a strong, healthy, normal condition.

Mrs. A. D. Trudeau, Arnprior, Ontario, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I suffered terribly from ulceration of the feminine organs for eight years. I tried four doctors but got no relief, and thought I would have to die.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has entirely cured me. I hope every suffering woman will take my advice and try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

DOES THIS INTEREST YOU?

A prominent physician, famous for his success in the treatment of kidney and bladder diseases, attributes a great deal of his success to the following simple vegetable prescription:—

One ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion;

One ounce Compound Balsteme;

Four ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla;

Mix, shake well, and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime.

Your druggist can supply the ingredients, and the mixture can be prepared at home at very little expense.

This, the doctor says, acts directly on the kidneys, assisting them to filter the poisons from the blood and expel same in the urine, at the same time restoring the kidneys to healthy, normal action.

We feel that a great many readers will be pleased to learn of this simple prescription, and knowing the ability of the physician whose formula it is, we do not hesitate to recommend it to any sufferer.

THE "MOUNTAIN AIR" CURE.

Many people who can afford it are sent to the mountains every year by their physicians, when the physician knows perfectly well that a little common sense applied to their daily life at home would be equally valuable. As a matter of fact the high altitude and the rarity of the atmosphere has a stimulating effect on the circulation, causing the blood to flow more freely and the heart to beat stronger. This overcomes the sluggishness caused by overeating, over-working, loss of sleep, etc. The same result may be attained at home, however, and Nature has provided the cure in the herbs that grow neglected in our country lanes. King Palmetto Compound is a preparation of these herbs, made in accordance with a prescription adopted after much experimenting by the leaders of the medical profession, and as no real scientist keeps his methods a secret, the makers of King Palmetto Compound print the formula plainly on the wrapper, trusting to their skill in compounding it and the purity of the ingredients to protect them from imitation. If your bowels are irregular, your appetite poor and your stomach easily deranged, you will find immediate relief and eventually cure by the use of King Palmetto Compound, and it will so invigorate the entire system that you will be able to throw off any disposition to colds, coughs or grippe. Send for free sample. King Palmetto Co., Bridgeburg, Ont. King Palmetto Compound is sold at $1.00 per bottle and guaranteed by

HENRY WALLACE PHILLIPS

COPYRIGHT, 1908, BY McCLURE, PHILLIPS & COMPANY

"two or course be got the best of me, as usual), and we climbed into the stage when she come along. Now, our bad luck seemed to hold, because you wouldn't find many men in that country who wouldn't stake two fellers to a wagon ride wherever they wanted to go and be pleasant about it. I'd havessure seen that the man got paid, even if Aggy forgot it, but the man that drove us was the surliest brute that ever growled. When you'd speak to him he'd say, 'Unh'—a style of thing that didn't go well in that part of the country. I kept my mouth shut, as knowing that I didn't have the come-up-with weighed on my spirits, but Aggy gave him the jolly. He only meant it in fun, and there was plenty of reason for it, too, for you never seen such a game of driving as that feller put up in all your life. The Lord save us! He cut around one corner of a mountain so that for the longest second I've lived through my left foot hung over about a thousand feet of fresh air. I'd have had time to write my will before I touched bottom if we'd gone over. I don't know as I turned pale, but my hair ain't been of the same rosy complexion since.

"I tell you I won't. I don't like to have anybody walk on my feet."

"'Well!' says Aggy in a surprised tone of voice when we got all four wheels on the ground again. 'Here we are!' says he. 'Who'd have suspected it? I thought he was going to take the short cut down to the creek.'

"The driver turned round with one corner of his lip h'isted—a dead ringer of a mean man. Says he to Aggy, 'Yer a funny bloke, ain't yer?'

"'Why,' says Ag, 'that's for you to say—wouldn't look well coming from me—but if you press me I'll admit I give birth to a little gem now and then.'

"Our bold buck puts on a great swagger. 'Well, yer needn't be funny in this wagon,' says he. 'The pair of yer spongin' a ride! Yer needn't be gay. Yer hear me, don't cher?'

"'Why, I hear you as plain as though you set right next me,' says Ag. 'Now, you listen and see if I'm audible at the same range. You're a blasted chump!' he roars in a tone of voice that would have carried forty mile. 'Did you hear that, Red?' he asks very innocent. I was so hot at the driver's sass—the cussed low downness of doing a feller a favor and then heaving it at him—that you could have lit a match on me anywheres, but to save me I couldn't help laughing—Ag had the comicalest way!

"At that the driver begins to larrup the horses. I ain't the kind to feel faint when a cayuse gets what's coming to him for raising the devil, but to see that lad whale his team because there wasn't nothing else he dared hit got me on my hind legs. I nestled one hand in his hair and twisted his ugly mug back.

"'Quit that!' says I.

"'You let me be—I ain't hurting you,' he hollers.

"'That ain't to say I won't be hurting you soon,' says I. 'You put the bud on them horses again, and I'll boot the spine of your back up through the top of your head till it stands out like a flagstaff. Just one more touch and you get it!' says I.

"He didn't open his mouth again till we come to the river. Then he pulled up. 'This is about as far as I care to carry you two gents for nothin',' he says. 'Of course you're two to one and I can't do nothing if you see fit to bull the thing through. But I'll say this, if either one or both of you roosters has got the least smell of a gentle man about him he won't have to be told his company ain't wanted twice.'

"Now, mind you, Ag and me didn't have the first cussed thing—not grub nor blankets nor gun nor nothing, and this the feller well knew.

"'Red,' says Aggy, 'what do you say to pulling this thing apart and seeing what makes it act so?'

"'No,' says I, 'don't touch it—it might be catching. Now, you whelp,' says I to the driver, 'you tell us if there's a place where we can get something to eat around here?' We'd expected to go hungry until we hit the camp some forty miles further on, where we knew there'd be plenty for anybody that wanted it.

"'Yes,' says he. 'There's a man running a shack two mile up the river.'

"'All right,' says I. 'Drive on. You've played us as dirty a trick as one man can play another. If we ever get a cinch on you, you can expect we'll pull her till the latigoes snap.'

"He kept shut till he got across the river, where he felt safe.

"'It's all right about that cinch!' he hollers back, grinning. 'Only wait till you get it, yer suckers! Sponges! Beats! Deadheads! Yah!'

"Well, a man can't catch a team of horses, and that's all there is about it, but I want to tell you he was on the anxious seat for a quarter of a mile. We tried hard.

"When we got back to where we started and could breathe again, we held a council of war.

"'Now, Aggy,' says I, 'we're dumped. What shall we do?'

"He sat there awhile looking around him, snapping pebbles with his thumb.

"'Tell you what it is, Red,' he says at last, 'we might as well go mining right here. This is likely gravel, and there's a river. If that bar in front of you had been further in the mountains it would have been punched full of holes. It's only because it's on the road that nobody's taken the trouble to see what was in it. This road was made by cattle ranchers that didn't know nothing about mining, and every miner that's gone over the trail had his mouth set to get further along as quick as possible—just like us. Do you see that little hollow running down to the river? Well, you try your luck there. I give you that place, as it's the most probable, and you as a tenderfoot in the business will have all the luck. I'll make a stab where I am.'

"Well, sir, it sounds queer to tell it, and it seems queerer still to think of the doing of it, but I hadn't dug two feet before I come to bed rock, and there was some heavy black chunks.

"'Aggy,' says I, 'what's these things?' throwing one over to him. He caught it and stared at it.

"'Where did you get that?' says he in almost a whisper.

"'Why, out of the hole, of course!' says I, laughing. 'Come take a look!'

"Aggy wasn't the kind of a man to go off the handle over trifles, but when he looked into that hole he turned perfectly green. His knees give out from under him, and he sat on the ground like a man in a trance, wiping the sweat off his face with a motion like a machine.

"'What the devil ails you?' says I, astonished. I thought maybe I'd done something I hadn't ought to do through ignorance of the rules and regulations of mining.

"'Red,' says he, dead solemn, 'I've mined for twenty year and from old Mexico to Alaska, but I never saw anything that was ace high to that before. Gold laying loose in chunks on top of the bed rock is too much for me. I wish Hy could see this.'

"'Gold!' says I. 'What you talking about? What have those black hunks to do with gold?'

"The only answer he made was to lay the one I had thrown to him on top of a rock and hit her a crack with a pick. Then he handed it to me. Sure enough! There under the black was the yeller. Of course if I'd known more about the business I could have told it by the weight, but I'd never seen a piece of gold fresh off the farm before in my life. I hadn't the slightest idea what it looked like, and I learned afterward it all looks different. Some of it shines up yeller in the start, some of it's red, and some is like ours, coated black with iron crust.

"So I looked at Ag, and Ag looked at me, neither one of us believing anything at all for awhile. I simply couldn't get hold of the thing—I ain't yet, for that matter. I expect to wake up and find it a pipe dream, and in some ways I wouldn't mind if it was. I never was so completely two men as I was on that occasion. One of 'em was hopping around and hollering with Ag, yelling 'Hooray!' and the other didn't take much interest in the proceedings at all. And it wasn't until I thought, 'Now I can pay that cussed coyote of a stage driver what I owe him!' that I got any good out of it. That brought it home to me. When I spoke to Ag about paying the driver, he says, 'That so.' Then he takes a quick look around. 'We can pay him in full, too, old horse!' he hollers, and there was a most joyful smile on his face.

"'Red,' says he, 'don't you know this is the only ford on the river for—I don't know how many miles—perhaps the whole length of her?'

"'Well,' says I.

"'Our little placer claim,' says Aggy slowly, rubbing his hands together, 'covers that ford, and by a judicious taking up of claims for various uncles and brothers and friends of ours along the creek on the lowlands we can fix it so they can't even bridge it.'

"'Do you mean they can't cross our claim if we say they can't?'

"'Sure thing!' says Aggy. 'There's you and me and the law to say "No" to that. I wish I had a gun.'

"'You don't need any gun for that skunk of a driver.'

"'Of course not, but there'll be passengers, and there's no telling how excited them passengers will be when they find they've got to go over the hills ford hunting.'

"'Are you going to send 'em all around, Ag?'

"'The whole bunch. Anybody coming back from the diggings has gold in his clothes, so it won't hurt 'em none, and I propose to give that stage line an advertising that won't do it a bit of good. Come along, Red. Let's see that lad that has the shack up the river. We need something to eat, and maybe he's got a gun. If he's a decent feller, we'll let him in on a claim. Never mind about the hole. It won't run away, and there's nobody to touch anything. Come on.'

"So we went up the river. The man's name was White, and he was a white man by nature too. He fed us well and was just as hot as us when we told him about the stage driver's trick. Then we told him about the find and let him in.

"'Now,' says Aggy, 'have you got a gun?'

"'I have that,' says the man. 'My dad used to be a duck hunter on Chesapeake bay. When you say "gun" I'll show you a gun.' He dove in under his bunk and fetched out what I should say was a No. 1 bore shotgun, with barrels six foot long.

"'Gentlemen,' says he, holding the gun up and patting it lovingly, 'if you ram a quarter pound of powder in each one of them barrels and a handful of buckshot on top of that you've got an argument that couldn't be upset by the supreme court. I'll guarantee that when you point her anywheres within ten feet of a man not over a hundred yards away and let her do her duty, all the talent that that man's family could employ couldn't gather enough of him to recognize him by, and you won't be in bed more'n long enough to heal a busted shoulder.'

"'I hope it ain't going to be my painful line of performance to pull the trigger,' says Aggy. 'I think the sight of her would have weight with most people. When's the stage due back?'

"'Day after tomorrow, about noon.'

"'That gives us lots of time to stake and to salt claims that can't show cause their own selves,' says Aggy. 'I think we're all right.'

"The next day we worked like the old Harry. We had everything fixed up right by nightfall, and there was nothing to do but dig and wait.

"Curious folks we all are, ain't we? I should have said my own self that if I'd found gold by the bucketful, I'd be more interested in that than I would be in getting even with a mut that had done me dirt, but it wasn't so. Perhaps it was because I hadn't paid much attention to money all my life, and I had paid the strictest attention to the way other people used me. Living where there's so few folks accounts for that, I suppose.

"Getting even on our esteemed friend, the stage driver, was right in your Uncle Reddy's line, and Aggy and our new pard, White, seemed to take kindly to it, also.

"If ever you saw three faces filled with innocent glee, it was when we heard the wheels of that stage coming—why, the night before I was woke up by somebody laughing. There was Aggy sound asleep, sitting up hugging himself in the moonlight.

"'Oh, my! Oh, my!' says he. 'It's the only ford for 4,000 miles!'

"We planted a sign in the middle of the road with this wording on it in big letters, made with the black end of a stick:

NOTICE!

This and adjoining claims are the property of Agamemnon G. Jones, Red Saunders, John Henry White, et al.

Trespassing done at your own risk. Owners will not be responsible for the remains.

"There was a stretch of about a mile on the level before us. When the stage come in plain sight Aggy proceeds to load up Old Moral Suasion,' as he called her, so that the folks could see there was no attempt at deception. They come pretty fairly slow after that. At fifty yards, Ag hollers 'Halt!' The team sat right down on their tails.

"'Now, Mr. Snick'umfritz,' says Aggy, 'you that drives, I mean, come here and read this little sign.'

"'Suppose I don't?' says the feller, trying to be smart before the passengers.

"'It's a horrible supposition,' says Aggy, 'and the innocent will have to suffer with the guilty.' Then he cocks the gun.

"'God sakes! Don't shoot!' yells one of the passengers. 'Man, you ought to have more sense than to try and pick him out of a crowd with a shotgun! Get down there, you fool, and make it quick!'

"So the driver walked our way and read. He never said a word. I reckon he realised it was the only ford for 4,000 miles, more or less, as Aggy had remarked. There he stood, with his mouth and eyes wide open.

"Around you go!" he hollers.

"'I'd like to have you other gentlemen come up and see our first cleanup, so you won't think we're running in a windy,' says Aggy. They wanted to see bad, as you can imagine, and when they did see about fifteen pounds of gold in the bottom of my old hat they talked like people that hadn't had a Christian bringing up.

"'Oh, Lord!' groans one man. 'Brigham Young and all the prophets of the Mormon religion! This is my tenth trip over this line, and me and Pete Hendricks played a game of seven up right on the spot where that gent hit her not over a month ago, when the stage broke down! Somebody just make a guess at the way I feel and give me one small drink.' And he put his hand to his head. 'Say, boys,' he goes on, 'you don't want the whole blamed creek, do you? Let us in!'

"'How's that, fellers?' says Ag to me and White. We said we was agreeable.

"'All right, in you come!' says Aggy. 'There ain't no hog about our firm. But as for you,' says he, walking on his tiptoes up to the driver—'as for you, you cockeyed whelp, around you go! Around you go!' he hollers, jamming the end of Moral Suasion into the driver's trap. 'Oh, and won't you go round, though!' says he. 'Listen to me, now: if any one of your ancestors for twenty-four generations had ever done anything as decent as robbing a hencoop it would have conferred a kind of degree of nobility upon him. It wouldn't be possible to find an ornrier cuss than you if a man raked all hell with a fine toothed comb. Now, you stare coated, mangy, bandy legged, misbegotten, outlaw coyote, fly—fly!' whoops Aggy, jumping four foot in the air, 'before I squirt enough lead into your system to make it a paying job to melt you down!'

"The stage driver acted according to orders. Three wide steps and he was in the wagon, and with one screech like a pi'sened bobcat he fairly lifted the cayuses over the first ridge. Nobody never saw him any more, and nobody wanted to.

"So that's the way I hit my stake, son,' just as I'd always expected—by not knowing what I was doing any part of the time—and now, there comes my iron horse coughing up the track. I'll write you sure, boy, and you let old Reddy know what's going on—and on your life don't forget to give it to the lads straight why I sneaked off on the quiet! I've got ten years older in the last six months. Well, here we go quite fresh, and d——d if I altogether want to neither. Too late to argue though. By-by, son!"

WAS A TOTAL WRECK FROM HEART FAILURE.

Heart disease is characterized by its stealthy approach and its variety of forms, yet in all its forms nature gives unmistakable signals which warn us of its presence.

One of the first danger signals announcing something wrong with the heart is the irregular beat or violent throb. Often there is only a fluttering sensation, or an "all gone" sinking feeling; or, again there may be the most violent beating, with flushings of the skin and visible pulsations of the arteries. You may experience a smothering sensation, gasp for breath and feel as though about to die. In such cases the action of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills in quieting the heart, restoring its normal beat and imparting tone to the nerve centres, is, beyond all question, marvellous. They give such prompt relief, such speedy restoration to health that no one need suffer.

Mr. Darius Carr, Geary, N.B., writes: "It is with the greatest of pleasure I write you a few lines to let you know the great blessing your Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have been to me. I was a total wreck from heart failure, my wife advised me to take your pills, and, after using two boxes I was restored to perfect health. I am now sixty-two years old and feel almost as well as I did at twenty."

Not a Miracle But Medical Science

Dr. T. A. Slocum, Limited,
Toronto, Ont.

Gentlemen:—

"Some time ago I began to lose flesh and failed every day until I had to quit work. My physicians and all my friends said I had contracted consumption. I failed from 165 pounds down to 119. I was advised to go to the Rockies or to the coast. I went to both places under heavy expense. I continued to fail, and was advised by the doctors to come home as nothing more could be done for me. Hope seemed to have left me.

"I tried Psychine and since starting its use I have gained from 119 to 141 pounds. I have used $10.00 worth of the medicine. I am a well man and I cannot say too much in praise of Psychine. The strongest recommendation would be weak in view of the fact that I believe it has saved my life. It is without doubt the best remedy for run-down conditions and weak lungs.

"I sincerely hope and trust that you will continue your good work of saving run down people and consumptive from the grave. Wishing you and Psychine continued success, I remain, one of Psychine's best friends."

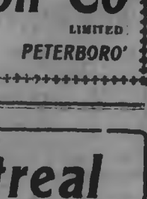
BEFORE TREATMENT



AFTER TREATMENT

Peter F. Summers, of Kalamazoo, Mich., relates his experience:

"I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in early youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I dreaded everybody who looked at me guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, went to Mt. Clemens for baths, but received little benefit. While at Mt. Clemens I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the New Method Treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic. I could feel the vigor going through the nerves. I was cured mentally and physically and I have sent them many patients and will continue to do so."

AERIAL LOCOMOTION.

The Perfect Flying Machine Will Annihilate Frontiers.

Other dreams of the end of the eighteenth century are materializing, notably that of the suppression of frontiers, the last vestige of feudal servitude and of tiresome, exasperating and savage customs.

Aerial locomotion once established and become more or less general, it is difficult to see how custom house officers could continue to harass travelers with their ridiculous and annoying exactions. Mark the frontiers by a line of captive balloons? It's not to be thought of. Order the travelers to descend? Useless when escape is so easy. The difficulty of multiplying regulations for travelers would lead inevitably and rapidly to the suppression of custom house frontiers.

As to the frontiers themselves, how would you locate them? They are compatible with space of two dimensions, with surfaces measurable in square meters, but not with limitless space, so to speak, of three dimensions. One day when Godard and I were going in a balloon from Paris to Cologne two mounted police in Belgium called to us at the top of their lungs, "Gentlemen, your papers!" Our reply was to empty a sack of ballast on their heads and make a dash of 800 meters above the canton.

Mankind, au fond, an unreasoning animal, is always impressed by the argument of the stronger. Therefore the first minister of every government which makes itself respected is the minister of war. It is proper to fight from time to time to keep one's biceps and expedient no doubt to increase duties each year to maintain the armies; hence the first application of the dirigibles will be to the art of international slaughter. A credit of 5,000,000 has just been inscribed on the budget extraordinary of our minister of war for the construction of new dirigibles of the type of the Patrie destined for our eastern frontier, and our neighbors, the Germans, not to be behind us, have done as much for their western frontier; hence we may expect to see on all sides celestial ships reciprocally contributing to baffle maneuvers, to surprise offensive preparations and to drop at the right moment on the heads of corps commanders a few kilograms of dynamite, melinite and other explosives carefully prepared for the annihilation of staff officers, charts and plans.—Camille Flammarion in Metropolitan Magazine.

A Modern Life Buoy.

One feature of the big Lusitania is the automatic life buoy, which is fastened between decks on a slanting frame in such a way that it can be released by pressure of a button on the bridge. On each end of the four arms of a large cross shaped framework is a copper ball. These balls are so weighted that when the buoy strikes the water it will float upright. To the crossarms are fastened long brass cylinders. These cylinders are calcium carbide lights, so arranged that they flare up by contact with the water. Should a cry of "man overboard" be raised at night the officer on the bridge presses the button, the buoy hits the water and the lights flare up. If the man overboard is a swimmer he can reach the buoy, to the arms of which loops are attached to aid him in keeping above water.—Washington Herald.

Bride Sold by Weight.

By the decision of the mayor brides may be bought by weight at Kolked, Hungary. The local custom is that a bridegroom must pay the bride's parents a certain sum for the privilege of marrying their daughter. Jan Kostvoes was engaged in a dispute with his fiancee's parents as to the amount he should pay them, and the mayor was called in to arbitrate. Being an expert in cattle, but not in women, the mayor decided the value of the girl should be estimated by weight and thought that 60 cents a pound would be a fair price. After the girl's weight had been ascertained—it was eighty-six pounds—Kostvoes handed over $51.60 and was soon married.—Montreal Standard.

It Costs to Live in England.

The cost of living in England is indicated by the following extract from a letter in the London Spectator: "I do not keep a carriage nor a motor car nor even a governess cart. My wife is not extravagant, but my three children cost in education and clothes about £450 a year. My rent is £120 a year, and repairs average £50. There are four maidservants and one gardener. I keep little company, yet to my disgust and despair I find I cannot make both ends meet on £2,000 a year. The worst of it is that any one item of expenditure taken by itself seems not only reasonable, but inevitable."

POLICING THE WILDERNESS.

Record of Famous Canadian Force Cannot be Matched.

W. G. Fitzgerald, in the course of an article on "Policing the Wilderness," in The Outlook, of New York, says:

Take the public services of both Americas by and large, from Hudson Bay to Patagonia, and I doubt whether you will match the record of the famous Canadian Northwest Mounted Police. How a handful of 300 law officers, adventurous, fearless and entirely honest, keep entire order in an Arctic wilderness five times as large as Great Britain—here, surely, is a story worth telling.

And it makes reading quite as good as its promise. For here is a "precinct" covering 197,000 square miles of silent waste, icy yet golden, peopled mainly by Indians and Eskimos, with a few thousand whites, who are apt to think that no law goes so near as this to the north pole. But the wildest of them knows different now. "Get the man," the classic motto of the Northwest Mounted Police, is known and felt from ocean to ocean to the innermost recesses of the wilderness.

A thousand miles on the ice "mushing" by dog team and komatik, through unexplored haunts of bear and wolf, is a common marching order for these splendid pioneers. It does one good to read the record of their work. After all, much digging is required to get at the facts, for the N. W. M. P. have a good healthy scorn of boast and advertisement.

You will meet them first as you enter Canadian territory by the famous White Pass, where Old Glory floats side by side with the clustered crosses of the Dominion. Soon the four snorting engines come to a standstill, and a quiet gentlemanly officer enters the car to examine baggage. You will find thereafter that you can no more escape your own shadow than one of these "Guardians of the North," wherever you go in this seemingly limitless Yukon territory.

To-day the N. W. M. P. have two great centres, one at Dawson, the other at White Horse. And, wonderful to say, just as a telegraph or telephone operator feels the beat of a crowded city's pulse miles away, so does the commanding officer at these headquarters know everything that goes on even in the remotest region of his stupendous precinct.

For over 1,000 miles the unobtrusive telegraph line runs beside the mighty flood, and patrol systems on the various creeks and trails assist in preserving order. It is a fact that on the great road between Dawson and White Horse, more than 320 miles, the traveler to-day is positively safer than if he were driving along a country road in eastern Canada or any settled part of Alaska.

No man starts down the great Yukon in a small boat without numbering and registering his craft, as well as his own name and business. There is justice and redress for everyone, no matter how remote his location. Let a humble miner's cache be stolen and forthwith a diligent search that will cover 500 miles will be made for it, and after that summary vengeance will surely fall upon the thief. As I shall show, no expense is spared; and sometimes hundreds or thousands of dollars will be spent in a case—only to find that the thieves were bears, after all!

Let serious accident befall a man in some lonely camp, and no city hospital could be more urgent and self-sacrificing in hurrying relief than these Mounted Police. Many a stirring tale might be told of how the sick and wounded have been brought into hospital over painful and dangerous trails, through icy mountain passes and menacing torrents.

Quite recently news came to headquarters at White Horse that a Russian Jew woodchopper, living in a lonely section had accidentally been killed. At five minutes' notice one of the surgeons and a constable were dropping down the river in a little canoe. They covered 170 miles of dangerous water, made a conscientious investigation of the entire case and buried the dead man. That the trip was made at a season when the great river was liable to freeze at any time and leave the men stranded was a detail not to be considered.

Delightful Japanese Hotels.

Barring the bath and perhaps the beds, Japanese hotels are delightful. All during your stay in their spotless precincts you are made to feel that you are an honored guest. Japanese etiquette is lavished upon you, and when you depart you are always given a token to remember your visit, usually a white, coarse cotton towel with blue pictures printed on it. You must thank the little maid for this with an elaborate bow when you go, and the chorus of "Sayo Naras" from all the hotel force gathered in the doorway will seem to have in it not only the regret of goodby as we interpret the words, but the deeper feeling which they really mean, "If it must be that we must part."—Travel Magazine.

An Antique Die.

While ancient coins and medals are numerous, the only genuine antique die known seems to be that found at Tel el Athrib, Egypt, in 1904. Professor C. Zenghelis reports that this is of bronze, two and a half inches high and six ounces in weight, dates from 430 to 322 B. C., and the base is engraved with the owl of the Athenian tetradrachma pieces. The alloy seems to have consisted of about 75 per cent of copper and 25 of tin. The die is evidence of great metallurgical skill, the unusual proportion of tin being necessary for hardness, while the extreme purity of the two metals gave the necessary malleability.

The Pacific Balance.

We do not consider the transfer of the maritime forces of the United States from the Atlantic to the Pacific either a challenge or a menace. The American giant, strong and self contained, can dispense with threats. The concentration of a powerful fleet in the Pacific will only serve to re-establish the balance of power in the waters of the great ocean which was disturbed by the unexpectedly rapid rise of Japan.—St. Petersburg Novoe Vremya.

EVERY one desires to establish for himself a good name, but it takes time to win the confidence of your fellow men. Truth and perseverance are the alternate rungs on the ladder of success, and he who reaches the top must make no false step.

There are hundreds of cough medicines with all sorts of names, each claiming to be the best, but the test of time will prove whether or not they have established the right to be called the best.

Careful selection of the drugs, intelligent and skillful compounding, the entire absence of opium, chloroform, or any other harmful ingredient, and the absolute purity of every article that goes into its composition, has built up and sustained its good name.

These are the things you should remember, and the next time you want a cough medicine, it is worth while to see that you get Chamberlain's and secure the virtues which a good name implies.

TO THE POLICYHOLDERS OF THE Canada Life Assurance Company

The affairs of life companies are at the present time of greater interest to the insuring public than probably ever before in this country, and while a detailed statement as to the present position and accomplishment during 1907 of our company will in due course be sent each policyholder, it is desired to lay before you at the earliest opportunity a summary of its most important features.

THE YEAR'S BUSINESS.

The new policies paid for in 1907 aggregated $10,491,332, an increase of $279,998.00 over the previous year notwithstanding the closing of several branches which it was not considered desirable to continue. The total assurances now in force amount to $117,500,827.02, an increase during the year of $4,928,798.63.

STRONG RESERVES.

The one consideration of paramount importance in the affairs of a life company is the absolute safety of every contract. It was decided in 1900 that all new business should be written on the stringent 3 per cent. basis, thus ensuring that the older policyholders should have no burden to carry except in connection with their own assurances. The wisdom of this action will be recognized when it is stated that our new assurances written since then, amounting to no less than $55,775,063.35, are valued by the Hm. 3 per cent. table, while the remaining older assurances, amounting to $61,725,763.67, are now valued by the Hm. 3½ per cent. table. This standard of valuation enables the company to take rank, as to relative strength, among the leading life offices of the British Empire.

While our surplus over all liabilities on our own stringent valuation basis is $1,066,861.13, it is shown to be $2,709,503.33 by a valuation made on the United States standard.

THE INCOME.

The premiums received of $3,622,015.56, and interest of $1,437,778.98, make the total income of the year $5,059,794.54.

This is greater than the total income of 1906 by $140,363.94.

THE PAYMENTS.

The payments to policyholders during the year totalled $1,992,225.03. It is, of course, to be expected that the death claims in a company sixty-one years old would be large in amount, and those of the Canada Life, exclusive of Bonuses, were $1,312,437.15. This amount, however, fell below the expectation of the mortality table, so the company effected a saving through the superior class of lives on its books.

Aside from the amounts of policies which became claims by death as above, and the matured Endowments for $319,738.00, the total payments to policyholders were $360,049.88, and of this amount $188,448.92 was by way of profits to them.

The liberal provision made in our contracts whereby our clients can quickly and without expense obtain loans on their policies was taken advantage of in 1907 to the extent of $1,300,120.08.

From time to time the company has disposed of securities bearing a low rate of interest, and advantage was taken of the recent low market prices to replace them by securities bearing a higher rate of interest and having long periods to run. The position of the company has therefore been improved, and its earning power increased through the recent stringency in the money market.

EXPENSES.

The ratio of expenses to income was still further reduced in 1907.

ASSETS.

The assets show an increase of $1,714,868.66 for 1907, after revaluing and readjusting them to the unusually low market prices which prevailed at the end of the year. The intrinsic values of the securities owned by the company are materially greater than the values shown, and as the company is under no necessity to part with them at unfavorable prices, the increase in value to which their intrinsic worth entitles them will later on be enjoyed by our policyholders.

The total assets, as at 31st December, 1907, amounted to $33,995,411.25.

WHAT POLICYHOLDERS HAVE RECEIVED.

Reference has been made in a previous paragraph to the payments to policyholders during 1907, but as that was not a quinquennial dividend year, the accomplishment of the company for its policyholders was not adequately shown. A comparison of the amounts received from policyholders by way of premiums from the inception of the company to the present time, with the total amounts paid or credited to policyholders and their representatives during the same period, shows that the company has paid or credited its clients with $8,089,622.36 more than they have paid in.

Such a record will be recognized as unique in the history of life assurance in this country.

Grayce looked grim as he threw open the door and stumbled over the roll of rugs that lay just within.

"Another night has come, and that landlord still lives his evil life," he called, and from the dimly lighted parlor came an answering sniff.

Bert Grayce hung up his coat on the half shrouded hatrack and entered the room. The furniture was swathed in burlap and excelsior, and the piano was covered with old blankets and other soft wrappings, and trunks and boxes were piled with some attempt at order along the bare walls and upon the equally bare floor.

On top of the upturned soap box a group of candles guttered dismally, their feeble rays serving to accentuate the absence of gas. Desolation—the desolation of an exodus—brooded everywhere, even upon the face of the woman who sat in a low rocker beside the candles and vainly made pretense of reading.

Hers was a lovable face, framed in masses of silver hair, and Grayce's smile softened and grew more tender as he bent to kiss the still smooth forehead.

"Cheer up, mother mine," he said laughingly. "All is not yet lost, though the painters remain on strike. Tomorrow the new home will be painted. By Saturday we shall be comfortably settled."

"Are you sure?" demanded Mrs. Grayce wistfully. "If you are, we will not have the gas turned on again."

"There are electric lights in the new home," he reminded. "You will forget these nights of Egyptian darkness, and the next time we move we shall not order the current turned off until we are safely out of the house."

"To think that at the last moment, with all packed and ready to move, this strike should have come up!" said Mrs. Grayce, with a groan. "Are you positive, Bert, that the painter you have engaged will not be won over by the strikers?"

"Never more certain of anything in my life," was the laughing response. "The painter is no less a person than your accomplished son. I stopped in and ordered the paint sent over this morning. Tomorrow I shall go and wave the brush, so you must wake and call me early. I must put in a full day."

Bert passed on to his own room, lighting his way with matches, and his mother heaved a sigh of relief. For eight days they had virtually camped in the apartment they had given up, waiting for their new quarters to be finished. The packers had done their work, the man had come to cut off the gas and the moving vans were backed up to the door when a telephone message came to the effect that, owing to a strike of the painters, the new rooms were not yet ready for occupancy. From day to day the landlord had promised that something would be done at once, but now a full week had passed, and hope had commenced to fail until Bert decided to do the work himself.

He made an early start, and 8 o'clock found him in a suit of jeans applying the paint with as skillful a brush as though painting were his regular occupation. He worked rapidly and well and the rooms had begun to assume a habitable aspect when he heard the hall door open and close and looked up, expecting to see the landlord.

Instead he faced about to encounter the gaze of a pair of brown eyes which seemed to pierce his paint stained jacket and give him an oddly queer sensation about the heart. The possessor of the eyes was a fragile slip of a girl whose pure oval face was oddly like a picture by some old master. The slender form was wholly concealed by a brown holland pinafore, and this was splashed with color. A dab of blue which had sought a higher resting place made a saucy beauty patch against the dimpling chin.

"So you have come," she said at length. "I was beginning to think that you would be out on strike all winter. I was promised that my floors should be shellacked first."

"Yes, but"— began Bert.

"I want no answers," said the girl, with a stamp of her tiny foot. "I am to have an exhibition day after tomorrow, and the floors must be done by then, do you hear?"

"Yes, ma'am," said Bert meekly.

"Then pick up your pail and brush and come along," was the quiet command. "If I had not smelled the paint in the hall you would have spent the day here, when I need you so much more. Come on, please."

She turned to lead the way as though there was no argument to be made, and Bert, grinning over the ridiculousness of the affair, followed after. He saw with pleasure that the other apartment was only across the hall from his own. It was a much smaller place, and it did not take Bert long to paint the floors. The girl stood in the doorway superintending the work, and Bert was sorry when at last he rose from his knees and announced the completion of the job.

"You will still have time to finish the other apartment," said the girl severely. "Next time do as you are told, and you will have less trouble. You know very well that the agent told you to do this apartment first. He promised me that he would."

"He'll promise anything," began Bert grimly, but the tiny foot stamped a warning. The girl did not care to argue the point with a workman, and she dismissed him with a nod.

"Come in tomorrow and give it a second coat," she commanded. "Wait a moment," she added as Bert turned to go. "Buy yourself a good cigar," she finished as she handed him a coin.

Bert dropped the dime in his pocket with a murmured word of thanks and backed out of the door. Once on the other side, his embarrassment died down, and he paused long enough to ascertain from the card on the door that it was Dorothy Remsen who occupied the apartment. That she was a china decorator he already knew, and vaguely he remembered having heard of her skill.

He was tired when he sought his home that night, but the thought that he would see the girl again on the morrow gave him a feeling that the day had been well spent. He carefully slipped the dime in a locket which he wore on his watch fob and smiled as he thought of his "tip."

He painted the studio floors the first thing next morning and then turned his attention to his own apartment. It was late in the afternoon when he had finished and was cleaning up. There came a ring at the door, and he opened it to confront a young woman who radiated confusion and penitence.

"I have come to apologize," she said, blushing redly. "I stopped in to thank the agent for sending me a painter, and he did not know that my floors had been done. Then he recalled that you were painting your own place and explained my error."

"It's a very natural one," he said, with a laugh. "If you were half as desperate as my mother, I should not blame you for kidnaping me with a full knowledge of the facts. I am only glad that I have been of service to you."

"You don't know how greatly you have aided me," she cried. "I can never repay your kindness. I am so sorry that I was abrupt yesterday. Will you pardon me?"

The long, slender hand was clasped in Bert's own, and he smiled down into the brown eyes that dropped shyly before his gaze.

Dorothy slipped back into her own apartment, and Bert, closing his door, drew the dime she had given him from his locket.

"The job's going to cost you more than that, little woman," he said as he smiled to himself. "It's going to cost you your heart and hand, and they are worth millions of dimes."

As It Happens.

They parted as girls; they met as women.

"And what of all your sweethearts?" asked the old time chum at length.

"Gone the way of all good things," answered the captivator.

"That tall, lanky blond with the derce mustache, for instance?"

"Went insane!"

"Gracious! And Jimmie Bowles—'the little muskrat,' as you used to call him—who was so devoted?"

"Killed in an auto accident trying to save my life."

"Dear me! And your needy artist swain, who found in you the only customer for his wonderful paintings?"

"Became a waiter and married an heiress!"

"And the kinky haired little French count?"

"Ran away with my maid!"

"Worse and worse! And how about Reggie? You did profess to love him, you know."

"Now my brother-in-law!"

"Never! Well, that Mr. Hardflint, who used to snub us all, yourself included? I hope he met his deserved finish."

"He did. Come up to the house and I'll introduce you to him. He's my husband!"—Young's Magazine.

How the Other Half Gives.

"That sentiments of tender charity are innate among the poor can be seen from a case which presented itself among a group of little children at a school where we visited," writes Mrs. John Van Vorst in Woman's Home Companion. "They were of the most destitute, this little class, but as regular as soldiers in attendance. After an unusual absence of two days one of the small pupils, Mary by name, was closely questioned by the teacher on her return. Very reluctantly she responded that they had been without food at home and that she was ashamed to come hungry to school.

"No comment was made before the other children. Nothing further was said.

"The following morning a small procession filed before the teacher's desk—a procession of little people, tiny, poor, ignorant. Yet not one of them came empty handed. One brought an apple, one a piece of cheese, one a roll, one a slice of meat. And each as she put her meager offering down whispered to the teacher, 'It's for Mary.'"

THE WRITERS.

Sardou, the French dramatist, never achieved success until after his marriage.

Professor Anitchkoff, the celebrated litterateur of Russia, has been sentenced to eighteen months' imprisonment in a fortress for carrying on a propaganda against the government.

Thomas Hardy, the novelist, has accepted the presidency of the Society of Dorset Men in London in succession to Sir Frederick Treves, who has resigned after holding the office since the formation of the society.

Alleyne Ireland, the well known author, has left New York for the West Indies, where he will remain until March to secure material for a book. Most of his visit will be spent in Barbados and British Guiana, where he has many friends.

THE HOME DOCTOR.

For chilblains rub on witch hazel. This is also excellent for pain in the joints, poor circulation or stiffness.

A cold may often be prevented if when the first creepy feeling is noticed one gets down with the back close in front of a hot register or radiator and stays there until so warm as to be uncomfortable. It is, of course, important not to chill after this toasting.

A poultice of witch hazel is often very soothing to a muscular pain and is simply made. In a small saucepan put a square, folded flannel cloth. Pour over this enough witch hazel to thoroughly moisten it. Heat and place the flannel cloth over the pain. Cover it with dry flannel, and pin a towel over it to keep it in place.

Woman.

A pretty woman's worth some pains to see.—Browning.

Consideration for woman is the measure of a nation's progress in social life.—Gregoing.

No man has yet discovered the means of giving successfully friendly advice to women.—Balzac.

Women know by nature how to disguise their emotions far better than the most consummate male courtier can do.—Thackeray.

The one who has read the book that is called woman knows more than the one who has grown pale in libraries.—Houssaye.

THE GREAT MINERAL WEALTH OF CANADA'S RICH HINTERLAND

many are abundant in the rivers and along the coast of the north-west side of Hudson's Bay, as well as in the rivers of the northern shores of the continent.

Great Patroleum Areas

There are very extensive petroleum areas south of Lake Athabasca and west of Great Slave Lake. These are now being exploited, but what success has been achieved has not as yet been given to the public, but persons acquainted with the regions referred to express the strongest convictions that oil will be discovered in quantities sufficient to compete with the greatest oil-producing regions of the world.

The Senate committee of 1888 appointed to inquire into the resources of the Mackenzie River basin recommended that an area of 40,000 square miles be reserved from sale until the value of the petroleum deposits might be ascertained by exploration and practical tests. The evidence adduced before that committee pointed to the existence in the Athabasca and Mackenzie valleys of the most extensive petroleum field yet discovered. The committee proposed that the reserve should be bounded as follows: Easterly by a line drawn due north from the foot of the Cascade rapids of the Clearwater river to the south shore of Athabasca Lake; northerly, by the said lake shore and the Quatre Fourche and Peace Rivers; westerly, by Peace River and a straight line from Peace River landing to the westerly extremity of Lesser Slave Lake; and southerly, by said lake and the river discharging it to Athabasca River and Clearwater River as far up as the place of beginning.

The foregoing particulars of the natural resources of the great north country will be sufficient to indicate what enormous mines of riches await the enterprise of man to make them commercially available, not only to the northern and western portion of this continent, but to the markets of Europe. The distances from accessable points on the Pacific Ocean by way of the Peace River, and to ports on the Hudson Bay are, not great, being from 250 to 400 miles either way, and if the proposed railway from Skeena River to Hudson Bay by way of the Peace River valley is built, as well as the projected line from Edmonton to Peace River, much will have been done towards opening up the country for human industry, and revealing to the world the illimitable riches of a territory that occupies an area greater than the Australian continent, or nearly two thirds of Europe, covering part of the British Isles, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Germany, Austria, and part of France and Russia.—Winnipeg Free Press.

FACTS ABOUT POULTRY WORTH KNOWING

Buckwheat is one of the finest feeds we have ever used. But feed sparingly.

It takes hens a good while to warm up a lot of ice-cold feed in their gizzards. Help them along by warming their feed for them.

When a hen begins to droop and her comb turns pale it is time to send for Mr. Axe. Hens less than two years old are not apt to get this way.

Meshes now and then are good, but you wouldn't like to live all the time on pudding and milk, would you? Give the biddies a chance to grind something hard.

It is a mistake to have the roof of the hen house too high. By making a movable ceiling for the houses, we can lessen the air space over our hens in cold weather and greatly lessen the expense of keeping them. When winter comes, put this ceiling up, next spring take it down. Result—comfort, eggs, more money, everything all right.

Good, clean sod dirt is better than road dust for the hens to dig in. If not too late in your locality, cut up some fresh turf, leaving the earth on the sods, and now and then take a piece a foot or so square into the hen house. How the hens will dig in it! They will find something to eat in the chuck, and they will use the loose earth to scratch their backs with.

We know that fresh green bone is an egg-making food. Feeding it simply as bone we know how much to supply. We are sure we are not feeding anything that may prove deleterious; we can be sure we are feeding right to produce desired results. And withal we can feed bone regularly and systematically at a very small cost. The bones must be green and fresh, not the dry ones that may be gathered up, or those that have come through the soup or boiling pot. Such have parted with most of their valuable elements for egg, feather and flesh production. The ribs with particles of meat adhering that the butcher removes when he rolls the roast, are all ready to be cut up, and make ideal food. The relish with which hens devour the product indicates the important part it is to play in the production of eggs.

WEIGHED FOUR POUNDS WHEN FOUR MONTHS OLD

Most of the sickness that comes to babies and young children is due to the stomach or bowels being out of condition. It is then that they are cross, peevish and upset the whole household. These are troubles that Baby's Own Tablets always cure promptly. Here is proof: Mrs. J. Stewart, Everton, Ont., says: "My little girl thrived so badly that at the age of four months she weighed four and a half pounds. Her stomach was badly out of order, and although the doctor treated her he did not help her. Then I got Baby's Own Tablets and right from the first they helped her and now she enjoys perfect health." If your little one is ailing try Baby's Own Tablets — always do good; cannot do harm. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25c. a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ENGLAND

At a recent meeting of the Colchestr town council, it was reported that a number of documents found in the castle bore the autograph signature of Henry VIII. Investigation was also being made with a view to finding the remains of the old chapel which formerly existed in the castle, signs of which have been seen. Mr. James Round, the owner of the castle, has granted permission for the search.

Some fine pictures changed hands recently in a London auction room, when eighty-eight of the Duke of Sutherland's pictures, from his Trentham Hall collection, were sold for £37,320. The highest price was paid for Van Dyck's "Gentleman on Horseback," which brought $11,025. Andrea Vanuschi's (del Sarto) "Madonna and Child," fetched $3,162, and Gerard Dou's portrait, by himself, brought $2,225.

A windmill at Terrington, St. Clements, Norfolk, is in course of demolition, and with its disappearance will go one of the famous landmarks of the Fen country. The mill was the tallest in the district. Years ago there were numerous windmills dotted about the Fens, but they are now rarely met with, the introduction of moive power for machinery having detroyed their commercial utility.

A slight outbreak of fire occurred at Windsor Castle between four and five one morning recently. a huge beam in the kitchen running through one of the chimney flues was discovered to be on fire. The Castle brigade was at once summoned, and quickly subdued the flames with a hose, the engine not being required. The damage done was slight.

A smoking concert has been held at the Moor Tavern, Maidenhead, Berks, to provide funds for purchasing a license and collar for a mongrel dog named Jack, which belongs to nobody in particular, but is a great favourite on account of its sagacity. Jack was decorated with ribbons, and sat by the chairman during the entertainment.

IRELAND

Cattle driving is still going on with great activity in many parts of Ireland—notably in the best grass country—Meath. The farm of Rathnoryan, near Trim, in the County of Meath, was recently the scene of a big drive. A large number of cattle were drove off the land in the night, belonging to Capt. Fowler, D.L. who is a gentleman owning a good deal of land. The cattle driven were his own and grazing on his own land, and were not put on on the eleven months' system, so the drive could not have taken place on the usual excuse. Capt. Fowler is a member of the Meath County Council, and is very popular.

Sir Antony MacDonnell, the Under Secretary of Ireland, is said to have tendered his resignation. It is said that Sir Antony a reasons for resigning are his disagreement with the way in which the Government of Ireland is now carried out and his inability to carry out the views of Mr. Birrell. Sir Antony, it is said, is also desirous that far sterner measures be used toward offenders against law and order in Ireland. The change in the Under Secretaryship will be welcomed by the Nationalists, who now have come to regard Sir Antony as an enemy, though before he was looked on as a friend.

In the course of a lecture on the "Economic Geography of Ireland," in the Mansion House, Dublin, recently, Mr. Gwynne, M.P., made the remarkable statement that the richest land in Ireland was in actual solitude, a condition of things of which he knew no parallel at all in his experience of other countries. He had made a comparison of the wealth of different countries, taking Meath as typical of the grass land, and Wexford and Down as representing the tillage land.

Mrs. Thomas Gallaher, of Messrs. Gallaher, Ltd., the well known tobacco manufacturers of Belfast and Dublin, has purchased the Dublin City Distillery premises in Dublin and plant for £20,000. It is reported that it is intended to convert the place into a tobacco factory. It would be very popular in Dublin, as likely to give a lot of employment.

SCOTLAND

In an Ayrshire police court recently a most unusual case was heard. It appeared a man sat down on his doorstep, and spreading his feet over the pavement, caused pedestrians to get off while passing. He was observed by the police and ordered to get up. Another man interfered, backing the obstructor and expressing the opinion that the police had no right to compel him to rise. The upshot was a breach of the peace, and a police court sequel. Both men were convicted and fined.

An amazing statement was made by a female prisoner in the police court at Irvine, Ayrshire, a few days ago. Christina McIntosh, 18 years of age, who claimed to belong to Aberdeenshire, said she had been in all the prisons in Scotland except that of Ayr, and she was glad to have the opportunity of seeing what it was like. She didn't care if the sentence was one of six months. The magistrate imposed a fine of £1, with the option of 14 days in jail.

Messrs. Beardmore of Glasgow have booked orders for guns for the Admiralty, which will be the largest and heaviest in the British Navy. Their construction will be proceeded with at once. Messrs. Beardmore have also secured the order for the armoured plates for the British battleship to be built by Vickers Sons, Barrow.

A crew of 320 signed on at Greenock for the new turbine liner Cairo, which left the Tail of the Bank last Saturday, is the largest ever shipped at that port. When trading between Greenock and New York the famous steamer City of Rome carried on an average about 280 men.

BRIGHT EYES, ROSY CHEEKS

Every Girl Can Have Them by Keeping Her Blood Rich and Red With Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

In the early days of her womanhood every girl—no matter what her station in life—should be bright, active, cheerful and happy. Her steps should be light, her eye bright and her cheeks rosy with the glow of health. But the reverse is the condition of thousands of young girls throughout Canada. They drag along, always tired, suffer from headaches, breathless and with palpitating heart after slight exercise, so that merely to go up stairs is exhausting. This is the condition doctors call anaemia, which means weak watery blood. In this condition Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the only safe and reliable medicine. These pills actually make the new, rich, red blood which can alone give health and strength, and thus make weak, listless, pale-faced girls bright, active and strong. Miss Alfonse St. Andre, Joliette, Que., says:—"I am more grateful than I can say for the benefit I have found in the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I was weak, run down and very miserable. I suffered from severe pains in my back and chest, had a bad cough; no appetite and would lay awake most of the night, and what sleep I did get did not refresh me. I tried several remedies, but they did not help me, and I, as well as my friends, feared I was going into a decline. At this stage a friend who came to see me strongly urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and providentially I acted upon the advice. After using a few boxes my appetite improved and I began to sleep much better at night. This greatly cheered me and I continued taking the pills for some time longer, when the change in my condition was really marvellous. I was feeling as well as I ever had done. I could sleep soundly at night, the pains and cough had disappeared and I felt an altogether different girl. I am so grateful for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me that I cheerfully give you permission to publish this in the hope that it may point the way to health to some other weak and despondent girl."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are good for all diseases due to weak, watery blood. That is why this medicine cures rheumatism, indigestion, neuralgia, St. Vitus' dance, partial paralysis, and the sideaches, backaches and headaches caused by the troubles women alone suffer from. You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

PUPILS IN THE UPPER ROOMS OF TWO SCHOOLS IN DANGER IN CASE OF FIRE

West Ward and East Ward Schools Have Only One Stairway Each---Fire Drills To Be Added To The Curriculum---Advisability Of Fire Escapes Discussed.

School Board Promptly Taking Up The Matter—Special Committee Appointed To Add To The Safety Of Pupils.

That the inspector be requested to see that fire drills are performed in each school once a week, and that the principals report to the inspector when and how long it took the pupils of each school to make their exit, and that the inspector report the same to the School Board.--Moved by Messrs. Hill and Crane.

Periodical fire drills was the slogan of the Board of Education at its special meeting last night, as may be gleaned from the above resolution, which every member present endorsed. The Board agreed that the fire drill was more effective than fire escapes, and strongly advised that steps be taken to see that the drill is performed regularly.

Verbal reports were given by the members who visited the various schools on Thursday and made the fire drill tests. From these some interesting facts were brought to light, showing that the West Ward and the East Ward pupils in the upper rooms are in danger in case a fire occurs in the lower hall. There is only the one stairway in each, making the exit dangerous.

In some cases doors open to the inside instead of to the outside, and some have been locked during the sessions. The Board last night appointed a committee to inspect all such cases, and they contend that all steps possible for the safety of the pupils will be taken immediately.

The members present last night were Mr. R. Fair, chairman, Messrs. John Crane, W S Robinson, B F Ackerman, Dr. Burnham, W H Hill, Dr. Morrison, L M Hayes and W F Nelson.

Conditions Existing

Dr. Morrison, who, with Mr. Crane, visited the South Central and West Ward Schools, reported that one of the drawbacks in the latter was the feebleness of the bell, which was a big handicap. In the lower rooms the pupils responded to it when they heard it, and made their exit in half a minute. From the upper rooms

C. G. E. Benefit Concert To Be Held April 10

The second annual concert given under the auspices of the Benefit Society of the C. G. E. will be held on April 10. At a meeting of the officers of the society, with others interested in this annual gathering of the workmen, the foremen and officials of the company, it was decided last night to give a concert similar to that of last year, on the date mentioned.

It will be remembered that the concert given last April was very largely attended, and was so successful that it was generally considered a wise movement to hold an annual affair of this kind. Mr. Frederick Nicholls of Toronto was present and addressed the assembled employees, making a good impression upon them. This second concert will be very similar to that of last year. A good musical programme will be given and an effort will be made to again have the officials present. The exact details of the concert have not yet been decided upon, but a repetition of last year's assembly may be expected, when people had to be turned away from the opera house.

Had To Travel Across An Ice Cone On Lake

Mr. M E Merriam, of Harwood, is in the city to-day from the Rice Lake region. He states that at the present time there is about 4 inches of water on the ice on Rice Lake and it is expected that a general break-up will be experienced in a few days.

While driving across the lake this morning to Hiawatha the horse performed the arduous feat of travelling on the edge of snow and ice which forms a natural bridge long after the surrounding ice has melted away.

Mr. Merriam's brothers who have been visiting there during the winter, leave on Monday morning on their annual hunting and trapping tour in the northern woods.

The Yeast Rose So Did The Man

A Young's Point man claims he almost lost his life the other day by being accidently shot. The trouble arose from the rising of yeast in a bottle which had been placed on the table. He was quietly perusing a copy of the Evening Examiner when, with a suddenness rivalling that of a streak of lightning, the neck flew off the bottle on the table at his ear and its career was only stopped by the fact that there was a ceiling above. The yeast went—well it can easily be imagined where—and the reader so startlingly aroused from his reveries left the house and sought safety in Mr. Heard's blacksmith shop until he could be prevailed on by his wife to return.

SHEPHERD WANTED ON FORGERY CHARGE ARRESTED IN PORT HOPE LAST NIGHT

Ex-Clerk of Snowden House Brought to Peterborough To-day by P. C. McGinty---There Are Three Serious Charges Against Him---Alleged Forgery.

Will Have to Face a Charge of Obtaining a Watch Under False Pretences From Mr. C. S. McClelland.

George Shepherd, ex-clerk of the Snowden House, who is wanted here on charges of forgery and of having obtained a watch under false pretences, was arrested yesterday in Port Hope and brought to Peterborough on the 11.45 G. T. R. to-day by P. C. McGinty, who went down to the lakeshore town for the prisoner this morning.

The case will be remembered by Peterborough. It is alleged that Shepherd, who was for several months employed as a clerk in the Snowden House, went into Mr. M. Pappas' cigar store with a cheque for $10.50, presumably endorsed by Mr. Wm. Snowden, formerly owner of the hotel, and asked the proprietor to cash it. Mr. Pappas was not suspicious and readily cashed the cheque. A few days later Shepherd came in with a similar cheque for $35, apparently signed and endorsed by Mr. Snowden, and Mr. Pappas, who had not taken the first cheque to the bank, cashed the second one. By the time he had discovered the forgery Shepherd had made good his departure from the city.

There is another charge against the prisoner of having obtained a watch under false pretences from Mr. S. C. McClelland, the Water street jeweller. It is stated that Shepherd, who had spent some weeks in Nicholls Hospital suffering from typhoid fever, called upon Mr. McClelland and asked to be shown some watches, saying that he was again employed at the Snowden House. He stated that he had given his watch to his wife and needed another one. It is said Shepherd picked out a watch worth $18 or $20 and explained that he could not pay cash for the time-piece owing to his hospital expenses, but would pay for it on the next pay day. The watch was given to him, but a few hours afterwards he returned and changed it for a better one, paying $6 on account. Soon afterwards Mr. McClelland found out that Shepherd was not working at the Snowden House, and at once notified the police and swore out a warrant.

Shepherd managed to get out of the city, however, and although Chief Ruzzel kept the wires hot with inquiries in regard to the matter, it was not until last night that anything was heard of the "wanted" man. The offences took place several years ago.

It is likely that Shepherd will appear before the magistrate this afternoon and be remanded until the necessary evidence could be secured.

Nearly all the Kansas City walkers will be here for the match, which will be the biggest sporting event of the city.

MR. FRED COOK HAS CONTRACT

Will Prepare Scenery for Campbellford Opera House.

Mr. R. H. Cole has purchased the Opera House from Miss E. Cooke. The new proprietor will make several changes in the house and add new scenery to the stage. Mr. Cole says that after the changes are made, he will be able to put on bigger and better companies than have been able to play here before. An order has been placed with Mr. Fred Cook, Peterborough, for over $400 worth of stage scenery.—Campbellford Despatch.

A SMALL DEMAND FOR PERMITS

Only Two Have Been Issued During the Past Week

Building permits are still not very much in demand but with the present spring-like conditions it is probable that the next few days will see a number taken out. During the past week only two have been issued making five in all for the year, and all but one of these for repairs. A. Sherwood has taken out a permit for the construction of a lumber dwelling on Ware street, to cost $400; while C. Gee Quinn is veneering a house at 505 Chamberlain street and building two verandahs, the total cost of the work being $250.

The appreciation of the public is the final test of merit. This is the reason "Salada" Tea has the enormous sale of over eighteen million packets annually. If you do not use it, The "Salada" Tea Co., Toronto, will send you a sample. State whether you use, Black, Mixed or Green, and the price you usually pay per pound.

THE MANCHESTER UNITY OF THE I. O. F.

Local Oddfellows will be interested in knowing something about the Manchester Unity Independent Order of Odd Fellows, which is claimed to be the largest and richest friendly society in the world. The membership of Unity is in all 1,034,640, made up of adults, 874,262; females, 22,586; juveniles, 125,892 and honourary, 11,900. There are lodges in Great Britain, Ireland, Canada, Gibraltar, Fiji, United States, Australia and new Zealand and the total assets in 1906 amounted to no less than $61,965,000, while the yearly increase in capital upward of $2,000,000. A number of members of Manchester Unity reside in Peterborough and Bro. A. Northcote is endeavouring to form a lodge in this city.

The triple-linked brethren should find a short history of the origin and career of Oddfellowship interesting.

The Order of Oddfellows originated in England in the 18th century. In the early part of that century the celebrated Daniel De Foe mentions the Society of Oddfellows. Also in the Gentlemen's Magazine for 1745 the Oddfellows' Lodge is mentioned as a place where very pleasant and recreative evenings are spent. The objects of these meetings were said to be the formation of a select society to uphold the dignity of the sovereign of the realm, to assist one another in times of misfortune and to amuse and instruct one another. And after a careful search of all records this is believed to be the correct date of its institution.

In 1788 the poet, James Montgomery, wrote a song for a body of Oddfellows. In its early days each lodge was the arbiter of its own fate, also we find several orders such as the Free and Independent, Original Grand Lodge, Union Order, etc. In the early part of the last century secret societies of this character were under the closest inspection by the authorities, and members were compelled to conceal their identity with the institution and several lodges were closed on account of the political agitation.

In 1813 a convention was held in Manchester and several lodges formally seceded from the Union Order and constituted what is now widely know as the Independent Order of Oddfellows, Manchester Unity, Friendly Society. The brethren at the head of this movement were earnest, active, intelligent men and started issuing charters and establishing lodges throughout Great Britain. The first lodge was chartered July 21st, 1813, at Ashton-under-Lyne, and was named the Loyal Victoria Lodge No. 1. There are various accounts of its being instituted in 1809 and 1810, but this is the correct one given in the history of the Order, by Bro. James Spry.

The naval branch of the order is very strong, both numerically and financially, held at the Royal Sailors' Home, Portsmouth. Mr. Harry Dunsford, Peterborough, was a member of one lodge. In two ships he was in H.M.S. Pylades, there were four Oddfellows in his mess out of twelve, and in the All-Exted H.M.S. Victoria there was six Oddfellows out of nineteen; but, unfortunately he was the only one saved out of the six. He joined the order in January, 1885, at Bermuda, which at that time was under the Halifax district. Nova Scotia, the Loyal Irresistible Lodge, being the only one there; in 1891 there were three lodges. In 1896 he transferred to the Loyal Ark Lodge, Warminster, in the Trowbridge District, Wiltshire, to which he still belongs.

The order issues a monthly magazine, price one penny, with news of the order all over the world. The Manchester Unity is the oldest order. The American order was instituted April 26th, 1819, by five English Oddfellows, who obtained the charter of the Washington Lodge, No. 1, from the Duke of Yorks Lodge, Preston, Eng.

In all there are twenty-two different orders of Oddfellows in the world, so that some idea may be formed of the importance of the craft.

THE SUGAR MAKING SEASON NEAR AT HAND

With a contemplation of the present mild weather into next week the irresistible call to the sugar bush will be heard. The owners of maple trees are already thinking of tapping the trees and the old, familiar cry of "sap's running," will soon be heard from the lips of the small boy. Mr. W. B. Mann, of Bridgenorth intends tapping 250 maples this season and he expects to begin next week. Others of the vicinity are of a similar mind.

HAS RETURNED FROM OTTAWA

Deputation Favourably Impressed by Its Reception

The deputation from the county and city to Ottawa report that their request regarding the Chemong Bridge was favourably received by Hon. G. P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals. He promised that the matter would be given serious consideration.

The members of the deputation returned yesterday and seem to have been impressed with the idea that the Government will extend practical assistance.

TO WIDEN THE SCOPE OF THE MANUFACTURE OF PRODUCTS OF THE QUAKER OATS COMPANY

Ontario Gazette Intimates That $1,000,000 May Be Spent In Canada—The Headquarters At Peterborough.

TO ACQUIRE POWER PLANTS

Examiner Special.

Toronto, March 14.—According to this week's Ontario Gazette, the Quaker Oats Company, of New Jersey, may spend in Ontario, with headquarters in Peterborough, the sum of $1,000,000 in the manufacture of its cereal products. In Canada it is authorized to do no less than fifteen separate things, including the acquiring of other companies, the making of contracts with the Government and the purchasing or acquiring of power plants.

It is understood that the company intend erecting in the near future a large warehouse to the south of the present elevator and that plans are now being prepared. The legal office, however, have not yet received any notice of the statements made in the above despatch.

BOARD OF TRADE TO PROTEST AGAINST THE "EXCESSIVE" INTER-SWITCHING CHARGES

Committee Appointed to Bring the Matter Before the Board of Railway Commissioners at Their Meeting on Tuesday—Manufacturers Are Injured.

CHEAPER TO TEAM, SAYS ONE

The subject of inter-switching charges will be brought before the Board of Railway Commissioners at their sittings here next week by the Board of Trade in the interests of the manufacturers of the city, who are affected by the change in the charges. The cost of transferring cars from one line to another has become so heavy that it is severely felt by the manufacturers who are a unit in protesting against the new rates which are in force.

A meeting of the special committee of the Board which has the subject in hand was held last night when arrangements were made to have the matter heard before the Commission. The attendance was not as large as might have been expected from the importance of the business. Among those present were Mr. W H Meldrum, who occupied the chair; Dr. Morrison, Mr. E S Clarry, representing the Sandstone Brick Company; Mr. R F McWilliams, the Geo. Matthews Company; Mr. Geo. Linton, the Peterborough Lumber Company; Mr. A O Myers, the Central Milling Company, and Secretary T. Q. Quartermaine.

After the chairman, Mr. Meldrum, had briefly mentioned the object for calling the meeting, the subject was discussed by those present. Mr. Clarry read extracts from the correspondence between his company and the Commissioners on which the grievance of the company was clearly set forth. It showed that the company which is situated on the line of the C.P.R. has to pay one cent per hundred weight for transferring a car while under the old system the charge was but $2 per car. The company considered the charge exorbitant and prohibitory.

Mr. Lenton explained that his company had to pay 2 cents per hundred weight for switching a car from one siding to another, the charge being the same as that for bringing a car from Lakefield.

Mr. Meldrum stated when his company, the Peterborough Cereal Company, made a shipment on the G.T.R. they found it cheaper to team it to the station then to pay the shunting charges.

After a short discussion on this point it was moved by Dr Morrison, seconded by Mr. Lenton, that Messrs W H Meldrum, E S Clarry and R F McWilliams be a committee to represent the Board of Trade before the Commissioners and to arrange the details so that the manufacturers who have complaints to make in regard to the inter-switching charges should be looked after.

THE REAL STUFF OUT FROM THE OLD SOD

Messrs. Jordan Bros. have to be thanked for having left with the Examiner a pot of genuine Irish Shamrock—seamrog. It is of a rich emerald, as green as the grass of Ireland. It was grown by Jordan Bros. from seed sent from Dublin last summer, by Mr. R. J. Munro, during his visit to Ireland last year. Messrs. Jordan Bros. received a small packet of seed, and every seed germinated and produced a beautiful plant. A good supply will be available for purchase at Jordan Bros'. flower shop, George street, for St. Patrick's Day purposes.

Many Things To Be Heard By The Railway Board

The Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada will meet in Peterborough on Tuesday next, March 17, their first meeting being at 10 o'clock in the morning. Some very important business will come up before the Commissioners, probably the most interesting from the viewpoint of citizens generally being the application of the city to have gates placed on the Aylmer street crossing of the C.P.R. and the Reid street crossing of the G.T.R. Evidence in connection with this will be gladly received by the City Solicitor or the City Clerk.

The city also wants permission to cross the G.T.R. tracks with the extension of George street, while the G.T.R. has several matters to bring up. They are asking permission to build sidings on Bethune street at Wolfe and Dalhousie streets, and also to construct a siding to the George Matthews Company.

In addition to these matters the Board of Trade will bring up the question of the inter-switching charges, if a hearing can be obtained in the matter.

Although the price of tea at the gardens increased enormously during the past year, the "Salada" Tea Co. did not once withdraw an iota from their high standard of what constitutes the best in teas. The advance in price, however, has at last compelled them to raise their lower priced tea from 25c to 30c per pound.

Charged With Having Taken Stollen Goods

John Doig was the only man in trouble at the regular session of the police court this morning. There were two charges against him, one of being the keeper of a place for the purchase of second hand goods without a license, and the other of receiving stolen property. To both of these indictments John protested that he was not guilty, and as the chief was not ready to go on with the case, the matter was enlarged until Thursday of next week.

Chief Ruzzel thought that a few days in gaol in the meantime would do Doig good. "Anything would be better than living where you do," he remarked, "it is not fit for a dog."

The magistrate agreed with this suggestion, that it might give the accused a chance to get washed. As Doig's feelings were not consulted in the matter he will spend the time between now and next Thursday morning the guest of Gaoler Nesbitt.

Rapid Change Of Appearance In Water Hole

A rapid change of appearance was made this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock at the corner of George and Charlotte street. Two youths were driving around the corner a little too rapidly when the cutter tilted and one of the youths tumbled into the mud and water. Speaking about quick changes—the youth on the high side of the cutter had all his ancestors faded away. He was unrecognizable to his most intimate friends on resuming his seat in the conveyance.

Hold Closing Gym Concert On March 25

The closing concert in connection with the Y.W.C.A. gymnasium class will be held on March 26 at the Y.M.C.A., George street. This is an event looked forward to by many, and it will as usual no doubt prove interesting. The programme will consist principally of drills and acrobatic work by the ladies, which will give an idea of the skill which may be developed by the feminine sex.

THE YOUNG MEN DEBATE AGAIN

T. A. S. Young Men's Literary Society Have Good Meeting

The regular meeting of the Young Men's Literary Society of St. Peter's T.A.S. was held last night and another good debate was the result. Rev. Father Kelly acted as chairman and helped make the evening the more profitable. The subject of the debate was, "Resolved, That it is in the best interests of Peterborough for the city to own the electric power plants." On the affirmative side were Messrs. John McNicholl and Harry Quinlan, and on the negative Messrs. Leo Deracher and Herb Hefferman.

The negative side was successful in scoring the most points, Rev. Father Kelly giving the decision.

The following programme was presented during the evening:

Piano Solo—Mr. H. Hefferman.
Reading—Mr. V. Corkery.
Euphonium Solo — Mr. E. Hanrahan.
Vocal Solo—Mr. H. Quinlan.
Step-dance—Mr. J. Callaghan.

The attendance continues most encouraging and a good work is being done.

DARK THREATS.

A day or two ago our local contemporary, the Review, begged for mercy at the hands of the Examiner, and under cover of dark threats, warned this journal of the dire consequences of making direct reference to the editor of our evening contemporary. This is a hard proposition. The editor of the Review happens to be also the candidate-designate of the Conservative party. As such he is a public character, and properly a subject of discussion. The editor of the Review, or the Conservative candidate, or both, has shown a disinclination to take the very medicine he prescribes for the Examiner. Day after day, references, not to be regarded as complimentary —especially in intention— are made to Mr. Stratton, the proprietor of the Examiner. He is not in public life, and is attacked as a private citizen. If the Review can justify this course it must permit the Examiner to deal in a personal capacity with the editor of the Review and the Conservative candidate. No threats will deter the Examiner from resenting attacks upon a private citizen, closely connected with its publication. So long as the Review commits the offence, so long will the Examiner feel itself justified in dealing with such an offence in any manner which commends itself to its judgment, veiled threats to the contrary notwithstanding.

THE REVIVAL.

The "preacher" tells us that there is a time for everything under the sun. Mr. Pringle, of Stormont, forgot this when he took advantage of his place in Parliament to make an untimely attack upon the banks. This attack was especially ill-timed, in view of immediately past and present conditions. The Montreal Star, a political ally of Mr. Pringle, points out the inopportune nature of the attack "just now when the Canadian banks are the heroes of the financial world." While American banks were crashing amid the rough waters and floating debris of the recent financial "washout," our banks stood firm. Depositors took their money from perfectly safe American banks and brought it across the border to leave it with our bankers, thus showing in a dramatic way where their faith lay. European capitalists are to-day exhibiting the same feeling, as is shown by the ready way in which Canadian securities are absorbed on the London market.

This is all the more important because there are evidences of a revival in trade in the United States and a better and more hopeful outlook present, and that conditions in the United States react upon Canada. If the United States, under the severity of the blow which staggered the nation, is picking up, there is a moral certainty that conditions in this country, where the depression was far less acute, will soon assume their normal condition of activity. This year we shall have an unprecedented activity in railway building. It is estimated that the pay roll to employees upon Grand Trunk Pacific construction will this year total three million dollars per month. With this immense amount of money injected into the channels of national circulation there cannot but be a decided and powerful impulse given to every form of national activity, especially when it is considered that these operations will be carried on during the coming year in every province of the Dominion except Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia, two of the smallest of our provinces. What the stimulating effect of this expenditure which will create demands upon every natural industry will be cannot be estimated and can only be experienced by the results which will come.

The Great Art.

Culture is the ability to use learning intelligently and effectively —in doing sensible and beautiful, rather than startling, things. As the poet says, "Of all the arts, great music is the art to raise the soul above all earthly storms." To the truly cultivated, the New Scale Williams Piano lays bare the secrets of the world's best music. Its grandeur of tone, superb action, and sympathetic touch, enable the performer to interpret every mood of the composer. Mechanically, the New Scale Williams is absolutely faultless. "I predict for it a distinctive place among the great pianos," —Ben Davis. Mr. Davies' prediction has come true. To day, the New Scale Williams enjoys a prestige that is the admiration of the music-loving world. In the homes, on the concert stage, in the studios of the teachers and artists, it is the honored guest. It is safe to say, that among the great pianos, the New Scale Williams is greatest. 5

TIMBER-THIEVING.

Probably the greatest problem before the Governments and people of especially the eastern Provinces today is the proper protection of their forests, so as to guarantee the practical perpetuity of that magnificent source of general prosperity. And one of the most difficult phases of this problem is the treatment of the pernicious practice known as timber-thieving or "fake settling" — a practice which is rapidly leading to the devastation of whole sections of the finest and most available timber lands, especially in the Province of Quebec, though the practice is not unknown in Central and Western Canada. The evil has already assumed terrible proportions, and if not speedily checked its consequences will be a widespread and permanent damage to the most valuable part of Canada's birth-right.

Timber-thieving, or "fake settling," is the practice of taking up land, ostensibly for purposes of settlement and colonization, but really to strip the land of its timber. The motive of such action is quite clear enough when it is understood that for $100 a settler can take up three lots of Crown land. All he has to do in the Province of Quebec is to get letters patent to the property and make it his own, to build a small house and cultivate ten acres of ground. Then the land is his, and he can dispose of it as he likes. What he generally does is to cut off all the timber, taking everything fit to use in any way, and, leaving the ground piled high with debris, which effectually chokes off the young undergrowth and offers splendid opportunities for forest fires. In view of the high prices which have prevailed for wood of late, a settler taking up three lots of one hundred acres in this way, would make from $1,500 to $2,500 on the wood. Then, when the land is stripped bare and made an eye-sore and a general menace for fires, the fake settler simply states that the ground is unfit for cultivation, and moves on to take up a new portion, and repeat the same destructive process. The evil is beyond question a great and growing one, and is to be traced, in large measure, to the reckless buying of American paper companies, who buy their wood anywhere and from anyone without regard to the interests of the country.

THE CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY.

The soundness and strength of the Canada Life Assurance Company is once more clearly demonstrated in the splendid financial record for 1907, which appears in this issue of the Examiner.

Congratulation is fairly due, says the Monetary Times, to this old and representative Canadian Life Company on the exhibit it has made for the past year. To have shown an increase in new assurances, an increase in total income, and an increase in surplus on policyholders' account in an ordinary year would have been a creditable record. But to show all these betterments in a year such as last year, when several branches had to be closed and when the life assurance field on both sides of the Lakes was demoralized by ignorant criticism of the business and by untoward financial conditions, is an achievement deserving of special remark.

It is now able to exhibit nearly half (47.47 per cent) of its amount at risk valued at 3 per cent., the remainder at 3 1-2 per cent interest, both on the Hm. Table. This is a consummation in which the company may well take pride. For this low rate of valuation renders it one of the strongest concerns in the life assurance domain.

Among the striking features of the company's year brought out in the president's address at the meeting was the circumstance that during the financial flurry of 1907 the management succeeded in exchanging some of its securities for others yielding larger returns, at long terms. And again, the fact that by means of the three branches of the company in Western Canada it is enabled to secure the higher rates prevailing out there on mortgage of lands. Both these features presage increased earnings and therefore, in all likelihood, increased dividends to policyholders. The policyholders have received a pretty fair return in the year. Their share in matured endowments, cash surrender values and cash dividends amounted to $575,250, while $1,387,101 was paid for death claims and bonus additions. The loans made to policyholders on the security of policies were $1,300,000; and the United States clients of the company were especially grateful for this privilege, of which so many of them took advantage during their financial "squeeze."

Another creditable feature of the company's 1907 record is the further decrease in its lapse ratio, and also the decrease in the ratio of expense to premium, both of them in marked contrast to some prominent American companies. Canadians may well feel pride in the very strength and success of this substantial life company.

The new city offices of the Peterborough Branch are now comfortably and conveniently located at 435 George street, (up stairs), with Mr S. E. Salls as District Agent.

A SAVING CLAUSE.

Premier Whitney, in defending his Government from the charge that it had missed a splendid opportunity to obtain control for the people of the Electrical Development Company of Niagara, took refuge behind the agreement which the Ross Government entered into with the Niagara power companies that the Government would not itself undertake power development at Niagara. That agreement is made in each of the power leases, and if it were absolute the Province would be shut out from the white coal of the Falls forever, or at least so long as prosperity might honour the permanent acts of temporary authority. But, the Globe points out, there is in every agreement the following exception:

"Provided, that in case the said commissioners shall have granted, or at any time may have granted, to any other person or incorporation license to use the waters of the said Niagara or Welland river, and by reason of the failure of such person or corporation to carry on the works so licensed, the said commissioners find it necessary to forfeit said licenses and take over said works, this clause should not prevent said commissioners from operating such works for the generation and transmission, sale or lease of electricity or power."

It is clear from this, remarks our Toronto contemporary, that if the Electrical Development Company was willing, the Government could take over and operate its works without violating any agreement with any of the other companies. When its lease was forfeited by failure, the Government, under the saving clause, would be free to take everything over and supply power to consumers. That would not be undertaking the development of power, but would be carrying out a policy clearly contemplated in the agreements. It is not suggested that the Government should take any unfair advantage of the proviso and injuriously compete with the two remaining power companies. That would be neither necessary nor desirable. Every private interest could be fully guarded and every private right protected. The only difference to the other companies would be the substitution of the Provincial Government for Mr. William Mackenzie.—Ottawa Free Press.

NOT "IN THE SAME WAY."

(Montreal Herald.)

Certain provisions of Mr. Aylesworth's bill respecting the conduct of elections would seem to arise directly out of the testimony given by Mr. Hugh Graham, election funds almoner for the Conservative party, in the action brought against him by L'Evenement, just following the last general election. Mr. Graham explained his method of forwarding money to the Quebec districts in this way:

"About the 24th of October—23rd or 24th of October—I received a letter from Mr. Borden, the chief, telling me that moneys must not be handled by any person, I believe—I won't quote the exact words, but to the effect that moneys must not be handled by men in the party, in public life, or words to that effect, and that it was better to have, in each province, persons appointed who were in every way acceptable to the party, locally. I sent a copy of that to all the different provinces where I was giving any assistance."

Mr Borden denied, in a public speech at the Monument National last September, that he had ever written such a letter, but when Mr. Graham came back from Europe, as he did shortly afterwards, he gave wide publicity to a letter in which he repeated that he had received the letter from Mr. Borden, and Mr. Borden has not since tried to relieve what must be an embarrassing situation. Perhaps he will have something to say during the debate on Mr. Aylesworth's bill.

At all events, Mr. Graham (Zandray) testified most explicitly as to his method of getting money to the support of Conservative candidates. "On the 8th of October I sent Mr. Pelletier (Zandring) one thousand dollars direct to Mr. Pelletier; on the 17th, three thousand dollars to the committee to Mr. Pelletier's committee, through Mr. Giroux; 21st of October, three thousand dollars in the same way; 25th, five thousand dollars in the same way." Under the provisions of Mr. Aylesworth's bill these donations would have to be made to the candidate or his agent, and properly accounted for in the sworn return. That was probably not contemplated when so many thousands were poured out "in the same way," and in "different provinces where I was giving any assistance."

Nothing Did Good

Until She Tried "Fruit-a-tives"

Madame Rioux is the wife of M. Jos. Rioux, a wealthy manufacturer of lumber in St. Moise. Madame Rioux is greatly esteemed in her home town and her testimonial in favor of "Fruit-a-tives" carries conviction with it, as it is entirely unsolicited.

St. Moise, Quebec.

I have much pleasure in testifying to the marvelous good which I have received from the use of the famous tablets "Fruit-a-tives". I was a great sufferer for many years with serious liver disease and severe constipation. I had constant pain in the right side and in the back and these pains were severe and distressing. My digestion was very bad, with frequent headaches, and I became greatly run down in health. I took many kinds of liver pills and liver medicine without any benefit, and I was treated by several doctors but nothing did me any good, bloating continued. As soon as I began to take "Fruit-a-tives" I began to feel better, the dreadful pains in the right side and back were controlled and when I had taken three boxes I was practically well. 150

CHURCH INTELLIGENCE AND RELIGIOUS SUBJECTS

Laymen Spoke At Last Night's Mission Service

Mr. J. B. Pense and Mr. Hoyle Were Heard in Two Fine Addresses—Practical Religion For Every Day In The Year.

ENTHUSIASTIC SINGING

Two practical addresses on religion in everyday life marked last night's mission services at St. John's Church. The congregation was a large one and a noticeable feature was the hearty manner in which the special hymns were sung, with the accompaniment of the organ and full orchestra. The service was different from all the others of the week, in that the speakers were laymen — Messrs. E J B Pense, M.P.P., Kingston, and W H Hoyle, M.P.P., of North Ontario. Rev. Canon Davidson led the services and conducted the inspiring singing with his usual artistry and imparted an impulse of vigour and enthusiasm to the services.

Mr. Pense was the first speaker. He said the success which the mission at St. John's was attaining would be an encouragement to every layman in the Province. In reference to the laymen's movement, he said the Church of England was not abandoning its standard, but was protecting them, and in the course of his address he gave a history of the mission work of the church during the past two hundred and fifty years.

A priesthood of the laymen is to combat in some way the idea that there is a predominance of ecclesiastics. The men are not a forgotten asset in the church, and there has never been a time when the clergy did not put them forward to help the church work.

Mr. Pense outlined the work there is to be done by every member of a congregation, and emphasized priesthood as that of love and sacrifice. This can be exercised daily in many ways, and it does not matter how humble it is so long as it is done in Christ's name.

Mr. Hoyle's Address

Mr. Hoyle, after expressing his appreciation of the honour of being asked to assist in this mission, said he could readily understand the wisdom of any rector in making use of the great laymen power. Men will give money towards the church, but it is difficult to get them to take their share of the work for the general welfare of the parish. The speaker had met men who said religion was all a fiction, and that civilization had superseded the Christian idea. Mr. Hoyle explained the unreasonableness of such statements and gave as an example France. That nation had tried to get rid of the Christian religion, but the result had been a Robespierre and untold sin and crimes.

The history of the character of man has shown what Christianity has done, and Mr. Hyole substantiated his statements by showing the change that had been made in almost every phase of human life.

The mission would build up the spiritual life of St. John's Church as it was doing everywhere, and the laymen were beginning a work for the grand old church which had assisted so much in promoting the teachings of Christ. Men may struggle to get away from the influence of Christianity, but this they find is an impossibility.

Every man is responsible to God for the talents with which He has endowed them, and Mr. Hyole pointed out how great leaders like Gladstone and others had been powerful in public life, but in church work they had been of real and simplicity.

In conclusion, Mr. Hoyle urged everyone to make the best use of our natural gifts in the service of God.

Mission Notes

Last night was the first laymen's service that has been held at St. John's. From every standpoint the large congregation present, in which every church was represented, the solid, convincing nature of the speakers' addresses and the hearty and enthusiastic singing of well known hymns, led by the orchestra, all made a striking combination seldom met with. In the congregation were several clergy and officers of different churches and through the assemblage there was a good sprinkling of ladies especially in the front of the church. The platform used at the open air services was placed before the chancel steps, surrounded with the red flag and emblazoned with a large cross. This formed a good vantage point for the speakers. While Mr. Pense dealt logically and dispassionately with the present forward movement in the church, and the increasing prospects for a world-wide evangelization, Mr. Hoyle made a fervent appeal on the relation of the great articles of the Christian faith to practical life and fairly carried the audience before him. As was remarked by the chairman, had the sacred character of the building permitted, his magnificent address would have been punctuated by round after round of applause. As it was the congregation rose en masse at the conclusion and with a fervor possibly not shown before, repeated the Apostle's Creed—this great battle cry of the Christian church of all ages.

The hymns "Work For the Night is Coming" and "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," then brought to a conclusion a unique and soul-stirring service.

Messrs. Hoyle and Pense left this morning for their respective homes. There will be no service this evening and the next great service is expected to-morrow evening at seven o'clock, when both the missioners—Rev. Mr. Sharp and Hon. A. B. Morine will speak. The missioners will also give the address at the 11 o'clock service, when he will enter upon the concluding work of the week. Mr. Sharp was formerly naval chaplain at Esquimault, B. C. He is an Englishman of culture and refinement and of considerable spiritual power, especially in dealing with individuals. He is bringing Rev. Hamilton Mockridge to assist him in his work. Evangelistic services will be continued Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, when the Mission will be concluded. Hon A. B. Morine's address is especially looked forward to to-morrow evening after the favourable impression created by him at the Canadian Club.

More and more it is being evident that this Mission work is not by any means confined to the clergy, the lay element taking an effective and prominent part in both the addresses and executive organization.

PUPILS IN TWO SCHOOLS IN DANGER OF FIRE

they went out in a little more than a minute.

He was pleased to see the system at the South Central. As soon as in case of fire, and to watch carefully the stoves and furnaces. Chemical extinguishers might also be considered for protection.

Mr. Nelson reported on the fire drill at the East Ward School. He added that he found from 10 to 20 seconds were consumed in unfastening the bolts, and suggested a device for speedying this. If a fire occurred in the hall, however, he did not think the pupils could escape as easily as they should. He agreed upon the fire drill scheme, and that something should be done to master it at once.

Mr. B. F. Ackerman reported that at the King Edward School the gong was sounded. Four boys cleared the way and the principal came downstairs ready to pass all who left. All the scholars came down rapidly.

With the absence of the old stove in the West Ward School at the foot of the stairs the school would be much safer. This stove has been ordered out, Dr. Morrison thought there should be some protection for the pupils in the upper rooms. He did not believe much in fire escapes as there would be many hurt in coming down.

Fire drills were becoming more popular all over the country, and he believed they should be on the curriculum. He also thought the school classes should be re-arranged to have the younger pupils on the ground floor. There should, too, be free exits, so there would be no jamming in porches, or by other obstructions. The ordinary fire escapes were of little use, and he strongly advised fire drills regularly.

The Janitor's Work

Mr. Crane, who accompanied Dr. Morrison, agreed that regular fire drills should be held, and that they should be reported to the board, as well as the attendance. He considered the janitor should remain at the school during sessions to assist the pupils were outside in 45 seconds after the ringing of the gong. He ordered the janitor of the King Edward school to always leave the doors unlocked during the sessions. He also believed in the weekly fire drill scheme.

Mr. W. S. Robinson, who went to the King Edward school, endorsed what Mr. Ackerman had said. He did not believe that fire escapes were necessary there, on account of the wide halls, the opening of the doors outwards and the position of the stairs. He though fire escapes should be provided for the West Ward and East Ward schools and that doors should be used, instead of windows, opening out to the escapes.

Fire Proof Basements

Mr. Hill, who in company with Mr. Fair, visited the Central School, states that the drill there was performed with precision—the exit being made in 40 seconds. The gong there is not a good one, as it cannot be heard in the top story.

He believed there should be fire boxes in each school and that the basements of each should be made as nearly fire proof as possible.

Mr. Hill considered that the Board should find out what kind of fire escapes would suit the purpose best, and spend the money to the best advantage. The fire drills should be systematic and not in spasms as is usually the case. The inspector should see that every school has a regular fire drill and that his monthly reports should contain the report of the fire drill.

The Motions

It was then moved by Messrs. Hill and Crane, that the inspector be requested to see that fire drills are performed in each school weekly, and that the head master should report to the inspector when and how long it took the pupils of each school to make their exit and that the inspector report to the School Board. This motion was carried.

Dr. Morrison believed that in front of every school there should be pavements constructed where the pupils might have an opportunity to stand. The South Central was mentioned particularly in this respect.

Mr. Robinson believed that hose should be placed in the halls of each school, and that the janitor should have some fire-fighting apparatus in the basement.

Mr. Fair considered that the porch at the east side of the Collegiate Institute should be removed, and urged that whatever is done should be done at once. He did not believe that fire escapes were of much benefit, but that they would to a certain extent be a nuisance.

The following resolution, moved by Dr. Morrison and seconded by Dr. Burnham, whose suggestion it was, to have the school inspector added, was carried.

That Messrs. Crane, Nelson, Robinson, and Hill, the chairman and Mr. Mowat be a committee to take the question of fire escapes, hydrants and hose and fire boxes, etc., into consideration and report to the Board at the earliest opportunity, and that the Property Committee see that the proper gongs be installed; that all doors open outwards and that other necessary work be done.—Carried.

The meeting then adjourned and a session of the special committee was held.

THE OLDEST MAN IN AMERICA

Escaped the Terrors of Many Winters By Using Pe-ru-na.

Mr. Isaac Brock, 118 Years Old Last Birthday.

ISAAC BROCK, a citizen of McLennan county, Texas, has lived for 118 years.

For many years he resided at Bosque Falls, eighteen miles west of Waco, but now lives with his son-in-law at Valley Mills, Texas.

Some time ago, by request, Uncle Isaac came to Waco and sat for his picture, holding in his hand a stick cut from the grave of General Andrew Jackson.

Mr. Brock is a dignified old gentleman, showing few signs of decrepitude. His family Bible is still preserved, and it shows that the date of his birth was written 118 years ago.

Born before the United States were formed.
Saw 23 presidents elected.
Pe-ru-na has protected him from all sudden changes.
Veteran of four wars.
Shod a horse when 99 years old.
Always conquered the grip with Pe-ru-na.
Witness in a land suit at the age of 110 years.
Believes Peruna the greatest remedy of the age for catarrhal troubles.

IN speaking of his good health and extreme old age, Mr. Brock says:

"After a man has lived in the world so long as I have, he ought to have found out a great many things by experience. I think I have done so.

"One of the things I have found out to my entire satisfaction is the proper thing for ailments that are due directly to the effects of the climate. For 118 years I have withstood the changeable climate of the United States.

"I have always been a very healthy man, but, of course, subject to the affections which are due to sudden changes in the climate and temperature.

"As for Dr. Hartman's remedy, Peruna, I have found it to be the best, if not the only reliable remedy for these affections. It has been my standby for many years, and I attribute my good health and extreme old age to this remedy.

"It exactly meets all my requirements. It protects me from the evil effects of sudden changes; it gives me strength; it keeps my blood in good circulation. I have come to rely upon it almost entirely for the many little things for which I need medicine.

"When epidemics of la grippe first began to make their appearance in this country I was a sufferer from this disease.

"I had several lung stages with the grip. At first I did not know that Peruna was a remedy for this disease. When I heard that la grippe was epidemic catarrh, I tried Peruna for la grippe and found it to be just the thing."

In a later letter, Mr. Brock writes: "I am well and feeling as well as I have for years. I would not be without Peruna."

Yours truly,
Isaac Brock,

A letter dated July 8, 1906, written for Mr. Brock by his wife, Sarah J. Brock, states:

"Last winter I had just gotten up out of a spell of sickness, when I commenced taking Peruna. I think it improved my health very much."

In a postscript, Mrs. Brock adds: "He receives a great many letters inquiring about what Peruna will do. I do not answer them all, as I think they can get a bottle and try it."

Section 2, 67 miles to Tobique River—Macdonald & O'Brien and Grand Trunk Pacific.

Section 3, 31 miles, Tobique River to a point 2 1-2 miles west of Grand Falls, N. B. — Craig and Thompson, Macdonald and O'Brien, M. P. and J. T. Davis, Kennedy and McDonald, the Willard Kitchen Company, Trites, McPhail, Moore and Miller and the Grand Trunk Pacific.

It is estimated that there will this summer be 30,000 men employed on the various contracts from Moncton westward to the Pacific, and that the pay roll will be between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 a month.

Mission Movement Gathers Strength At Great Convention

Rev. H. J. Keith Returns From Pittsburg Where 2,300 Delegates Held a Three Days' Convention--- Representatives From Foreign Countries.

Rev. H. J. Keith who was the delegate for Knox church at the convention of Young People's Mission bodies, Pittsburg, in connection with the new movement. The convention lasted three days, March 10th to 12th, and there were 2,300 delegates present from many foreign countries. Canada was represented by 125 delegates, clergy and laymen and there were present natives of India, Japan, China, Korea, Africa and South America.

The meetings were held in the large music hall of the Exposition Building and 2,300 delegates were present. The hall was filled at every meeting and this, the first international convention exerted an influence which will have a lasting effect. The mission movement is to stimulate to the churches an intelligent interest in all missions of the world.

The Services

Mr J Willis Baer, president of the Occidental College, Los Angeles, Cal., was chairman of the meetings. On Tuesday morning after the registration of the delegates Mr Baer opened the convention with a devotional address on "What do ye more than others." Dr. Vance, of New York, spoke on the "Resurrection Gift." The history of the mission movement was told in addresses by representatives from India, China, Japan, South America, Korea and Africa. Native speakers from these countries also spoke detailing the needs of the country in the gospel work. Splendid moving pictures depicting actual mission scenes were shown one night and were very vivid and realistic.

On the last day denominational conferences were held at which the best methods of promoting the movement in home congregations were considered.

A particularly strong address was given by Prof McKenzie of Hartford, on Missionary Education. He was followed by consecration addresses by Mr. Robert E Speer and Mr. John R Mott, of New York. They are two of the brightest and most successful Christian workers of the day.

The Association Quartette, famous for their excellent singing were heard at all the services.

Rev. Mr. Keith has returned greatly impressed with the magnitude of the mission movement and confident that the people will more earnestly consider it.

All the countries where missions are needed are awakening from their lethargy and it is a duty of the people to advance commensurately with them. The Christian people must keep ahead of them and to do this there must be a great extension movement such as was detailed at the convention.

This is the new scalp germicide and antiseptic that acts by destroying the germ or microbe that is the underlying cause of all hair destruction. PROMINENT MEN OF ONTARIO

HON. SENATOR JAFFRAY.

A THEATRE FOR THE CHURCH?

"Church Blindness" Submits Questions On This Subject—Error in Schemes Of Moral and Spiritual Reform.

AN AGE OF REFORMATION

Dear Sir,—

Do we need a church theatre?

If so, why not use the Y. M. C. A rooms?

Shall we introduce musical entertainment and musical drama?

Shall we have a billiard room, a pool room, a dancing room, a bazaar room, a class distinction room, et cetera?

The question arises—can we establish a school for Christian acting which shall be as distinctively Christian as any home or church we now possess? If we believe in the elevating power of Christianity over all things that belong to humanity, why not adopt the foregoing? The histrionic passion is a part of life. Could we but minister through a Christian channel there is no telling what impulses might be set in motion, or established. But histrionic passion is hardly more a part of life than is gambling, which seems to have ever been one of the universal sins of the fallen race, but we are hardly under obligations to give the gaming evil a sort of religious disinfecting that shall make it advisable to our churches and homes.

The great error in all such schemes of moral and spiritual reform is that the wayward tendencies of human nature are so largely left out of account. Were all the motives and ideas of men pure, and tending upward, then a clean play in our churches would likely be a means of moral education. Such a happy condition does not prevail, however, and will hardly be brought about by elevating the stage entertainment in our Christian churches. The Elizabeth theatre began as a church affair. Bible stories and scenes being dramatized for the benefit and instruction of the people, whose higher emotions were in this way appealed to. It soon proved to be a most attractive method of presenting other themes, thus the modern theatre is the result. The fact is, no theatre could long exist without appeals to the emotions. With a large proportion of people there soon comes to be little distinction between the two in their craving for entertainment that appeals to the more profound human feelings. It is also significant that many who object to a religious revival as only an appeal to emotion, are nevertheless devotees of the play which exists wholly by catering to the same element in men. They unconsciously testify to a belief that Christianity should not borrow the ways of the world to spread its doctrines. The only way to permanently correct such evils as those presented by the modern playhouse or church entertainment is by dealing with the individual conscience and mind. The religion of Christ does not need to enter to the love of pleasure in its lofty work. Are we not living in the age of reformation, instead of regeneration, culture instead of conviction, ethics instead of obedience to God, improvement of the conditions of society instead of the salvation of men, the attempt to bring in the kingdom instead of the desire and effort to bring back the King. Indeed, men are repeating, in the professed church, as well as in the disbelieving world, the experiment of Cain — to make this a beautiful and comfortable world to live in, but without God in its thoughts, its affections, its purposes, or its ways.

Yours truly,
CHURCH BLINDNESS.

A PRAYER

There is more good wrought by prayer
Than this world dreams of. Wherefore, let thy voice
More thing are wrought by prayer
Rise like a fountain for me night and day.
For what are men better than sheep or goats,
That nourish a blind life within the brain,
If, knowing God, they lift not hands in prayer
Both for themselves and those who call them friends?
For so the whole round world is every way
Bound by gold chains about the feet of God.

DRINK PLENTY OF GOOD WATER

Also Valuable Recipe to Relieve Kidney Trouble Anyone Can Prepare.

TRY THIS AT YOUR HOME

"The people here do not drink enough water to keep healthy," exclaimed a well known authority. "The numerous cases of stomach trouble, kidney and bladder diseases and rheumatism are mainly due to the fact that the drinking of water, nature's greatest medicine, has been neglected.

"Stop loading your systems with patent medicine and pure-alls; but get on the water wagon. If you are really sick, why, of course, take the proper medicine — plain, common vegetable treatment, which will not shatter the nerves or ruin the stomach."

When requested for such a prescription for the cure of rheumatism and kidney trouble, the answer was: "You must make the kidneys do their work; they are the filters of the blood. They must be made to strain out of the blood the waste matter and acids that cause rheumatism; the urine must be neutralized so that it will no longer be a source of irritation to the bladder, and most of all, you must keep these acids from forming in the stomach. This is the cause of stomach trouble and poor digestion. For these conditions I would suggest the following prescription, which is composed of only vegetable ingredients, which can be obtained from any good prescription pharmacy. Any one can mix them by shaking well in a bottle: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. To be taken in teaspoonful dose after each meal and at bedtime, but don't forget the water. Drink plenty and often." This valuable information and simple prescription should be posted up in each household and used at the first sign of an attack of rheumatism, backache or urinar trouble, no matter how slight. No. 2.

WANTED TO EXCLUDE THE ITALIANS

"One Who Was There," Pays Tribute to The Sons of Italy.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—The meeting in the Y. M.C.A. on the 10th inst., was, I understood, for the purpose of giving instructions for having the religious census taken in full. However, at that meeting one of the leading workers went out of his way to cast a slur upon the Italian population of this city. That gentlemen remarked that they all knew what the Italians were, and he further added that he would not advise the women to go into their districts as it would not be safe. It was the first reference that had been made to the members of a minority church during the evening and it was also the only uncharitable statement made during the evening. Not even when infidels were alluded to were they spoken of unkindly.

I, as a house to house visitor, visited many of the Italians in their humble homes and was received just as kindly by them as by any other nationalities. And let it be said to the Italians' credit that whatever else their faults may be, I never heard of an Italian insulting a woman.

Yours truly,
ONE WHO WAS THERE.

Russia is becoming a great buyer of British-grown teas. Partly owing to the enormous increase in the quantity they are using, the price of tea at the gardens has advanced greatly during the past year, making it necessary for the "Salada" Tea Company, in order to maintain the high standard of quality for which "Salada" is noted, to advance the price of "Brown Label" from 25c to 30c per pound.

MOUNT FOREST SPEECH CAUSE

Discuss Railway Board — Hon. Mr. Graham's Bill to Increase the Commission—The Kind of Men Wanted — Should Have Enlarged Powers—Condition of Doukhobors at Fort William.

Ottawa, March 14.—The House spent nearly all yesterday afternoon on Mr. Graham's bill to enlarge the Board of Railway Commissioners. The bill was considered in committee of the whole and will get its third reading next week.

Haughton Lennox raised the question of relative powers of the chief and assistant commissioners. One of the clauses apparently gave them equal powers. Mr. Lennox thought the chief should be supreme

Mr. Graham declared that another clause made it plain that on questions of law the opinion of the chief would prevail.

Mr. Lancaster pointed out that any two commissioners were empowered to sit on cases. In such case absolute power should be given to them to decide a point of law.

Mr. Graham said it was intended to give such powers to any group which might for the time compose the board. He amended the section to read that the assistant chief commissioner shall have all the powers of the chief, "but such powers shall not be exercised except in the absence of the chief commissioner."

Mr. Armstrong said in the United States not more than two or three commissioners may be members of the same political party. He feared that the Government would choose three new commissioners from its own party. This was the time to begin reform of the civil service.

"Has that policy been adopted at Toronto" queried Mr. Gordon of East Kent.

"The Prime Minister of Ontario," replied Mr. Armstrong, "appointed the editor of The Globe on an important commission."

Mr. Conmee would oppose any effort to take the appointment of civil servants out of the hands of the Government.

Mr. Graham claimed that the Government had appointed the best men to the Railway Board, and it hoped to appoint men to the new board whose political opinions would not be questioned in respect to their findings.

As to the appointment of Conservatives a large body of independents was rising up in this country and they might have to be considered.

R. L. Borden said a great responsibility rested with the Government in respect to the chairmanship of the commission. The success of the board depended upon the calibre of men who secured the position.

Mr. Lefurgey suggested the appointment of a representative from Prince Edward Island.

E. D. Smith (Wentworth) thought one lawyer was enough. The other two commissioners should be business men or men from other professions. He feared railway men might adjudicate questions with some consideration for the interests of railways.

Mr. Haggart won the applause of the Government benches by rather combatting Mr. Armstrong's suggestion. It was all very well to talk that way when in opposition, but when you were in power and had the distribution of loaves of office and hadn't enough to go around that was a different story.

M. S. McCarthy (Calgary) favored the appointment of a practical railway man, and Mr. Borden thought this was worthy of consideration. A similar opinion was expressed by Messrs. Haughton Lennox, Lancaster, Macpherson, Galliher.

Mr. Borden discussed the division of work that the board might have to do. It seemed to him that the questions would divide themselves into litigous and administrative matters, and with three separate boards all the questions might be apportioned between them.

The objection to that system was that different sections of the board might give decisions which would be entirely dissimilar.

Mr. Graham pointed out that this might cause inconvenience. For instance, one division of the board might be in British Columbia, and it would be inconvenient to have all questions arising in that province disposed of.

Mr. Lancaster pointed out that as the act provided that two may form a quorum there might be a deadlock on questions of fact. Mr. Graham, however, did not anticipate such a difficulty.

There was a lively incident in the House last night, arising out of Dr. Sproule's speech at Mount Forest. The doctor returned yesterday from the grand lodge and participated in the debate on the condition of some Doukhobor colonists at Fort William.

Col. Talbot of Bellechasse read to the House a report of Dr. Sproule's speech, in which he was represented as saying that the French-Canadians in Montreal were becoming atheistic. That was getting pretty close to the Beauharnois member (Mr. Bergeron).

Dr. Sproule declared that if he cared to step into the private life of Mr. Talbot he thought he could say something that would compare favorably with the speech of the member for Bellechasse.

Col. Talbot was defiant, "I defy the hon. member," he said, "to say anything about my private life, either here or outside."

"Don't defy too far," retorted Dr. Sproule.

Mr. Bergeron declared Col. Talbot had read from a report in The Globe, whose policy was in accordance with the fundamental principles of the Liberal party to foment race and religious strife. The country was getting to big for that sort of thing.

In course of debate, Dr. Chisholm (Huron) described the Doukhobors as "moral lepers."

Mr Oliver said the Doukhobors had been in the country seven years and the Province of Ontario had control of them.

The House made good progress on Marine estimates last night, about $3,500,000 being voted.

Dr. Dickey's Dismissal.

Ottawa, March 14.—In the House yesterday afternoon R. L. Borden asked Mr. Oliver for a statement with regard to the dismissal of Dr. Dickey, immigration officer at Halifax.

Mr Oliver said it was deemed inadvisable to make public confidential correspondence as to the discovery of improper practices in connection with the passage of immigrants. The Government had no knowledge as to the identity of W. Dodds. The services of Dr. Dickey had been dispensed with.

STREET RAILWAY MULCTED.

Privy Council Does Justice to the Widow and Fatherless.

Toronto, March 14.—In December, 1904, David King, a driver for the Nasmith Co., was killed by a street car while driving across Yonge street

In January, 1906, the widow was awarded $4,500 damages against the Street Railway Co. On a technicality the company secured a new trial and the plaintiff offered to settle for $1,200, but was refused, the company going to the Supreme Court to ask that the case should be dismissed. Meanwhile the widow got the master-in chambers to reduce the verdict to $3,999, and the Supreme Court is powerless to act in sums under $4,000. The court of appeal then gave the company leave to appeal to the Privy Council.

Yesterday A. J. Russell Snow, K.C., cabled here from London that the Privy Council has restored the trial judgment (for $3,999) with costs, which may reach $7,000.

Mrs. King is at present in ill-health.

Liberals Clash Socialists.

London, March 14.—The Liberal and Socialistic parties came to a clash in the House of Commons yesterday and undoubtedly influenced to a certain extent by Lord Rosebery's speech in the House yesterday against Socialism, the Liberals threw overboard the unemployed workmen's bill of the Labor party. The majority against this bill was 149.

The measure has become known as the "right to work" bill, because a vital clause makes it the duty of the local authorities to provide work for all unemployed persons, and failing this provision to work the authorities shall provide maintenance for unemployed and their families.

Thaw Will Contest Suit.

New York, March 14.—Denying the charge of insanity and praying for dismissal of the suit, Harry K. Thaw, through his counsel, last night made answer to Evelyn Nesbit Thaw's suit for an annulment of their marriage. Thaw's answer was delivered to Daniel O'Reilly, counsel for Mrs. Thaw, who, after receiving the papers, stated that the case would be put on the trial calendar in the Supreme Court next week.

The answer of Harry Thaw is brief and contains only the barest legal formalities. A. Russell Peabody, lawyer for Thaw, declared that the case would be thoroughly contested by his client.

Decline to Be "Raised."

Paris, March 14.—The French Academie yesterday decided to refuse the sum of $20,000 bequeathed to it by Mlle. Louis H. Leclerc, who died in New York Feb. 25, 1907, to be used, according to the terms of her will, in "raising the moral tone of France." The academy decided that the acceptance of this fund would be tantamount to promulgating the opinions of the testatrix, who regarded her native country as a sink of iniquity.

A Pal of Shaffer.

Stratford, March 14.—George Thomas, arrested in Toronto and brought here on charges of burglarizing Reid's Coal Yard office, Bundscho's barber shop and Scrimogorous House, was arraigned in the Police Court yesterday and pleaded guilty to all the charges, and he was remanded to jail for sentence.

He is a pal of Shaffer, who was arrested in Berlin.

A BILL TO POLL MORE VOTES

Fate of Mr. Hislop's Bill to Amend Election Act.

MEASURE WAS WITHDRAWN

Member For East Huron Would Have Every Elector Go to the Polls—Prohibit Canvassing and Encourage Public Meetings — Premier Whitney's Objections. — New Bills Introduced Yesterday.

Toronto, March 14.—Friday afternoon the members of the Legislature have a homesick feeling, and the result is a short session. Yesterday followed the rule, and the House adjourned till Monday after slaughtering Mr. Hislop's bill to amend the Election Act, and doing some routine business. The order paper, according to Premier Whitney's views, is in good shape. The public bills could be disposed of in half an hour if the members were present. Beyond this are the budget, the redistribution bill, Mr. Foy's law reform solution, and then the Statute Law Amendment Act.

"Will the House be through before Easter?"

"I hope a long time before that," was the Premier's reply.

The redistribution bill committee meets on Wednesday. Very little is to be heard about the probable changes, beyond what has already been announced. Premier Whitney added Grenville, Muskoka and Parry Sound to Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, already mentioned as likely to be unchanged. It is reported that the three Bruces are to become two. North Bruce has a population of 22,000; Centre Bruce, 16,000; and, South Bruce, 19,000. These would make two fair-sized constituencies.

The budget speech will be made next Thursday. In the meantime the votes in supply are being satisfactorily disposed of. The law reform debate should not occupy more than a day or two.

A. Hislop moved the second reading of his bill to amend the Election Act. Mr. Hislop would abolish canvassing, whereby the gift-tongued politician who is all things to all men gets ahead of the solid business man, who has to attend to his affairs. In lieu of the glad hand, Mr. Hislop seeks to establish the rule of compulsory public meetings, where the candidate or his representative would state his views, and support of the principles enunciated thereafter. If it were made illegal to solicit votes in private and to appeal publicly from the platforms, Mr. Hislop believed a better class of men would be brought out in politics. In addition to this he would make voting compulsory, or, at least, if his conscience did not permit the elector to cast his ballot he should be compelled to appear at the booth and register his name and his objection.

He found that in the County of Middlesex 17 per cent. of the votes were unpolled; in Hastings, 39; in the two Lambtons, 23; in Dundas, 26; in Grey, 34; in Hamilton, 21; in the Lanarks, 45; in the Yorks, 28; in Centre Grey, over 50. The average of unpolled votes Mr. Hislop estimated at 30 per cent. Mr Studholme thought the bill a step in the right direction.

Dr. Godfrey thought the use of the photographs of candidates in elections was a corrupt practice.

From the want of interest manifested in the bill by the House, Premier Whitney deduced that there was no crying demand for it. Mr. Whitney considered the figures given by Mr. Hislop showed a surprisingly large vote polled, considering the number of duplications and dead men on the voting list. Mr. Hislop withdrew the bill.

Eight private bills were advanced a stage and in committee the volunteers' land grant bill was reported, extending the time of application till September. Hon. Mr. Cochrane assured Hon. Mr. MacKay this would be the last extension.

Mr. McGarry will introduce a bill to amend the act respecting medicine and surgery.

Mr. Atkinson will ask: Has a fish or game privilege of any kind been granted to the Rideau Club or to any members thereof, or to any other persons with reference to any tract of land forming a portion of the Township of Freeman? If so, when was such grant or privilege given? How many acres does the same cover? For what period does the grant or privilege extend?

Mr. McElroy will move for an order of the House for a return showing how many persons have received permanent professional certificates under authority of either sections 2, 3 or 4 of chapter 52 of the statutes of Ontario, passed in 1907. What are their names? Under which section have they qualified? How many persons have notified the Minister of Education in writing of their intention to comply with the provisions of either section 6 or 7 of chapter 52 of the statutes of Ontario, passed in 1907? What were the names and addresses of those who applied under each section?

O. F. A. May Not Allow The Quakers To Go To The West

Mix-Up Over The Peoples Shield Games—The Association Feels Slighted.

TWO ONTARIO TEAMS READY

It is very probable, says the Toronto Star, that the competitions for the People a Shield, emblematic of the soccer championship of Canada, will be confined strictly to the western teams, and that the Ontario eleven who are counting on making the trip to Vancouver this spring will find considerable opposition from the Ontario Association, the parent organization and controlling body in Ontario. There is a feeling among the officers of the latter organization that the O.F.A. has been slighted by the donors of the shield, in not placing a representative of the latter on the Board of Trustees.

It is felt that the Ontario teams should have some say in the handling of the trophy games. If they are to be truly representative of the Canadian championship, with eastern teams competing. At present the trustees are with one exception western men. It is said that until the change is made the O.F.A. will refuse to grant the teams under their jurisdiction permission to compete in the Shield competition, thus cutting off the proposed trips of the Peterborough Quakers, champions of the Midland League, and the All Saints eleven, intermediate champions of Toronto.

WANDERERS 3-1 FAVOURITES IN TO-NIGHT'S BIG HOCKEY GAME

Montreal, March 13. — The local sports are offering all sorts of odds on the Toronto-Wanderer game. It is said that Manager Miln was deluged with offers of bets of 3 to 1 that the Wanderers would win, but he did not cover much of the money offered.

Manager Miln and Lee, the manager of the Maple Leafs, had an argument to-day regarding the relative merits of the teams. Lee was rather put out over remarks made by Miln after last night's game, and offered to bet $1,000 that the Maple Leafs could defeat the Torontos, the game to be played this afternoon at the Arena, and behind closed doors. Manager Miln declined the offer, as he feared it would tire his team. Lee then bet $400 to $200 that the Wanderers would double the score on the Torontos, and this was taken by Miln.

The ice is rather soft and as it is raining here to-night the chances are that it will be poor for the game tomorrow night. The Wanderers are strong and good on soft ice, and unless they are stiff and crippled they will give a good account of themselves. After last night's game Ross required several stitches in his head, Small was done up in court plaster and had stitches put in his eye and cheek. Blachford also required stitches in his eye and to be done up in plaster. All of the men were sore and stiff from their hard game and may be somewhat sore as a result. For officials Patrick and Bowie have been decided upon and ought to give satisfaction.

THE HAMILTON CUP FOR LINDSAY

Defeated Fenelon Falls Last Night by 12 Goals to 2.

Lindsay, March 13.—On the local rink to-night Lindsay Intermediates and Fenelon Falls met in the return game of the series for the Hamilton Cup, which was donated by Mr. Myles Hamilton, of Fenelon Falls. The game was a walkover for Lindsay, the score being 12 to 2 in their favour. It was the most listless game played here this year, neither team exerting themselves very much. The ice was very heavy. The visitors lacked in shooting ability. The game was comparatively clean, the offences being mostly minor ones. Burgess and E. Lansfield were the stars for the visitors. The Lindsay team was the same as have played all season with the exception of Cotey, who was replaced by McConnell. Lindsay won the series and the cup by 17 goals to 6. The line-up:

Refree—Dr. Walters, of Lindsay.

GRAHAM'S MIDGETS ARE DEFEATED

But They Played Good Basketball for Beginners—Fourth Team Wins

The first and fourth teams in the new city league battled for supremacy last evening at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium before a large crowd of spectators. The game was hard fought and fiercely contested from start to finish. Graham's Midgets checked hard and played exceedingly good combination for the little time that they have been together. Daly's men though much lighter proved, however, to be too fast for team No. 1, who went down to defeat by the score of 18—14, half time score being 12—12.

The line-ups were:

Team No. 1—Chris. Graham, Glover, Clarke, Barber, Wood.

Team No. 4.—Daly, Cressman, Darling, Sipson, Rankin.

THE SENIOR MEN'S CLASS GROWING

More Than 35 Men Out—Closing Exhibition on April 21st

April 21st has been chosen as the date for the closing exhibition, and a fine programme is being arranged, many new features will be introduced and an outside basket ball team will also be in attendance. Keep the date in mind.

WANTS GATES AT CORNER OF PARK AND M'DONEL

Writer Thinks This to be Very Dangerous Crossing

Editor Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I noticed in last evening's edition of your paper that Ald. George Morrow's desire to have gates placed at certain railway crossings in the city, and having the sanction of the City Council, will be considered at a meeting of the Railway Commission to be held here next week. Now, I, having a child attending the West Ward School, with others, would like to see gates placed at the corner of Park and McDonel streets, where the Grand Trunk Railway crosses at this point, and where a fatality occurred about two years ago, through inability to discern an approaching train.

There is always a very great traffic on this division, trains passing throughout the entire day, and as there is a considerable number of children attending the two schools in the immediate vicinity, which have to use the said crossing four times daily, I consider that, in the interest of the people of this locality particularly that of the children, gates should be placed at this point, especially when the grade here is so steep and the curve more rounded than at any point probably between this city and Toronto. Trusting to see some measure devised whereby gates may be installed at this particularly dangerous crossing, I am,

Yours, etc.,

THINKS SEARCHING WAS INJUDICIOUS

Mr. Gunn Refers to the Authorities Going Through His House and He Absent

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In your last night's issue of the Examiner, it reads as though in all the houses searched for stolen stuff that articles of the G.G.B. Works were found in all the places. I may say that I was away on business that day to Havelock and Norwood, and there was no one at home but my wife and daughter when the authorities came to investigate and as I believe, travelled from cellar to garret, or bedroom, and what did they find? Nothing belonging to the G.G.B. As to wire, I have lots of it, as I use it for my work, and lately got 25 pounds of iron wire, also a 5-pound reel of brass. Why did they not take that away? Had they done so I would soon have made them bring it back, as I have my invoices to show where and when I got it. I have lived here nearly 40 years now, and I think it a piece of injustice to come and go through a man's house when he is away, and when he cannot have a word to say in the matter. We shall soon be as well off as those in Russia if things are allowed to go on this way. I do not wonder at young men leaving their homes in Canada. Such things as this will drive them to it.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for inserting this.

Yours truly,
THOS. GUNN,
Brush Maker.

A DIFFERENT MEANING FOR SHAUGRAUN

Was the First Fiddler at Every Wedding And the Soul of Every Fair.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—A few days ago a letter from "Enquirer" appeared in your columns in which the writer wished to know the meaning of the term "Shaugraun," the name of the drama to be presented by the T.A.S. on the evening of March 17th. I thought some one of Erin's sons would satisfy your correspondent, but they all remained silent—"as if their souls souls were dead." In making inquiries I find that the term "Shaugraun" was applied to a rollicking Irish boy, the soul of every fair, the first fiddler at all weddings and gatherings.

Thanking you for your space, I remain,

Yours truly,
IRISH CANADIAN.

MR. J. B. CUNCANNON GOES TO ALBERTA

Has Taken up Land and Intends Going Into General Farming

Mr. J. B. Cuncannon, baker, who recently resided at No. 274 John street, has gone to the Northwest to engage in general farming. He left on Tuesday for Didsbury, Province of Alberta, taking with him horses, cattle, poultry, farming implements, household effects, etc., prepared to begin operations at once. He will be a neighbour of Mr. Ezra Good and other Peterborough people who went to the same locality a few years ago. Mr. Cuncannon was accompanied by his father, mother, and his son, Max. Mrs. Cuncannon will remain in the city some time in order to settle Mr. Cuncannon's business affairs.

PEDESTRIANS PASS UNDER THE GATES

The gateman at the Simcoe street crossing of the G. T. R. states that there are many people who pass under the gates when they are lowered for an approaching train. Recently even a pedestrian raised the gates on one side and a team started through and was drawn back only in time. The people merely understand that the gates have been placed at the crossings for their safety and should act accordingly.

POST CARD CORRESPONDENCE.

In this column will be published communications upon post cards only. It will remain open for the use of readers, who are invited to contribute suggestions, inquiries or replies. Anything of a scurrilous personal nature will be prohibited.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—In publishing your daily Horoscope I would respectfully like to suggest that if you published them a day ahead and then it would be possible for your readers to make use of the suggestions contained in them. As it is now the day is about over before they reach the readers.

Yours truly,

THE HINDUS WILL BE RELEASED

Justice Morrison Rules Natal Act Is Ultra Vires.

BLOW FOR BRITISH COLUMBIA

Eighteen Men Convicted In the Police Court Must Be Set Free—Sentences Likely to Cause Trouble In India —Might Become a Menace to the British Empire Says Counsel— British Columbia to Appeal.

Vancouver, March 14.—The Provincial Natal Act was yesterday morning ruled by Mr. Justice Morrison ultra vires and repugnant to the B.N.A. Act. The decision was on the habeas corpus application for eighteen Hindus, convicted in the Police Court under the Natal Act. The chief points urged on behalf of the application were that the Dominion Immigration Act and order-in-council cover the whole field; sections of the Dominion Act are absolutely affirmative, making the Provincial Act absolutely conflicting, and that ships' officers obeying the Dominion Act become liable to penalty under the Provincial Act, and the latter is, therefore, repugnant.

E. P. Davis, counsel for the Hindus, strongly urged that the sentences of the Police Court were certain to have a very strong tendency to cause trouble in India. The action of one small province, and one police magistrate within that province might have terrible results in the British Empire. The Hindus were ordered to be released. The province will appeal the decision.

COLD SETTLED ON THE LUNGS

Mrs. Irwin Bennett, Parrsboro, N. S., writes: "I feel it my duty to write a few words in praise of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I took a bad cold which settled on my lungs, and made it almost impossible to breathe at times. I coughed constantly and could not sleep at nights. A friend told me how Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup had helped her, so I procured some, and before I had taken one bottle my cough was gone and I could lie down and sleep at night."

Drowned at London.

London, March 14.—Harry Baker, six years old, son of a West London resident, was drowned at Blackfriars Dam yesterday afternoon. The lad, with a companion, was watching the flood of ice and water, when Baker fell off the abutment. He went down at once and the body was not seen again.

Five years ago this winter Duncan McMartin, a young medical student, went down in the same place and the body was never recovered.

Guilty of Serious Offence.

Toronto, March 14.—Humya Kowarski was found guilty by the jury in the sessions yesterday on the charge of committing a serious offence against Lena Breslin, who is 14 years of age, and Kowarski was arrested last November as the result of a statement made by the girl after she had given birth to a child.

Kowarski had been an inmate of the Breslin home for a time. In the witness box he denied the charge.

Bahia Swept By Fire.

Bahia, March 14.—A great conflagration is raging in the business section of this city, and the firemen seem to be unable to check it.

Liverpool, March 14.—A wireless message states that the Lusitania, which left here for New York on Saturday, made a record run of 627 knots from Monday noon to Tuesday noon, establishing a new world's record, the best previous day westward run being 618 knots.

A Vicious Boy.

Ottawa, March 14.— Because his mother rebuked him for staying away form home, 13-year-old Alfred Lefleur, residing a few miles from Manjwaki, Que., grabbed an axe and tried to kill her. He will be sent to the Quebec Reformatory at Long Point.

The Sun Life of Canada
Has Had Another Year of Great Prosperity

From THE MONETARY TIMES)

New policies issued to the number of 12,420, an income premium of close upon $5,000,000, and a net surplus of $2,151,884 is the record of the Sun Life Company for last year. The large volume of new assurances is particularly gratifying in view of the prevailing financial conditions; as a matter of fact, over 4,000 more policies were applied for than were granted. The total amount in force on the books of the company is $111,135,694 under 83,401 policies. The total income last year was $6,249,288 and the assets $26,488,595. The profitable nature of the business enabled the company to pay dividends on a scale which has given great satisfaction, and which, it is believed, are not surpassed on this continent. The amount distributed was $422,950. After setting aside the full reserve, assuming only 3½ per cent. interest for all policies issued prior to December 31st, 1902, and but three per cent. for all those issued since, there remains an undivided surplus of $2,046,884 over all liabilities and capital stock. This is, indeed, a good showing.

Wit and Wisdom

The man who succeeds is the man who is never discouraged by failure.

The bearing of men toward the sins of others is always a touch-stone of character.

He is rich who saves a penny a year and he is poor who runs behind a penny a year.

The most perfect would be the most exacting and severe; but, fortunately mercy is one of the attributes of perfection.

People are very fond of priding themselves on their broadmindedness, which is often only another name for indifferance.

The talent of success is nothing more than doing what you can do well and doing well whatever you do, without a thought of fame.

An Irishman, having quallelled with another, left him with the following vicious remark—"Well, I hope ye'll niver be where I wish you!"

Bridegroom (proudly)—"Just lookk at my young wife—doesn't she look queenly?" Friend (wisely)—"Yes, she does, but wait until she begins to rule."

Citiman—"Yes, she's married to a lawyer, and a good, honest fellow, too." Rubbube—"Good gracious! Married to two different men! That bigamy!"

He who cherishes the spirit of koindheartedness and magnanimity, governed by Christian principles, cannot fail to become a worthy, useful and beloved member of society.

Without friendship this world is but misery, and it is so difficult to find a true friend that the search is almost needless; but, if ever you do, it ought to be cherished as an exotic plant.

There are two good rules which ought to be written on every heart. Never believe anything bad about anybody, unless you know positively that it is true. Never tell even that, unless you feel that it is absolutely necessary, and that God is listening while you tell.

You who are letting miserable misunderstandings run on from year to year, meaning to clear them up some day. If you could only know and see and feel that the time is short how it would break the spell; how you would go instantly and do the thing which you might never have another chance to do.

TORONTO MEN ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF MURDERING A PETERBOROUGH GIRL

Dr. A. G. Ashton Fletcher, Formerly of This City, Implicated —Alleged Victim Is Miss Jessie Ellen Gould of London Street.

THE BODY TO BE EXHUMED

Toronto, March 16. — (Special.) — About 1.30 yesterday morning Dr. A. G. Ashton Fletcher, 1215 College street, was arrested on the charge of the murder of an hotel waitress, Jessie Ellen Gould, while Henry Saunders, aged 21 years, is also under arrest on a like indictment as an accessory before the act. The police had been actively working on the case for several days before, but on Friday discovered the residence of Saunders, and the case was quickly completed after that.

The dead girl, Jessie Ellen Gould, aged 20, came from Peterborough, where her father is a foreman in the Canadian General Electric Works, to Toronto some years ago, and has held several positions in the city. Prior to three weeks ago she was a waitress in the Cadillac House on Terauley street. Three weeks ago she had to leave the hotel, and Saunders has made the statement to the police that he made arrangements for her to room at a house on Mutual street. She went there, but was afterwards removed to 75 Shuter street.

Implicated the Doctor

In his statement Saunders implicated Dr. Ashton Fletcher. Saunders' statement went into details of the alleged operation, which he claimed took place at the Shuter street residence, even to the price to be paid.

On Tuesday, March 10, Dr. Ashton Fletcher called up Dr. J. H. Todd and asked him if he could go down to 75 Shuter street to administer an anaesthetic in a case he had there. Dr. Todd went down and found Dr. Ashton Fletcher at the house with Miss Gould and three other women. Dr. Fletcher said to him, pointing out the girl: "A pretty sick woman, isn't she? Do you think it safe to administer an anaesthetic?" Dr. Todd felt her pulse and found it scarcely stirring, but the heart-beat was better, and he thought it safe to administer ether. Dr. Fletcher suggested that the girl would be better in a hospital, and, Dr. Todd concurring, she was sent to the Western Hospital, where she died on Tuesday at about midnight. Dr. Todd went up to the hospital on Tuesday night found Dr. Fletcher there. The girl had just died.

Said he was Called in

In a statement made to the Globe last night Dr. Todd, jr., stated that the facts given above in reference to his connection with the case were correct. He added that Dr. Ashton Fletcher had first called upon another physician, but the latter being out of town, he had requested the assistance of Dr. Todd. The father of the girl was notified of her death and came to the city and arranged with A. W. Miles, undertaker, College street, to prepare the body for burial and ship it to Peterborough. The body was shipped to Peterborough on Wednesday and was buried on Thursday. The father and those at Shuter street were informed that death was due to appendicitis accompanied by a sharp attack of pneumonia. Dr. Todd, against whom there is no charge, says that the girl certainly did not have pneumonia. The death notice on file at the City Hall states the cause of death as acute septic peritonitis, with rupture of the pus tube, and the report is signed by Dr. Ashton Fletcher.

Dr. Ashton Fletcher Arrested

Dr. Ashton Fletcher was arrested at his residence on College street by Detectives Sockett and Archibald at about half-past 1 yesterday morning. He was taken to the City Hall first and afterwards to Court Street Station, where he stayed until yesterday morning, when he was removed to the jail. He has engaged J. W. Curry, K. C., as counsel. As the charge is one of murder bail cannot be granted without application to a higher court.

Henry Saunderson is a young electrician, but has been out of work for some weeks now, but previously held a position with a city firm. He was arrested at half-past 8 on Saturday night by Detectives Mackie and Sockett at an address on Yonge street. He was taken to Esther Street Station and detained there. He admits in the fullest possible manner that he made arrangements with Dr. Ashton Fletcher with regard to the girl. He says that the girl threatened to poison him and then poison herself. He suggested marriage but the offer was refused.

The body will be exhumed, probably to-day and brought back to Toronto where a post-mortem and inquest will be held.

An Examiner representative interviewed the father of Miss Gould this morning. He had been very much surprised on Wednesday morning last when he heard of the sudden death of his daughter, but was more surprised last night to hear of the unexpected developments in the case. The only intimation he had had of Miss Josie's illness was from a postal card a few days previous to her death, stating that she had a severe cold, and that that was the reason she had neglected to write for some time. About the same time she had sent him a locket which he prizes very highly. At Christmas time she had been home on a visit, accompanied by a Mr. Saunders, who is now arrested on the charge of murder.

Dr. Fletcher, who is alleged to be implicated, is a native of Peterborough, being a nephew of the late Dr. Fife.

The body of Miss Gould has not been buried. It was left in the vault at the Little Lake Cemetery and will be taken back to Toronto to be examined.

THE PRISONERS APPEAR IN COURT AND PLEAD NOT GUILTY TO MURDER CHARGE

Toronto, March 16.—(Special.)—Dr. A. G. Ashton Fletcher and Harry Saunders appeared in the police court this morning charged with murder in connection with the death of Jessie Ellen Gould, a waitress who came to Toronto from Peterbrough, and who, it is alleged, died on Tuesday last from the effects of an operation. Both prisoners pleaded not guilty. No evidence was taken, the Crown not being ready to go on, and an adjournment was made for a week. The Attorney-General's Department this morning granted an order for the exhumation of the body of Jessie Gould. Detective Mackie left for Peterborough, where the interment took place, and the exhumation will be held this afternoon and the body brought to Toronto to-night.

Note.—There will, actually, be no exhumation, as the body was not interred, but placed in the vault.

Mr. R. M. Dennistoun Defending Detective Folk In Winnipeg Before Judge Mathers.

A VERY IMPORTANT CASE

Winnipeg, March 16. — (Special.) — Detective Folk, an American, accused of kidnapping two Canadian farmers across the international border near Emerson, Man., for the collection of a debt, had a true bill returned against him on Thursday by the Grand Jury. Folk elected to be tried without a jury, and came before Judge Mathers in the King's Bench. Mr. R. M. Dennistoun represented the United States Government. The judge refused to hear counsel for the private prosecutor, the representatives of the two Governments only being allowed to speak. It was eventually settled that the trial would take place before a King's Bench Judge on March 27, the prisoner in the meantime being allowed out on bail.

Had Never Worn Underclothing And Had Never Slept In A Bed

A boy eight years old who had never worn underclothing or slept in a bed until the other day, passed through Peterborough to Toronto on Saturday from Tweed in charge of the Rev. R. Burns.

This boy is one of the Lindsay family of Tweed, whose mother died recently while giving birth to a child in the absence of the father who, on being sent for a doctor, spent his time otherwise. This little lad had been accustomed to sleep in a hole in the ground under the house, although he sometimes enjoyed the luxury of a snooze under the stove. He donned his first suit of underwear the other day, when the Children's Aid Society of Tweed came to his assistance.

This boy, with another boy and girl who had been deserted by their father, were handed over to Mr. J. J. Kelso by Mr. Burns. Mr. J Binney, of Tweed, went to Toronto to-day with a boy of fourteen years. Mr. Kelso reports that nearly a thousand volunteer workers of this sort are helping in the rescue of children throughout the province.

CHARGED WITH STEALING FITTINGS FROM THE MYRTLE AND ROB ROY

Wm. Fallon, a seventeen year old boy was arrested last night by P. C's Adams and Newhall and appeared before Magistrate Dumble this morning on two charges of theft. He was charged with stealing two check valves, one T valve, one globe valve, two brass bands and a bell, the property of Mr. E. S Clarry, and also of stealing two hunters' coats, a sweater, a pair of rubber boots, a pair of oar locks and a quantity of brass from Mr. R M Roy.

The articles in question were taken from Mr. Clarry's boat the Myrtle, and from Mr. Roy's boat house. Entrance had been gained to Mr. Roy's boat house by breaking a window and the coats, boots, etc., which are kept for use by the crew of the Rob Roy, were stolen. The Myrtle was also broken into and the valves and other fittings taken from it, it is said, were sold to John Doig, who is waiting trial on a charge of receiving stolen property, and in whose possession the articles in question were found.

This morning Fallon pleaded guilty to both charges and elected to be tried by a jury. The case was enlarged until Thursday morning.

ALLEGED TO HAVE PEDDLED WITHOUT NECESSARY LICENSE

A case of interest was heard at police court this morning when Louis Florence of the firm of D Florence & son, junk dealers, was charged with having offered for sale by going from place to place without a peddler's license, a quantity of augur bits. The articles in question were purchased by Florence from among the scrap that was left after the recent fire in the Rapid Tool Company's factory.

Four blacksmiths of the city gave evidence to the effect that Florence had asked them to buy bits from him. Wm. McCall stated that Florence had called at his shop with a team and sleigh and he had purchased 22 bits from him for $1.

Wm. Heatherington had also purchased bits from Florence, getting 6 for 25c. He bought them on the street, not at his shop.

Joseph Metheral and M. Halpin were also asked by Florence to buy bits but declined to do so.

City Clerk Armstrong testified that Florence had no peddler's license.

Florence took the stand in his own behalf and admitted calling on the previous witnesses with the bits. He had also seen other blacksmiths in regard to the matter. As to the bits, he had purchased them as scrap from the Rapid Tool Company. He was not a peddler nor in the habit of going around selling articles.

Mr. F D Kerr who appeared on behalf of Florence contended that the defendant did not come within the bylaw inasmuch as the evidence showed that he was not in the habit of going about from place to place but on the contrary that this was the first time that he had done so. He also claimed that the words "from place to place" in the act meant from town to town, and not from house to house, and further that no damage had been done to any local merchant by the act of the defendant.

Magistrate Dumble reserved judgment until Saturday.

ELOPED IN EVENING ATTIRE

Justice Goldram Routed Out of Bed to Tie Knot Early in the Morning.

New York, March 16.—(Special.)—Justice of the Peace Goldram was aroused from his slumbers at 7 o'clock yesterday morning by violent ringing at the doorbell of his home, No. 71 Washington street, Hoboken. He dressed hurriedly and went to the door where a young man in evening dress confronted him.

"Will you marry us?" he asked excitedly.

"Marry you? To whom?" said the Justice.

"Why, the young lady who is in the cab," answered the young man.

He assisted the young woman out of the carriage and the knot was tied in Justice Goldram's office. The couple gave their names as Miss Elizabeth Copher, 21, and Edwin C. Hilf, 28 years of age. They said they lived in New York.

The young woman was dressed in the height of fashion, wearing a pink opera cloak trimmed with white fur, over an evening gown, and a pink hat. It was evident the couple had attended some ball or other social affair and had left hurriedly to get married.

Justice Goldram received a fat fee for his services.

MANY PROSPECTIVE SERVANT GIRLS

"I never knew Peterborough had so many fine looking young women," remarked a prominent business man on Saturday night, when ordering a want ad. to be taken out of the paper. It was just another case where an ad. in the classified want ad. columns of the Examiner had served its purpose expeditiously. His door bell had been ringing so often on Saturday evening when he went home to tea by prospective servant girls that he decided to have the ad. cancelled. He could easily have secured a dozen servants instead of one. Everybody reads the Examiner's want ad. columns.

TWADDLE.

Our evening contemporary, the Review, has the following:—

"Not long ago the Examiner advised the executive of the East Riding Liberal Association to call two separate conventions for nominations for the Commons and the Legislature. The journal's arguments were so convincing, the prestige and power behind it so great that the committee went right to work at once and did the opposite."

It is singular, or, rather, plural, that when our contemporary makes a statement on political matters it falls short of, or overshoots the truth. It knows very well that the above quoted statement is false in both fact and inference and that the twaddle based upon it is without foundation. If it were worth while it may be pointed out that the committee had met, a decision was arrived at and the posters announcing the convention printed before the Examiner tendered the advice referred to above. The rest of the twaddle contained in the article referred to should "lose his job" to the most callow cub reporter if he were guilty of it and it is not any mitigation of the offence of the editor of the Review that he concludes his twaddle with a gratuitously insulting dragging in of the Irish in an attempt to point a pointless paragraph.

LIBERAL CONVENTION.

At a largely attended meeting of supporters of the Liberal party and policy, held on Saturday evening, it was decided to call a convention for the purpose of nominating a candidate to contest the riding of West Peterborough in the coming Provincial elections—on Saturday afternoon, April 4th, at 2 o'clock. Owing to the proximity of the elections, the general opinion being that they will be brought on in June, it was decided that the convention take the form of a mass meeting of Liberal supporters. This meeting will be addressed by Hon. A. G. McKay, leader of the Liberal Opposition of Ontario, and others. With a good candidate selected, and with united effort, especially in view of the need of West Peterborough for effective representation, the West Riding should be redeemed.

AN OBSTRUCTION.

The ideas of the Conservative Opposition at Ottawa, in regard to fair play and an index to their interest in the public welfare are demonstrated in their attitude towards the wholesale charges they make against members of the Liberal Government. Wholesale charges of maladministration have been made or insinuated against Hon. J. G. Turriff, late Commissioner of Crown Lands. This gentleman has challenged his accusers to make a formal charge against him in the House, as a basis of investigation, in regard to his administration of the Crown Lands, and they flatly refuse to do so. They are afraid to subject their unfounded insinuations to the searchlight of inquiry. When these insinuations are repeated in the Public Accounts Committee these brave Conservatives critics, as far as they can prevail, refuse to allow him to do so. It is evidently that they do not want the truth to come out. They place their dependence upon insinuations and upon mere mud-throwing, with the hope that some of it will stick. They are more anxious to suppress the truth than have it come out and prevail. They seem to believe in passive as well as active obstruction.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

The Irish are noted for their warm-heartedness every day in the year, but every Irish heart beats with added warmth as the day of Ireland's patron saint approaches. The history of St. Patrick and his dominating share in the conversion of Ireland to the Christian faith, makes the observance of his day a necessary consequence, for the deeply religious sentiment aroused in the Irish heart by the labours of the saint remain in undiminished force to the present day as strong and glowing as it was fourteen hundred years ago. From the fact of Ireland's patron saint being so closely associated with the religious life of the Irish people, and that is a large part of their existence, it is inevitable that his memory and the veneration that memory arouses, should, so to speak, steep the Irish character, social and national as well as religious, with devotion to St. Patrick. It is no surprise that his natal day should be the occasion of universal observance, wherever Irish hearts beat. And in no other place in the world, outside of the Green Isle, than Canada should the day be spent with greater gladness, for the Irish who have found happy homes in Canada, live in the enjoyment of civil and religious privileges, of a measure of self-government and practical autonomy such as the ardent hearts of Ireland have long sought for their native isle.

OUR WESTERN POPULATION.

(Toronto Star.)

The population of the three Western Provinces in 1906 was, in round figures, 809,000, an increase of nearly 93 per cent. over 1901. Of the present population, 70 1-5 per cent. are British or Canadians by birth; 11 1-5 per cent. were born in the United States, and 18 1-2 per cent. are of other foreign birth.

These are the leading facts contained in a census of the population and agriculture of the three prairie Provinces recently issued from Ottawa.

Going more into details, it is found that 444,366 of the population of the three Provinces, a little over a half, were born in Canada, and 122,000 in the British Isles. The largest single contributor to the foreign born population was the United States, there being nearly 91,000 people of American birth on the Canadian prairies. Austria-Hungary comes next with a contribution of 58,546, largely Galicians; Russia third with 34,104, mainly Mennonites, Doukhobors and Jews; Germany ranks fourth, with 14,191, and Iceland fifth, with 6,728.

Those of foreign birth are very unevenly distributed. For example, while there are only 12,000 Americans in Manitoba out of a total population of nearly 365,000 in the Province, there are over 43,000 in Alberta, where they constitute nearly one-fourth of the population. Russians seem to have preferred Saskatchewan, where they number 16,551, as against 11,730 of the same nationality in Manitoba, and 5,823 in Alberta. Of Austro-Hungarians, 25,640 are in Manitoba, 21,865 in Saskatchewan, and 11,041 in Alberta. Germans are fairly evenly divided between all three Provinces, while Icelanders are practically confined to Manitoba.

The situation from a national standpoint, as revealed in the figures given, is most encouraging. With over 50 per cent. of the population Canadian born, and nearly three-quarters of the whole of British birth, the British and Canadian elements are sufficiently dominant to mould the other scattered nationalities according to the Canadian ideal. In another respect the outlook is even more hopeful. Canadians, British, Americans, and Germans combined make up well on to nine-tenths of the whole. These are all good stocks; all have the instinct of self-government; they are law-abiding, industrious and enterprising. There need be no fear for the industrial or political future of a people based on such a foundation.

One of the most interesting facts recorded in the statistics relates to the drift to the town. Even in the prairie Provinces, in which agriculture may be said to be the one industry of which outsiders have heard, the trend of population towards urban centres has already set in. In 1901 less than 25 per cent. of the people of the West were in villages, towns and cities, while to-day there are over 30 per cent. similarly located. The greatest increase has naturally been in Manitoba. In that Province 37 3-4 per cent. of the people were in urban centres in 1906, as against 27 1-2 per cent. in 1901. It does seem surprising that in a part of the Dominion in which land is free, or almost free, in which the returns of the husbandman are usually satisfactory, and where natural facilities for manufacturing are comparatively rare, the town is already gaining on the country.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—While perusing the columns of the Daily Examiner a day or so ago I noticed a letter published and signed by "Humanity." Now, if this gentleman went to a five (5) cent show I once went to and which cost me five ($5.00) dollars to get out, he would then have good cause to kick. But his letter exemplified in an excellent manner the class of men this country is made up of, in a big majority. I could refer to a great many instances where they stand in their own light, financially, socially and otherwise, but I don't wish to try and educate a country. I merely speak this way not because I have any grievance; but I hope a few will profit by my little advice. Thanking you I remain an ENLIGHTENED CANADIAN.

Editor Post-Card Column.

Dear Sir,—In your Friday's issue of recent date I noticed some changes proposed by Mr. W. F. Nelson, being the result of fire drill conducted by him on Thursday, the 12th, in the East Ward School. Some of the changes mentioned by him were — the immediate changing of the outside doors to swinging outward, also automatic bolts. These along with a gong have been attended to, and it is only fair to acknowledge the prompt manner in which same has been completed.

PARENT.

THE GREATEST FAMILY IN THE WORLD

Night and Day Magazine Tells About the Poverty-Stricken Children.

Night and Day, the quarterly organ of the well known Dr. Barnardo's Homes, has much that is interesting to tell about "the greatest family in the world." A month ago 8,005 boys and girls were under the care of the Homes, all of these admitted from below the poverty line, and comprising cripples, incurables, babies, deaf and dumb, blind and helpless children. They come, too, from all over the country. Among the illustrated editorial notes are several photographs of children from Hull, for instance, where is situated one of the 13 ever-open doors through which the Homes are constantly receiving their supplies of the destitute. No wonder that the work needs money—enough for the victualling, clothing, upbringing and miscellaneous needs of a big town!—The usual spring party of emigrants is about to leave the Homes on 12th March for Canada. Already 19,727 of their young people have gone to Canada and the Colonies, and the percentage of successes runs up to over 98 per cent.; a remarkable figure! Surely £10 spent on one of these boys and girls is the best social investment of the present day!—It is certainly remarkable, and not a little humiliating, that after 42 years the Homes should still have to repeat that there is apparently as much need of their services as ever. Mr. George R. Sims writes: "If the tales of tragedy of which some of the little children who are mercifully taken into Dr. Barnardo's Homes are the subjects could be published in their naked truth, the public conscience would be startled as it has been startled by few revelations of modern times."—The varied contents of the Magazine comprise "A Missionary Bishop's Tribute," by Bishop Ingham; an account of the new Australian Deputation; a deeply interesting reminiscence entitled "An Old Boy's Memories," etc., etc. A copy of the Magazine will be sent gratis and post free to any one on application to the Honourary Secretary, Mr. George Code, 18 to 26, Stepney Causeway, London, E.

SCHOOL GIRLS

Most of our ambitious young American girls work too hard at school.

Many teachers have little or no judgment about pushing a child beyond her endurance. They ought to know that girls especially have a danger period. Often, too often, utter physical collapse is the result, and it takes years and years to recover lost vitality.

Many a young girl has been helped over this critical period, and been prepared for a healthy womanhood by

ASSASSIN MAKES DASH,

Slashes "Trusty" With Razor and Tries to Break Jail.

Denver, Col., March 16.—With a handleless razor blade which had been left in his cell by a previous occupant, Guiseppe Alia, condemned murderer of Father Francis Leo Heinrichs, made a vicious and murderous attack on a "trusty" at the county jail Saturday, while the latter was cleaning his cell, and before he could be overpowered had cut the trusty a great gash in the neck, which bled freely, and which almost reached the jugular vein.

The last occupant of the cell was Michael Brunetti, who had traveled from New York to Denver with Alia. As the cell door was open at the time, and Alia had never before seen the trusty, the assault which almost ended in another murder could have been for but one purpose, and that escape.

The trusty grappled with his assailant, grabbed the hand which held the razor blade, and in spite of the fact that his fingers were cut somewhat succeeded not only in preventing further injury to himself but also held Alia until Deputy Warden Peter Carpenter could come to his assistance.

Even then Alia fought on like a demon. He bit, scratched, and in every way attempted to fight off the warden and trusty, and it was not until he was thoroughly beaten that he was subdued and became quiet. The sight of the open cell door, on the other side of which the murderer figured there was liberty, only maddened him the more.

The wound in the trusty's neck is about 2 1-2 inches long, and will not prove serious. The man, who refused absolutely to have his name used, lost a great deal of blood from the wound in his neck, and also from his slashed hand, but if complications do not set in he will recover

IS ANXIOUS TO SUFFER.

Orchard Wants to Dies as Penalty For His Crimes.

Boise, Idaho, March 16.—On the morning of his 42nd birthday, next Wednesday, Harry Orchard, confessed murderer of former Governor Frank Steunenberg, who was killed by the explosion of a bomb at the gate to his residence in Caldwell on the morning of Dec. 30, 1905, will face Judge Fremont Wood prepared to hear the death sentence meted out to him.

Orchard, against the urgent pleadings of his attorney and others, refused, when arraigned on March 10 to let his previous plea of "not guilty" stand, or to plead to a lesser degree of murder than first degree. He said:

"I am guilty and am ready to take my punishment. I have told the truth. I understand fully what must be the consequences."

There are some persons who believe that Orchard has been guaranteed immunity. This is denied by those in authority and Orchard himself. The prison officers and Orchard's spiritual advisers express the opinion that should an effort be made to commute his sentence or pardon, Orchard will refuse to accept leniency. He spends much time with books, especially the Bible and religious works.

Tatsu Maru Incident Closed.

Pekin, March 16.—The Wail Wu Pu (Chinese Foreign Office) has agreed to pay Japan 21,400 yen (about $10,500) in settlement of the Tatsu Maru incident. China will retain the arms and ammunition which were comprised in the cargo of the steamer, but will pay 10,000 taels (about $7,500) demurrage.

It is expected that the steamer will be released by the Chinese authorities on Monday. Under the agreement reached between the two countries Japan will enforce regulations to prevent the traffic in arms to China, but refuses to include Macao, which is a Portuguese possession, in this limitation.

China will enter at once into negotiations with Portugal in regard to contraband shipped to Macao.

Many Death Sentences.

St. Petersburg, March 16.—A large number of death sentences were passed yesterday in various parts of Russia. Those who will suffer the death penalty include ten robbers at Krementchug, four robbers at Kiev, three men who made an attack upon the postoffice at Proskurov, three brigands at Lodz, a peasant of Karkov, and two political prisoners at Kursk. At Yekaterinburg, seven men were sentenced to be hanged and one to imprisonment for life for an attack upon the counting house connected with a mine, the property of one of the councillors of the empire.

Russ Prisons Overcrowded.

St. Petersburg, March 16.—M. Chtcheglovitoff, the Minister of Justice, has asked the Douma for $1,000,000 for the enlargement of the Russian prisons, which are overcrowded.

There has been an increase of 111 per cent. in the number of prisoners since 1906. In January, 1908, the total number was 159,537, and February 165,588, of which 13,000 were political prisoners.

Mackenzie King In London.

London, March 16.—(C.A.P.)—Mackenzie King has arrived in London, and to-day sees Lord Strathcona and subsequently will interview Lord Elgin and Winston Churchill.

Interviewed yesterday, he said Canadian feeling was against Oriental immigration and trouble was anticipated, especially in British Columbia, if it is allowed to continue.

Seized Turkish Ships.

St. Petersburg, March 16.—A rumor has reached this city by way of Vienna that two Turkish steamers with arms and ammunition on board have been seized in the Black Sea by Russian warships. No confirmation of this report could be had at either the Foreign Office or the Admiralty.

Bomb at Barcelona.

Barcelona, March 16.—A bomb exploded in the central market place here yesterday, severely injuring a woman. Another bomb was found nearby. It was conveyed to a laboratory for analysis.

Portugal With Japan.

Lisbon, March 16.—The Foreign Minister makes the announcement that Portugal is working in entire harmony with Japan in connection with the seizure of the Tatsu Maru.

Benefits Home Workers.

London, March 16.—Some of the big German manufacturers of aniline dyes, whose patents are in German hands, are taking steps to establish factories in England as a consequence of the new patent law introduced by David Lloyd George, President of the Board of Trade, which came into effect Jan. 1, and which empowers the revocation of patents unless the process is carried on in the United Kingdom.

The new law is expected to have great results in bringing trade to Great Britain. It is still the subject of negotiations between Great Britain and Germany, the latter of which is seeking to secure a respite from the enforcement of its provisions.

Mr. Lloyd George, speaking at a banquet at Carnarvon, Wales, predicted that the new patent laws will give work to tens of thousands of British workers.

Drops Dead In Front of Church.

Winnipeg, March 16.—Fred Hord, aged 21, dropped dead while talking to his brother in front of the Roman Catholic Church at St. Charles, a suburb of this city, Saturday.

The Provincial Government has appointed L. A. Gibson, dairy inspector for Manitoba.

The Kaiser to Roosevelt.

London, March 16.—A special despatch to The Daily Mail from Berlin says that the Emperor sent warm personal congratulations to President Roosevelt on the arrival of the fleet at Magdalena Bay ahead of schedule time.

Capitalist Cuts Throat.

Must Pay For the Rebellion.

Caracas, Venezuela, March 16.—The Supreme Court of Venezuela on Saturday handed down a verdict confirming the judgment of the lower court, which condemned the New York and Bermudez Asphalt Co. to pay a fine of $5,000,000 to the Venezuelan Government for having extended assistance to the Matos revolution, which was directed against President Castro. This sum is the estimated cost of putting down the revolution. The company will appeal to the Court of Cessation.

Masked Men Burn Barns.

Versailles, Ky., March 16.—Three barns in Woodford County, and one just across the line in Scott, were burned early yesterday by masked men. The men were on horseback and in buggies, the party numbering not more than 50. A number of shots were fired.

They cut all telephone wires, and the amount of damage is not yet known.

A Bigamy Case.

Niagara Falls, Ont., March 16.—There was a flutter of excitement around the gloomy corridors of the City Hall Saturday morning.

In the magistrate's office there sat a comely woman of 28 years, whose name before she married James Edward Carpenter, aged 30, of Stamford and Thorold townships, was Mary Regina of Oak Lake, Manitoba.

Downstairs in a cell was languishing James Edward, and he is charged by wife No. 1 with having on Feb. 10, 1908, at Burlington, Vermont, taken unto himself a second wife, whose name is, or was, Alma Margaret Williams of Stamford Township. Wife No. 2 did not appear on the scene but had relatives present in her interest.

Big Wheat.

"To-day the young men of Canada see visions where the old men dreamed dreams." This is the text Agnes Deans Cameron uses in The December Atlantic, in her article, "Wheat, the Wizard of the North." Her theme is the great uncultivated, rich-soiled acres of Western Canada, a land more prolific and wealthy than the best gold country yet discovered. Silently, surely, inexorably are the nations pouring into Canada, from the south, from the west, from the east. The Salvation Army brought over 25,000 emigrants last summer on eight chartered steamships—Scots, English, Irish, Italians, Austrians, Russians, Norwegians, Welsh, Swedes, Greeks, and Hebrews, all eager for wheat. American farmers step over the border line to grow wheat. Miss Cameron concludes: "The white ghost of Henry Hudson revisiting the glimpses of the moon, if still to be touched by earthly issues, would seem to say:

'Open the Bay, which o'er the Northland broods.
Dumb, yet in labor with a mighty fate!
Open the Bay! Humanity intrudes.'"

Twins Die at Same Moment.

At an inquest on twin children, aged 18 months, at Stoke Newington recently, it was stated that they died at exactly the same moment, the cause of death in each case being bronchitis and pneumonia.

G. Stevns, a medical man, stated that in all his forty years' experience he had never come across a similar case.

"I have known of a similarity of mind in twins," remarked Dr. Wynn Westcott, the coroner, "and of cases in which one felt out of sorts when the other was ill, but I never before heard of a case in which the death of both occurred at the same moment."

Glasses which have held milk should never be washed in warm water while the dregs of the milk cling around the edges. If the glass is first rinsed out in cold water, it can then be washed safely in warm water in the usual way.

It is only the great hearted who can be true friends; the mean and cowardly can never know what true friendship means.—Some Notes.

CHINA HALL'S 26 YEAR CLIMAX IN DINNER SETS

A GLIMPSE OF MONTREAL.

Some Characteristics of Life In Canada's Eastern Metropolis.

Half a million people—soon to be a round million. The modern and the medieval. The tense struggle and the calmness of those who do not work, but only dream. Hurrying creatures, eager eyes; the slow procession of black-robed figures moving on to church, telling their beads as they go. A city of strong banks and big corporations and large activities; also, a city which still lives in the past centuries, and which kneels in the mud when the Host goes by.

Curious and profoundly interesting to the student are the contrasting elements and conditions of the metropolitan city. Go to the court house, and the eloquence will be that of a brilliant French-Canadian lawyer; go to the head offices of the Grand Trunk or the C. P. R., and you will find practical men, who might not be able on the spur of the moment, to frame a decent sentence, if you gave them a million dollars, directing tremendous operations with the business-like aptitude of the Anglo-Saxon.

Read the French press and you will find the coruscating pasquinade; glance at the English papers and you will have blunt statement.

Go to the political caucus and you will be greeted with a magnetic eloquence from a mercurial people. Proceed to the shipping offices, the offices of the great industrial corporations, and you will find silent men, simply doing business.

Drop in at the city hall and you will hear torrents of eloquence, not about the future position of the city, not about the bringing in of large betterments, but about a broken sewer or water pipe. Forty-two members; ten English-speaking, thirty-two born orators; ten silent and ineffectual creatures who might as well be at home for all they can do or say. The slightest provocation brings out all the resources of the tongue of Moliere. The vehemence, the declamation, the magnetism which mark the rhetoric, might well be applied to a profound question, say, of national policy. It is really all about the town pump.

The eloquence does not make clean or wide streets; it does not give us more parks and playgrounds; it does not construct noble boulevards in the newer portions of the city which will soon embrace the Island of Montreal. It does not, in a word, spell salvation, but it gives color to drabness, and drabness is the general experience.

A difference of race, of tongue, of creed may have complementary advantages and compensations, but it has been found rather difficult to realize them. A homogeneous people would elect men to carry out their will. A dual people, split in two, elects the men who answer best to sectional appeal. Hence you have two voices, two councils, and a policy which pulls in opposite directions. Hence, too, you are lacking in united public sentiment, which is the only coercive force you can apply to any sort of government.

The results are seen. An overwhelming majority enforces its ideas. A helpless minority looks on, with the privilege of paying taxes. The minority loses heart and interest. It sees wrong things which it cannot check. "It notes extravagances for which it will have to pay. It goes on living; it proceeds to make money; it builds itself lordly mansions, it may be; but it holds itself aloof from the current of affairs: This is not to mend, but to make worse the situation. But this is an old story.

Commercially and industrially, Montreal is supreme in the Dominion. The men who direct the activities which give employment to scores of thousands of people are, by their directions, hard-headedness, and modernity, in curious contrast to that other city within a city which refuses to recognize the twentieth century. Men like Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, Mr. C. M. Hays, Sir Willian Van Horne, Sir George Drummond, Sir William Macdonald, Mr. R. B. Angus, Sir Robert Reid, give the city its energetic, its progressive character, while McGill University supplies that fearlessness of teaching which is of such inestimable value to the minority in this province.

Tribute To The Life Of A Prominent Peterboro' Man

Death of Dr. Henry Wilson—Was Well Known in Religious Work in Two Countries.

BURIED IN NEW YORK CITY

The Globe of Saturday pays the following tribute to the late Dr. Henry Wilson, who was a native of Peterborough county, and who had been prominent in religious work both in Canada and the United States:

The late Dr. Henry Wilson of New York, field superintendent of the Christian and Missionary Alliance work in the United States and Canada, was well known in this city where his nieces, Mrs. J. A. Turton and Mrs. P. E. Chadwick, reside. Dr. Wilson's death occurred in February. Earlier in the month he had been on a convention tour in Canada and journeyed from Ottawa to Atlanta, Ga., to begin a series of conventions in the South. He was unwell on his arrival in Atlanta, and in a few days the dread disease of double pneumonia gradually developed. Everything that love and skill could do was done, but without avail. Surrounded by some of his oldest friends his spirit passed peacefully to its eternal rest. Dr. Wilson was born in Peterborough county, Canada, in 1841, and was educated at Trinity College, Toronto, where he took high honours and several degrees, and was ordained to the ministry of the Episcopal Church in 1866. For the first 18 years of his public life he was an Episcopal clergyman at Kingston, Ont., then, after a profound spiritual experience, he went to New York as assistant to Rev. Dr. Rainsford in the great parish of St. George's Church, where he laboured with great earnestness for five years. In the year 1889 he became associate pastor of the Gospel Tabernacle, which relation he sustained until his death. Several years ago the claims of the home work of the Christian and Missionary Alliance took the board to call him from his pastoral work to spend the larger portion of his time as field superintendent of the work in the United States and Canada. His sympathies went out to all Christian workers. He was in close touch with the work of the Salvation Army and with the work of Rescue Missions. At the time of his death he was president of the Seamen's Mission, also president of the Nyack Seminary and for many years the chaplain of the Magdalen Home. He had travelled over almost all parts of the continent and was beloved by tens of thousands of people. The funeral services at the Gospel Tabernacle, New York, were held on Monday morning, February 17, and the Tabernacle was densely crowded by a representative audience. The chief mourners were Miss Madall Wilson, his daughter, one of the officers of the Salvation Army, and Mrs. and Mrs. Wonham. Mrs. Wonham is also a daughter, having been formerly Miss Bessie Wilson.

MILLBROOK CHINAMAM DISAPPEARS; SUPPOSED TO BE GOING INSANE

There is considerable excitement in Millbrook owing to the fact that Geo. Chung, the Celestial who has been washing the dirty linen of the neighbouring metropolis, has disappeared under circumstances that might lead one to suppose that he has designs on his life. Chief Rowzel on Saturday received a post-card from Mr. J. Handley, chief constable at Millbrook, in which reference was made to the disappearance of the Chinaman. Nothing further has been heard of him at headquarters here and his whereabouts are unknown.

The card read as follows:

Millbrook,—

A Chinaman called Geo. Chung, who has been running a laundry here, left last night walking towards Peterborough. He has been very despondent lately over the loss of money, and he says some one is going to kill him. He got a telephone message from Toronto yesterday which appeared to disturb him very much. He may be going insane, so, if he turns up in the city get some of his fellow countrymen to see what is the matter. He can not speak English very well, and is a little fellow, about 5 ft. 4 in. in height.

LARGE GATHERING OF LOCAL LIBERALS

To Consider the Calling of Convention To Nominate Liberal Candidate.

CONVENTION ON APRIL 4th

As announced, a meeting of the supporters of the Liberal party in Ontario, was held in the offices of Messrs. O'Connell & Gordon on Saturday evening, to consider the question of calling a convention for the nomination of a candidate for the Local House. There was a large attendance, and in view of the shortness of the time it was decided that the convention take the form of a mass meeting to be held in the Opera House on Saturday, April 4th.

At the opening of the meeting, on motion of Hon. J R Stratton, Mr. R F McWilliams took the chair, pending the arrival of the president, Mr. G. M. Roger, who coming in subsequently, assumed that position.

A general discussion took place and it was decided to call a convention to the Opera House, Peterborough, on Saturday, April 4th, at 2 o'clock p. m., the shortness of time making it advisable that this convention should take the form of a mass meeting of supporters of the Liberal party and policy.

Arrangements were made to secure the presence as chief speaker on the occasion, of Hon. A G MacKay, leader of the Liberal party in Ontario.

A general discussion of matters connected with the interests of the party took place and the meeting adjourned to meet again in the same place on Saturday evening next at 8 p.m.

PROSPECTS OF A RISE IN PRICE OF ICE

Unfavourable Season and Unusual Heavy Fall of Snow the Causes.

The ice vendors say that the very unfavourable season that has prevailed, together with the unusual heavy fall of snow, will force the price of ice up during the coming summer. They say cold winters are forerunners of hot summers. We are told that the hard winter has made it bad for the ice crop, and again we are told that the hot summer will bbe hard on the ice, too, so there you are. Wouldn't you like to be one man?—The Canadian Baker and Confectioner.

ITS USEFULNESS ENDED; HORSE WAS LEFT TO DIE

Life and Suffering Ended by Policeman Newhall.

Beside the shipping yards at the C.P.R. station an old and feeble horse was discovered on Saturday night, lacking in strength to rise from the mud hole where it lay. The past history of the steed is a blank so far as the authorities are concerned, as no person appears to know where it came from. Its loud groans attracted a train man to the spot where it lay and soon afterwards P. C. Newhall was informed of its sufferings and ended the poor animal's life with a shotgun.

It is yet a mystery how the horse arrived at the shipping yards. It apparently had been turned out by the owner into the street and left to wander where it would, after its usefulness had been expended.

IMPROVEMENTS AT KNOX CHURCH

Interior Decorated and a New Organ is Proposed.

The interior of the Knox Presbyterian church presented a fresh appearance to the congregation yesterday morning due to the improvements that have been made under the direction of the Board of Managers. The walls and ceiling have been cleaned and newly calcimined, the ceiling being a cream and the walls a light green with border producing a very pleasing effect.

Rev. Mr. Keith yesterday gave an account of his visit to Pittsburg as the representative from Knox church, and also spoke of the Institute that has been arranged for the first week of May.

It is understood that the Ladies Aid Society and the Board of Managers are considering a proposal to purchase an organ. The plan has spoken of but it is not known whether they will take immediate steps or not.

BIBLE CLASS ELECTED THEIR NEW OFFICERS

On Friday night the officers of Mr. Switzer's Bible Class of the George street Methodist church were elected at a largely attended meeting. The result was as follows:

President—Mrs. Devins.
Vice-Pres.—Mrs. Switzer.
Sec.—Mrs. W H Cunningham.
Treas.—Mrs. Fisher.

A CANADIAN LANDSCAPE DESIGNER

Talented Artist Who Has Just Returned From Boston.

Mr. C. Ernest Woolverton, Landscape Designer of Grimsby, has recently returned from Boston, Mass., where he has been working in conjunction with a noted firm of that city. Mr. Woolverton is now an associate member of the firm and will manage the Canadian branch of the business.

It is high time that our Canadian cities should awaken to the real and true importance and value of Park and Civic Improvement work. The fact that Park needs are less obvious and less material does not mean that they are less real.

Mr. Woolverton is the son of Mr. Linus Woolverton, the well-known horticulturist. His talent in Landscape Design is therefore a natural gift and with the backing of one of the most highly reputed firms of Boston, he should have the support of all his Canadian friends and countrymen.

A RELIABLE SPRING MEDICINE

Recommended To The People Of Peterborough.

At this season of the year there is hardly a man, woman or child in Peterborough who does not need a medicine to purify and enrich the blood, to induce an appetite, to promote digestion and, create strength, and we are safe in saying we have never sold anything in our store equal to the cod liver preparation Vinol for this purpose.

The reason Vinol is so far superior to old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions is because it is made by a scientific, extractive and concentrating process from fresh cods' livers, combining with peptonate-of-iron all the medicinal, healing and body-building elements of cod liver oil, but no oil.

As a spring medicine and a body-builder and strength creator for old people, delicate children, weak, run-down persons and after sickness, Vinol is unexcelled and you know what you are taking.

Mrs. Rosa Lavigne, of Burlington, Vt., writes: "Vinol is the best spring medicine I have ever used; it creates an appetite, purifies the blood, and takes away all feeling of lassitude."

We could go on quoting from hundreds of such letters, but simply ask the people of Peterborough to try Vinol this spring on our guarantee to return money if they are not benefitted. McDermid & Jury, Druggists, also the Market Drug Store, Peterborough.

HIBERNIANS RECEIVE COMMUNION

Attended Early Mass at St. Peter's in a Body.

The Ancient Order of Hibernians attended St. Peter's Cathedral in a body yesterday morning at the eight mass. They congregated at the convent and marched over one hundred strong to the Cathedral where they occupied seats in the body of the church. Mass was celebrated by His Lordship Bishop O'Connor. The Hibernians received holy communion.

At the conclusion of the mass His Lordship expressed his pleasure at seeing the Hibernians true to the principles of the faith and he was proud that their membership was increasing.

Sermon To The Hibernians By Rev. H. Carr Of Toronto

Attended St. Peter's Cathedral in a Body Last Night and Hear an Impressive Sermon on Saint Patrick.

A LARGE CONGREGATION

The Ancient Order of Hibernians attended Vespers at St. Peter's Cathedral in a body last night on the occasion of a special sermon preached to them by Rev. Father Carr, of St. Michael's College, Toronto. The subject was one that is ever old but ever old but ever welcome to Irishmen—St. Patrick and what he accomplished for the Irish people.

The Cathedral congregation was unusually large and the music by the choir was of a special nature.

Rev. Father Carr chose as his text the first two verses of the twelfth chapter of Genesis:—

"Now the Lord had said unto Abraham: Get thee out of they country, and from thy kindred, and from thy father's house unto a land that I will show thee."

"And I will make of thee a great nation; and I will bless thee and make thy name great."

Rev. Father Carr said in his opening remarks that no other nation honours, as does the Irish, its patron saint. His feast day, is their national holiday. Irishmen the world over will wear a sprig of Shamrock on Tuesday next, and many hearts will be thrilled by the music which is so dear to them. In referring to his text Rev. Father Carr spoke of the relation which exists between Abraham and St. Patrick in the work which each undertook and accomplished.

The world might laugh at the statement that St. Patrick had fostered a great nation but the fact was nevertheless true. Irishmen are scatterted in every clime and wherever they are found they have been successful in every walk of life.

Early Culture

Rev. Father Carr briefly outlined St. Patrick's history and stated that Ireland was the only nation converted to Christianity without martyrs blood being shed. At the beginning of the 5th century of the Christian era she was a prosperous country. The Roman Empire was dissolving, crushed and broken by the waves of barbarians who swept down from the north. The civilized world was in the throes of war in which Ireland was the only country left undisturbed. At that time she led the nations in literature, art and all the peaceful sciences. She was the educational centre and the seminary of Europe. For three centuries she continued thus until finally the hordes landed on her shores and the lamp of civilization and Christianity was almost quenched.

Rev. Father Carr said that Athens had been supreme for 70 years; Rome for 500 years and England during the past few centuries. Ireland therefore justly claimed a position among these nations for from the 5th to the 9th century she had held sway.

Like the Life of Job

The speaker touched lightly upon the succeeding pages of Irish history. As a nation she had suffered and endured every trial but her children to-day should look rather at her wrongs than her sufferings. Rev. Father Carr said that he considered the history of Ireland similar to that of the holy man, Job, who was so tormented and tempted by the devil but to no avail. Her patience and faith have stemmed every suffering by thave remained firm. Foreign invasion, persecution, famine and fever all in turn have done their worst, could break their hearts but not their faith.

Continuing, Father Carr said, that the great failing in the Irish character, had to a great extent, provided her own undoing. There was a lack of unity among the people which enabled the Danes in the 11th century, to ravage the country when a united stand would have held them off. In conclusion Rev. Father Carr urged the Hibernians and all Irishmen to cultivate the virtues of their forefathers but to remember their weakness and weed it out. The lack of unity in the past is manifest today in petty jealousies and every one should feel glad in the success of his neighbour and not try to pull him down. The unity that should have existed in the past years should show itself by a love for one another to-day and thus the Irish people will add to their strength and continue in its position among the world's greatest races.

Another Peterboro' Man Who Prospered On The Prairies

Mr. T. J. Sedgwick Visited His Old Home In Douro After Fourteen Years Absence.

MAY GO TO VANCOUVER

Mr. T. J. Sedgwick who has been visiting his parents at Mount View, Douro, has returned to his home in the west. He had not been home for fourteen years and he noticed a great many changes in Peterborough and surrounding district, but not so much in the people of his acquaintance and they all stood the times pretty well. He spoke very highly of the west, as he has been very prosperous in all his undertakings. His home is one hundred and twenty-five miles from Winnipeg and twenty-five from Brandon.

The land, he said, is the very best. The frost never strikes it until the crops are all harvested. He owns half a section of the best improved land, and never had a poor crop yet. He is also the local agent for the Confederation Life Insurance Company.

Mr. Sedgwick's wife and family accompanied him east, and as they were on their trip they thought we had a rather severe winter. Mr. Sedgwick is also salesman for the Lipton Lumbering Company at Bounthwaite. He and his family spent last winter in Vancouver City, where he bought considerable property. He states he may make his home there yet, as he and his friends have many friends in that section of the west.

Opportunity And Laymen's Place In Religious Life

Hon. A. B. Morine Ill—Vacancy Filled by Mr. N. F. Davidson, K.C.—Rev. Ensor Sharpe the Other Speaker— Progress of the Mission at St. John's.

MUCH INTEREST TAKEN

Two very earnest and powerful addresses were delivered at St. John's mission last night by Mr. W F Davidson, K.C., a Toronto lawyer, and brother of Canon Davidson and Rev. C. Ensor Sharpe. The usual large congregation was in attendance and a great interest was shown in the services, the responses being given in a wholehearted manner. The congregation also joined heartily in the singing of the hymns.

Hon. A. B. Morine was to have delivered an address, but unfortunately was unable to be present.

Mr. Davidson, in opening his remarks, expressed his regret at the absence of Hon. Mr. Morine, and referred to him as a vigourous churchman.

This was a time of great movement in the Church of God, said the speaker, exemplified by the wonderful laymen's missionary movement. A matter of the greatest importance which we had to consider was the fact of Jesus Christ and what influence that had on our lives.

The basis of the address was "What think ye of Christ?" It seemed to the speaker that that challenge which had rung through his mind went forth to the whole world. It was the compelling question, to which there could be no half-hearted answer. We should try and see to what extent He was the compelling factor to us.

Two Pictures

Two pictures were presented to us. On the one side we saw in our country, our cities, and, to a limited extent, in our churches, the world with its alluring powers. But on the other side there stood God revealed in the form of the Blessed Trinity, able, ready, aye and anxious, to give the power to meet those temptations which came to us in our daily lives and in our everyday avocations.

We set aside the privilege of living of Christ, because of the imaginary sacrifice entailed, but yet we knew all in life that was worth while came from doing what we could in this life for Christ. Despite this, we refused Him and neglected Him.

Heathendom Here

Christ demanded a personal sacrifice through which and by which man alone could serve Him. And yet this sacrifice gave the rewards, which no other service could give. Surely the time was at hand when there was a call for spiritual work. "Heathendom is at our very door," said the speaker.

There were men who thought so very little of religion that they refused to go to church and support in any way the Gospel of Jesus Christ. What answer was that to the question "What think ye of Christ."

Men engaged on the mission of Christ were turned away from different places in Peterborough with the statement that the people called upon were too busy to consider the message delivered. What a revelation might be wrought in this city by allegiance to Christ.

Rev. E. C. Ensor Sharpe, who spoke after Mr. Davidson's address made a feeling plea for the closer fellowship with Jesus Christ. He referred to the remarks of the preceding speaker and of their convincing character. In earnest terms he spoke of the shameful treatment of Christ by mankind.

God had brought those present to church almost unknown to themselves.

Concerning the Mission

For a whole week different sermons on Christ had been heard in St. John's Church. The speakers had come to the mission, not simply because they had wanted to come, not because they were any better speakers than anybody else, but because they could not but respond to the call of God. The speaker dwelt on the good work being done by the mission and how it was the mind of God that had decreed that it should be held.

Much sacrifice was required all through Lent. We should observe the sacred season in spite of the attractions of amusements and parties and attractive worldly functions.

Could we not give God what is the best we could offer Him—a broken and contrite heart? We knew not how soon we would be called, for souls were passing away at the very moment he was speaking.

The speaker graphically described the significance of death and the awfulness of being too late to accept the gift of redemption offered to man.

We had to make our minds up one way or the other. Some day either on earth or in Heaven we would have to answer the question "Why did ye cast me away from you?"

To Live for Christ

To live for Christ meant a discipline of the mind and body and to carry the cross on earth. It meant pain and sorrow. Pain we all had to bear, but there was a pain that had a strange underlying sweetness. Christ's own life was one of intense poverty and great suffering.

No man knew the joy of the cross but the man who had carried it. Not one soul could be brought to God until one's own had accepted the Master. The congregation were urged to quietly and passionately think of the great victory to be achieved in the acknowledgement and acceptance of Christ.

Mission Notes

The mission services at St. John's on Sunday were most eventful, the mission spirit seeming to manifestly abound. In spite of the almost impassable streets there were large congregations both morning and evening. In the evening there was an overflowing congregation, representative of all denominations and of professional and business men. The services were informal and simple but marked by a spirit of great earnestness and heartiness. The simple hymns were sung with enthusiasm and the addresses were simple and direct.

Rev. Mr. Sharp, the missioner, who began the work on conducting the closing days of the mission is a man of striking physique, apparently possessed of unusual spiritual power and evidently of a large experience in dealing personally with men in all parts of the world and of every sect and condition. He speaks in a manly straightforward way, which seems to bring conviction to his hearers. He was for many years a naval chaplain and in that capacity had wide opportunities for direct intercourse with men. In his brief address at the Y. M. C. A. he expressed the opinion that immoral conduct was largely responsible for irreligion and the absence of moral and religious observance. This particular sin destroyed the moral and religious fibre of men and closed their hearts to religious influences. He also spoke of the damaging nature which caused men to pursue their own mistaken course of conduct in the teeth of their consciences. Till such pride could be broken down, the principles of religion founded upon humility had little chance with a man. Mr. Sharp's whole address, while brief was powerful and effective.

At the evening meeting Mr. N. F. Davidson, K.C., Toronto, dealt with the layman's relation to religious activities, and was a strong manly appeal from a man, in the thick of the fight in the business world to laymen to take a definite and active place in religious life and action.

The services under the conduction of Rev. Mr. Sharp will continue till Wednesday night, inclusive when they will be brought to a close.

AFTERNOON SERVICE AT THE Y.M.C.A.

An Interesting Meeting—Session of Board of Directors.

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew of St. John's Church in connection with the Religious Committee of the Y.M.C.A., conducted a most interesting and helpful meteing at the "Y" yesterday afternoon. The main speaker was Rev. C F Sharp, M.A., of Toronto, who gave a most excellent address to young men on "Purity, Humility and Silence," showing how Christ, our example, was perfect in these things and how much we needed to cultivate these graces.

The Board of Directors of the Y. M.C.A. meets to-night at 6 o'clock for supper, after which the regular meeting will take place. Mr. E. M. Thomasson, of the staff of the Provincial Committee, will be present.

The special committee, which arranged for the members' banquet, will meet to-night at 8 o'clock to receive reports. A full attendance is urged.

The Personal Workers' Study Club meets to-night to continue their studies. Some new members will be present.

SHEPHERD REMANDED TO WEDNESDAY

Man Charged With Forgery Appeared Before Magistrate Dumble on Saturday.

George Shepherd, arrested in Port Hope on Friday and brought back to Peterborough on Saturday morning by P. C. McGinty, appeared before Magistrate Dumble at a special session of the police court at 5 o'clock on Saturday afternoon. Two charges were preferred against him, one of having forged the name of Wm. Snowden to a cheque cashed by Mr. Pappas, and the other of having obtained a watch from C. S. McClelland under false pretences.

On both charges Shepherd refused to make an election and asked for a remand of a day or two until he could arrange his defence. This was agreeable to the Chief, and the case was enlarged until Wednesday morning. Shepherd will spend the interim in jail.

The offences occurred several years ago.

TALENTED ARTISTS AT WARSAW CONCERT

A Splendid Programme Presented There By The Foresters.

Examiner Special.

Warsaw, March 16.—Under the auspices of Court Warsaw, No. 220, C. O. F., a concert of particular merit was presented in the town hall here on Wednesday evening of last week. The function was successful in every respect, the hall being crowded with an audience which appreciated the splendid programme.

The first and second parts of the programme were opened by selections by the orchestra. Miss Jean Robson of Norwood, the soprano of the evening, easily won the favour of her hearers with her charming voice. Of her several numbers, "May Morning," by Denza, was a great favourite and called forth much applause, which was responded to with a pleasing number entitled "The Slumber Boat."

Mr. Will J. White, the well-known Toronto comedian, supplied the comic part of the programme, and he did it to perfection. His selections were new and modern, and entirely free from everything in the least objectionable, and were delivered with skill and effect, characteristic only of a first-class artist. It would be difficult to particularize on the merits of any one number, but in "Paragraphs," "The New Waiter," and "It Ain't All Honey" he was immensely funny and provoked round and round of applause.

One of the most enjoyable numbers of the evening was a waltz by Chopin, played by Miss Grace Taft, of the Peterborough Conservatory of Music. Miss Taft also performed the arduous duties of accompanist in a most graceful and acceptable manner. Miss Julia Choate, also of the Peterborough Conservatory of Music, contributed to the delightful programme by a splendid violin solo, which was greatly appreciated by the audience.

In a word, the concert was one of the most pleasing that has been held in Warsaw for some time, and the local Forester Court is to be congratulated on securing such talented artists.

Everyone hear Mr. H. R. H. Kenner's beautifully illustrated lecture on Florence the Beautiful and the fine musical program at the Y. M. C. A., Tuesday March 17th, at 8 p. m. Tickets 15c or 2 for 25c. 3d-63

Music and Drama

AMELIA BINGHAM

In "The Climbers" Mr. Clyde Fitch constructed a play that will live, for years. This is true because human nature does not change greatly. While conditions are not always the same, the people that make the big tragedies of life are. "The Climbers" was written fully six years ago, yet it seems even more timely to-day than when it was first produced by Miss Amelia Bingham, at the Bijou Theatre, New York, where it achieved a memorable success. Its characters are American types—year in and year out American types—with all the virtues and vices, fancies and foibles that in varying guise remain in evidence in American society and financial circles.

It is little wonder that Miss Bingham in her revival of the Fitch play, finds her audiences more receptive and absorbed than during its earlier productions. Recent disclosures have brought the public nearer the inside of the lives of men who plunge in Wall street, and the women who sour in Fifth avenue. These are the people that seem near through "The Climbers." Miss Bingham in "Blanche Sterling" has a part that calls for exceptional emotional flights, and she plays it as naturally and as stirringly as ever. Byron Douglas, as "Edward Worden," and Gordon Edwards, as "Richard Sterling," are both in her support, and the "Julia Godesby" of Jane Gordon is said to be a splendid bit of acting. Jane Wheatley and Adelyn Wesley are also entirely adequate in their roles.

"The Climbers" is billed for Saturday night. For a special Saturday matinee "A Modern Magdalen," will be presented. This play offers Miss Bingham her greatest personal opportunities.

Plan opens Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

LEHAR'S NEW WORK

A despatch from Vienna regarding Franz Lehar's music for Julius Bauer's new operetta states that he has not scored the success he attained in his music for "The Merry Widow." Several weeks prior to the first performance every box and every seat in the Theatre An der Wien, Vienna, had been sold, the fact that his "Merry Widow" having passed to all the operetta stages of the world causing people to expect the impossible.

In his new piece Lehar's music stands between the operetta and the comic opera. The despatch says:—"From a musical point of view, Lehar must be praised for the ambitious work he undertook, but it must be admitted that what made the success of "The Merry Widow" is lost and is sadly missed. George Edwards of the London Gayety Theatre bought the opera weeks ago for a round sum. He will change it before he puts it on the English stage."

FARMER'S DAUGHTER IN RUNAWAY

Lost Control of Horses Which Bolted But Were Soon Caught.

A farmer's daughter who was holding a team of horses on Saturday afternoon at the police court lost control of them and they started to run away. The cracking of whips and general confusion unnerved them and they commenced to back onto the walk and then bolted. Fortunately they were captured before they had gone past the Hunter street crossing and very probably an accident of more or less seriousness was thus timely averted.

SERVICES AT ST. PETER'S TO-MORROW

The Feast of St. Patrick Celebrated by Two Masses.

Tuesday is the feast of St. Patrick and will be celebrated in the usual manner at St. Peter's Cathedral. Masses will be said at 7.30 o'clock, and at 9 o'clock, the last mass being a high mass, at which a sermon is generally preached. The music at both services will be fitting the day.

SAVE THE CHILDREN

Insure Them Good Health.

Ninety per cent. of children, under twelve years of age, are being poisoned and parents don't realize it.

Irregular bowels are the chief cause. You parents know that your bowels should move every day. You know you must be as regular as clock-work, or the blood will become tainted.

Don't you realize that the children must be as orderly in getting rid of the waste matter of their system?

Then, if you find that any of the little ones go two or three days without action of the bowels, don't run to castor oil, senna tea, calomel, cascara or harsh "liver pills." Those simply purge the child—strain the bowels.

"Fruit-a-tives" are the ideal medicine for children. They are fruit juices and tonics in the form of a pleasant tasting tablet. "Fruit-a-tives" stimulate the liver, causing more bile to flow. It is the bile, given up by the liver, which moves the bowels. "Fruit-a-tives" regulate the liver and bowels, and thus completely cure constipation. They sweeten the stomach, and are the finest tonic in the world to build up the system and make children plump and rosy. 50c a box—six for $2.50. Sent on receipt of price if your dealer does not handle them. "Fruit-a-tives" Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

GAS EXPLOSION PROVED FATAL

Natchez, Miss., Scene of Startling Accident on Saturday.

EIGHT PERSONS ARE KILLED

Five Storey Building Was Entirely Wrecked — Fire Afterwards Broke Out—Stiff Breeze Aided the Flames —Eighteen Houses Set Alight— Seven Destroyed—Losses Are Heavy — Militia Called Out

Natchez, Miss., March 16.—Eight persons were killed, one severely injured and property valued at many thousands of dollars was wrecked yesterday as the result of an explosion of gas in the basement of a five-storey building occupied by the Natchez Drug Co. at Main and North Union streets, near the business quarter. Uriah Hoskins, one of the victims, fell and broke his neck while running from the building.

The explosion tore away the rear wall of the building, which in falling crushed an adjoining tenement building. The wreckage caught fire and a stiff wind carried huge sparks to the north and west, setting fire to eighteen residences, seven of which were destroyed.

All business has been suspended and the local companies of militia are on duty to preserve order.

Courage Keeps Him Alive.

London, March 16.—Premier Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's condition now is such that he may die any day, or he may linger for weeks or months.

He makes no progress toward recovery, and, his reserve of strength being drained, the slightest turn for the worse might bring on a collapse. But he himself does not realize the gravity of his state. He is confident that he will be back in harness after Easter. He never even hints at resigning.

His state of mind is a peculiar psychological study. He has always been a man of quiet and undemonstrative resolution, steadfast in his opinions, extremely amiable and kindly, but courageous and unwavering.

His resoluteness now dominates all other qualities, and it is impossible to get him to discuss even the possibility of his retirement.

His doctors say it is his courage that keeps him alive. If he should lose confidence nothing could be done for him. He is in his 72nd year.

Rockefeller on Prohibition.

Augusta, Ga., March 16.—"I am an old man, and I am glad to say I never touched whisky."

John D. Rockefeller made this statement to a newspaper man. He talked freely upon the subject of prohibition. He regards it "as a good thing to keep liquor away from the negroes and lower classes of whites."

"I know there are many problems to be considered in connection with this great question, but in the end I think it will be best for the state," he said, indicating his view with reference to the present situation in Georgia. "It uplifts the people, strengthens them, teaches them to save. It is best."

Mr. Rockefeller believes that the prohibition sentiment is growing not only in this country but in England as well. It is his belief that the wave of anti-liquor sentiment is steadily gaining ground throughout the United States.

Was Confession False?

Montreal, March 16.—It is now stated that the confession of Pigeon, alias Dabenais, a convict of St. Vincent de Paul, to the effect that he is the man who stole the $1,800 from the office of the Montreal police court instead of Abram Hobeika, who was sent to jail for the crime, is nothing more than a put-up job to save another from punishment.

Chief Detective Carpenter said at the time that the confession of Pigeon was false from beginning to end, and he was probably right. Pigeon now claims that he was sick in the prison infirmary and one day a man came to him, whose name he will not divulge unless he is brought into court, and who asked him to assume the responsibility of the theft for which Hobeika was sent to jail.

He was given a plan of the police court and at once proceeded to invent the story of the pretended steal

To Suffer From Headaches Makes Life Miserable. . .

It takes a person that has had and is subject to headaches to describe the suffering which attends them.

The majority of cases are caused by constipation and dyspepsia. The dull throbbings, the intense pain, sometimes in one part, sometimes in another, and then over the whole head, varying in its severity by the cause which brings it on, purely indicates that there is something the matter with the stomach or bowels. To the fact that Burdock Blood Bitters reaches every part of the system is due its success in relieving and permanently curing headache. It has proven a specific for the malady in all its forms.

Mr. Wm. R. Gilchrist, New Mills, N.B., writes: "I was troubled for years with constipation and headaches, but after using four bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters I am completely cured."

Mr. John T. Kidner, Red Deer, Alta., writes: "I was troubled for several years with headache. I tried a number of remedies but they did me no good. I tried a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters and it cured me completely."

BRITAIN WANTS THE GUN.

But Inventor of Noiseless Weapon Gives U.S. First Chance.

New York, March 16.—Fred Bangerter of Flatbush, N.Y., has been instructed by the United States Government to construct a large size model of his noiseless gun for testing at Sandy Hook

The gun can discharge 2,000,000 bullets an hour. No powder or other explosive or compressed air is used. No shells are required. It makes no noise, no smoke, no flash, nor report. There is no recoil. The gun never gets heated. It cannot explode. Two men can operate it. The velocity of projectiles is 3,000 feet a second. The expense of discharging 1,000,000 is $10. The cost of firing 1,000,000 bullets requiring powder and shells is $20. When mounted the gun travels sixty miles an hour. Ten guns firing 20,000,000 shots an hour would wipe out an army of 200,000 inside of 60 minutes if 1 per cent. of the missles hit them.

"I have had an extensive cable correspondence with London, in which I was offered $5,000,000 for the world's rights provided the gun will stand the British Government test," says the inventor. "A month's option was requested by cable, but out of courtesy to the chief of the United States war ordinance board I declined to give an option to the Englishman, but cabled him that I would consider the proposition."

THIEVES WERE POLICEMEN.

At Point of Revolver Forced Laborers From a Street Car.

New Orleans, March 16.—Following the complaint of two citizens, that they had been taken off a street car at the point of a pistol, conducted to a near-by building and there robbed, a squad of police went to the building, and were surprised to find two of their brother officers in the place.

One of the officers, Supernumerary Patrolman Warren E. Bofill, was identified as the man who ordered the citizens off the car after he had shown them his police badge.

The other officer, Patrolman Arthur Connell, was declared to be the man who had sat at an improvised desk and answered questions when Bofill addressed him as "sergeant." Bofill was placed under arrest and locked up on several charges. Connell was suspended from the force pending a further investigation.

The men who made the complaint are laborers, who allege that Bofill took about $1.25 from them.

Rifles Sent as Milk.

New York, March 16.—Within the past few weeks New York has become one of the most active centres of the Hindu revolutionary party outside of India. At least one large shipment of rifles has been made secretly from this port, labeled "condensed milk," and the weapons are now in the hands of natives.

So seriously does the British Government regard the insurrectionary movement among the East Indians in America that three Scotland Yard detectives are now at work in this city. They spy on the movements of the extremists among the Hindu "students," and it was declared Saturday, have employed several American assistants, one of whom is a woman.

Want Another In Cabinet.

Ottawa, March 16.—Despite a heavy downpour of rain, Ottawa Irishmen turned out in large numbers for the annual church parade yesterday. Services were held at St. Joseph's Church, Rev. Father Sherry of Ottawa University delivering the oration.

The usual resolutions in support of the Irish Parliamentary party were passed at St. Patrick's Hall afterwards.

The meeting also called upon the Dominion Government to give the Irish Catholics another representative in the Cabinet.

Norwegian Cabinet Resigns.

Christiania, March 16.—King Haakon has accepted the resignation of the Cabinet. This step on the part of the Ministry is an outcome of the reception by the Storthing of Socialist and Radical motions of lack of confidence.

Both motions were rejected by the Storthing, but the vote showed that the Government could retain office only by favor of the coalition parties, which the Ministers were unwilling to do. They have advised the King to summon the Radical leader, Gunar Knudson, to form a new Cabinet.

Morse Will Pay.

New York, March 16.—In a statement issued last night by Eugene P. Carver, counsel for Charles W. Morse, declaration is made that the indicted banker believes that he is able to pay, and with the co-operation of his creditors, that he proposes to pay all his just debt.

Fraudulent Passports.

Tokio, March 16.—The Government has unearthed a fraudulent passport manufacturer at Omori, a seaport in northern Japan. Several arrests have been made, including two police officers, who are charged with having sold over 300 passports to America at $50 each.

Morocco's Trouble Ending.

Paris, March 16.—Gen. d'Amade has granted a safe conduct to the chief of the Chaonia tribe, who has announced that Mulai Hafid is ready for submission, to come to Settat, where the French commander is at present stationed to discuss terms.

THREE HOTELS WERE BURNED

Exciting Scene at Early Morning Fire in Quebec.

GUESTS LEAP FROM WINDOWS

Members of Opera Company In Danger—Women Escape In Their Nightclothes—Mother Jumps Into the Street With Her Little Baby In Her Arms — Escape Was Cut Off the Stairway by Flames.

Quebec, March 16.—The cry of fire in the King Edward Hotel, a small hostelry situated on Garden street, near the City Hall, created a scene of considerable excitement yesterday morning. The fire took place in the basement, and in a few moments the entire premises were filled with dense smoke. The guests, to the number of about thirty-five, including members of the Aborn Opera Co., performing at the Auditorium, were awakened from their slumbers, and some of the women became so excited that they jumped from a second storey window into the yard, partially dressed. The firemen, in the meantime, were quickly on the spot, and very soon extinguished the flames before they reached any dangerous proportions. The damage was insignificant.

St. John, N.B., March 16.—About 3 o'clock on Sunday morning fire broke out in the upper flat of a three-storey tenement house in Chesley street, occupied by 25 people. Mrs. Dennis Kenelly, who was awakened by the fire in her rooms, had to make her way through the flames to safety. Her hair was burned and her face scorched. She aroused the other families. Mrs. James Hanley found escape by the stairs cut off by a sheet of flame. She jumped to a porch with her baby in her arms, and was rescued from there by means of a ladder. The loss is about $4,000, with light insurance.

Vancouver, March 16.—The Hotel de Gignon, at Harrison Hot Springs, owned by Ed. Lewis, Vancouver, was destroyed by fire on Thursday. The guests jumped from windows on the second floor to save their lives. The fire is supposed to have originated from an overheated hall stove on the ground floor.

Port Hope, March 16.—A small fire broke out in the Queen's Hotel at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, causing about $800 damage. Prompt arrival of the firemen prevented the spread of the flames.

DEVASTATED BY FLAMES.

Fire Rages Seven Hours In Montana —800 Families Homeless.

Butte, Mont., March 16.—Fire destroyed three-fourths of Big Timber, Mont., making 800 families homeless and causing $400,000 damage. The fire raged for seven hours during a gale.

A special train with fire apparatus was hurried from Livingston, about thirty miles west of Big Timber.

The fire started in the stock yards of the Northern Pacific Co. and from there spread to a dwelling in the outskirts of the town. It was carried from house to house until the business quarter was reached. The flames cut a swarth more than a block wide through the business portion of the town. The wind then veered and the flames were driven back, destroying the buildings which had escaped the first sweep.

At one time the town was burning at three different places. Water became exhausted, handicapping the fire fighters.

Women joined in the struggle and carried food to every man while they fought the fire.

The fire fighters finally massed forces around the First National Bank, where the blaze was extinguished.

Girls Escape From Fire.

New York, March 16.—The candy factory of Arthur Essing, at 382 Pearl street, a five-storey building, was practically destroyed by fire Saturday.

One hundred girl employes, who were at work on the fourth and fifth floors, had narrow escapes, but all got out safely.

The flames consumed tons of candy.

Train Wreck In Newfoundland.

Halifax, March 16.—The steamer Bruce, arriving at North Sydney, had over 100 passengers, the majority of whom were suffering from injuries received on the Newfoundland Railway, in one of the worst accidents in the history of the Reid road. Many passengers were obliged to remain at Port Aux Basque, with injuries.

The accident occurred six and a half miles from Port Aux Basque, when most of the passengers were asleep. The train was moving rapidly along when the engine and forward cars rolled over and over, hurling men, women and children from their berths in the tangled wreckage.

Excitement In Canton.

Hong Kong, March 16.—At a meeting in Canton over the Tatsu Maru matter Saturday night, indignation was shown to be very strong, and if diplomacy fails a boycott will be organized soon.

During the excitement the Viceroy of Canton resigned rather than release the vessel.

Gift to University.

Hong Kong, March 16.—Rennie Miller has been given $150,000 with which to build a university at Hong Kong, and incorporate with it the existing College of Medicine. The Government has made a grant of land.

Decoration For Queen of Spain.

Madrid, March 16.—Prince Kiniyoshi Kuni, a cousin of the Emperor of Japan, yesterday presented to Queen Victoria, the insignia of the Order of the Crown on behalf of the Empress of Japan.

A Prince Dies.

Cannes, March 16.—Gen. Stephen, the five-year-old son of Prince Mirko of Montenegro, died here yesterday.

AN EXPENDITURE OF $9,000,000

Australia's Premier Urges Need of National Defence.

WELCOMES YANKEE FLEET

Visit Will Be Popular—People Are Enthusiastic—Premier Says Wealthy Citizens Should Help Maintain Naval and Military Forces— Wants 20,000 Men and Fifteen Ships For Coast Defence.

Sydney, March 16.—There was a dramatic scene yesterday at a great gathering of citizens, when at the conclusion of an address on the subject of national defence, the Premier, Alfred Deakin, read a cablegram announcing that the American fleet of battleships would visit Sydney and Melbourne. He called for three cheers for the United States, and the audience rose en masse and responded with deafening hurrahs.

The Prime Minister said that he was sure that such a welcome as an American fleet had never known outside of its own country, would be accorded it by Australia, and the cheering that followed this statement seemed evidence of the fact that Australians, one and all, have a feeling stronger than mere friendship for the American people and their navy.

Premier Deakin, in the speech, advocated greater expenditures for national defence. He said that the burden imposed upon the people of Great Britain for the maintenance of their naval and military forces was beginning to tell, and that wealthy Australians could not expect to enjoy that privilege of protection against invasion without bearing their share of the cost. The expenditure recommended is $9,000,000 for an army of 20,000 and 15 coast defence vessels.

KILLED IN STREET DUEL.

Black Hand Agent Shot by Men He Had Threatened.

New York, March 16.—A well-dressed, prosperous-looking Italian was shot to death in a street duel with two men at 114th street and First avenue yesterday. The men made their escape and have not been captured. It is believed that the dead man was a Black Hand agent, and that his death was a result of an attempt to collect tribute from the men who afterwards killed him.

The victim, a stranger in the neighborhood, asked two men who were wheeling barrows filled with bananas, whether they had "received that message."

Both men made some answer, whereupon the stranger drew a revolver from his side pocket. The two were equally quick. The stranger fired and his two adversaries closed in on him. They caught his revolver hand, and while one held it the other pressed a revolver against the back of the man's head and fired. The man fell to the sidewalk dying. His assailants fled in opposite directions.

Dunsmuir May Sell Out.

Vancouver, B.C., March 16.—Following the announcement of his early departure for a prolonged cruise in the Mediterranean comes a well authenticated report that Lieut.-Governor Dunsmuir may sell his entire Vancouver Island holdings, including valuable coal mines and coal lands, to an English syndicate.

If the deal goes through Dunsmuir and his family will take up their permanent residence in England. The latter was fully discussed with Sir Edward Vincent, the English financier during the latter's recent visit to Victoria.

His honor keenly felt the attacks made on him by organized labor, and has of late frequently expressed a desire to retire to England, where several of his married daughters reside.

If the deal is made, it is estimated that the purchase price will exceed $15,000,000.

May Be a Murder.

Middletown, N.Y., March 16.—Coroner Crist and Dr. Hardenbergh who examined yesterday bones taken from the ruins of the burned home of Daniel Kelaber, near Montgomery, believe the bones are not those of a human being. Coroner Crist is now making every effort to discover the whereabouts of Kelaber, who was believed to have been murdered in his home before it was set afire.

YANKEE CURLERS JUBILIANT ABOUT THE CHAMPIONSHIP

The New York World, in referring to the world's championship in curling uas the following despatch from St. Paul, Minn.:

The world's championship in that slippery, fascinating Scotch game, curling, has been wrested from Canada by the United States, and R. H. (Bob) Dunbar, of St. Paul, is enthroned king of the "bra' game," and is acknowledged premier courler of the world. Three other St. Paul curlers, Lambert Deficb Frank McCarthy and W. J. Elliott, ably assisted him in gaining the coveted prize.

For a generation skilful American exponents of the game have been struggling to win from Canada the international laurels that accompany the capturing of the "International" and "grand aggregate" at the big yearly bonspiel held at Winnipeg. Although they have almost grasped the prize several times, it has invariably slipped away at the last moment. This winter it is a different story and at the conclusion of the Winnipeg 'spiel just finished the coveted honours were conclusively taken by the rink skipped by Dunbar, of the Capitol City Curling Club, of St. Paul.

The struggle for the curling championship only ended in victory for the United States after twenty long years of consecutive annual competitions, in which for nineteen winters the American challengers for international honours were worsted with a regularity that became a byword and a joke. To the Dunbar quartet of clever curlers the credit of vanquishing the Canucks is primarily due. It was the victory of the St. Paul rink in the four-rink international competition that made the American triumph possible. All along the line victory rested with the Yankees, and the Canadians with most sportsmanlike spirit, admitted a clean defeat and roundly cheered the St. Paul skip and his men for their magnificent showing.

These honours were won in a competition in which 128 rinks, composed of 512 picked players, participated. It was a glorious bonspiel. Rinks came from all parts of the Canadian Northwest, one hailing from Dawson City, near the Arctic circle. These men started for Winnipeg during the first week of the new year. Eastern Canada sent its best men, among them the J. D. Flavelle rink, which, before going to Winnipeg had won the Ontario Tankard, representing the championship of the east. The roncourse at Winnipeg was therefore a gathering in which the best curling talent obtainable was represented—for the curling of Scotland is admittedly far below the standard of the game in Canada. To wing the world's championship from such men was, therefore, a task requiring a remarkable degree of sustained skill, and it meant a struggle in which the smallest error of judgment spelled defeat.

In the last twelve years Dunbar has carried off the individual championship in points no fewer than five times, a record no other player has even approached.

EDMONTON TRIMMED PORTAGE

Whitcroft's Bunch Beat the Manitoba Team Again by 8 Goals to 3.

Edmonton, Alta., March 11. — The Edmonton hockey team have announced that they will challenge for the Stanley cup. They defeated Portage to-night by the score of 8 to 3. The ice was hard and the game was exciting and fast from first to last, and was characterized by brilliant dashes and excellent combination. Portage's great weakness was in her goal, and here Edmonton towered in strength. The score on this account does not indicate the merits of the game, as the teams were about even. The game for the home team was played by Deaton, Crowley, Miller, Whitcroft and Parr. For the visitors the principal work was by H Ross, Taylor, Charlton and Fraser. The Portage team have asked for another game, six a side, and this will probably be arranged for Friday evening.

AUBURNS WON FROM THE CORDAGE

Five Straight Victories for the Team From the North End.

The Auburns played their last game of the season Saturday afternoon at Brock street rink and will now hang up their sticks with a record of five victories and no defeats. The Canadian Cordage Works team were their adversaries on Saturday, and the rope men went down to defeat by 4 goals to 2. The ice was, of course, soft, but in spite of this fact the game was a good exhibition and was hard fought from start to finish, although the Auburns had the better of it from the beginning. For the woollen men, Shaw and Kendry were the stars, while Bellleghem and C. Foley played good hockey for the twine bunch. Leo Derocher gave every satisfaction as referee.

Following were the teams:

Cordage—	Auburns

Killingbeck	Kempt

E Belleghem	Brumwell
Cover Point
Clancy	Shaw

Webb	Kendry

C Foley	Hawkins

The goals for the Auburns were scored by Brunwell, Shaw 2, and Kendry, while C. Foley and Webb scored for the Cordage.

Examiner Special.

Young's Point, March 16.—A friendly game of hockey was played by the L. P. S. of Lakefield and the Mayflowers of Young's Point, last week. The game took place on Lakefield ice and was fast and exciting. The visitors tried hard to win and made many rushes but the strong defence of the "Grove" stopped many shots. Both teams were evenly matched as the result shows, 4 all. The line-up was as follows:

L. P. S.	Young's Point.

SLATER WILL ENTER WALKING MATCH HERE

Mr. George Stevens has received a letter from Tom Slater, of Buffalo to the effect that he will be a contestant in the six-day walking race beginning April 20th. Indications point to a large number of entries, which, in addition to Dave Hartley, will include a number of other local pedestrians, as well as the majority of the walkers who took part in the Kansas City walk. Those intending to enter are asked to leave their names at the Examiner office as soon as possible.

The letter from Slater is as follows:

Dear Sir,—I have been informed by Mr. Hoagland that you are to hold a six-day heel and toe walking match in Peterborough some time next month. I would be pleased to enter your race, for I know a race in Peterborough would be a big success, if handled in the proper way. I finished second in the Kansas City race a few days ago. Now, of you do not hold the six-day race you get me on a match with some one. I will walk any man in Canada any distance from fifty miles up. I would be pleased to hear from you at once in regard to the race.

IMPRESSIONS MADE BY MISSION

"Non-Church Goer" Attended and Received Agreeable Surprise—Absence of Pessimism Remarkable.

PASS ALONG A GOOD THING

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Not having been in any church for quite a lengthened period of time, I happened to drop into one of the mission services now being held at St. John's Church and received an agreeable shock.

I must say I enjoyed every minute of it and from my observations and the remarks made by others came to the conclusion that that also was generally the case with the audience.

The addresses earnest, dignified, able, manly and to the point every time, accompanied, as they were, by the hearty singing of the audience (and it was hearty) furnished a service that was bright, cheery, attractive and uplifting and very far from what the non-church goer would generally picture it to be.

So much was I taken with that service that I have attended all since and the same remarks apply to them all.

In fact, as the boys' say "there isn't a dull moment."

One thing that struck me was the remarkable attendance of pessimism in the speakers—a refreshing thing in these times.

I am writing, Mr. Editor, on the principle that when you strike a good thing pass it around and having enjoyed the services myself so much, and knowing that others also would like to enjoy them if they knew the nature of them, but did not care to risk being bored, have written you my impression of them. To put it on no higher plane those who attend will have at least an evening's intellectual and musical enjoyment.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor,

Yours truly,

NON-CHURCH GOER

WELL KNOWN MERCHANT KILLED BY GAS

Samuel Parr of Blackstock a Victim in Toronto Hotel—Nothing to Indicate Suicide.

Toronto, March 16. — (Special.) — Samuel Parr of Blackstock, Ont., one of the best known young merchants between Toronto and Peterborough, was found dead in bed in his room at the Wilson House, York street, this morning, with the gas turned on. Frank Hawkins, the proprietor of the hotel, made the discovery.

"There was nothing at all to indicate suicide," said Mr. Hawkins. "Parr came in last night from Blackstock, and, as usual, registered here. He seemed in splendid health and spirits, and I am sure that any thought of suicide would be the last thing to trouble him." His business affairs were flourishing and his health was good.

Ending the Honeymoon

By TAYLOR WHITE.

Copyrighted, 1907, by E. C. Parcells.

"And so you are your Uncle Dudley's heir!" cried Laura as Dan Fetter folded the letter and replaced it in its envelope. "Isn't that great?"

"It's not much of a fortune," explained Dan. "Just before the failure Uncle Dudley wrote that he had hoped to leave me a lot, but that he was afraid there was precious little left and that was going fast. Two weeks after that the failure came, and he shot himself. Poor Uncle Dud!"

"But there must be something," insisted Laura, "and we can look for the pirate's treasure."

"And lose what little there is left," suggested Dan. "That chart was all right to study over in the winter evenings, Laurie, but it's a different thing to sink money in a search for treasure buried 300 years ago off the Argentine coast."

"But this is real," suggested Laura, going to the desk and taking therefrom the well worn parchment which had furnished them amusement for so many long winter evenings. It was well preserved, and Dan could clearly trace the lines and written directions.

This paper had been handed down in the Kingsland family since one of the early Kingslands, a sailor in the British navy, had befriended a member of a pirate crew captured in the Spanish main. Just before the prisoner went to his execution he had slipped into the hand of his benefactor a roll of parchment which had come down through past generations, gaining in romance with each year.

Now the two poured over the old map with renewed interest since there was at least the possibility that they might have the means for prosecuting the search. Dan was inclined to be skeptical, but Laura would not have it so.

"It is a real treasure," she declared. "I know that it is real, and I will never forgive you, Dan, if you don't go after it. Think of the years we have been wishing that we had enough money to fit out an expedition! Now our chance has come, and you're laughing at the idea. You must go, Dan."

"We'll see what Uncle Dudley's fortune is," he temporized. "Wait until the estate can be settled."

It was not a long wait. Dudley Fetter had been forced into bankruptcy after a long career as a shipping merchant. The disappointment had so preyed upon his mind that he had killed himself, and the little old lawyer who was at once his counsel, receiver and executor soon disentangled the muddle. Dan found himself owner of a tramp steamer and some $7,000 in money.

He was inclined to sell the steamer, but Laura would not hear of it. She was firm in her faith in the pirate's map, and she at last carried her point through, only after she had declared that she would break her engagement if Dan did not undertake the trip.

The captain of the Dudley was a weather beaten old man of fifty, whose shrewd eyes twinkled when the subject was broached to him.

"I never heard of 'em that far south," he declared; "but, Lord love ye, there's pirate's gold bidden from the north pole to the south—to hear 'em tell it. It's as likely to be there as anywhere."

"Will $5,000 take us down and back?" demanded the cautious Dan. Captain Glass removed the pipe from his lips the better to smile.

"Down and back and down again," he asserted. "Anyway, you don't have to worry about getting back. We can easily get a load at Buenos Ayres or Rio to pay the cost of the up trip. It'll make a nice little sail for you, seeing as you've never been to sea. Why not make it a bridal tour? Brides bring luck to ships. Maybe with a bride we could find the gold."

"I know you will!" cried Laura, jumping up to plant a kiss on Dan's cheek. "We'll be married on board the Dudley before she sails."

The last argument was a clincher, and Dan gave in. Ten days later the men were called aft to witness a quiet little wedding, and as the minister went over the side a noisy little tug helped the Dudley get out into the stream and point her nose to the south.

It was a long, delightful honeymoon to these two, who had never seen the ocean until Dan had come to New York to claim his legacy. They had a day or two of seasickness, but this soon passed, and after that, as they slipped over the blue waters, Laura's confidence in the quest grew amazingly. Even Dan began to share her enthusiasm long before they had crossed the equator.

At last the course was altered, and the Dudley headed inland until the black, forbidding cliffs loomed darkly before them. It was no easy matter to pick their way through uncharted channels, but at last the steamer slipped into a little bay, and Captain Glass declared it to be the spot shown in the map.

Here the rocks did not come sharply down to the water's edge, but ran inland, forming a sheltered nook of some few hundred acres in extent. The two huge rocks which marked the entrance to the bay and a peak of the distant spur of the Andes formed their range marks, and as soon as they had put up tents on shore Dan, who had studied civil engineering, got out his transit and began to lay off the lines.

The cross marks fell near the base of the cliff where the sides were more precipitous than elsewhere, and for two days the men from the steamer labored to clear away the underbrush.

"We shall have to dig deep," remarked Laura. "There must have been a heavy deposit of earth during the 300 years that have elapsed."

"We'll dig through to China if necessary," declared Dan as he watched the men work. In anticipation of the digging some laborers had been brought along, and for ten hours a day they took out the sandy loam. At the end of three weeks they had a huge hole in the ground, but there was no trace of treasure chests, and Dan and the captain began to lose faith, even though Laura grew more confident as the days progressed.

"We'll get it yet," she insisted. "Just keep digging and the honeymoon fortune hunters will sail back to New York with millions."

"I'll dig one more day," promised Dan, "and then we must be getting back. The provisions are getting low, and we are only losing time."

Laura pleaded, but Dan was firm, and that night she sobbed softly in the tent while as though in sympathy the heavens opened their floodgates and the rain poured down. It was the first rain of the season, and had it not been for Captain Glass' precaution in ditching the tents they must have been swept away by the flood that poured across the little strip of land.

It was a melancholy scene that greeted their eyes as the sun rose the next morning. The underbrush was washed away, and as they made a path to the excavation a cry burst from their lips. The water had undermined the banks, and in place of the hole was a sea of mud.

"That's the answer," said Dan grimly, as he pointed to the spot. "There's the work of six weeks gone for nothing."

"But look across," said Laura, pointing to the cliff, where now a narrow hole, uncovered by the landslide, made itself apparent. "Perhaps that is it."

Carefully skirting the excavation, Dan and the captain gingerly made their way across to the cavity and with a wave of their hands disappeared. It was two hours before they returned, and then Dan came running out with a cry of triumph.

"It was a gold mine, not buried treasure, that the old pirate was talking about, he explained breathlessly. "It is one of the richest mines in the country."

Laura smiled into the eager face. "I knew it would come out all right," she said. "It just had to be the end of the honeymoon."

Sense of Smell.

It is said that the sense of smell is better developed in men than in women. In human beings, however, it is but slightly developed as compared with the lower animals. The reason for this becomes apparent when the structure of the skull of a dog or a cat is examined. Observing the nasal passages of either of these creatures, it is found that the so called turbinated bones are twisted and folded in a complicated fashion, so as to make a great extent of surface in a small space. The interior of the labyrinth thus formed is lined with the mucous membrane that contains the extremities of the nerves of smell. A section through the turbinated bones of a bear, which has a particularly keen sense of smell, resembles a honeycomb. In a human being the turbinated bones are poorly developed, so that the surface of mucous membrane is comparatively small. The sense of smell is particularly acute in some fishes, as the sharks. The olfactory membrane of a big shark, if spread out, would cover a dozen square feet.

A Tragedy of Niagara.

The story of Niagara is full of strange tragedies. One of the most dramatic of them is as follows: A hundred yards above the brink of the American falls a rock ten feet square projects for a foot above the water in midstream. One morning the inhabitants awoke and saw a man sitting on it. The noise of the rapids prevented verbal communication. They did not, do not and never will know how he got there. He stayed there thirty-six hours. The people telegraphed to Buffalo, and the railway company sent one excursion train after another for thirty-six hours to see the man on the rock. They painted signs and stuck them up for the man to read, saying, "We will save you." Two hundred yards above there is a bridge. From this by ropes they floated rafts with provisions to him. At the end of his stay a big raft came for him to get on. What they were going to do with him if they got him in this seething rapid is not known. He tried and failed and went over the fall, and that is all.

Tombs as Dwellings.

It is surprising to strangers to find Egyptian families occupying some of the tombs which have been excavated and abandoned. It seems uncanny to see babies playing cheerfully about the doors of the tomb houses and to watch chickens running in and out as they do at the mud dwellings. When questioned about the tombs a dragoman said that those occupied as homes had been tombs of ordinary citizens of no value as show places for tourists. As some of them have several rooms extending into the rock and as they are cool in the hottest days of summer and warm in the cool days of winter, they are altogether desirable as homes. The Egyptians do not share the horror of dead bodies felt by Europeans. Children run about with pieces of mummies, and if they cannot dispose of them to tourists they play with them. A mummified foot or hand is so common in Luxor that one may be purchased for a few cents. —Leslie's Weekly.

Tolerance.

George Eliot was once asked what was the chief lesson she had learned in life's experience, and her prompt answer was, "Tolerance." It might have been expected from a woman who once said that she regarded life as a game of cards in which she watched each move with the deepest interest and turned as far as possible to her own advantage.

THE COAL SUPPLY IS DWINDLING

Used at Rate of 400,000,000 Tons Per Year—Problem as to What Will Succeed It—Wood Cuts No Figure.

FUEL GAS NOW CONSIDERED

With the domestic coal supply dwindling at the rate of 400,000,000 tons per year and the foreign supply disappearing at an equivalent rate, the problem of fuel supply takes on more than an academic interest. It is ill very well profanely to inquire what posterity has done for us that we schould forbear skinning the earth's resources on this account, but from the present outlook this matter has ceased to involve waiting for posterity. It has reached a point where there may be trouble within the lifetime of children now alive. If the coal consumption of the country increases at anything like the present rate it will probably not be more than a quarter of a century before the calamity of far dearer fuel will be upon us. It is not that the supply will be exhausted by then, but that scarcity, long transportation and deep mining will co-operate so to enhance the price of coal as to completely modify present conditions. The coal famine of a few years since shows the disastrous result of even a slight shortage in forcing up the price. What would be the industrial situation with steam coal at $10 and upwards per ton permanently? It is not a pleasant thing to contemplate and yet such is the situation which confronts us in the not distant future. It will not be long before most of the remaining coal will be low grade bituminous or lignite. A large part of the fields yet remaining untouched are, in fact, the meanest kind of lignite, entirely unsuited for transportation.

Wood is Scarce

There is not enough wood left to cut any figure in the industrial situation. Of peat, good, bad and indifferent, there is a large amount, but thus far all attempts to get it into utilisable shape on a large scale have proved somewhat futile. The hydraulic power available at reasonable cost of utilization is being rapidly taken up. Even if ten million horse-power were in good shape for profitable development, it would at a rough approximation relieve the present coal consumption by only something like ten per cent., while that consumption has risen thirty per cent. in less than five years. Hydraulic power, then, valuable as it is, can be regarded only as a small auxiliary.

Heating is a terribly serious matter in our northern climate, and if one relies on electrical heating the outlook is bad since the whole power of Niagara could not keep even New York city from freezing to death. When it comes to heating, in fact, there is not enough hydraulic power to be worth serious consideration. Fuel gas, however, can be made to help out very effectively and may come to be our chief reliance. The present outlook is grave, and it is time to be up and doing. Each year, with its increase of fuel consumption, brings down the current estimate of the endurance of the supply. Not long ago it was five hundred years, then two hundred and now practical exhaustion of the available supply seems a bare century off, with a serious increase of cost looming up in the near future. It is about time to start the fight to preserve the existing status of things lest the pressure on industry bring disaster. Even now there is an tendency to shift activity southward into a milder climate. Before things come to a serious pass it is well to try the virtues of power transmission from the mines. DISCRIMINATING LADIES

Enjoy Using Herpicide on Account of its Distinctiveness

The ladies who have used Newbro's Herpicide speak of it in the highest terms for its quick effect in cleansing the scalp of dandruff and also for its excellence as a general hair dressing. It makes the scalp feel fresh and it allays that itching which dandruff will cause. Newbro's Herpicide effectively cures dandruff, as it destroys the germ that causes it. The same germ causes hair to fall out, and later, baldness; in killing it, Herpicide stops falling hair and prevents baldness. It is also an ideal hair dressing, for it lends an aristocratic charm to the hair that is quite distinctive. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes, 50c and $1. McDermid & Jury and the Market Drug Store, Special Agents.

SKATING RINK FOR THE POINT

This is a Question Now Being Considered —Preparing for Next Winter.

In Young's Point, hockey has taken such a deep root among the younger masculine portion of the population that there is now under serious consideration the building of a rink for next season. Not only the skaters and players themselves are interested, but also many of the parents, who believe that the enthusiasm displayed during the winter, particularly in the hockey line, warrants the erection of a rink.

If the project is carried out, a joint stock company will likely be formed. This practically means that if the rink is built, Young's Point will be represented in City League hockey next year. There are several excellent locations for the building.

During his stay in Peterborough he made a host of friends and was very popular. He will be greatly missed from the store by the customers who were drawn to him by his obliging manner.

He Will Likely be Sent to the Big Race in Peterborough Next Month.

According to the News-Argus the town of Stirling has a pedestrian with some speed and the necessary staying power. That journal says:

We understand that arrangements are being made for a walking match for the championship of Canada, to take place in Peterborough some time during the month of April. The match will extend over one week, and it is expected that there will be a large number of contestants. It is said that a local man, Mr. A. Sharp, of Glen Ross, will likely enter the contest. He is reported to be a very fast walker and to stand a good chance of keeping near the lead. A number of our villagers have become interested and have guaranteed his expenses. Five cash prizes are offered.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOUR HELD MEETING

At St. Andrew's Church last night a large and enthusiastic meeting was held by the Christian Endeavour Society. Rev. Mr. Potter occupied the chair, and Miss Ella Mathieson had the leadership of the meeting. "The Wise Use of Money" was the topic considered, and was presented in a concise and interesting manner by the leader. A large number of the members took part with short references to the subject.

The society listened with much appreciation to the addresses by the Rev. Ng Man Hing, missionary to the Chinese in Toronto, and Mr. George Thomas of the Chinese cafe in Peterborough. Both addresses referred to the great advances being made among the Chinese in this land, as well as in their own country, and referred with thankfulness to the work that had been done by the Christian churches.

At the Country Club.

By TEMPLE BAILEY.

Copyrighted, 1907, by M. M. Cunningham.

The four women were drinking tea. Somewhere out in the October afternoon were four men who made up the friendly octet, but the women, on account of the coolness of the day and the charm of the big fireplace, had elected to stay away from the links.

Three of the women were not young, although the signs of age had been modified by careful grooming and diligent massage. Mrs. Amesbury even looked young with her slender figure, her shining hair and her grace of gesture and of carriage.

But Tressie Stuart was young, and therein lay the difference that made Mrs. Amesbury uneasy. One might give the lie to age by attention to complexion and costume, but there was a quality in Tressie's laugh, a light in her eyes, a buoyancy of spirit, that separated her from the other women and cast the blight of contrast upon their beauty.

"Tressie," Mrs. Amesbury said, "stop roaming around the room. You make me nervous."

"Oh, do I?" Tressie's apology was immediate. "It's something in the air, I think. These fall days make me feel like a young colt. I want to be out of doors, and here we are drinking tea by the fire, like a lot of old tabby cats."

"We are a lot of old tabby cats," Miss Angela Amesbury agreed cheerfully. Unlike her sister-in-law, she did not aspire to youthfulness. Having steered herself safely out of a somewhat emotional girlhood into a calm old maidism, she was prepared to claim all middle aged privileges, and tea drinking at the Country club was an indulgence that appealed to her comfortable soul.

"You are the only kitten in the crowd, Tressie," she went on. "Run on out and meet the men. They must be coming in by this time."

"Angela," Mrs. Amesbury reproved her, "Tressie can't go without a chaperon."

"Why not?" Angela asked bluntly. "Two of the men are her uncles, the third is your husband, and she has known Junior Mason since she was a baby."

"Oh, well"—Mrs. Amesbury shrugged her shoulders—"you know we don't think alike on such matters."

"No, thank goodness," said Miss Angela. And then the hitherto silent Aunt Georgia Stuart, who was officially Tressie's chaperon, interposed, "Tressie always does as she pleases, Mrs. Amesbury." And Mrs. Amesbury, with another shrug of her shoulders, gave up the argument and poured herself a second cup of tea.

And so it happened that as Junior Mason came up the elm walk toward the Country club, with the dull orange of the sunset behind him, he saw hurrying to meet him Tressie Stuart in scarlet coat and stiff brimmed hat.

"I should have died if I had stayed in there another minute," she told him. "Can't we walk somewhere before dark comes? This air is like wine."

"It's awfully muddy," he stated dubiously, "in this path under the trees. The other men are coming around by the road, but this was the shorter way, and I wanted to get a few minutes with you before the whole crowd began to piffle paffle."

"Don't be slangy," Tressie admonished.

"Well, you wouldn't call their small talk conversation, would you? It's piffle paffle, and Mrs. Amesbury is the worst of the lot."

"I am ashamed of you," Tressie scolded, "to criticise your elders."

"Mrs. Amesbury wouldn't thank you for calling her anybody's elder. She considers herself the leading juvenile of the Country club. That's why she's jealous of you."

Tressie stared at him.

"Junior," she said severely, "I didn't know you could be so critical of a woman."

He had the grace to look uncomfortable.

"She's made me so unhappy about you, Tressie," he blurted out at length.

"About me?"

"Yes, when you were away all summer and didn't write to me once."

Tressie's eyes were on the sunset.

"No, I didn't write," she said after a pause.

"Why not?"

"Mrs. Amesbury said—that there was another girl, Junior."

"What?"

"Yes. She said you were paying devoted attention to a little Kentucky singer."

"Oh!" Junior flung up his head. "And she told me you were going to marry old General Barnes."

"Who told you?" Tressie demanded.

"Mrs. Amesbury."

"Well, of all things!" Tressie's cheeks were flaming. "And you believed her, Junior?"

"Well, you believed about the Kentucky girl."

For a moment accusing brown eyes met accusing blue ones, and then they both laughed, the joyous laugh of youth that has come into its own again.

"She is good at—fiction," Tressie summed up. "She ought to be published, Junior."

"Oh, let her go," Junior asserted, "and we will go for a walk, Tressie, and I will tell you all the things I have wanted to write and didn't dare."

But she would not go.

"It is getting too dark," she said, "and even if I have known you all my life, Junior, we must have some regard for conventions."

"Then let us slip in through the French windows and sit in the curtained alcove. They won't see us come in, and we can talk until dinner time."

The alcove was opposite the fireplace and gave a full view of the three women at the low wicker tea table. Mrs. Amesbury was prattling gayly.

"You see, dear Junior's money is a great temptation to the girls. Now, even Tressie"—

Tressie in concealment gasped, and there was wrath in her eyes.

"Don't mind her," Junior whispered. "I know you love me for myself."

Tressie whirled around on him.

"Who told you that I cared?" she demanded. "You are taking a great deal for granted, Junior."

"Please can't I take it for granted?" he urged. "I am going to propose to you right now, Tressie, or Mrs. Amesbury will never give me another chance."

They came out of their dream of happiness some time later to hear Angela protesting.

"But you wouldn't tie such beautiful girlishness as Tressie's to that worn-out old General Barnes?"

"He is very rich," Mrs. Amesbury evaded.

"I think Tressie will marry Junior Mason," Aunt Georgia said placidly. "They are great friends."

Mrs. Amesbury shook her head pityingly.

"Junior likes so many girls. Now, there was that little girl from Kentucky"—

Behind the curtains Junior growled "Piffle paffle," but Tressie put her fingers over his lips, and he kissed the fingers and smiled at her.

"Junior Mason is in love with Tressie," Miss Angela stated, "and you know it, Marion. You had better let him marry her, and then she will be out of the running."

Mrs. Amesbury stared at her sister-in-law haughtily. "I don't know what you mean, Angela," she said.

"Yes, you do." Miss Angela did not mince words. "You know you had always been the belle of the Country club until Tressie Stuart came, and you don't like to abdicate to youth and beauty."

Mrs. Amesbury straightened up in her chair and glared at the sear Miss Angela.

"You are insufferable, Angela," she began, and then, as the three missing men appeared in the doorway, she swept toward them. "We were just talking," she misstated sweetly, "of what we should have for dinner. Oysters and canvasbacks, don't you think, with orange salad and anything else you may suggest?"

Behind the curtains Tressie and Junior were arguing.

"I am going to announce it at once," Junior insisted.

"But"— Tressie began.

"There are no 'buts,'" Junior stated firmly, "and there are a dozen reasons why I should tell them that we are engaged."

And just then Mrs. Amesbury discovered them.

"Why, Tressie Stuart!" she cried as she opened the curtains. "How long have you been here?"

"Oh, a half hour," Tressie considered. "Haven't we, Junior?"

"Long enough for me to propose to Tressie," Junior said, making the astounding statement calmly.

"And she has said 'Yes,'" Junior went on. "I know you will congratulate us, Mrs. Amesbury."

And then with a last fling Mrs. Amesbury gave it up.

"My dear," she said bitingly as she kissed the reluctant Tressie, "who would have dreamed that it was poor little you that Junior really cared for?"

SPELLING NAMES.

There Was No Doubt About "Hannah" When the English Lady Finished.

A bygone generation witnessed an acrimonious controversy in the Irish family of O'Conor in County Roscommon as to the right of any branch of the ancient race to spell the name thus—with one "n." That right, it was maintained, was held only by the O'Conor Don as head of the house. So prolonged was the contest between the partisans of the O'Conor and O'Connor titles that it was called the "N-less" (standing for "endless") correspondence. Finally the question was referred to Sir J. Bernard Burke, the Ulster king of arms. His decision coincided with a decision in a certain other matter—namely, that much might be said on either side. The two disputing families had a common origin, a king of Connaught, and could with propriety and in accordance with tradition spell the name one way or the other. Fortified by this "award," the two families have continued to spell their name with one "n" up to the present hour.

Equally firm on the question as to how his name should be spelled was the witness in a case tried in the king's bench a few years ago. Asked his name, his prompt reply was "John 'Awkins." "Do you," queried counsel, "spell your name with or without an

"MOLL PITCHER."

History of the Famous Heroine of the Revolution.

"Moll Pitcher" was the daughter of a Pennsylvania German family living in the vicinity of Carlisle. She was born in 1748, and her name was Mary Ludwig, a pure German name. She was married to one John Casper Hayes, a barber, who when the war broke out with the mother country enlisted in the First Pennsylvania artillery and was afterward transferred to the Seventh Pennsylvania infantry, commanded by Colonel William Irvine of Carlisle, with whose family Mary Ludwig had lived at service. She was permitted to accompany her husband's regiment, serving the battery as cook and laundress, and when at the battle of Monmouth (Freehold), N. J., her husband was wounded at his gun she sprang forward, seized the rammer and took his place to the end of the battle. After the battle she carried water to the wounded, and hence her pet name of "Moll Pitcher."

Hayes died after the war was over, and she married a second husband of the name of McCauley, and at her grave in the old cemetery at Carlisle there is a monument that bears this inscription:

> Molly McCauley,
> Renowned in History as "Molly Pitcher," the Heroine of Monmouth;
> Died January, 1833.
> Erected by the Citizens of Cumberland County, July 4, 1876.

On Washington's birthday, 1822, when Molly was nearly seventy years old, the legislature of Pennsylvania voted her a gift of $40 and a pension of $40 per year.

An Auditive Illusion.

"What town is that a few miles to the north?" shouted the aeronaut, leaning over the edge of the basket.

"Oshkosh!" yelled the agriculturist over whose farm the balloon was passing.

"What?"

"Oshkosh!"

"What did he say?" asked the aeronaut's companion.

"He didn't say anything. He swore at me."

Common Factors.

Schoolmaster—Now, can any of you tell me whether there is a connecting link between the animal and vegetable kingdoms? Small Boy—Yes, sir, please; there's hash!—London Opinion.

Not His Fault.

He—Do you think Styles and his wife live happily?

She—I'm sure of it.

"Well, she always seems to look uncomfortable when she's with him."

"That's not her husband makes her look that way. It's her boots."

They Were Good Eaters.

One day Dr. Norman McLeod, who was a large and healthy man, and one of his burly elders went to pay a visit to a certain Mrs. MacLaren of the congregation who lived over the Scotch hills. She was a frugal woman, but since she knew that a call from these two meant that they would stay to supper, too, she determined that they should have the best in the house. So she plied the table with jellies and jam and preserves and shortbread and all the delicacies of the season, and, the journey having been long, they partook unsparingly, and after the meal the elder said to her:

"Mrs. MacLaren, were you at the kirk Sunday?"

"Oh, aye," she said, "I was."

"And what did you think of the treatment of the miracle?" The sermon had been on the loaves and fishes.

"I thought it was good," said Mrs. MacLaren.

"And what is your idea on the subject, Mrs. MacLaren?" persisted the minister.

"Losh," said their hostess suddenly, "I'm thinkin' that if you and the elder had bin in the congregation there wadna bin twelve baskets of fragments for the disciples to gather up!"

The Ermine.

Across the stream a little above the bank a beautiful white creature was running rapidly about among the stones. It would often vanish for a time, then come into view again at some distance from the hole into which it had disappeared. Ever on the move, peering and sniffing here, there and everywhere, it would have been almost invisible on the snow in its coat of pure white were it not for the jet black tip on its tail and the flashing deep brown eyes and inquisitive nose.

This graceful, active little creature was the ermine, with whose white fur we are all familiar and which in many countries is used for the royal robes of kings and queens to be worn at coronations and on other very special occasions. It is also used in some countries for the trimming of the cloaks of judges which they wear when sitting in court, and there is a saying that when a man is made a judge he "dons the ermine." In the olden days the fur of the ermine was symbolic of purity. In this country the pretty white fur made up with the black tips of the tails placed at regular intervals is very popular.—Charles Livingston Bull in Metropolitan Magazine.

Historic Wedding Ring.

After the great battle of Edgehill, fought when Charles I. was king of England, it was noticed that one of his bravest officers, an ancestor of the present Verney family, was missing. Search was made for the gallant soldier. Nothing was found but the gloved hand, still clutching the royal standard, and the wedding ring which he always wore still encircled the finger. The ornament was worn outside the gloved hand. With this historic relic the Verney family of Clayton, Buckinghamshire, England, have solemnized all their marriages, the ordinary gold band always being substituted after the ceremony. One marriage in which this wonderful ring was in use was that of Sir Henry Verney to the sister of Florence Nightingale.

MY FIRST INDIAN.

Story of a Pioneer's Scare In Early Railway Days.

In the early days of railway construction in the Northwest, writes a correspondent, I was one of a telegraph company's crew, consisting of sixteen men and two boys, who were constructing a line in the far west.

Trudging along behind the wagons, which carried our camp supplies, etc., there was little for us boys to do but shoot an occasional gopher or jack rabbit, thus gaining proficiency with the revolver. There were several Winchesters in the party; but these were held by the men. Naturally, with so much practice, we became about the best shots in the party, which was considered an important accomplishment, since we expected trouble farther on. Indeed, we met a band of refugees going east, who said that there had been several bloody uprisings.

Under these conditions it was no wonder that we kept a sharp lookout, and when, a few days later, a party of savages approached us on horseback, viewed us from a distant hill, and then galloped off, the foreman of the crew determined to prepare for the worst. That night a guard was posted to protect the camp against surprise. One man was on duty from ten o'clock to one, when he was relieved by another who watched till three, when he, in turn, was relieved.

On the third evening I was informed that it was my turn to take the second watch. We camped that night about one hundred feet from a little ravine, six or eight feet deep, through which ran a small brook. I had felt a creepy sensation when we pitched our tents; but when I mentioned it to one of the men he laughed at me and asked what there was to be afraid of, reminding me that we had not seen a single redskin in three days, and, in fact, so completely overcame my fears that I forgot them all for a time.

I was so tired that I fell asleep the minute I lay down; but it was only to dream of painted savages dancing round me with scalping knives ready to slash me at any minute. For a time it was a relief to be awakened to go on guard, and I gladly strapped on my revolver, shouldered a rifle, and started to walk back and forth and round the tents and wagons.

The first hour or so was a pleasure, the keen night air was very bracing; and I walked my beat feeling boyishly proud of the responsibility of being the only guardian over the safety of my companions. Then I grew nervous, and the old feeling of apprehension came back. The night was clear, and the moon gave some light, so that I could see the outlines of quite small objects on the prairie for some distance. There was no sound save that made by the mules as they lazily cropped what short grass was within their reach, and the silence itself became oppressive. If I could only whistle! But no, that would awaken the men, I began to walk faster, and the feeling gradually decreased, only to return with sudden and double strength when a partridge whirred blindly out from the ravine into the night. What had frightened the bird? I stealthily approached the ravine, my gun ready for instant use.

I went back to camp and resumed my march. The thought suddenly came to me that if anything dangerous came near the mules would be sure to detect it from quite a distance. Imagine my horror, therefore, when Old Toby, a large gray mule, gave vent to a terrific snort and stood quivering, his long ears forward and his eyes fixed on some object on the ravine's edge. I followed his look; but could see nothing. Then the none too pleasant memory came to me that if there was any thing Old Toby feared and hated worse than another, that thing was an Indian.

There I stood, my gaze riveted to a spot where I had detected a slight movement, straining my eyes nearly out of their sockets. It seemed hours before I again noticed a little motion. Then appeared two long, thin erect things which moved back and forth. Could they be feathers in the headdress of an Indian? Yes, that must be it, for there was the top of his head, just showing over the edge of the ravine! I could not move. There were those feathers, moving back and forth, plainly indicating a nodding of the head, which I did not doubt was a signal to a horde of creeping companions that the time was ripe for the attack.

I was about twenty feet from the tents, and could never reach them to warn the men without perhaps getting an arrow in my back. I tried to shout; but could not utter a sound and I fiercely made up my mind to make my first shot, which would probably be my last, count.

I raised my rifle and tried to take aim; but the gun shook so that I couldn't see along the sights. A thousand thoughts rushed through my mind, among which was one of my father, always cool and steady in every emergency. If I were only like him! I would be like him in the minute which I had yet to live! With this determination came a strange courage, and again I raised the rifle and held it as steadily as if aiming at a target.

When I got it just to the right point I pulled hard on the trigger and found that I had not cocked the gun. This I did without delay; but at the click made by the hammer coming back there was a sudden movement on the part of the object of my alarm. It raised itself suddenly, and I saw that I had been frightened, not at an Indian but at nothing more formidable than a large jack rabbit, which sat on its haunches regarding me for a brief moment, then disappeared over into the ravine.

"The Retreat" Appropriate.

A cavalry officer who had by no means distinguished himself in the South African war, retired from the service and built himself a villa in a remote spot on the coast of Devonshire. He was showing it to a friend one day and remarked: "The one difficulty I have is about a name for the house. I should like to hit upon something subtle — something appropriate to my military career, you know." "I see," remarked the friend; "then why not call it 'The Retreat'."

Hathorn's Horse Marines.

One of the great practical jokers of the British navy was one Jack Hathorn. He was officer of the watch in the day when it was customary for the guard to present arms to the officer commanding the vessel whenever he left or boarded the ship. One day Captain Burdett remarked as they were going through this ceremony before he went ashore: "Mr. Hathorn, I am tired of this guard. Don't call it again when I come back."

Hathorn did not, but he managed to surprise the captain quite as thoroughly as if he had. When that dignitary came over the side on his return he found twenty of the after guard down on their hands and knees with swabs serving them for manes and tails, the mizzen top men on their backs with cutlasses drawn. Hathorn himself was astride a quartermaster. The captain was distinctly not delighted with the spectacle, whereupon Hathorn explained that he supposed that after the old fashion had proved so tiresome a reception by cavalry might prove welcome. Hathorn was dismissed from the service for this bit of pleasantry.

Sized Him Up Correctly.

The man came into the barber shop, but he wasn't after shave, hair cut or shine. He looked about blankly for a moment and then asked:

"Where's the manicure?"

The boss was out at lunch, and it was the second barber who answered, "She's not here."

He didn't say "She's not here today" or "She's not here any more," just "She's not here."

"Oh," said the man who wanted the manicure rather inconclusively, "that isn't much of an answer." Then suddenly, "You're not the boss here, are you?"

"No, I'm the second barber," replied the other.

"Well, that's what you'll always be," said the inquirer and went out.

"I wonder what he meant by that," said the barber to the man he was shaving. "One of them eccentric fellers, ain't he?"—New York Sun.

Paris Follows New York.

The Paris police have taken a leaf from the book of experience and practice of New York's police commissioner, who recently dumped a few thousand confiscated murderous weapons into the bay to prevent their resale to dangerous characters. Owing to the increase of outrages by the Paris hooligans it was decided by the authorities to destroy all weapons belonging to "les apaches," as these ruffians are called, which fall into their hands. Previous to this decision all the revolvers, knives and knuckle dusters were resold at auction, as was formerly the case in New York. Now, however, they are broken up and sold as scrap iron.

Discovering Mexican Towns.

The federal government, in view of the fact that there is not a single map of the republic containing all the towns and ranches of the different districts, has decided on the creation of the Sociedad Geografica Exploradora, whose members are traveling throughout the republic drawing up plans of the different districts visited by them. Very curious occurrences are reported. It is said that members of the commission when exploring woods and valleys have discovered towns of from 100 to 500 inhabitants the existance of which was unknown, these people living completely isolated from the rest of the world.—Mexican Herald.

The Panama Canal.

The total length of the Panama canal will be about forty-six miles. The depth will vary from thirty to forty-five feet. The surface width will be from 200 feet in Culebra cut to 1,000 feet from the Gatun locks to San Pablo, a distance of fifteen miles and a half. The summit level will be about eighty-five feet above the level of the sea and will be reached by a flight of locks at Gatun, on the Atlantic side, one lock at Pedro Miguel and two at La Boca on the Pacific shore.

BASEBALL IN AUSTRALIA.

Cricketers Take Up American National Game in Winter.

Baseball has made rapid strides in Australia. Unlike America and England, the game is played during the winter months, which correspond with our summer season. Several of the prominent Australian cricketers have taken up the sport, some because they have grown fond of it and others because it keeps them in condition during the winter and is not as dangerous as football, which is the popular winter pastime.

Since the visit of the Spalding teams in the eighties the game has made steady progress, and the prejudice which then existed has been overcome. A number of teams have been organized in the suburbs of Sydney and Melbourne, and a series of games is played annually. The championship is decided by a series of three games, alternately in Sydney and Melbourne. The first of these interstate series was in 1902 and has been won each year by New South Wales.

The fielding of the players is uniformly good, but the batting is poor. The antipodeans have not as yet mastered the American baseball bat and full pitched ball, but they are fast overcoming this defect, and in a recent game for the interstate championship the teams played a seventeen inning game with the score of 11 to 9. To encourage the sport Admiral Sir Harry Rawson, governor of New South Wales, donated a silver cup to be competed for as a championship trophy between the two states.—New York Times.

Japan's Small Trumps.

While we fight with the full strength and value of the latest accouterments of war, the Makaki fight with a completeness of information and skill, personal sacrifice and a smile as imperturbable and unreadable as that of his own Dai-butsu at Kamakura, writes Eugene Francis in Army and Navy Life. The Makaki soldier is not wasteful of anything, not even of his courage. His valor is splendid—and discreet. He does not "bare his breast" to the enemy's shrapnel when nothing is to be gained by it. Rather he gets under cover, thereby preserving his life and services for his emperor. And in just such a moment of enforced inaction you would find him intently studying the enemy's game. Just so is his imperial head studying today the gigantic chances of a game with us and in the scheming diplomatic way of Japan is playing out small trumps to locate the position of the bowers.

Infant Prodigies.

India lays claim to two boys who, if the report be true, are real prodigies. A Benares native newspaper says: "When the elder was two years of age, he acquired the alphabets of several languages almost unaided and by his fifth year got by heart the whole of the great grammar of Panini, together with several English, Sanskrit, Hindoo and Bengali books. By his sixth year he was able to write a round hand and solve problems of arithmetic. Now, in his seventh year, he has taken up the vow of an ancient Brahmarcharin after being invested with the staff zone, urn, threads and black antelope skin and is studying the Vedas. The other boy, his younger brother, now about four years old, is able to read books in Sanskrit, Bengali and Hindi with ease and can commit to memory any passage on hearing it once or twice."

A Pretty Safe Safe.

A remarkable burglar proof safe has been placed in a bank in England. At night the safe is lowered by cables into an impregnable metallic lined subvault of masonry and concrete. After reaching the bottom it is fastened down by massive steel lugs, operated by a triple time lock. Until these lugs are released automatically at a desired time no human agency can raise the safe, and to break in through a mass of stone and concrete which measures 10 feet by 10 feet by 16 feet with dynamite would wreck the building without making it possible to get at the safe.

HAD A STAB-LIKE PAIN THROUGH THE HEART.

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS CURED HER AND SAVED HER LIFE.

There is no one, we imagine, outs about deliberately to do injury to the heart, yet in the excitement and excesses of present-day living, the nervous system is done violence to, and the heart and nerves being so intimately bound up with one another, disorganization of the one means disease and disorder of the other.

When you find your heart the least bit out of rhyme, your nerves unhinged, don't wait until you are prostrated on a bed of sickness. Take Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. They'll put you in such condition you'll never know you have a heart, make your brain clear and active, your nerves strong, your blood rich and pure, and your whole being thrill with a new life.

Mrs. John G. Vessey, Little Rocher, N.B., writes: "I was troubled with a stab-like pain through my heart. I tried many remedies but they seemed to do me more harm than good. I was advised by a friend to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and after using two boxes I was completely cured. I cannot praise them enough for the world of good they did me for I believe they saved my life."

Price 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Playing Before the King.

A "command" to play before the king is always appreciated by actors, but the honor of taking a company to Windsor or Sandringham is an expensive one, says the Dundee Advertiser. First class railway tickets are provided by his majesty's secretary, but everything else has to be paid by the manager. These expenses include special scenery to suit the improvised stage, the carriage of properties and dresses and the cab fares for the members of the company, who always arrive in London at an unearthly hour, when "growlers" are few and far between. Sir John Hare's recent appearance before the king cost him about $4,000.

The New Chinese Army.

Reorganisation of the Chinese army, which began three years ago, is making steady headway. The Peiho army is already completely organized. It consists of three divisions of 9,000 men each, formed on the European model. To this Peiho army of thirty-six infantry battalions, twelve cavalry squadrons and six engineer battalions there is a reserve of 40,000 trained and disciplined soldiers. Six other divisions more or less regularly constituted occupy the northern garrisons of the Celestial empire, or the immediate neighborhood of Peking, and form the northern army.

Why Smoke Was White.

A good story book, something after the style of Josh Billings, could be written about the questions that are asked the captain of a passenger boat and the humorous replies generally given by him.

One time a large passenger boat on Lake Ontario, the Juniata, was steaming out of port, and quite naturally the firemen were hard at work "firing up," and so the smoke-stack was pouring forth immense clouds of thick, black smoke. The sister ship, The Tionesta, was just entering the port we had left and was smoking very little, since it had almost "docked."

A woman who had been standing near the bridge, noticed these facts, and seemed to be at a loss for a solution of them; so she turned to the captain and asked the reason why the smoke of our boat was black and that of the sister ship was white. The captain, after a moment's hesitation, replied in his usual obliging manner:

"Madam, the reason for that particular phenomenon is that the coal on the Tionesta is all placed in a large tank and washed before it is used for firing purposes."

Which Would You Rather Be?

If an editor makes a mistake he has to apologize for it, but if a doctor makes a mistake he buries it. If an editor makes one there is a lawsuit, swearing and the smell of sulphur, but if a doctor makes one there are a funeral, cut flowers and a smell of varnish.

A doctor can use a word a yard long without knowing what it means, but if an editor uses it he has to spell it. Any old college can make a doctor. You can't make an editor. He has to be born.

Golden Sandals.

The highest priced sandals that have ever been made, it is believed, have just been completed by a Lynn shoe firm for the use of a Boston Masonic lodge in ritualistic work. The sandals are valued at $1,500 and are marvels in the art of shoemaking. In shape they are like the ordinary sandal, but they are made entirely of gold leaf, thousands of pieces of the leaf going in the making. Gold leaf was used to make them as pliable as possible. The buckles are of solid gold. The sandals weigh a little less than three ounces each.

Skating or Swimming.

Some one once asked Tim Sullivan of New York for information as to the prospects of a politician who was popularly supposed to be "on the ragged edge."

"Well," said Sullivan, "he seems to think he's getting on all right, but there are others who entertain a different opinion. The situation reminds me of the story of the old woman up in Maine. Being asked as to the whereabouts of her husband, she replied:

"'If the ice is as thick as Jim thinks it is, he is skating; if it is as thick as I think it is, he is swimming.'"—St. Louis Republic

Insect Contrivance.

As Dr. Darwin was walking one day in his garden he perceived a wasp upon the gravel walk with a large fly nearly as big as itself which it had caught. Kneeling down, he distinctly saw it cut off the head and abdomen and then, taking up with its feet the trunk or middle portion of the body, to which the wings remained attached, fly away. But a breeze of wind, acting on the wings of the fly, turned round the wasp with its burden and impeded its progress. Upon this it alighted again on the gravel walk, deliberately sawed off first one wing and then the other and, having thus removed the cause of its embarrassment, flew off with its booty.

BRITISH NAVY MYSTERY.

Traditions Regarding the Death of Sir Cloudesley Shovel.

Of the almost complete wreck of a squadron under Sir Cloudesley Shovel on the rocks of the Scilly Isles, together with the death of its gallant commander, the greatest scholar of the age, a number of curious traditions are associated both with the events leading up to the catastrophe and the fate of the celebrated admiral.

The outstanding feature of the catastrophe is the mystery of Shovel's death, which will probably never be solved, and the latter turns upon the admiral's emerald ring. One story goes that the body was picked up on the shore by a soldier and his wife and buried by them on Porth Hellick sands. A spot is still shown at Porth Hellick as being the burial place of the admiral, and, according to tradition, grass has never grown upon it. Subsequently the identity of the corpse was discovered. The remains were exhumed and conveyed to London via Plymouth, where they were embalmed. Lady Shovel rewarded the soldier with a pension for life and received from him the ring found on her husband's finger.

Another story is that Paxton, the purser of the Arundel, discovered two St. Mary men quarreling over the possession of a ring. He at once recognized it as Shovel's ring and inquired from which body it had been taken, and when that was found he knew and claimed the body. Lastly, there is the startling narrative of foul play—viz, that many years after the wreck an aged woman confessed to the parish minister on her deathbed that, exhausted with fatigue, one man who had been washed ashore on a hatch reached her hut and that she had murdered him to secure the valuable property on his person. She then produced a splendid emerald ring taken from the finger of her victim and identified as the gift of Lord Berkeley to Shovel.

The responsibility for this story rests upon the admiral's grandson, the Earl of Romney. Modern research reports rather in favor of the murder theory. The ring was eventually recovered, and altered into the form of a locket and set with diamonds it is a precious relic of the Berkeley family.

The theory as to how it passed into the possession of the family of the original donor is that Lady Shovel received it from the murderess, as stated, and bequeathed it at her death to Lord Berkeley. Several old works of reference contain the baseless story that Lady Shovel was aboard the Association and was drowned along with her husband. By the way, her ladyship's ghost is supposed to walk at midnight in the avenue of May place, Dartford, Kent, once the home of the Shovels.—London Globe.

The Sergeant's Tribute.

After the battles of Weissenburg and Worth, which he had won, the crown prince, afterward Emperor Frederick, was sauntering alone one evening past a barn occupied by a party of Wurttemberg troops. Hearing something like a stump oratory going on, the prince opened the door and looked in. Every one rose.

"Oh, sit down! I'm sorry to disturb. I dare say there's room for me to do the same," said the prince. "Pray, who was making a speech?"

All eyes were turned on a sergeant, whose very intelligent countenance looked, however, sorely puzzled when the commander in chief asked:

"And what were you talking about?"

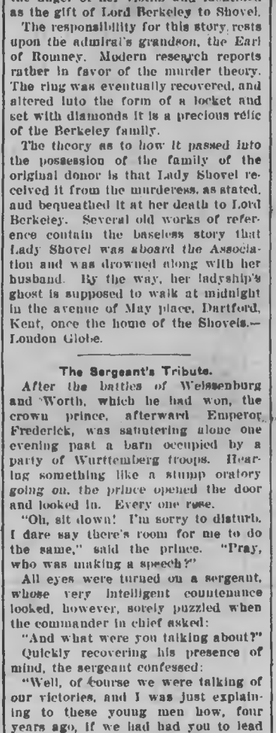
Quickly recovering his presence of mind, the sergeant confessed:

"Well, of course we were talking of our victories, and I was just explaining to these young men how, four years ago, if we had had you to lead us, we would have made short work of those confounded Prussians!"

Mason and Dixon's Line.

Fine distinctions in American geography are not always observed by foreigners. Le Tour du Monde contains this enlightened remark upon the present prohibition movement in the south:

"If in America one draws a straight line from the city of Mason to the city of Dixon, soon everything south of that line will become total abstinence territory."



The comfort and fit of a shirt depend largely upon the way the neck band is cut.

Each neck-band in Tooke Shirts is cut out separately, not in lots.

It's this care in the cutting of the neck-band that makes the collar fit equally well whether the shirt be made with a soft or stiff bosom.

The great objection to most Neglige Shirts is that the collar never fits properly.

Many men, for this reason, have become disgusted with soft-bosomed shirts.

No trouble of this kind is ever experienced with a Tooke Shirt.

W. T. Stead Would Have Britain Double Germany's Efforts.

Mr. Stead, who was one of the first to arouse national interest in the navy, has in the new issue of the "Review of Reviews" an outspoken pronouncement on the question of maintaining the British navy and laying down two ships to one in answer to the German program. Mr. Stead, it will be recalled, wrote in 1884 "The Truth About the Navy," which he claims was mainly responsible for the rebuilding of the first line of defence.

"There is no question" says Mr. Stead, "as to what John Bull will reply to the German program, be it little or big. He will say that he is sorry, but if it must be so he cannot help himself. Without any unfriendly feeling he accepts in all courtesy the challenge which is offered him. He wishes for nothing more than the maintenance of the status quo.

"He has no army to speak of; his only defence is his navy. The maintenance of its unquestioned supremacy is for him a matter of life and death. His readiness to secure that supremacy is the condition of the existence of the British Empire. He does not waste his breath in idle moan or profane objurgation when any of his neighbors challenge him to see whether or not he is prepared to hold his own and maintain his position. The challenge is none of our seeking, we simply take our stand on the status quo. We are willing to maintain the status quo, either by reducing armaments or by arresting the increase of armaments. But if it can be maintained in no other way, we are ready and resolved to maintain it by competition.

"We shall bring forward no imposing counter program. But when the Kaiser lays down one keel we lay down two. That is the formula of safety. We shall no more discuss it than a swimmer discusses the necessity of keeping his head above water. We shall simply do it because we have no alternative except that of suicide.

"We shall not be any worse friends with Germany because she wishes to alter the status quo to our detriment. It is a fair challenge and we shall accept it in the same spirit in which we accepted the challenge for the blue riband of the Atlantic. Only instead of allowing the naval Deutschland to take the prize and hold it for years while the Lusitania and Mauretania were building, we cannot afford to allow our naval supremacy to be imperilled. No, not even for a single day. 'Britons, hold your own.' And so say all of us."

The cost of what we may call Mr. Stead's naval program for 1908 would be:

8 battleships, etc., at £2,000,000 apiece	£16,000,000
4 protected cruisers at £300,000	1,200,000
4 destroyers at £80,000	1,920,000
	£19,120,000

This would involve naval estimates of £40,000,000.

France a Gold Glutton.

According to statistics just published by a Parisian contemporary, France, indeed, is the happy possessor of one-third of all the gold coinage in circulation throughout the world. The writer explains that this happens in various ways. In the first place, the people are thrifty, save and invest money and insist on the fragment of the interest in gold. Then every year crowds of foreigners come to France, spend some time at hotels and make purchases, paying mostly in gold. Exports again bring in large sums, so that France literally scores all round. Here are some eloquent figures about the reserve of gold in the Bank of France: In 1900 it amounted to 2,331,000,000 francs. In 1906 it reached 2,706,000,000 francs, while at the end of August last it had attained the figure of 2,906,000,000 francs.—London Telegraph.

When Rockefeller Was Poor.

J. C. Foster, a retired business man of Buffalo, who is spending the winter at the New Denechaud, was a hotel man years ago in Oil City, Pa. That was in the days of the Pennsylvania oil boom, and prospectors from all over the country were guests in the City hotel, many of whom have since risen to the front rank of finance, for among Mr. Foster's guests in those days were such men as Rockefeller, Satterfield, Taylor, Vandergriff, Forman and Dan O'Day. And it was no uncommon thing for these oil magnates to sleep two in a bed, for accommodations weren't plentiful, and even plastered houses were rare.—New Orleans Picayune.

A Seven Tailed Comet.

The new comet, generally called Daniels', which passed perihelion in August, offered the remarkable spectacle of seven tails, displayed simultaneously. In this respect it recalls the famous comet of 1744, which, it is said, also had seven tails. But the comet of 1744 was a brilliant one, whereas Daniels' comet was not conspicuous to the naked eye. According to Bredichin's theory, a multiplicity of tails, of different curvatures, indicates that the comet consists of substances of varying atomic weight. The lightest particles, being driven off with great velocity, form straight tails.

DISAPPEARED IN CANADA.

Romance and Mystery of English Banker Who Fled From Home.

Fascinating in the extreme is the tale of mystery and romance surrounding William R. Lidderdale, banker and bridegroom elect, which is just now stirring the British public and vying in interest with the famous Druce case.

Somewhere in Canada, it is believed, is William Lidderdale, either working for his own living and that of the humble wife of his choice or else supported in luxury by a wealthy creole who was infatuated with him and induced him to marry her. Now British courts are deliberating whether to declare William Lidderdale dead. At any time within the next six months such action may be taken. But it will not solve the mystery. The law may be satisfied but not the public.

As readers may already know from the brief cable despatches, application has been made to the High Court of Justice in London to determine the death of Lidderdale, who disappeared nearly sixteen years ago. So many remarkable and romantic facts came out in court that the case has been adjourned that the world may be searched for more information.

Sends $2,500 to Fiancee.

Briefly the facts are these: Lidderdale, who was manager of a West of England bank, was engaged to be married Jan. 11, 1892, to a Miss Chapman. On Jan. 8 he came to London on business with $5,000 of his own money. He wrote to Miss Chapman on arrival mentioning meeting a Miss Vining, whom he described to his fiancee as a wealthy American woman infatuated with him. That was the last heard directly from the young banker. Early in February an announcement of his death appeared in The London Times. It was said to have occurred on Miss Vining's yacht, the Foresight, as a result of an accident on Jan. 8. Some days later Miss Chapman received an envelope containing $2,500 in bank notes, a few little mementos and one of Miss Vining's visiting cards, the address cut off, and on the back in Lidderdale's writing the words:

"Was true to you."

Attempts made to discover more details of young Lidderdale's fate proved almost futile.

No yacht named Foresight was registered at Lloyd's in any part of the world. Faint traces of a Miss Vining and a little yacht of the name, however, have come to hand, and recently it was also discovered that a Julia Vining had lived in Lidderdale's neighborhood and that he knew her. She is the daughter of a laborer, but though in humble circumstances was a noted beauty.

Many Theories But No Proof.

There are many theories. One is that the rich Miss Vining (whom Lidderdale described as a creole of New York and Louisiana) is a myth and that the young banker and Julia Vining eloped to the United States and sought a new life there. Another is that the rich Miss Vining is a fact and that she used her fascinations on Lidderdale, married him and lured him to the United States, and, to help him out of the difficulty of his near marriage to Miss Chapman, inserted the notice of his "death" in The Times.

There are other friends of the family who now say that for certain reasons—physical affliction is mentioned—Lidderdale declared it would not be honorable for him to marry and that rather than face his bride to be and the world with the truth he invented Miss Vining and the yacht and his death and inserted the notice himself, and either betook himself under another name to begin a new life in the United States or sought death.

William Robertson Lidderdale was the son of a Berkshire physician. For a profession he took up banking and through family influence secured a position as a junior clerk in Stuckey's bank, a well known financial institution of the West of England. He proved a good man at the business and rose rapidly, having every few years a better position in various branches of the bank in the County of Somerset. In 1889 he was appointed manager of the branch at Ilminster, a market town not far from the historic Glastonbury Abbey. His salary was $3,000 a year, with a residence in the upper floors of the bank building. Lidderdale was a model man in every way. Slight of build, he was good-looking, with blond hair and moustache. He was popular and a leading man at all banquets and city affairs. He was also an officer of the local volunteer regiment.

Becomes Engaged.

When he was 28, nearly eighteen years ago, he became engaged to Miss Elizabeth Chapman, a pretty brunette of 25, niece of a wealthy jute manufacturer named Shepherd, who employed thousands of hands in his factories at Ilminster. It was in every way a most desirable match for a young banker. Lidderdale insured his life in two or three companies and also took out a big accident policy. He had a few thousands in cash of his own deposited at his bank, and some shares in local gas companies and such things. He made a will leaving everything to his future wife.

The $2,500 received by Miss Chapman is still intact. The money is in notes drawn by Lidderdale from the bank sixteen years ago. His accounts at the bank were perfectly straight and he left much property behind, which has increased in value. It is the trustee of the estate who asks the court to declare Lidderdale dead in order to collect the insurance policies.

Miss Chapman will not touch any of the money. She has plenty of her own. She does not believe here sweetheart is dead, but that he has been kidnapped by the rich and mysterious Miss Vining.

She has waited patiently sixteen years for his return. She will wait until the end.

The solution to the mystery, it is believed by many, lies in Canada or the United States. But will it be solved? Who can answer?

COLOR PHOTOGRAPHY.

It Demonstrates Scientifically That There Is No Fixed Color.

Color photography proves incontestably the general truth of Monet's observation that, in shadows, colors continue their vibrations, weakened, but still insistent, in contradistinction to the practice of the academic painters in making burnt umber and lampblack serve as shadows in their paintings. It also proves that the color of flesh is not always rose color, the color of foliage not always green or the color of a tablecloth not always white, and that color may be brilliant—indeed, sparklingly vivid—without being a patriotic demonstration in red, white and blue, and that what has long been accepted as "tone" in painting, that much coveted and widely exploited golden amber glow, does not exist in nature, which is wholly innocent of such petty subterfuges with which to harmonize its discordant elements, being frankly and blatantly crude when it is not exquisitely harmonious, as in the case of the butterfly's wing. The artist is the divine angler who fishes out these harmonies, revealing somewhat of the wondrous beauty and mystery of nature. It demonstrates for the first time scientifically that there is no fixed color whatever, that objects have no color of their own, but solely that which is imparted to them by the reflection of the sky and the enveloping atmosphere.

Color photography also shows that the line, as drawing defines it, is an error, an artificial means of determining forms, that everything in nature is a succession of perspective planes and surfaces which join on to one another, that nothing is abruptly terminated by a contour and that the vibrations of the atmosphere envelop everything and obliterate the contours which the weakness of our mind is constrained to create. In a word, color photography ushers in a new era in the study of color that promises to revolutionize color printing and that will surely exert a most important influence on the art of painting, establishing as it does the soundness of the much abused theories of the impressionists. Moreover, it will prove an invaluable aid to the accurate study of disease, notably skin diseases; it will make possible facsimiles of the paintings discussed by means of lantern slides, and for the first time indisputably authentic family portraits can be produced of a beauty and veracity far surpassing the most delicate and masterly miniature, and this in the short space of half an hour, avoiding the tedium of repeated sittings. While color photography will undoubtedly reveal the fallacies and empty pretensions of poor painting, rendering it more inutile and ridiculous than ever, it will also open the eyes of all intelligent and unprejudiced students of contemporary art to the beauty and truth of the work done by certain modern painters, confining in no uncertain terms what is best and most expressive in the art of today.—J. Nilsen Laurvik's "The New Color Photography" in Century.

FLOWER AND TREE.

The negro republic of Liberia has twenty-two species of rubber trees.

In Arran, where the maidenhair fern grows plentifully, some of the inhabitants use it as a substitute for tea.

Heliotrope can be grown in the house all winter if the pots have perfect drainage and the plants are kept in a rather cool temperature. Too much moisture will cause the leaves to turn black. They should be given just enough water to keep them from drying out.

Nicotiana, or tobacco plant, is a favorite winter bloomer, as it is one of the few plants that do well without sunlight. One of the best varieties is Decurrens, which is more dwarf in habit than the affinis and does not require constant pinching back to keep it from getting too ungainly for the window.

Leap Year Proposals.

What woman has ever availed herself of the privilege of proposing in leap year? Nevertheless, it is interesting to discover whence the idea arose. "Her maist blessit majestie Margaret" decreed in the year 1288 that during her reign every maid of Scotland, whether of high or low degree, should speak to the man she loved. If he were not betrothed already he must marry the maid or pay £100. Queen Margaret died, and the women were then clamorous for this strange privilege to continue. To appease them an act of Parliament was passed allowing the maidens to make their proposals every fourth year.

THE NIGHT MAGNIFIES.

Something Worth Knowing For Those Who Lie Awake and Worry.

"You have lain awake at night," said a physician, "and have heard a mouse gnawing at the woodwork somewhere down in a kitchen cupboard?"

The listener nodded.

"How loud did it sound to you—as loud as a burglar splintering the door jambs with a jimmy?"

Another nod.

"You have been awakened at 1:30 a. m. by the crying of a teething infant next door?"

A shudder.

"And it sounded like the hoarse murmurs of mingled ululations of a frenzied mob assembled outside to demand somebody's blood?"

Partial collapse.

"Along toward morning you have listened to the thin, small voice of a mosquito circulating above your head?"

An involuntary slap.

"Did it sound like the screech of a planing mill turning out clapboards for a barn?"

Two nods.

"Would you have minded any of those sounds in the daytime?"

A shake of the head.

"Now, I have no doubt you think that the seeming loudness of these sounds was due to the contrasting silence of the night. But take another test. You have been in love?"

Um-um (without utterance).

"And do you remember how much softer and warmer and more thrilling was the touch of your best girl's hand as you strolled with her on the way home from singing school at the witching hour of half past 9 p. m. than it was when you called in the forenoon to ask if you might escort her to the aforesaid vocal exercises?'

An unspoken yum yum.

"Was it the night silence that added the finishing touch?

"It was not," the physician replied to his own question, noting his listener's look of uncertainty. "Take another instance: You think you know how to write—a little."

A smile of gratification.

"Well, you find yourself awake at night and thinking. A gem of an idea suddenly sparkles in the darkness. You surround it with epigrams, and while elaborating the setting you fall asleep. What does this jewel amount to in the morning?"

A sigh.

"There you are. You recall the idea and some of the epigrams and a little of the setting and all of it so commonplace that you wouldn't think of trying to make anything presentable out of it.

"The fact is," the physician went on, "the night magnifies. At night our pleasures are more keen, our pains more distressing, our small successes are triumphs, our little failures are disasters, our faintly cherished hopes appear before us as things realized, our small worries as overwhelming calamities.

"You find yourself awake in the night, and your thoughts wander back to some time in your youth when in the presence of those older and wiser you—as you now see it—were guilty of some slight breach in deportment or of some little offense to good taste in speech, and you dwell upon the condemnation that must have fallen upon you. In the morning if what you were dwelling upon so seriously occurs to your mind at all you smile and say to yourself that if your fault was noticed by anybody at the time it was too trivial for any one but you to remember.

"The night magnifies!" the physician repeated. "Such things as I have mentioned prove it. It is partly due to the silence, but more to ourselves. To account for the latter would keep me talking.

"But take it for granted that whatever your cause for worry at night it will look smaller by daylight and refuse to dwell on it. If your anticipations are pleasant, nurse them, and you will fall asleep. In the morning you will not be downcast because your magnified hopes of the night seem unlikely to be realized."

Prize Money in 1762.

To the English victors of Havana belonged the spoils, and very rich and important these were.

Besides the nine Spanish men-of-war found intact in the harbor, which added to the three sunk at the entrance and to one or two others captured outside in the course of the operations formed about one-fifth of the naval power of Spain and seriously crippled her for the rest of the war, no less an amount than £3,000,000 was realized in prize money by the capture of this wealthy city. Of this great sum we are told that Albemarle and Pocock as commanding respectively the land and sea forces received no less than £122,697 each, while Commodore Keppel's share amounted to as much as £24,539, and doubtless his brother, Major General Keppel, received an almost equal sum. Thus the Keppel family benefited by this expedition to the tune of considerably over £150,000, and it is recorded that General Elliott with his share of the prize money purchased the estate of Heathfield, in Sussex, from which he afterward took his title. Such were the solid rewards obtainable in war in the eighteenth century, when the profession of arms was for the successful soldier considerably more lucrative than it is today.

Crates.

A tremendous quantity of wood is being consumed in the fruit industry, and the demand it is making on our forests is attracting attention. The man who has ingenuity enough to devise a scheme which will permit fruit growers to market their product without packing it in costly boxes, if he can get it patented, will make several fortunes.—San Francisco Chronicle.

AUSTRALIANS ARE PLEASED.

French Government to Get Rid of Pacific Convicts.

Information has reached Sydney from Noumea that the French Government has at last decided to begin the work of repatriating certain classes of convicts to New Caledonia. This news has given great satisfaction to all Australians.

Women who were sent to the island in the Pacific for petty crimes are to be permitted to return to their homes, and eventually further repatriation is to proceed.

It has always been a sore point with Australians that their competitors in the colonization of the French and British groups of Pacific islands should perpetuate that "birth stain" which they have long ago relegated to school histories and stories of the "bad old convict days." New Caledonia's proximity to the New Hebrides and the comparative ease with which escaped prisoners from Noumea can settle in these lazy Pacific beauty-spots, and taint the reputation of white men, has added a touch of bitterness to the generation of old grievance of the Commonwealth against France.

From the days of 1871 New Caledonia has been the dumping-ground of France's criminals. If there be a genuine turn of the tide of criminal emigration, it will do more than anything else to cement French and British relations in this part of the world.

ATTACKING POSTMEN.

New Way of Preventing Service of Writs in Ireland.

An extraordinary outrage is reported from the district near Killarney, where a rural postman was attacked and gagged and his mail bag rifled. He was cycling through the rural district of Rathmore delivering letters in the lonely hamlets, when in the gathering darkness two men attacked him from behind, pulled him off his machine, and held him down while they cut the mail bag open.

The assailants escaped without being identified. The postman was not seriously injured, and was able to resume his journey and report the affair at Rathmore postoffice.

Nothing of any value was taken from the post bag, although there were a number of letters containing remittances to peasants from relatives in America.

The only solution of the mystery is that the outrage was actuated by the same motives as some of those which have occurred in Leitrim, where postmen have been attacked and writs which were being sent through the post were taken.

There is a good deal of agrarian agitation in the district connected with the sale of Lord Kenmare's property to the tenants. A number of writs from the Supreme Court have been served recently, which have caused some unpleasantness, and many tenants declare that they will use every means in their power to prevent their cattle being seized for the arrears of rent, which they refuse to pay.

Governor's Narrow Escape.

The narrow escape of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal is reported in a Reuter telegram from Calcutta, which describes an attempt made to wreck the special train in which His Excellency Sir Andrew Fraser, Lady Fraser, with his staff and a number of police, were traveling. Having regard to the nature of the explosives used, railway officials are astonished that a terrible catastrophe did not occur. The train was running through to Kharagpur, and when between Maryanger and Benapur the driver felt the engine lift and bump. Simultaneously he heard a loud explosion. Luckily the train did not leave the rails, and the vacuum pipes parted automatically, putting on the brakes. The explosion tore a big hole in the ground, while some sleepers were blown to fragments. The "Statesman," dismissing the theory that the outrage was the work of disaffected Bengalis in the Madnapur district, says: "Pieces of shattered sleepers were found at a distance of from 150 to 200 yards away from where the explosion occurred, and we are told that some of them have been sold at as much as 100 rupees each as mementoes of the first attempt that has been made on the life of a high state official since the assassination of Mr. Justice Norman and Lord Mayo." A police officer and 50 men have gone to the scene of the outrage. Under a tree close to the spot sweetmeats and other traces of an encampment have been found. Various theories are put forward to account for the outrage, one being that it was the work of a discontented gangar.

"Don't Neglect a Cough or Cold."

It can have but one result. It leaves the throat or lungs, or both, affected. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is the medicine you need. It is without an equal as a remedy for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Sore Throat, Pain in the Chest, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Quinsy and all affections of the Throat and Lungs.

A single dose of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup will stop the cough, soothe the throat, and if the cough or cold has become settled on the lungs, the healing properties of the Norway Pine Tree will proclaim its great virtue by promptly eradicating the bad effects, and a persistent use of the remedy cannot fail to bring about a complete cure.

Do not be humbugged into buying so-called Norway Pine Syrups, but be sure and insist on having Dr. Wood's. It is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark, and price 25 cents.

CHRONIC BRONCHITIS

Mr. Wm. O'Hara, Souris, Man., writes: "Having suffered for a long time with a severe attack of Chronic Bronchitis, which I could not get cured, I eventually tried your Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and I am glad to state it has given me a complete cure."

The Political Woman.

The English suffragettes have done good service by showing us plainly what the political woman would be. They are, of course, picked specimens, but it would be the picked specimens that would mount the political platform. Nature has apparently ordained, and for plainly good purposes, that the family should be a unit before the state, represented by the man, on whom falls the duty of protection; a duty from which no suffragette apparently proposes to absolve him. Not all women are married, but marriage is the normal state, and as yet we have apparently no proof that unmarried women have been special sufferers by the lack of the franchise. It can hardly be denied that legislation generally has long been, and still is, favorable to women. Nor will it be denied that the sex has its privileges. Both privilege and equality it cannot have as when it came to be represented by suffragettes would plainly appear. In England the parliamentary champion chosen by the women demands for his clients not only the suffrage, but seats in both Houses of Parliament. Both the political parties in England have used womanhood as they would use anything, if possible more sacred, for the purposes of their fray. In the United States the movement which at one time appeared to be carrying all before it, has of late appeared to flag.

He Collapsed.

A cat may look at a king, but it is sometimes at the cat's peril—at least so it would seem judging from this anecdote concerning Alfred Tennyson. The then poet laureate of England was once dining at the home of his brother-in-law, Professor Lushington, and among the guests was an inoffensive stranger who, never having had the honor of being in Mr. Tennyson's company before, every now and then stole a glance of curiosity at the illustrious poet. Suddenly, however, those present were startled by the poet, who had been rather quiet for some time, looking up from the tablecloth and glaring wrathfully round the table. He fixed the young man with his glittering eye and said loud enough to be heard by all present, "You are looking at me, I tell you." The collapse of the young gentleman was, of course, complete and instantaneous.

Maintaining His Argument.

One night at Brooks' when Coke was present Fox, in allusion to something that had been said, made a very disparaging remark about government powder. Adam, attorney general to the Prince of Wales, who heard it, considered it a personal reflection and sent Fox a challenge. At the time appointed Fox went out and took his station, standing full face to his adversary. Fitzgerald pointed out to him that he ought to stand sideways. "What does it matter?" protested Fox, "I am as thick one way as the other!" The signal to fire was given. Adam fired, but Fox did not. His seconds, greatly excited, told him that he must fire. "I'll be —— if I do!" said Fox. "I have no quarrel." Whereupon the two adversaries advanced to shake hands. "Adam," said Fox complacently, "you'd have killed me if it hadn't been for the badness of government powder."—London Bellman.

The Sausage.

The sausage dates back to the year 897. It has been asserted that the Greeks in the days of Homer manufactured sausages, but this prehistoric mixture had nothing in common with our modern product. The ancient so called sausage was composed of the same materials which enter into the makeup of the boudin of the French market and the blood pudding of the French Canadian. The ancient sausage was enveloped in the stomachs of goats. It was not until the tenth century that sausage made of hashed pork became known. It was in or near the year 1500 that, thanks to the introduction into Germany of cinnamon and saffron, the sausages of Frankfort and Strassburg acquired a universal reputation.

The Alps and Baby Coaches.

"What strikes me most in Switzerland is the baby coach," said a traveler. "Other people are struck there by the huge cow bells, by the woodcarvings, by the stupendous white Alps, but it is the baby coach that takes my eye. On every road, on every path, you see baby coaches. They contain not babies, but bags of flour or fagots or lunches or a young live pig or a goat. The baby coach is universally used in Switzerland as a pushcart, a wise thing. We Americans don't get the worth of our baby coaches. With us as soon as the babe is old enough to walk up goes the coach into the attic. It is done for. But at this stage the career of the Swiss coach may be said only to begin. A long life of usefulness lies before it. In rain and shine, in snow and hail, it will glide by many years sturdily up and down the steep Swiss roads, carrying anything from a young colt to a squashed mountaineer."

Liquid Sulphur.

At Lake Charles, near the gulf of Mexico, 230 miles from New Orleans, sulphur is obtained from deep deposits in the form of liquid. Wells driven to a depth of 600 feet in search of petroleum revealed instead a rich deposit of sulphur. To obtain the mineral hollow tubes were driven into the earth. Each sulphur well consists of three tubes, one within another. Through the outer tube hot water is forced down, and it issues through perforations near the bottom. Through the central tube hot air is driven a little lower than the points where the hot water escapes. Through the third tube, inclosed between the other two, the liquid sulphur, dissolved by the water, rises to the surface under the combined influence of the pressure of the column of water and the impulsion of the rising air. The liquid sulphur is led into wooden reservoirs, where it cools and hardens.—Exchange.

SWAZIS AND GENERAL BOOTH.

Salvation Head's Quiet Talk With African Chiefs.

Three of the Swazi chiefs who recently visited England, took tea with General Booth at his residence at Hadley Wood during their stay. They were Prince Malunge, Nogcogco, and Nehemiah Vilakazi. The other two chiefs were indisposed.

After tea the General addressed his dusky visitors, and his words evidently made a profound impression on their minds. Vilakazi, who is himself a preacher in his native land, translated the address, sentence by sentence, to his compatriots.

"Welcome! Welcome, my children," said the General, cheerily. "You are all my children, black and white. I heard you were in England, and I expressed a desire to see you. I just want to talk to you. I have just come back from a visit to various parts of the world. I have been to Japan, seen the Emperor, the Congress, and all the people. They are a fine people—a fine, pushing, earnest people, full of energy and fire. But the drink, with its hellish flame, is gradually creeping in. That applies to Africa.

"Now, I want to impress this on you most forcibly: Keep the drink out. You have plenty to eat; you have plenty to drink, and"—with a twinkle in his eyes—"you don't want many clothes to wear. All you want to get now is salvation. Get that and what is to prevent you from being a happy people, especially under the great King of this country? I have seen him. I know him. He is one of the best rulers in the world, and the best meaning man, too.

"When you go back, tell your own king from me to put his foot down and enforce the liquor laws. Make them stronger still. I am expecting to come to Africa next year. So no doubt I shall be popping in to give you a look-up. Now, what do you say to that?"

Vilakazi replied, "We are all very pleased indeed to see you, and we shall be all very pleased indeed to see you at our place. The drink is already strictly forbidden there by order of the Government."

"Salvation is the greatest blessing on earth," went on the general. "Get right yourself with God. It will be best for your own heart and life, and then you can spend your time in putting other people right. God helps those who help Him. Have a heart full of love for those around you.

"I am not telling you to do something which I know nothing about. It has been my religion for sixty-three years. When a boy I felt I was wrong with Jehovah. I went to Him and asked Him to forgive the past, and gave up all to be a soldier and to fight for Him. I have known poverty; been opposed by the world; hated by the devil; but here I have fought my way on, until to-day I am the head of one of the mightiest religious forces in the world.

"I have tried what I recommend. It is a religion which suits all nations, all races, all colors, all conditions of black and white, rich and poor."

Prince Malunge said they thanked the General very much. "We will try to live up to what you have told us. We are delighted to see you, having heard so much about you."

"Let us ask a blessing on your people, on our King, and all Africa," said the General. And the Swazi chiefs knelt down with the old Christian warrior while he prayed with his usual fervor, Vilakazi again translating.

Then the General and the chiefs were photographed together. Afterwards he presented to each a signed photograph of himself. Finally he shook hands warmly with them, telling them never to listen to seditious words in their own country.

The Sun Life of Canada

Has Had Another Year of Great Prosperity

From THE MONETARY TIMES)

New policies issued to the number of 12,420, an income premium of close upon $5,000,000, and a net surplus of $2,151,884 is the record of the Sun Life Company for last year. The large volume of new assurances is particularly gratifying in view of the prevailing financial conditions; as a matter of fact, over 4,000 more policies were applied for than were granted. The total amount in force on the books of the company is $111,136,694 under 83,401 policies. The total income last year was $6,249,288 and the assets $26,488,595. The profitable nature of the business enabled the company to pay dividends on a scale which has given great satisfaction, and which, it is believed, are not surpassed on this continent. The amount distributed was $422,950. After setting aside the full reserve, assuming only 3½ per cent. interest for all policies issued prior to December 31st, 1902, and but three per cent. for all those issued since, there remains an undivided surplus of $2,046,884 over all liabilities and capital stock. This is, indeed, a good showing.

INHABITANTS SUFFER BY FLOODS

Heavy Rains Cause Serious Damage in Pacific States.

TRAFFIC BADLY HAMPERED

Rivulets Have Turned to Roaring Torrents — Huge Landslides Block the Way—Tracks Covered With Water —Bridges Washed Away—Gas Works Flooded and Closed—Drinking Water Is Spoiled.

Portland, Ore., March 17.—Not in many a year have so many points in the Pacific northwest, all at the same time, faced such serious damage from flood as they do to-day. From last Friday until now, heavy rains have fallen over the whole of the northwest, and ever rivulet is a roaring torrent, and every river a lake. Bridges have been washed out or dynamited, railroad tracks are under water, and when traffic is not delayed by these disasters, huge landslides block the way.

The most serious reports come from Walla Walla.

In the Lewiston, Idaho, country railroad tracks are deep under water, bridges washed out, and fears are entertained that the waterworks which supply that city will be flooded, and the supply of drinking water shut off. Many families have been driven from the lowlands.

The Touchet and Patit Rivers have washed out the city dyke, at Dayton, Washington.

In western Washington the rivers around Seattle and Tacoma are still rising, but little damage has resulted so far.

The Williamette River and its tributaries are running like a mill race above Salem, but no damage has resulted.

As is usual during the flood conditions, the railroads are numbered among the principal sufferers. The worst of these is the Oregon Railroad and navigation, which has not been able to send a train through for the past 36 hours. This road is blocked principally by heavy land slides east and west of Pendleton.

Train service in the neighborhood of Walla Walla and from Lewiston north is at a standstill.

The prospects are bad. According to the last forecast a new storm is now moving across the Pacific northwest.

Walla Walla, Wash., March 17.—Not for years has this city faced so serious a situation as it does to-day from the floods which have come down from the Blue Mountains and made Mill Creek a roaring torrent. The Fourth Street bridge has been washed out, part of the Third Street bridge has been blasted out; the gas works have been flooded and closed down; Main Street for several blocks above Sixth Street is reported to be under water. In the business district the water is rapidly filling basements. Flood conditions are apparent in all parts of the Walla Walla Valley.

Saw Deep Laid Plot.

Haileybury, March 17.—A. W. Patterson, who was sent to the junction of the T. & N. O. Railway and the G.T.P., with the view of establishing a post there, was recalled by wire. He gathered up his blankets and other impediments that he had brought up with him and headed south.

At Englehart he was informed that he was under suspicion of taking out contraband furs. The local constabulary saw a deep-laid plot on the part of the Hudson Bay Co. to slip out of the country. Mr. Patterson became enigmatical in his replies to queries. They punched the bags and squeezed them and demanded that they be opened. They were opened and found to contain good old Hudson Bay blankets, some the worse for wear socks, moccasins and other necessities for the comparative comfort of a Hudson Bay Co. man.

Mr. Patterson naturally laughed, and the limbs of the law looked very [illegible]

TROUBLE ARISES IN HAYTI

General Massacre of White Residents Is Feared.

BRITISH CRUISERS SENT OUT

Situation With French Government Has Become Acute—Refuse to Allow Refugees to Leave Island—Many Persons Executed — Britain and Germany Acting In Accord In the Matter—General Unrest.

Paris, March 17.—The situation between the Haitien Government and France has become acute and critical. The French legation at Port Au Prince is menaced, and a general massacre of the white residents of the island is feared. This information was conveyed in an official despatch to the Foreign Office from M. Carteron, the French Minister to Hayti.

Last week M. Borno, the Haitien Minister of State, assured M. Carteron, that Hayti would agree to allow the refugees who had taken asylum in the French consulates at Gonaives and St. Marie to leave the island. Yesterday morning there came the news of the execution at Port Au Prince on Sunday of between 10 and 12 prominent persons on the charge of conspiracy against the Government, together with a cablegram from M. Carteron announcing that Gen. Nord Alexis, the President of Hayti, had not only refused to confirm the assurances given by M. Borno, but had flatly declined to permit the refugees in the consulates to depart. Eleven additional persons have taken asylum at the French legation.

The French cruiser D'Estrees is expected soon at Gonaives, where she will act in co-operation with the British and German ships of war now on their way to Hayti.

It is understood here that France, Germany and Great Britain are acting in accord in this situation.

Berlin, March 17.—The German Admiralty, upon the request of the Foreign Office, has ordered the cruiser Bremen, which is at present at Curacoa to go to Port Au Prince, Hayti, whieres he is to be at the disposition of the German Minister for the protection of German subjects or other foreigners.

The Foreign Office has been in correspondence with the French Government with regard to the political arrests made recently in Hayti and the general situation of unrest that has existed in the island during the past few weeks, and on March 14, the two Governments agreed upon a course of action. A French cruiser also, it was learned here yesterday, has been ordered to Port Au Prince.

A telegram received here by the German Cable Co. from Port Au Prince, March 15, says that the safety of foreigners there was seriously threatened, and that the arrival of a cruiser was awaited anxiously.

It is believed here that the Haitien Government is meditating forcible measures against the right of asylum afforded by foreign consulates in Hayti to Haitien revolutionists.

London, March 17.—The Admiralty yesterday sent orders by cable to the British cruisers Indefatigable and Creasy, which are both in West Indian waters, to proceed forthwith to Hayti for the protection of British interests.

Big Railway Strike.

Denver, March 17.—At 10 o'clock yesterday, 1,500 machinists, boilermakers and members of kindred trades working in the Denver and Rio Grande Railway shops, went on a strike, in response to an order issued by W. J. McQueeney, representing the machinists organization after a final conference at which A. C. Ridgeway of the railroad refused any concessions.

"The strike will ultimately spread to every road in the Gould system and affect roads all over the United States," said McQueeney. "There is every indication that the struggle will be a long one and fought hard by both sides."

The strike is the result of an order posted by the roads a month ago, abrogating all contracts with the unions.

Famous Nurse Honored.

London, March 17.—The freedom of the City of London was yesterday bestowed upon Florence Nightingale, the organizer of the nursing in the Crimean war.

The ceremony took place in the Guild Hall, in the presence of a large gathering, which included many doctors and nurses. The aged nurse, Miss Nightingale, is in her 87th year, was too infirm to attend, and was represented by her nephew.

Sir Joseph Dimsdale, the city chamberlain, in making the presentation, explained that the city regretted, by the unexplained omission of a former generation, that Miss Nightingale had not been honored in this way half a century ago.

Visiting Nickel Country.

Montreal, March 17.—Sir W. Armstrong passed through here yesterday en route for Sudbury and the district between there and the Soo to investigate the nickel deposits as to their value for armor of warships. Sir T. Eardly Willmott is with him, looking into the pulp situation.

Both represent large interests in Great Britain, and it is expected that large investments will follow.

Federal Restrictions Remain.

Washington, D.C., March 17.—By the vote of 3 to 2 the sub-committee of the Senate committee on the judiciary yesterday declared unconstitutional all of the bills intended to remove federal barriers against states exercising control of their police powers for the regulation of the liquor traffic.

Brakeman Hurt.

Wiarton, March 17.—Frank Heppenstall, a G.T.R. brakeman, was riding on the front of the engine yesterday morning when a car struck him, knocking him down and the engine passed over his right arm, severing it between the elbow and the shoulder.

TRIES TO STOP THE BAD HABIT

Richard Blain's Annual Attempt to Kill Cigarette Evil.

WOULD PROHIBIT THE SALE

Rapid Increase In Consumption of Cigarettes—Serious Injury to Young People—Mr. Fisher Replies—New Railway Bill Passes Third Reading — Minister of Railways Also Speaks on the Subject.

Ottawa, March 17.—Mr. Blain made his annual attempt last night to grapple with the cigarette evil by submitting a resolution declaring among other things that smoking of cigarettes has been proved to be productive of serious physical and moral injury to young people, impairing health, arresting development, weakening intellectual power, and thus constituting a social and national evil; that legislation licensing and restricting the sale of cigarettes has not proven sufficient to prevent these evils, which will continue while public sale of the cause of the mischief is permitted to go on; that the most effectual remedy for these evils is to be found in the enactment of the law prohibiting the importation, manufacture and sale of cigarettes and it is expedient to bring in a bill for this purpose.

There was no objection to the resolution, but Mr. Fisher advised Mr. Blain to introduce a bill. He would vote for it. Still, Dr. Sproule pointed out that measures effecting the revenues of the country could only be introduced by the Government.

Mr. Blain traced the history of the anti-cigarette movement in the House of Commons. In 1903 the House agreed to a resolution introduced by Mr. Bickerdike (Montreal), the vote being 103 for 48 against. Then in the season of 1904 the House voted in favor of a similar resolution introduced by Mr. McLaren (Huntingdon), and in the same season a bill was brought in, the second reading being passed by a vote of 41 to 32. This, however, was as far as the bill got.

There was a rapid increase in consumption of cigarettes in Canada. In 1896 over 87 millions were consumed, and this had increased to 227 millions in 1906, and to over $275,000,000 for 9 months of the last fiscal year. The Ontario Legislature had passed a statute prohibiting the sale of cigarettes to minors, but that did not seem to have materially lessened the evil.

Mr. Blain appealed especially to the Minister of Agriculture (Mr Fisher), who was very strong on moral questions when he was a member of the Opposition, Mr. Ellson (Middlesex), Dr. Barr, Messrs. Martin, Telford, Miller and Wright (Muskoka) also spoke in support of the resolution, Dr. Barr seriously informing the House that it was a "burning" question.

Mr. Fisher, who was leading the House, expressed full sympathy with the resolution, but feared that the law would not overcome the tendency to bad habits. This was not a party question and he thought that Mr. Blain should introduce the bill.

Dr. Sproule, however, pointed out that as such legislation would effect the revenues of the country, it was the business of the Government to initiate action.

The bill of the Niagara, St. Catharines and Toronto Railway passed its third reading yesterday afternoon.

Messrs. Bristol and Foster continued their opposition and after some discussion Mr. Graham accepted an amendment suggested by Samuel Barker (Hamilton) that the road shall not be operated as a street railway, and that the company shall not pass over or along any street or public place except with the consent of the municipality expressed by bylaw.

Mr. Bristol submitted an amendment that the company shall not be permitted to cross any street on the level except with the consent of the municipality, but this was declared lost on division.

Mr. Graham said objections taken to the bill in committee were two: that it did not take into account the wishes of the Cities of Hamilton and Toronto and that it did not protect centres of population in respect to whether this was to be a steam or electric road.

It seemed to be a question whether the railway board had power to compel the railway to elevate its tracks, and he (Mr. Graham) consented, in order that there might be no dispute to an amendment proposed by Mr. Macdonell (Toronto) to make it clear that the railway board had such a power.

Mr. Graham had always taken the ground that the electric railways should not be allowed to run on streets of a municipality without the consent of that municipality. But he held that the people of Toronto or any other city had no right to prevent people from outside getting in. And he thought it could safely be left to the Railway Commission to see that the rights of municipalities should be respected. Would it be fair to compel this railway to elevate its tracks while two other roads were allowed to come in on the level?

Mr. Armstrong was informed that on March 31, 1907, there were 229,928 acres of Indian lands not disposed of by the Dominion Government. The Indians own 2,309 unsold islands, irrespective of those contiguous to the Manitoulin Islands, which have been surveyed.

In reply to Dr. Roche, the Finance Minister said the following amounts had been paid to the Canadian Associated Press during the year ended June 30, 1904: $12,500; 1905, $11,582; 1906, $10,785; 1907, $10,000; seven months ended March 31, 1908, $3,916. The subsidy expires June 30, 1908.

A request for renewal had been made. No proposal had been made for a Government subsidy to a domestic (Canadian) news service, nor was the Government aware of a proposal to confine the cable news subsidy to papers subscribing to a domestic service.

Mr. Herron was informed that from March 1, 1907, to July 1, 1907, the Government had expended $374,150 on immigration, and for the months ended March 1, 1908, $447,500. For the first-named period $36,047 was paid in bonus and for the latter period $91,095.

Mr. Wilson of Lennox was informed that in eight years the Government had expended $175,787, and from July 1 to March 1, 1907, there had been expended $32,433 on immigrant hospitals.

During the same period Dr. Schaffner was told $80,000 and $130,000 had been expended on emigration from the United States.

Late last night Mr. Fielding brought down supplementary estimates for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1908, amounting to $5,325,633, of which $4,689,876 is chargeable to consolidated funds, $598,608 to capital and $40,148 unprovided.

For printing and engraving Dominion notes, $35,000 is provided, while for civil government the amount is $24,105; administration of justice, $5,304; Dominion police, $1,983; penitentiaries, $50,000; legislation, $106,150; arts, agriculture and statistics, $15,000; quarantine, $35,206; immigration, $125,603; militia and defence, $702,950; Intercolonial Railway, $335,477; Lachine Canal, $128,000; Soulanges Canal, $14,271; Galops Canal, $31,900; Cornwall Canal, $6,000; Welland Canal, $27,460; Rideau Canal, $24,000; Trent Canal, $4,062; public buildings, $21,000.

In militia and defence, $155,000 is to be voted for pay of the permanent force, and $19,447 for the further amount required to repay the British Government for the cost of Imperial troops retained at Halifax after July 1, 1905.

Put Duty on Pork.

Ottawa, March 17.—A deputation from Western Ontario waited on the Minister of Agriculture and Minister of Customs, asking that the customs duty on fresh pork and hog products be increased one cent a pound, so as to keep out American competition. The increased rate of duty would bring the duty rates up to three and four cents a pound on fresh pork and hog products respectively.

Among those who took part in the deputation were: Hon. John Dryden, John Tolmie, M.P.; V. Rats, M.P.; H. H. Miller, M.P.; John Telford, M.P.; G. H. McIntyre, M.P.; E. D. Smith, M.P.; Mr. Koehler, M.P.P., Haldimand, and W. O. Sealey of Hamilton.

It is well known that during this winter the Canadian dealers have been importing cheap pork products from Chicago. This has kept our Canadian pork low in price.

HAD SHORT SESSION.

Ontario Legislature Only Sat For Few Minutes Yesterday.

Toronto, March 17.—A bill respecting the City of Peterboro was introduced by Mr. Fisher in the Legislature yesterday, and Hon. W. J. Hanna presented the report of the superintendent of neglected children. This, with the formality of prayers, was all that was done in the brief session.

The Lake Superior, Long Lake & Albany River Railway wants an extension of three years in which to start building, and seven years for completion.

The Morrisburg Electric Railway seeks incorporation with power to run to Russell Village.

To enable cities and towns to have elections in December, J. J. Preston, Durham, has a bill to provide for nominations on the last Monday in November.

The board of control principle is so popular that J. P. Downey has a bill to extend its operation.

O. S. May wants to define a club so that a "'club' shall mean and include not only a proprietary club owned by an individual or with a share capital or club carried on with the idea of profit, but also a members' club, whether incorporated or not, carried on for the social purposes and convenience of its members without any idea of profit or gain." The point was raised in connection with the enforcement of the business tax a short time ago.

W. K. McNaught's bread bill will be up for second reading to-day.

Why Patrolmen Sleep on Their Beat.

Marlboro, Mass., March 17.—When a patrolman sleeps on his beat he is not to be blamed any more. It is not laziness, nor shirking, nor any of these things. Physicians proved that C. W. Curtis, former city marshal, had the habit of sleeping too much on his beat. Yesterday he died, and an autopsy was performed. It showed a cancer of the pancreas. That in nearly every case, say the physicians, is the cause of excessive sleeping.

APPEARANCES POINT TO MURDER CASE ON SHORE OF STONY LAKE

Thomas Newell, Well Known in the City, Shot in the Leg Some Days Ago—Has Not Since Been Found—Alleged Attentions to Another Man's Wife.

MAY BE DEAD IN THE WOODS

Examiner Special.

Hall's Glen, March 17.—Some days have elapsed since Thomas Newell, an employee of Messrs. Lynch and Ryan, lumber manufacturers, Gilchrist Bay, Stony Lake, has been heard of, and according to rumours which have reached the Glen, there, may be some tragedy connected with his disappearance. The alleged cause is of a very serious nature. Newell was shot in the leg one night at a place known as the "Canal," near Gilchrist Bay, and since that time he has never been heard of, not even by his brother, who has been searching for him.

From reports recieved here, the shooting was by no means accidental. Newell is said to have been making visits too frequently to a particular house in that district, and the husband, considering that these visits had much to do with the alienation of his wife's affections, made an attempt to have them discontinued. The case is, in fact, looked upon here as another Sharpe-Hull affair, and has excited a good deal of interest and comment.

Newell, as stated above, worked for Messrs. Lynch and Ryan at White Lake. His visits to the house at the "Canal" are said to have been frequent—so much so that the husband of the woman he is alleged to have been visiting resented his actions and proceeded to settle the matter by sterner means than mere words.

One night a short time ago the shotgun was brought into commission with the result that Newell was wounded in the calf of the leg by buck-shot.

An Effective Means

His means appears to have been effective, as the lumberman has not since been heard of. His brother, Mr. Samuel Newell of Peterborough, has attempted to locate him, but up to the present time no news of his whereabouts has reached here. No doctor was called to dress the wounds and it is believed by many around the Glen that he may possibly have succumbed to his injuries while travelling through the woods on the night of the shooting.

There is even one story circulating that a fox-hunter discovered a dead body in the woods near the "Canal," but this is discredited by almost every person in the district.

Sneezing Burst A Blood Vessel And Ended The Life Of Smith Township Woman

A sneeze was the cause this morning of the death of Mrs. Ephriam Brumwell of Smith township. Last night about 7.30 o'clock she became suddenly ill at the home of her niece, Mrs. J. D. Fowler, Smith, and, not knowing what the trouble was, a doctor was summoned. A blood vessel had, however, burst in her head, due to the sudden act of sneezing, and she passed away this morning about 5.30 o'clock from compression of the brain.

The maiden name of the deceased was Jane Stewart, and she was a cousin of Mr. William Stewart, late of Lansdowne street, whose death was recorded yesterday. She was 75 years of age, and one of the most respected women of her native township.

Born at Drum, County Monaghan, Ireland, in 1833, she came to Canada about fifteen years later and had since been residing in Peterborough county and in Smith township. Her husband, the late Ephriam Brumwell, predeceased her thirty years ago. She has no surviving children, and only one sister, Mrs. Robt. Earning, city. She was a Presbyterian in religion, and until a few years ago was a faithful member of St. Pauls Church.

The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the residence of Mr. J. D. Fowler, lot 16, of the third line of Smith, to the Little Lake Cemetery.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

BY AMADEUS, O.S.F.

We greet thee, St. Patrick, our glorious Apostle,
Our hearts filled with pride at the sound of thy name;
Though far from old Ireland, her vales and her mountains,
Our love and devotion are ever the same.
'Tis true, from the land of our birth we are exiles;
By Fate's stern decree we are destined to roam,
But though we may wander, our hearts but grow fonder,
When think we of Ireland, our love and our home!

We greet the St. Patrick; to thee we are loyal,—
To thee and the Faith thou didst leave on our shore,—
Though poor we may be in the things that are passing,
Our wealth is the Faith that is ours evermore!
St. Patrick, watch over thy children, who love thee;
Protect them from dangers that round them may be,
And grant that their hearts, ever nobler and stronger,
May beat for their God, for their land, and for thee.

CITY WITHOUT WATER FOR SEVERAL HOURS CAUSED TROUBLE

The city was without water this morning for nearly four hours owing to anchor ice at the pumping station, and many a home was affected thereby. The taps were turned on the same as usual, but there was nothing doing from that source, and lucky were they who had a supply of water on hand. It is not necessary to detail the discomfort that was caused, and it avails nothing, for the water supply falls only on very rare occasions.

The livermen missed the water and had to carry it in pails to the thirsty steeds. The hotels were also affected by the water failing. Many of the manufacturing establishments in the city were among those who missed the water and welcomed it when at 11 o'clock it flowed again into the boilers. The supply for the engines on the railways was also missed, and, in fact, the value of our water supply was doubly impressed by the failure which was experienced for a time.

THIS EQUINE IS ENDOWED WITH MORE THAN HORSE SENSE

Warsaw, March 17.—(Special.)—Mr. W. J. Moore, who lives about four miles from here is the possessor of a three-year-old colt that is apparently endowed with abnormal sense. Last week when Mr. Moore was engaged in getting some timber from his swamp and piling it near his house he was using the colt by way of breaking it in to draw. On one occasion he had the chain on a large log and was arranging something about the harness, when the animal started off for the road and ran, dragging the log all the way to the village where it turned in the direction of the saw mill and stopped at the dump.

What is most wonderful about the affair is that the animal had only been once to the village and had never been to the sawmill.

CHINESE MINISTER SEARCHING FOR GEORGE CHUNG, WHO IS LOST

Rev. Ng Man Hing the Chinese missionary from Cooke Presbyterian church, Toronto, left the city to-day after a fruitless search for George Chung, the Chinaman who disappeared from Millbrook. Chung is reported to be insane and has strayed away and became lost.

Rev. Ng Man Hing arrived in the city yesterday and visited nearly all the people of his race who are located in Peterborough. He has lived in Canada during the past 13 years, most of the time in British Columbia where he was located at Victoria. He is well read and speaks English quite fluently. He will continue in his search for the missing Chung.

TWO YOUTHFUL MASQERADERS ARE PINCHED BY THE POLICE

Jacob Firman and William Parcels, men formerly of Havelock, were charged in court this morning with the theft of a considerable amount of timber from a well known man. They elected to be tried summarily before the magistrate. Parcels, the younger man of the two, wore a street car conductor's coat, which he has been masqueerading in around Havelock as a policeman. It is alleged that he would arrest innocent emmigrants and bring them to the town hall, where he would extract money from them in return for their freedom.

The pair in court came here about Christmas time and took rooms over the Chinese restaurant, at the corner of King and George streets. Firman is a married man and his wife appeared in court. They have been out of work and the police are not aware as to how they have earned their daily subsistence, but it is thought that they have been selling the goods they stole.

When the charge was read both men pleaded guoilty.

Parcels was also charged with vagrancy and pleaded guilty. Both men were sentenced to one month in jail. His Worship, after passing the sentence, advised them to get work when they came out. If they came back again he would send them to the Central Prison.

10th BRIGADE OF ARTILLERY WILL GO INTO CAMP IN JULY IN QUEBEC

Adjt. W Ackerman of the 10th Brigade of Canadian Artillery has received definite orders from Col. MacNaughton, of Cobourg, that the brigade would go into camp in the latter part of July. The camp will likely be a part of the celebration of the ter-centenary of the founding of Quebec at which a grand military spectacle will be held on the historic plains of Abraham.

The 14th and 24th Squadrons with full strength will constitute a brigade. That is each squadron will consist of 4 guns and 104 officers and men. Major Mulholland of Campbellford is the commanding officer of the 14th and Major T H Young of Peterborough, the 24th.

Brigade Adjt. Ackerman received the communication from Col. MacNaughton yesterday. It was generally considered that the Brigade would take the trip to Quebec where one of the greatest military assemblies in the history of Canada will be held.

BISHOP SCOLLARD MAY BECOME THE ARCHBISHOP OF TORONTO

It is rumoured, says the Toronto Star, that His Grace, Rev. D. O'Connor, C.S.B., D.D., has decided to resign his office as Archbishop of the Province of Toronto.

The decision, so it is reproted, has been arrived at after careful consideration, and proceeds from a desire for a less arduous life than the onerous duties of his office allow. His Grace is something of a recluse, and prefers meditation. He has as far as possible refrained from participating in public functions.

A representative of The Star called to see His Grace this morning and was accorded a brief interview. The Archbishop smiled a little when the representative unfolded his mission.

"I have nothing whatever to say in the matter," he said, and wished to know where the report originated.

Should Archbishop O'Connor retire, Bishop Scollard of Sault Ste. Marie is mentioned as a possible successor.

RAILWAY COMMISSIONERS HEARD EVIDENCE IN SOME VERY IMPORTANT LOCAL CASES

Hon. W. E. Bernier and Hon. Dr. Mills Here To-day—Four Cases Were Heard at the Sittings of The Board This Morning—Question of Gates on Aylmer Street.

WILL BE FINISHED TO-DAY

Four cases of importance were heard this morning before Hon. M. E. Bernier and Hon. Dr. Jas. A. Mills, Railway Commissioners for Canada, at the sitting of the Board held in the Council Chamber this morning. The city's application for permission to cross the Grand Trunk Railway with the extension of George street, the application of the Grand Trunk for permission to run a siding into the Geo. Matthews Company, and to build sidings on Bethune street, at Wolfe and Dalhousie streets, and the city's request that the C. P. R. should build and pay for the maintenance of gates on the C. P. R.'s crossing over Aylmer streets, were the cases heard this morning, and in none of them was a decision arrived at, although it is likely that the first two will be settled by a consultation among the parties affected by the proposed works. The sittings were marked by the presence of a considerable array of legal talent, appearing in the interests of the different parties interested.

The Extension of George Street

The first case heard was the application of the city to continue the extension of George street across the Grand Trunk Railway Rues. City Solicitor E. H. D. Hall appeared in the interests of the city.

City Engineer Hay was called and said that the public demanded the opening of the road and the fact that the Exhibition grounds was to the south rendered it desirable as it did away with a long detour around the block. There was only one crossing which minimized the danger.

Mr. M. K. Cowan represented the Grand Trunk Railway in the matter, cross examined the witness. He asked if the crossing was built up around the corners, would it be extremely dangerous and Mr. Hay admitted that it would be dangerous.

Mr. Cowan asked what would be done in the matter of protection for the crossing. He appeared on behalf of the Grand Trunk, not only to allow the crossing of the track, but to give the land for the purpose if the city would bear half the expense of the protection needed.

Mr. Hall said that the council would have to meet before they could give a definite answer to the question.

The Commissioners decided to suspend judgment in the matter and the two parties will have a consultation.

Mayor Rush, who was present, was asked as to his opinion in the matter and stated that he could not give a definite answer without consulting the council.

Matthew's Company Siding

The application of the Grand Trunk Railway to construct a siding to the George Matthews' Company premises on George street was heard next.

Mr. R. E. McWilliams appeared on behalf of the Matthews Company and stated that last year the company paid $1,800 in switching charges. There was a great delay caused by not having a switch, which was a serious matter to a firm handling live stock, where despatch of delivery was an important consideration. The shrinkage in weight was a loss to the persons from whom hogs were purchased and they hesitated on this account to sell hogs to the Matthews Company. The C. P. R. was unable to handle the cars on the siding promptly on some occasions. Peterborough was essentially a Grand Trunk point, as far as freight was concerned.

The siding, as planned, was placed in the only place in which nature would allow it to be placed.

City Solicitor E. H. D. Hall said the crossing on Aylmer street was dangerous now, and it would be more dangerous if the application was granted.

Mr. W. R. Tiffin, divisional superintendent of the Grand Trunk, said the train crews could flag the crossing. There would be no trouble in this connection.

Mr. F. D. Kerr appeared on behalf of property holders in the neighbourhood, including the Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Company. The houses on Aylmer street were more or less cut off by the C. P. R., while there was another crossing further south. The buildings were the homes of mechanics and were an unusually good class of houses, which he claimed would be damaged by the construction of the siding. The line would pass through the Fuel and Cartage Company's property and would make part of that property utterly useless and would greatly injure its business. The application of the Matthews Company was not a great public demand, but, rather the case of a big fellow with more money opposed to some little fellows. He argued that the little fellows should not be wiped out in order to give the big fellow not a necessity, but a convenience. He strongly protested against the granting of the application.

City Solicitor Hall said he had been instructed by the Council to state that that body considered the crossing would be dangerous, and in their opinion the application should not be granted.

Mr. Armour, appearing on behalf of the C. P. R., objected to the granting of the application. He suggested that they laying of another siding by the C.P.R. along its present one would relieve the congestion, and took the same objection as did Mr. Kerr in regard to the damage to property.

Mr. J. C. Elliott objected to the siding on the ground that years of hogs would be left on the siding, which was not agreeable to the residents in the neighbourhood. He also objected on the ground that there were enough crossings there now, and conditions were very dangerous to the public.

Mr. Jas. Osborne, divisional superintendent of the C.P.R., said it was the first intimation he had received that his company was not giving the switching service to the Matthews Company that was required. He suggested to the Grand Trunk a cheaper and better way of effecting the result by joining the proposed siding with that of the C.P.R. just west of Aylmer street, thus doing away with a second crossing at that point.

Mr. Cowan on behalf of the Grand Trunk thought the suggestion a good one, if the siding was maintained so that it would be equally open to both companies.

The companies will hold a consultation in the matter, and in the meantime the Commissioners decided to take no action.

The application of the Grand Trunk for permission to build sidings on Bethune street at Wolfe and Dalhousie streets was next taken up.

Mr. W. R. Tiffin, of the Grand Trunk, was the first witness called, and stated that these sidings were being asked for by the company because they were necessary to take away some of the congestion from the yards. He gave some information as to how the sidings would be built. It was expected four or five cars would be handled on each siding.

City Solicitor Hall stated on behalf of the city that the Council objected to the sidings because the railway companies had already taken up too much of the public streets.

Mr. G. M. Roger appeared on behalf of Mr. W. H. Hamilton, who owns a residence at the corner of Wolfe and Bethune streets, objected to the siding because it cut off the approach to the house, but intimated that they would withdraw that objection if it were made a condition that in the event of Mr. Hamilton's using the property for warehouse purposes that the G.T.R. should give him proper siding facilities.

The commissioners did not attempt to come to any decision in this matter at to-day's sittings.

Railway Gates

The case in which the people of the city, particularly those in the south, are concerned, was next heard, i. e., the application of the city to have gates placed on the Aylmer street crossings of the C.P.R.

Mr. Armour on behalf of the C.P.R. offered to put on the gates if the city would undertake to maintain them.

To this Mr. Hall, on behalf of the city would not agree. The C.P.R., he thought, had caused the danger and should pay the whole cost.

George Ball was called and stated that he had, on certain occasions observed the number of rigs passing. On Feb. 25th, there were 209 rigs in 5 hours; on Feb. 29th there were 110 rigs in two and one-half hours, and on March 13th, there were 120 rigs 2 1-2 hours, as well as 202 foot passengers. He regarded the crossing as dangerous because Aylmer street was one of the main thoroughfares of the city. He gave some information in regard as to how far approaching trains could be seen from different points.

To Mr. Armour he stated he could not tell the number of trains that had passed over the crossing in any particular time.

J. M. White said that he lived on Aylmer street near the crossing and

ATE PRAIRIE GRASS

Mr. Dodds Says Western Canada Winter Has Been Mild—No Snow Blockades Of Trains.

CATTLE GRAZE ALL WINTER

Mr. Geo. Dodds of Nesbitt, Manitoba, arrived in the city last night to visit his old home in North Dummer. Mr. Dodds is employed on the C. P. R. between Winnipeg and Regina and it is four years since he has been in Peterborough. He stated to the Examiner that the winter in the West had this year been unusually mild. The railway company had this year the trouble they had in 1907 of clearing away mountains of snow. Cattle, too, in many places, grazed on the prairies all winter. This was fortunate for many farmers who were short of fodder on account of the frosts of last year.

TROUBLE OVER ESTATE OF $99.24

Several Lawyers Want a Portion of Small Amount Left By Mrs. Hughes.

Toronto, March 17.—There was a squabble of the hottest kind before Judge Morson, sitting as Surrogate judge, yesterday afternoon over the estate of $94.24. In it took part less than four lawyers, and such terms as "farce," "ridiculous" and "foolish," were used by His Honor in hearing the matter.

Some years ago Mrs. Matilda Hughes of this city made a will, appointing her husband, and her sister Mrs. Martin, executors. In a short while the husband disappeared, and has not since been heard of. Mrs. Hughes died, leaving an estate of $94.24, and Mrs. Martin took out papers of probate, having hired G. Gardner to act for her. Soon, however, she changed her mind and engaged the Trusts and Guarantee Company to act.

Mrs. Martin looked after the funeral, which necessitated the removal of the body to Peterborough. However, she did not pay Undertaker Camp, and the duty devolved upon the deceased's daughter, Mrs. Cole.

As a result there are bills put in by the following: Mr. Gardiner; the Trusts and Guarantee Company; Mrs. Coles, for funeral expenses; Mr. Martin's lawyer, Mrs. Coles' lawyer and Mrs. Coles' infant's lawyer. The bills total close on to $300, and they want Judge Morson to decide how much of the $94.24 they are going to get.

RUNAWAY CAUSED BY PITCHHOLE

Clevice Bolt Came Out—Sleigh Badly Smashed.

A Dummer runaway early this morning ended disastrously for the sleigh to which the horses were attached. The team and conveyance were in charge of Mr. Percy Lloyd, who was returning to Warsaw from a dancing party in South Dummer with a sleigh load of young folk. Going down into one of the big pitchholes the clevice-bolt of the doubletree worked its way out and the horses got away. No damage was done other than to the sleigh.

BANQUET AT THE T.A.S. ROOMS

Arrangements have been made for a banquet to-night for the performers and those who assist in the production of the Shaugraun by the T.A.S. Dramatic Club. The banquet will be held in the T.A.S. rooms and preparations are being made for 70 persons.

FIRE AROSE FROM THE PARTING OF THE PIPES

Two stovepipes parted in the residence of Mr. Jas. Edmondson, 183 Rubidge street, this morning at 8.30 o'clock and gave the people of the house a bad scare. The pipes parted in a bedroom at the rear of the house and filled the rooms with smoke. A fire alarm was sent in, but the services of the brigade were not required.

Many of the pieces of furniture were dragged out of the house, but the fire did not materialize.

SAWLOGS AND "SOFT-SAWDER"

Our evening contemporary last night went "back to the woods" in a literal, as well as metaphorical sense, and tried to explain its blunder in regard to assigning to the province, the power to impose an export duty. With the ingenuity of a cross-roads debating society, it tries to explain that the provision of the Liberal Government requiring all pine cut from Crown Lands to be manufactured in the province, is equivalent to an export duty and that it is therefore an export duty. Two hundred dollars in Dominion notes is not accepted as a legal deposit from a parliamentary candidate, though it is as good as the gold. The law requires it to be deposited in gold. The provision referred to may have had the effect of an export duty so far as Ontario is concerned, but it was enough of a modification to prevent the operation of the automatic clause of the United States Dingley act; whereas an export duty imposed by the Dominion Government would have increased the United States duty on Canadian lumber to such an extent as to ruin the Canadian business of exporting lumber. This would have put the saw mills out of business and consequently have put workmen out of employemnt. In spite of the puerilities of the Review the action of the Liberal Government in preventing the export of logs in an unmanufactured condition was taken as soon as it was prudent to be taken and taken in a way to evade the unneighbourly Dingley act and prevent ruinous reprisal. It was taken with good business judgment with the object and effect of protecting without danger of international complications, the interests of our timber resources, of our saw mill industries and our labouring classes. In this connection the editor of the Review, who is also the Conservative candidate, drags in the name of Mr. Stratton, in an attempt to squeeze out a few crocodile tears by an academic interest in the weltare of the working men. One would regard it as somewhat of an irony that a man who never did much work himself nor provided an hour's work for others should pose, when it suits his purposes, as the friend—on paper—of the working man. The name of Mr. Stratton, who is not in public life, has been dragged into the controversy with irrelevant disregard of journalistic amenities. The editor of the Review and the Conservative candidate should not, therefore, complain if his action evokes a contrast. He poses—on paper—as the friend of the working man. What has he ever done, compared with the man he attacks, Mr. Stratton, to encourage industrial enterprise, and embark capital for the purpose of providing employment for labour? Those who know both men can draw a comparison and make a contrast, if it be possible to contrast something with nothing. The Review will have to employ something more positive than "soft-sawder" if it makes good its claim to interest in the working man. Working men are not in love with high and mighty airs of patronage.

THE BOARD OF RAILWAY COMMISSIONERS.

The Board of Railway Commissioners is second to no other tribunal in the Dominion in its importance as regards the practical business of the country. Though it has been in existence only four years it has already amply justified its creation, cost and prerogative power. When first established it was composed of three members, the late A. G. Blair, Mr. Bernier and Dr. Mills. Mr. Blair resigned after one year's service, and now his successor, Mr. Killam, has been cut off in the very fulness of his usefulness. In spite of these interruptions the Board has become trusted and popular, and for this reason it behooves the Dominion Government to exercise the utmost care in choosing a successor to Mr. Killam.

By the legislation of this session the membership of the Board will be doubled, in order that it may be able to overtake its rapidly increasing work. It will now have to regulate express charges and telegraph and telephone rates, and the railway work increases rapidly year by year. How the field of regulative review will be distributed between the two divisions of the Board will probably be left to the members themselves. If the vacant chairmanship is filled by the appointment of Mr. Justice Mabee, the public will be prepared to accept him as a fit successor to Mr. Killam, and Mr. Mabee will be able to pick up as speedily as any other person the work of his predecessor. He is a skilled lawyer, a good man of business, and a hard worker.

The members of the new division of the Board must shortly be appointed, and its chairman, like the chairman of the Board, must be a man of legal experience and good standing. Such men are not easily procured, but the Government should take time for a thorough search, if that is necessary.—Guelph Mercury.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Whitney Government paid out about $30,000 in law fees last year, which goes to show, the Globe thinks, that they were greatly in need of advice, or that some of their friends were very hungry.

Who will say that the trade preference loyally given the British products, without the exaction of a quid pro quo, does not pay? The British confidence in Canadian methods is shown by the fact that while the Canadian Pacific Railway going on the British money markets gets all the money it wants—ots last demand was ten millions—at a shade under 3 per cent., the New York Central Railway had to pay a trifle over five per cent.

HAVE RETURNED TO CANADA

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Devey Spent Two Months in England.

Mr. and Mrs. R J Devey and two sons have just returned from a two months' visit to the Old Country. They arrived in the city on Sunday evening by special train, having recrossed the Atlantic on the C.P.R. Empress of Britain. Capt. Frewin of the Water Lily last year and his brother also returned to Canada.

Mr. Devey's visit home was owing to the serious illness of his father Mr. R. Devey, North London. In every other respect Mr. Devey's stay was an enjoyable one. England has had a mild winter but although the weather was less severe than in Canada, the dampness of the air adds to the coldness and one wants to be in doors. The return ocean trip was made in ordinary time, the high seas and head winds preventing speedy sailing.

Speaking of the people who comprised the passengers, Mr. Devey said that Government regulations were working well and the undesirable class of people are being prevented from coming out. The passengers were almost entirely Englishmen who had spent the winter at home and were returning to Canada. There were also Canadians on board who had been to Europe to hibernate.

WAS FINED FOR BEING DRUNK

Did Not Have the Money And Was Sent Down.

There was a large crowd at the police court this morning when several important cases were brought before the Magistrate. Three prisoners filled the box, and the principals of the other cases sat inside the railing.

A young man was charged with being found drunk. He pleaded guilty and was fined $2 to be paid forthwith. The young fellow didn't have the necessary so he went below.

The Chief could not understand this, as Carney had offered him five dollars last night if he would let him go.

Subject Of Prayer Dealt With At St. John's Mission

Large Congregation Attend Last Night's Services---Sermon by the Rev. C. Ensor Sharpe.

MISSION CLOSES TO-MORROW

The hearts of the energetic workers behind the St. John's mission movement must have been gladdened by the popular interest as manifested in the service last night. In a series of meetings, Monday is, perhaps, the most difficult day as coming so soon after Sunday, but last night St. John's was filled with the largest week-day congregation yet gathered together. There was the usual swing and force in the service.

Mr. Sharp's addresses on Prayer were specially directed to men and dealt with difficulties felt by them. The speaker, himself, a splendid specimen of robust manhood, took his stand beside the ordinary man on the street and showed his close acquaintance with his mental attitude and actions. Indeed he confessed that this experience had been his own. In his second address the missioner gave practical directions on the art of prayer as applicable to business and professional men. These were based on absolute candour and sincerity. "If, said he, you don't feel sorry for your sins, don't pretend sorrrow, but tell the Almighty you don't feel what you know you ought to about the matter, but you are willing and desirous to think differently." This candour ran through all the missioner's directions.

The address was delivered by Rev. C. Ensor Shar-e and was on "Prayer." The missioner took his stand by the side of men and examined the nature and power of prayer. He spoke of its sacramental side and illustrated this point from nature by the inner life and outward development of a tree and other forms of animal and vegetable life.

He said that the scientific objections often urged against prayer were not the real obstacles to men using this great means of grace, but rather it was sloth, and that independent pride and self-justification, which made man think he was even independent of God himself.

He said it could not be expected that purely selfish prayer could be given an adequate answer, for prayer in its essence meant unselfishness. Our prayers should not be for our own needs alone, but for others also and for the glory of God.

After singing an appropriate hymn another address was given by Mr Sharpe on "The Message of Prayer," outlining the way in which a busy man should address himself to God. Ten minutes at least should be set aside each morning and night for the great work of prayer.

The addresses were most attentively listened to and made a deep impression on the congregation.

A mission service will be held this evening at 8 o'clock, and the last one to-morrow evening at the same time.

The services at 4.15 each afternoon are especially for women, and they are also held for children at the same time in the Guild Room of the Sunday school.

The afternoon services are specially for women and woman's needs and aspirations are discussed. A large number of women gathered yesterday and fifty Sunday School scholars were instructed by Mr. Mockridge in the Guild Room at the same time.

PLAINTIFF HAD TO PAY COSTS

Had A North Monaghan Man Charged With Assault.

A well-known North Monaghan resident was in the police court this morning charged with having assaulted a man named Innis. The latter appeared with a bandaged lip, accompanied by the doctor who attended him. The defendant said that the trouble began over the plaintiff loitering around his home, who was trying to see a lady at his place, but she did not want him. One night he heard someone outside the house and saw a man looking through the window. He went to the door and found Innis there listening. A hot conversation followed, at the end of which Innis asked the defendant to come out on the road and fight.

They met again at the rear of the Cavanah House and the defendant told Innis to keep away from him. Again he used strong language. He went over behind the New Oxford with several men and was followed by Innis. There he wanted to have a fight, and after some words the defendant threw him around, but did not strike him.

Several other witnesses testified for the defence.

Innis told an altogether different story and said he had been in Toronto for three weeks and was not after the girl. As to the cut on his lip, he said he was knocked about in the yard of the Cavanah House and also in the New Oxford yard, but did not know in which yard he was hit on the lip.

His Worship did not think the evidence was full enough to show that the defendant had committed an assault. He dismissed the case, and the plaintiff paid $4.10, the costs of the court.

The consumption of tea in England increased from 11-2 million pounds in 1740 to 117 million pounds in 1870, and to 241 million pounds in 1907. In Canada, since the introduction of "Salada" Tea, the consumption of tea is increasing in a like ratio.

McCABE PLEADED GUILTY

Canon Davidson Spoke on His Behalf—Had Got Into Bad Company.

JUDGMENT WAS RESERVED

Stanley McCabe, the youth who was arrested yesterday on a charge of theft from Mr. R. M. Roy's yacht, Mr. G Gordon, who appeared for the boy, pointed out that he was jointly connected with four fellows in the theft. The boy did not steal the articles, but was in company with the thief. The boy had a good character and only once before in his life had he appeared before the magistrate and that was for truancy. He said that McCabe had steady employment and was well liked by his employers.

Rev. Canon Davidson also appeared on the boy's behalf. He said McCabe came from a most respected family and a good home. His mother was a widow, his father having died some years ago. The cause for the boy's downfall was his getting into bad company and shirking his religious duties. The reverend gentleman urged his Worship to be lenient with the boy and in future he would keep a watchful eye over him.

His Worship reserved judgment until after the Fallon case, which comes up on Thursday, and in the meantime McCabe was allowed his freedom.

RAILWAY COMMISSION ARE NOW IN SESSION

considered it very dangerous on account of the amount of traffic on the street and on the railway. There was considerable switching done, and there was a good deal of traffic up and down Aylmer street. The sheds along the track hid the approaching trains so that the view is obstructed both ways. He had repeatedly warned people who were about to cross and who could not see a train coming. There should be either gates or a flagman there.

Arthur Stevenson said that he lived at the corner of Aylmer and Dalhousie streets. The crossing was dangerous than most of the crossings in the city, for the reason that the view of approaching trains was cut off in the case of persons going north on the street. There was a heavy traffic over the railway lines and some of the trains passed over the crossing at a speed that was far from slow.

A. Peters, grocer, Aylmer street, considered the crossing a dangerous one. Approaching trains from the east could not be seen by people going north on Aylmer street while in the case of trains from the west the conditions were not much better. He had been a witness of one accident there where a grocery rig had been smashed by being hit by a shunting train.

Harry Lush, baker, was also certain that the crossing was dangerous and had stated that he had several narrow escapes there. He stated that when going north a person could not see a train coming until he reached the tracks.

Mr. Osborne, for the C.P.R., contended that the crossing was not a particularly dangerous one, while he admitted that all crossings were more or less dangerous. He gave some information in regard to the traffic, saying that there were 285 movements of trains across the street in one day and this would be about the average. He, in concluding, again expressed the opinion that the crossing was not dangerous.

The Commission adjourned shortly after one o'clock.

The Edmonton Bulletin has the following in connection with the second game with the Portage la Prairie team, which Edmonton won by the score of 8—3:

The play went to Edmonton's goal, but Miller relieved by a rush. At the start he rambled in and out among the forwards, the puck hanging to his stick as if it were glued; then he broke clear, went down the whole ice like a scared cat, passed the defence and scored. It was one of the best plays of the evening.

The sporting editor of the Examiner has received the following communication:—

The Examiner sporting editor states that there are a dozen forwards in the O.H.A. who are better than Bruce Ridpath. This is a reckless statement and difficult to prove. Why should the Examiner try to belittle the work of as plucky an athlete as ever chased the puck, and a local boy as well (coming from Lakefield) Peterborough should be proud of Bruce Ridpath.

Although the price of tea at the gardens increased enormously during the past year, the "Salada" Tea Co. did not once withdraw an iota from their high standard of what constitutes the best in teas. The advance in price, however, has at last compelled them to raise their lower priced tea from 25c. to 30c. per pound.

HER DRESSING TABLE.

Sandalwood Novelty Rivals the Classic Silver.

Powder boxes and jewel cases are shown in silver, and here again the oriental touch is all pervasive. One Japanese box is of hammered silver with a minute floral design worked out with that infinite precision that marks the best pieces wrought in old Nippon. The decoration is so perfect that examination under a magnifying glass only makes one more impressed with its beauty. This box is sold at $35. Burmese boxes with figures from the Indian mythology are quaint and beautiful in oxidised silver. The prices run from $20 to $35.

Chinese jewel cases are the latest word in their line. To detail the designs as they should be were impossible to an occidental pen, but the cases themselves give out a breath from the land of mystery. The prices range from $50 to $125.

A striking hand mirror is shown in oxidized silver with the Japanese dragon in very bold relief. The figure covers the whole of the back and handle and is brought out to a height of half an inch. While silver will always hold its place among the furnishings of the dressing table, the present fashion in toilet articles runs to ivory and expensive woods, and it is worth noticing that nearly all of the latest designs are in oriental carving. The Japanese predominates, but there is also much in Indian, Chinese and, latest of all, Burmese. Sandalwood backs are the novelty in brushes, and, while they are comparatively sober after the brightness of gold, silver and ivory, the beautiful brown wood, with its fleeting perfume, has a charm all its own. They are carved in Chinese and Japanese floral and figure designs and range from $5 upward for odd pieces. No full sets have been shown as yet.

NOVELTY IN BAGS.

Bracelet Reticule That Slips Over the Hand.

Irresistibly quaint and artistic are the new bracelet bags that slip on over the hand and are capable of carrying many small belongings. One of these is of tapestry of lovely soft colorings on a pale ivory ground. The bracelets are of silver in rose gilt finish, studded with jewels. The frame is also of the rose gilt silver. The lining is of white moire, and there are two shirred inside pockets that hold in one a vanity case of the tapestry with slip-in mirror and powder puff and in the other a combination cardcase and pocketbook.

TOILET HINTS.

Brushing the hair thoroughly is absolutely necessary. If it is not done all the tonics and shampoos will prove a dismal failure.

A bruised nail should be held for half an hour in water as hot as it can be borne. This will usually prevent the nail from discoloring.

Lemons are very useful in health and sickness. Hot lemonade is one of the best remedies for incipient cold. It is also excellent in cases of biliousness.

A simple remedy for oiliness of the nose is to add a little washing soda to the water in which the face is washed. The rich foods which cause pimples all afflict the nose, and the only permanent cure is a return to a normal diet.

Eating apples for luncheon or breakfast is one of the best habits a woman who uses her brain constantly can acquire. They are healthful, easily digested and in many persons overcome a tendency to fullness of blood in the head.

Perfect teeth and red gums are a very essential part of beauty. To keep both in condition scrupulous care will be needed. Very cold or hot as well as acid drinks should be avoided and the mouth rinsed after each meal. Salt is good to add to the washing water.

Ball Dress of Stamps.

At a ball in Bermuda, a wonderful dress was worn, and in the making of it over 30,000 stamps were used. Years were spent in collecting the stamps and three weeks in the making of the dress, which was of the finest muslin.

The woman called upon her friends to help her, and the dress was covered with the stamps of all nations. They were not put on anyhow, but in an eloborate design.

On the front of the bodice was an eagle made entirely of brown Columbian stamps. Suspended from the bird's talons was a globe made of very old blue revenue stamps. On each side of the globe was an American flag, having stripes of red and blue stamps.

On the back of the bodice was a collection of foreign stamps in the form of a shield in the centre of which was a portrait cut from old revenue stamps.

A picture hat covered with red and blue stamps was worn with the dress.

GIRL ADMITS PERJURY.

Hitchcock Acquitted of Serious Charge In New York.

New York, March 17.—A sensational development occurred yesterday in the trial of Raymond Hitchcock, when Justice Blanchard ordered the comedian's acquittal on the indictment against him growing out of the charges of Ellen Von Hagen, a young girl.

The action of the justice was taken upon motion of Assistant District Attorney Garvan, after Flora Whiston, the prosecution's chief corroborating witness, had testified that the story she told before the grand jury, was false. Several other indictments on similar charges are still pending against Hitchcock.

Flora Whiston, swore on the witness stand that she had been frightened into making the charges against Hitchcock by an agent of the Gerry Society.

"He threatened to take me away from my home—to separate me from my mother if I did not tell that storey," said the girl in a sobbing voice when asked why she had made the charges against Hitchcock before the grand jury.

"And you were afraid of this agent, afraid to tell the truth even in the grand jury room?"

"Yes. He told me that if I did not tell the story he had told me to tell, he would put me in an institution and keep me there away from my mother."

The girl said the only person to whom she had told the truth concerning her relations with Hitchcock was her stepfather.

It was after the stepfather had been called to the witness stand and testified that the girl had assured him that Hitchcock never had ill-treated her that Mr. Garvan moved for the dismissal of the case.

In directing the jury to return a verdict acquitting Hitchcock on the Von Hagen indictment, Justice Blanchard said he regarded the testimony of the Whiston girl as of the most startling nature. He suggested that it be made the subject of thorough investigation by the district attorney's office.

Flora Whiston was arrested on a charge of perjury as she was leaving the court room.

It has not yet been determined what action will be taken on the remaining indictments against Hitchcock.

BRITAIN STILL FAR AHEAD.

Builds More Than Half the World's Shipping.

The statistics of the world's shipbuilding in 1907, just issued by Lloyd's register, show a total output of mercantile tonnage by the United Kingdom of 1,742,385, being a decrease of 220,200 tons as compared with 1906, which was the highest on record. The foreign output in 1907 increased by nearly 80,000 tons.

Great Britain, however, still builds more than one-half the mercantile shipping of the globe, which last year showed a net increase of 1,984,800 tons as compared with an increase of 2,158,000 in 1906.

The world's fleet of sailing ships was reduced during the year by 180,000 tons, and the steam tonnage was increased by 2,164,800.

Great Britain is still a large purchaser of vessels built abroad. Another matter of great discontent in this country is the large percentage of foreigners employed as seamen on the British mercantile marine, numbering a total of 40,000, with an annual wage list of $10,000,000. While the question of the unemployed is pressing heavily ashore, this is considered unfortunate, and the British Naval League is taking active steps to agitate the utilization of the unemployed to take the place of aliens on the ships.

Oliver Cromwell's Body.

"What became of Cromwell?" The question is a vexed one. According to an ancient tradition Cromwell's body was conveyed immediately after his death, in obedience to his last orders, and was buried on Naseby Field, "where he had obtained the greatest victory and glory." According to another account, Mary, Lady Fauconberg, Cromwell's daughter, was able to convey the body away from its grave in the Abbey and to have it buried in her husband's house of Newburgh in Yorkshire, where the tomb, an impenetrable marble one, is still shown, says The Lancet. Another corpse was substituted for Cromwell's in the abbey, and it was this nameless corpse which underwent the indignities put upon it on January, 1661, when the putative body was hanged on the gallows at Tyburn together with Ireton's and Bradshaw's, while the head was set up on a pole above Westminster Hall.

This head, still transfixed by a spike which was let through the cranium by means of a specially drilled hole, is now in the possession of Mr. Horace Wilkinson, of Sevenoaks. It is the head, curiously enough, of some one whose body has probably been embalmed, for the top of the skull has been sawn off in order, presumably to admit of the removal of the brain. The body to which this head belonged was buried under the gallows of Tyburn, unless, which is probable, the Fauconbergs obtained the body there and carried it off.

Death masks of Cromwell might throw some light on the question of the identity of the head. One of these was in the museum of the Royal College of Surgeons of England a century ago. It is described by William Clift as an "undoubted cast of the face of Oliver Cromwell." It was presumably a death mask. Another such is, according to Waylen, in the possession of Rev. Thomas Cromwell, rector of Michel Dean, Gloucestershire. It may be mentioned that the measurements of the Sevenoaks head are said to correspond with those of extant likenesses and busts of the Protector.

Britain's Rule In India.

"Our rule in India, no doubt, is to some extent in the nature of a miracle, but it is one of those miracles like that which preserves a man's eyesight in face of a thousand risks run by day and night. There is no reason why it should not continue for another 150 years. Further than that no wise man will care to look. We, at any rate, refuse to be pessimistic about India."

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, March 16.—(Special.)—At the Montreal Stock Yards West End Market the receipts of live stock for the week ending March 14 were 1800 cattle, 1566 sheep and lambs, 3081 hogs and 600 calves. The offerings to-day were 800 cattle, 700 sheep and lambs, 2000 hogs and 100 calves.

Choice cattle sold at 5c to 5¼c; good, 4½c to 4¾c; fair at 3¾c to 4c; common at 3¼c to 3½c, and inferior at 2¾c to 3c per lb. Cable advices from Liverpool on Saturday reported trade in cattle slow, but noted no change in prices from a week ago. Owing to the continued small supplies of sheep coming forward a much stronger feeling has developed in the market and prices have advanced fully ½c per lb. The demand from local and outside buyers is fairly good, and sales were made at 5c to 5½c per lb. There is no actual change in lambs, but prices rule very firm under a steady demand for local consumption, and sales of choice stock were made at 6¾c to 6¾c; good at 6c to 6¼c, and fair at 5¾c per lb.

A few spring lambs are coming forward, for which the demand is good at prices ranging from $7 to $10 each. Supplies of calves are now coming forward freely and an active trade is doing at from $2 to $6 each, as to quality. A strong feeling prevailed in the market for hogs and prices advanced 15c to 20c per 100 lbs. since last Wednesday. This was principally attributed to the shortage in supplies, as, altho advices from European sources on Canadian bacon were firmer, there was nothing in them to warrant higher prices for hogs here; but, as the local demand for dressed stock is good, the competition between buyers for live hogs was keener than usual and an active trade was done, with sales of selected lots at $5.20 to $6, and one carload was sold for shipment to Quebec at $5.10 per 100 lbs., weighed off cars.

C.P.R. TRAIN WRECKED.

Passenger Crashed Into Freight at Eagle River—Several Hurt.

Kenora, March 17.—No. 96, traveling eastward at two-thirty Sunday afternoon, ran into a stationary freight engine which had backed into the siding at Eagle River, leaving the switch open.

Fortunately the passenger train was not going fast at the time. The engine kept on the line, but two colonist cars were precipitated down a 20-foot embankment, toppling over on each other. Those badly hurt are Geo. Pretions, Winnipeg, brakeman, with fractured ribs and bruises, and Henry Rudd, car porter, with broken wrists.

Andrew McRoberts sustained injuries to his head, and his nose was broken.

Albert Spaner, Kenora, sustained facial cuts, and 14 other passengers bruises, cuts and shock.

The line was blocked eight hours. The wrecking crew left Kenora within fifteen minutes after receiving the warning.

Dead Man Sat Up.

Winnipeg, March 17.—Fred Hood was pronounced dead Saturday morning by his brother and friends, and yesterday he was in possession of full health and none the worse for his novel experience. He is a well-known citizen.

On Saturday morning, while talking with his brother on the street, he suddenly collapsed. He was picked up hurriedly and taken home. Though life was apparently extinct, a physician was sent for.

Before the doctor arrived, however, a faint pulse beat was observed, and a few minutes later the supposed dead man opened his eyes and sat up. The report of his death was widely circulated.

A South African Dominion.

London, March 17.—At Cape Town Sir W. Hely Hutchinson, unveiling the war memorial, said just as Franco-British Canada is uniting to obtain her battlefields as a national park, thus commemorating the complete acceptance of the results of the struggle of 150 years ago, so South Africa might unite in dedicating their lives to the building up under the British flag of a great dominion, which would be the best and most enduring memorial to the dead.

"THUNDERER" RETAINED.

London's Famous Paper to Remain In Hands of Staff.

London, March 17.—The litigation over the disposal of The London Times was ended yesterday afternoon by a court order sanctioning the agreement under which a company will be formed privately to take over the newspaper and the business connected with it.

Under this arrangement the board of directors will consist solely of the members of the existing staff of the paper. Consequently the provisional agreement of sale made with C. Arthur Pearson has been defeated by the opposition led by C. F. Moberly Bell, manager of the paper, who becomes managing director of the new company.

No shares are to be offered to the public, and there is to be no change in the political or editorial direction of the paper.

DEFENCE OF DOCTOR FLETCHER

Body of Miss Gould Taken Back to Toronto This Morning—Will Return This Evening.

NO BAIL FOR PRISONERS

Yesterday Detective Mackie and Mr. A. W. Miles, a Toronto undertaker, came to Peterborough in connection with the Jessie Gould case. The body was taken from the vault at the Little Lake Cemetery last night and left at Belleghem's undertaking establishment over night and to-day conveyed back to Toronto to be examined. It is expected to arrive here to-night again, when it will be replaced in the vault.

The Doctor's Defence

Dr. Ashton-Fletcher's defence, says the Toronto Star, will be a complete denial of anything of an illegal nature. He admits being called upon to treat the girl in her trouble. But says that no operation whatever was performed upon her. He denies the use of any drugs and says that it was simply an ordinary case of miscarriage induced by stomach trouble. Death was hastened, he contends, by the rupture of a pus tube, and other internal derangements. The case promises to develop into a hard-fought battle between the Crown and the defence as to what constitutes an "illegal operation" in this connection.

"It will be a fight to a finish," said Mr. Robinette, regarding the case of Saunders. "The young man has told a perfectly straight story. He was not implicated in any way with anything illegal. I think the detectives will agree that Saunders told the truth."

This morning Chief Coroner Johnson made an autopsy, and called a jury. Backed by the Attorney-General's Department, Crown Attorney Corley will make a searching investigation of this case.

"And there may be others," said the Crown Attorney this morning. "It depends a great deal how the evidence pans out. We are looking into some other cases."

Must Remain in Jail

No bail can be granted to either the doctor or Saunders under the present charge until a special order is given by the Superior Court. Mr. Curry and Mr. Robinette both stated this morning that they would make no such application until after the result of the autopsy and coroner's inquest are known.

Dr. Ashton-Fletcher has arranged with another physician to look after his practice. The doctor was taken to the detective office this morning and given an opportunity to make a list of his "calls," for the use of his substitute. He feels his position keenly, but stoutly protests his innocence and has every hope that the coroner's examination will clear things up.

From Saunders' statement, said Inspector Duncan, that young man was surprised to learn on Tuesday morning that the girl was much worse. He thought the trouble was averted, until a nurse called upon him and told him that things were looking serious. Even then, he said, he demurred at the suggestion of an operation.

The Inspector said there might be other arrests in connection with the present case. He said there was nothing to warrant the detention of Dr J. H. Todd, who is alleged to have administered an anaesthetic to the girl previous to the alleged operation.

AMELIA BINGHAM.

In two of her most conspicuous successes and with a supporting cast of individual and collective worth, Miss Amelia Bingham comes to the grand next Saturday, matinee and evening, March 21st. The evening bill will be "The Climbers." Miss Bingham in "Blanche Sterling" in his play, has a role which appeals strongly to the sympathies and, incidentally, permits of the star wearing some of her most stunning gowns. No American play comes to mind which offers so many well-drawn characters as "The Climbers." Byron Douglas will appear as "Edward Warden"; Gordon Edwards as "Richard Sterling"; Jane Gordon as "Julia Godesby" and Adelyn Wesley as "Mrs. Hunter." These are strong selections, and with the other roles in the hands of capable players, the result should be a well-night perfect performance.

At the Matinee the bill will be "A Modern Magdalen," a play of quite a different type. "A Modern Magdalen" was adapted from the German by Haddon Chambers. Miss Bingham in the title role has a part which is one of the best tests of her acknowledged versatility.

Plan opens to subscribers to-morrow (Wednesday) at 12 o'clock noon.

City Employee Assaulted Young Boy With A Shovel

The Man Thought He Had The Right-of-Way—Case Was Heard In The Police Court This Morning.

TO PAY A FINE AND COSTS

An employee of the waterworks department of the city appeared in court this morning on a charge of assaulting young Robert Hunter, son of Mr. R. H. Hunter, the George street grocer. Mr. R. E. Wood appeared for the Crown.

The young lad stated that on Saturday afternoon last about 2.30 o'clock he was driving north on George street in his father's grocery wagon. He was approaching the C.P.R. gates at a walk as the gates were down. The old man in court was standing on the roadway and pushed the horse aside with both hands and then struck the boy over the face and back with a shovel. He drove on and went to the police station and informed the Chief.

Robert Hall was also driving on Saturday but was going south. He saw young Hunter approach the gates at a walk. The old man was standing in the middle of the road about three feet from the horse. He struck the boy twice with the shovel and the lad began to cry. Witness told the court that if he had not had a flannel rag he would have got out of the wagon and given the man a hot time.

Robt. Cassel who was with Hull, and Willis Crocker who was driving with Hunter also gave evidence for the prosecution.

Mr. Oliver, who was working with the old man on the street, said he saw the latter strike at the boy with a shovel, but did not know whether the lad was struck.

The accused then went into the box and said he went down below the C.P.R. tracks to work on the valve chamber. He had always understood that men working for the city on roadways had the right of way and he was not watching for vehicles. He was in a stooping position when Hunters rig came along and he pushed the horse aside, telling the boy to watch where he was going. The lad said something back and he went after the boy with the shovel, but did not think he struck him on the face.

His Worship after hearing the evidence gave the old man some good advice for the future and fined him $5 and costs, amounting to $8.66. None of the witnesses desired fees for appearing.

MEN'S MALE ATTIRE AT LE BRUN'S

The New Spring Suits, Overcoats and Furnishings Claiming Earlier Attention This Season.

Men who believe in the silent influence of clothes are beginning to appear in their new spring garb. The new stocks of male attire shown by tailors and clothing dealers for this season's wear are having their first "innings," and the ample provision made for every man and boy of Peterborough is fully demonstrated by the various large displays made by the different stores.

Messrs. H. LeBrun & Company's opening week has influenced a good deal of early inspecting of the new styles in ready-mades, as well as in the fashionable imported fabrics for ordered garments. A visit to the store gives as faithful a representation of the correct thing to wear for spring as can be gone anywhere. No other tailor shop in the city shows such a magnificent range of high class material for spring suits, light overcoats, trousers and vests. In the quality of the cheviots, tweeds, vicunas and worsteds, LeBrun & Company excel, as well as in the wide range of fabrics shown. The right shade of browns and greys, which are to be the popular shades, are all here, and the mixed effects, stripes and checks are shown in such variety that any man can have just the pattern he wants. Mr. Thompson, the cutter, has all the newest British and American fashion plates on view, and keeps himself posted in every new wrinkle of practical use. Everything indicates a busy season for the tailoring department, as Mr. Thompson has been booking orders lively during the past month.

The critical man who wants to buy ready-made clothing wisely should have a good look at the "Progress" and other high-class brands at LeBrun's. The style, the fit, the cut, the finish, bespeak satisfaction. The spring suits and spring overcoats make a pleasing display. The firm has made it a feature to have from the highest to the lowest priced garments. Any price a gentleman wishes to pay, he may gratify every wish of his fastidious taste in dress. The new suits for boys in three-piece and two-piece Norfolk suits, brownie suits and sailor suits, are in large assortment. Mothers with fine, fat, healthy boys, who find it difficult to fit them, will be delighted with the selections provided at LeBrun's. The City Clothing Stores Furnishing Department is always strong in underwear and hosiery. All the swell spring novelties are shown in fine effect. Fortunate and judicious buying by Mr. LeBrun gives the public many chances which it is well to look up.

Spring Display of Millinery

Thursday, March 19th

For the past two weeks our Millinery Department has had many visitors in quest of the New Spring Styles: To them and others we say "Come!" The Spring Millinery has arrived and will be on display Thursday for your viewing and enlightenment.

Happily the Millinery Styles are widely diversified: One can choose either a large, medium or small hat and gain Madam Fashion's favor. Turbans, high and low, promise to be very popular. A decided innovation is the large and high-crowned effect — these are usually very becoming. You should see them.

But we will not try to describe the numerous New Style Ideas evolved for Spring: the task would be hopeless, Herculean. Better that you should come and spend a pleasant hour among the New Hats. you may have a different way of looking at them than we, but you'll agree that the showing is beautiful and interesting.

The showing deserves your attention: We hope it will have it, and we trust you will feel at perfect liberty to come and try on as many hats as you please, even though you have no buying motive.

Water Pistols Give Teachers Trouble In Public Schools

As Many as Twelve a Day Taken From the Boys, Who Are Up To Usual Pranks.

PISTOLS SQUIRT WATER

In every phase of life there are fads. They assist in relieving the monotony of ordinary events and for the time being are universally popular. At present the pupils of the public schools have the water pistol fever and as a result the teachers have a new trouble to confront.

In several stores in the city these pistols may be purchased for five cents a piece. They are really miniatures of the Colt or some other variety but they shoot water which can be drawn in through the small barrel by pressing a rubber nipple which forms the handle. The gun is then loaded and the small boy's delight is to sneak up behind a playmate and squirt the bulb of water in his ear.

Not only have they used them at recess and after hours, but they took them up in school and when the teacher's back is turned one of the other pupils is sure to be sprayed.

Fad has Grown

Some boy happened to see one of these pistols on exhibition in a window and bought one and then all the other boys were not happy until they too were armed. Those who could not afford one used atomizer bulbs which had the advantage of holding a greater quantity of water than the pistol.

The teachers have been exceedingly annoyed with the habit and finally a general confiscation was made and every pistol was seized on sight. For several days one teacher gathered in on an average 12 a day and the boys became more careful. They still have a place in the general pocket effects of the boys but more caution is exercised in their use.

One boy who gives promise of a financier said his. He said he would rather sell it than have the teacher take it. Such are school days the happiest and best of all when a trifling water pistol is a prized possession and the boy's mischief does not exceed a small stream of water into companion's eye or down the inside of his collar.

The appreciation of the public is the final test of merit. This is the reason "Salada" Tea has the enormous sale of over eighteen million packets annually. If you do not use it, The "Salada" Tea Co., Toronto, will send you a sample. State whether you use, Black, Mixed or Green, and the price you usually pay per pound.

WEDDING BELLS.

DUBRELL-DESAUTELS

A quiet wedding was celebrated this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock when Miss Marian Desautels, third daughter of Mr. Frank Desautels, 30 George street, was united in marriage to Mr. Omer Dubrell of Duluth, Minn. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father O'Brien at St. Peter's. The bride was assisted by her sister, Miss Albina Desautels, and Mr. Jos. Lahay, cousin of the bride, was best man.

The bride was married in a travelling suit of dark blue cloth with hat to match, and the bridesmaid was becomingly attired in champagne colienne over silk of the same colour. She wore a hat to match.

After a wedding luncheon at the bride's home, Mr. and Mrs. Dubrell left on the 4.48 C.P.R. train for their home at Duluth where they will reside. The bride was handsomely remembered by her friends in the city. She was a member of the executive committee of the Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's T.A.S., and as a young lad possesses many charming qualities which have endeared her to many friends in this city.

On account of the bridegroom coming from Duluth, and that this was the only time he could come east, the wedding took place to-day. This is, of course, an unusual occurrence at this season in the Catholic church

LEGENDS AND LIFE OF IRELAND'S PATRON SAINT

St. Patrick's Day is at hand. Its approach being marked now, as in other years, by strenuous efforts to do honour to the patron saint of Ireland.

To the Irishmen whose forefathers have dwelt for generations in the new world, as to the Irishmen fresh from the old sod, the name day of St. Patrick is one to be observed with many ceremonies and much rejoicing. It is a national day celebrated the world over where two or three Irishmen gather together, or kept even more carefully in the heart of the isolated man who, on St. Patrick's Day, finds himself far from his countrymen and the land of the shamrock.

All over Canada the day is observed with parades, banquets and entertainments. Rain or shine, gay cavalcades pick their way through city streets, while green ribbons flutter and green flags fly.

Life of St. Patrick

St. Patrick himself, to whom all this honour is done, is claimed by nearly as many countries as those which now celebrate his memory. According to authorities, Scotland, England, France and Wales all claim him as a native; but whatever doubts there may be as to his birth place, it is generally conceded that, as his name implies, he was of a patrician family. Born about the year 372, he was carried off by pirates when only sixteen, and sold into slavery in Ireland. There he was employed as a swine herder on the mountains in County Antrim. According to a tradition, he spent seven years in that part of the country, acquiring a knowledge of the Irish language, and becoming acquainted with the manners, habits and customs of the people. Escaping from captivity, he managed to reach the continent, where he at length became a bishop, and with the authority of the Pope, returned to Ireland to preach to the heathen inhabitants. There he found the Druids his chief enemies, and some quaint legends relate to his difficulties with them before they were vanquished by his saintly and miraculous powers.

Legends of the Saint

The best known of the legends told of St. Patrick is the driving of all venomous reptiles from Ireland. A story of the great missionary, which is almost as well known, relates to the baptism of an Irish chief, in the course of which St. Patrick leaned heavily on his crozier, the steel-spiked point of which he had accidentally placed on the foot of the convert. In his ignorance of Christianrites the chief believed this to be part of the ceremony, though the wound bled so freely that the Irish named the place Struthfhuil (stream of blood), now pronounced Struill, the name of a well known place near Downpatrick.

The footsteps of St. Patrick may be traced from his boyhood to his death by the places named for him. It is assumed that his origin was Scottish, he was born at Kilpatrick (the cell or church of Patrick) in Dumbartonshire. For a time he resided at Dalpatrick (the district or division of Patrick) in Lanarkshire; and visited Craigphadrig (the rock of Patrick) near Inverness. He founded two churches, Kirkpatrick at Iron Gray, in Kirkcudbright; and Kirkpatrick at Fleming, in Dumfries; and ultimately sailed from Portpatrick, leaving behind him a reputation for goodness that Patrick has been a favourite name in distinguished families in Scotland.

Arriving in England authorities once more profess to trace his footsteps. He is supposed to have preached in Patterdale (Patrick's dale) Westmoreland, and to have founded the Church of Kirkpatrick in Durham. In Wales, apparently, he walked over Sarn-Padrig (Patrick's Causeway) which, now covered by the sea, forms a dangerous shoal in Carnarvon Bay. He sailed for the continent from Llan-padrig (the church of Patrick) in the island of Anglesea. On landing in Ireland on his mission he is supposed to have first set foot on Inis-Patrick (the island of Patrick) and next to have gone to Holmpatrick on the opposite shore of the mainland. Going north he touched on the Isle of Man, sometimes called Innis-Patrick, where he founded another church of Kirkpatrick, near Peel.

Once more landing on the Irish coast in the County of Down, he converted and baptized the chieftain Dichu, on his own threshing floor. The name of the parish of Saul, derived from Sabbal-patrick (the barn of Patrick) commemorates the event. He then went to Temple-Patrick in Antrim, and thence to a mountain in Mayo, ever since known as Creagh-Patrick.

In East Meath he founded an abbey called Domanch-Padrig (the house of Patrick) and built a church in Dublin on the spot where St. Patrick's Cathedral now stands. other places which in their names commemorate his presence on some occasion, include Lough Derg, in Donegal, where there is St. Patrick's Purgatory. In Leinster there is St. Patrick's Wood, and at Cashel, St. Patrick's Rock. The number of St. Patrick Wells at which the great missionary is supposed to have quenched his thirst are innumerable.

Death of St. Patrick

The death of St. Patrick is said to have occurred on March 17th, 493, at Saul when he was in the one hundred and twenty-first year of his age. The place of his burial has been as much discussed as that of his birth, but evidence tends to show that he was interred at Downpatrick.

Indissolubly linked with the observance of St. Patrick's Day throughout Ireland, and wherever Irishmen congregate, is the shamrock. The connection between the two is said to lie in the fact that the Saint in preaching the doctrine of the Trinity to the pagan people among whom he was working, used the plant bearing three leaves on one stem as a symbol. It is at least a curious coincidence, if nothing more, that the trefoil in Arabic is called shamrakh, and was held sacred in Ireland as emblematical of the Persian Triads. Pliny in his Natural History says that serpents are never seen upon the trefoil, and that it prevails against the stings of snakes and scorpions. "This," says an authority, "considering St. Patrick's connexion with snakes is really remarkable, and we may reasonably imagine that, previous to his arrival, the Irish had ascribed mystical virtues to the trefoil or shamrock, and on hearing of the Trinity for the first time they fancied some peculiar fitness in their already sacred plant to shadow forth the newly revealed and mysterious doctrine."

SAINT PATRICK,
The Saint Beloved of Every Son of Erin.

NATIVES OF IRELAND IN ALL PARTS OF CANADA CELEBRATE THE DAY

The expansion of the widespread enthusiasm with which St. Patrick's Day is observed in Canada and the United States is very naturally to be found in the fact that the largest percentage of Irishmen who have left their native land have settled in America. In both the Dominion and in the country across the border the Irish and their descendants have played a prominent part in national life, and have assisted materially in the development of both countries.

In the United States at least seven presidents, Jackson, Buchanan, Polk, Monroe, Arthur, McKinley and Roosevelt had Irish blood in their veins. In Canada one of the most popular Governor-Generals was the much-loved and deeply regretted Lord Dufferin. The first distinctive Irish settlement across the border was founded at Logan, Pa., in 1699. Another well known Irish community had its beginning at Londonderry, N. H., in 1719. It is claimed that nearly one-half of General Washington's army was composed of men who were Irish by birth or descent, and one of the first organizations to support Washington was the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick. Three signers of the Declaration of Independence were of Irish birth, Matthew Thornton, Jas. Smith and George Taylor, while six others claimed Irish descent. "Mad Anthony" Wayne was an Irishman as was General Richard Montgomery who fell at Quebec.

Many in Canada too

That distinguished soldier, General Phil Sheridan was an Irishman. A Kelly and a Murphy were with Hobson when he sank the Merrimac, and in the U. S. navy to-day there are many men of Irish extraction.

In American public life Irishmen have played a conspicuous part, among those who of late years have made their mark in the United States Senate, being Senators Patterson, of Colorado; and Gearin, of Oregon, Senator Thomas Kearns, of Utah was born in Canada of Irish parentage. Bourke Cockran is Irish, and no too is the new U. S. Minister to Denmark. Maurice Francis Egan, Charles O'Connor and Recorder Goff, who overthrew the Tweed ring were Irish, and in the realm of practical politics many of his countrymen have played an efficient part.

In the world of finance some of the best known names in the United States have been those of Irishmen, and there have been few to compare with that famous group of millionaires which included John W Mackay, Marcus Daly, James O Flood, William S. O'Brien, and James G Fair. In the mercantile world the late A. A. Stewart, one of the most famous merchants in America, was an Irishman. As philanthropists, Irishmen have done much for America.

In art and Literature

In art and literature Irishmen stand high in the new world. St. Gaudens, whose reputation is world wide was an Irishman, and almost his last work was a heroic statue of Parnell for the City of Dublin. Another sculptor, Thomas Crawford, whose parents were Irish, executes the statute of Liberty on the dome of the Capitol at Washington.

On the stage Irish players of achievement include Ada Rehan, James O'Neill, Lawrence Barrett, Blanche Walsh, and a host of others. In literature well known names of Irishmen or those of Irish parentage include F. Marion Crawford, James Whitcomb Riley, Finley Peter Dunne, John Boyle O'Reilley, and Captain Mayne Reid. Horace Greeley and Henry W. Grady are names prominent in the editorial field; while in music are those of Victor Herbert and Patrick Sarsfield Gilmour.

Cardinal Gibbons, though born in the United States, spent his early years in Ireland, and Archbishops Ireland, Farley and Ryan are all of Irish blood.

Irishmen in Public Life

Nor is Canada behind the United States with a roll call of those of Irish nationality who have figured largely in the affairs of the day. The list includes the Hon. R. W. Scott, Secretary of State; Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court; Ex-Governor Sir M. B. Daly, of Nova Scotia; Hon. Edward Blake, Hon. S. H. Blake, Hon. E. J. Flynn, Justices Curran, Doherty and Guerin, of Montreal; and O'Reilly, of Renfrew; Judge Meagher, of Halifax; Jughe Anglin, of Toronto; and M. H. Mackett, K.C., to mention but a few. In ecclesiastical affairs in Canada, Irishmen have played a leading part. In the Anglican Church, the Lord Bishop of Montreal, and the Rev. Dr. Paterson-Smyth, rector of St. George's Church, are both Irishmen. In the Roman Catholic Church in Canada the Irish Bishops include Bishop O'Connor, of Peterborough, Bishop Casey, of St. John, and Bishop Barry, of Chatham, while Archbishop O'Connor, of Toronto, and Archbishop McCarthy, of Halifax, are of the same nationality.

Ireland has contributed her quota of sons not only to Canadian politics and the legal profession, but to various other professions, the late Dr. Hingston being one of the country's most eminent surgeons. Miss Margaret Anglin, who is also of Irish descent, and who was born in Ottawa, is acclaimed one of the greatest emotional actresses of the day. In various branches of literature Irish Canadians have made a mark, and if there have been no very great literary lights among them, we can still lay a sort of claim to Tom Moore, who spent many happy days in Canada, the house in which he lived being still standing at Ste. Anne de Bellevue.

SHAMROCK USED TO EXEMPLIFY THE TRINITY DOCTRINE

There are many legends and tales among the peasantry of Ireland respecting the power of St. Patrick as an eloquent preacher. Most of them are earnestly believed, and in their veriest literal sense. It is accepted most generally that St. Patrick, by his magnificent sermon on the top of Croughpatrick, banished from Ireland all snakes and toads. The peasantry are supported in this belief by the fact that throughout Ireland these reptiles nowhere exist. The legend is most probably founded on this fact, and had its origin in its allegoric truth, being an illustration of his success in expelling the spiritual snakes and toads of error and sin by his preaching the Gospel of Truth.

Even the most sacred things have a humourous side for the true Irishman.

Another story says the shamrock was taken for Ireland's emblem because St. Patrick used it in his sermon to King Laeghaire to exemplify the doctrine of the Trinity; however this may be, it is certainly a very dear little plant in the Irishman's eyes, and our late Queen deeply touched the people's heart when she allowed henceforth all Irish regiments to wear the shamrock on St. Patrick's Day, in commemoration of their bravery and valour in South Africa.

THE FOUR LEAF SHAMROCK

A four-leaf shamrock, while in some quarters regarded as an impossibility, is by others regarded as an omen of good luck. A Gilmour street lady, who procured a pot of shamrock grown by Jordan Bros. from seed sent from Ireland by Mr. R. J. Munro during his visit last summer, found upon the beautiful clump of shamrock two well-developed and perfect four-leafs. This is to be regarded as an omen of good luck, as beautifully set forth in Samuel Lover's poem, "The Four-Leaved Shamrock," which is given below:

I'll seek a four-leaved shamrock in all the fairy dells.
And if I find the charmed leaves, oh,
how I'll weave my spells!
I would not waste my magic might on diamond, pearl, or gold.
For treasure tires the weary sense—
such triumph is but cold;
But I would play th enchanter's part in casting bliss around—
Oh! not a tear, nor aching heart,
should in the world be found!

To worth I would give honour; I'd dry
the mourner's tears,
And to the pallid lip recall the smile of happier years.
And hearts that had been long estranged and friends that had grown cold
Should meet again — as parted streams — and mingle as of old;
Oh! thus I'd play th' enchanter's
part, thus scatter bliss around,
And not a tear nor aching heart
should in the world be found!

The heart that had been mourning over vanished dreams of love
Should see them all returning — like
Noah's faithful dove,
And hope should launch her blessed
bark on Sorrow's darkening sea,
And Mis'ry's children have an ark,
and saved from sinking be;
Oh! thus I'd play th' enchanter's
part, thus scatter bliss around,
And not a tear nor aching heart
should in the world be found!

A LITTLE GIFT FROM IRELAND

Here, Grandma, here's a present, it has come a distance, too,
'Tis a little pot of shamrock, and it comes addressed to you;
Yes! All the way from Ireland and the card here mentions more—
They were gathered at your birthplace, on the banks of Avonmore,

From Ireland? Do you tell me? O, darling, is it true?
Acushla, let me feel them—and you say twas there they grew;
Why, I scarcely can believe it; is it really what you say?
From my birthplace in old Ireland!
Poor Ireland far away.
I'm old and stiff and feeble, and in darkness, God be praised:
Yet, Katie, how it starts me, how my poor old heart is raised,
To feel here so near me the soil that gave me birth.
The very clay of Ireland; let me kiss
the holy earth.

These blessed little shamrocks! I can't see them, yet I know
They bring me back the eyesight of the happy long ago,
And gleaming through the darkness,
comes the vision that I love,
The dark green fields of Ireland and the sunny sky above.
I see as once I saw them, when a girl like you I stood
Amid the furze and heather; there's the chapel, hill and wood.

The following from the Toronto Globe will be read with interest here by the friends of Miss Zeta Harper, who attended the Collegiate Institute a short time ago:

A very successful class meeting was held by the University College members of '09 on Thursday. The class poet, the historian and the prophetess showed that they were more than the holders of sinecures. The prophecy, by Miss Zeta Harper, was especially good. The third year has made more use than is usual of their class organization, and as a result their meetings are well attended.

Spoke Of The Sacrament Of Holy Communion Last Night

Rev. C. Ensor Sharpe Delivered Beautiful Address on the Happiness Which the Communicant Enjoys.

THE MISSION NEARLY OVER

The parochial mission at St. John's Church is fast drawing to a close and to-night will see the farewell service. Last night saw another large congregation with a gratifying zeal and earnestness that was most encouraging. The hymns were sung in a hearty manner, as has marked the whole course of meetings.

Rev. C. Ensor Sharpe delivered the address, a simple statement of the beauty of the sacrament of Holy Communion, and an appeal to all the members to become regular communicants. He referred to his remarks of last Monday night, that in this sacrament God had given to mankind a means by which the copying of this life is made possible. Rev. Mr. Sharpe said that He gives us His own nature, joining us in this actual commixture of His blood with ours to understand Him and to become literally and truly one with Him.

Rev. Mr. Sharpe spoke from the consecration prayer "Who in the same night that He was betrayed took bread, etc." Judas had betrayed Christ for a mere thirty pieces of silver. He had been one of Christ's chosen twelve, ate with Him and in every way was a religious man, yet he had been a betrayer.

Men to-day are guilty of this crime by the many sins which they commit in their daily lives.

Judas realized afterwards the terrible nature of his crime, but it was too late. Sinners of the present day who refuse to repent are the most lonely of men and they are left with a consciousness of their guilt which ceaselessly torments him.

Rev. Mr Sharpe concluded by a stirring appeal to accept the gift which God offers for our own happiness and he described in beautiful terms the content and joy which comes to those who join with God in this sacrament of His body and blood.

WEEK OF SERVICES AT ST. PAUL'S

The services will be under the leadership of Rev. Robt. Pogue.

HAND TERRIBLY MANGLED.

While employed in a steam laundry, the left hand of Mr. Ab. Wheeler, Marine and Stationary Engineer, of 145 Front street, Belleville, Ont., became caught and was accidently drawn into a hot mangle. He says: "As soon as possible the machinery was stopped and my hand was extricated, but not before the flesh on the palm of the hand was literally cooked to the bone and the fingers flattened out of shape. My hand and arm became frightfully swollen to the elbow and the hand presented a shocking sight. No one can imagine what I now suffered and endured. Not only was it hard to bear on account of the cruel pains, but it was a great shock to my nervous system. It was some time after the injury before the cooked flesh could be removed from the palm and then only a very little at a time. As soon as it had been well removed, healing balms were applied, but as the improvement was so slow I obtained permission from the doctor for Zam-buk to be used exclusively, as several of my men friends, (having previously used it for severe injuries) spoke in the highest terms of its unusual healing qualities and urged me to give it a trial. From the commencement Zam-buk soothed and relieved the pains and drew out the soreness. I now began to enjoy a good night's rest and sleep, as up to this time I had not had much rest or sleep either day or night. In about three weeks the palm of my hand was nicely healed over through daily application of this wonderful remedy Zam-buk, and all inflammation and swelling was thoroughly banished from both hand and arm."

Many medical men to-day freely extol the merits of Zam-buk. It possesses a wide range of usefulness, being especially recommended for eczema, bad legs, piles, running sores, ulcers, pimples, boils, raw chapped hands, scalp diseases, barber's rash, cold sores, festering sores, poisoned wounds, cuts, bruises, burns, scalds, and all diseased, injured and inflamed or irritated conditions of the skin. Of all druggists and stores, fifty cents box or from the Zam-buk Company, Toronto.

HOW TO MAKE THE BEST REMEDY

Fine Recipe For Rheumatism and Kidney Trouble Gives Prompt Relief

FIX THIS FOR YOURSELF

A large health publication tells its readers of a number of simple and safe prescriptions that can be made at home. The following, however, for the cure of rheumatism and kidney and bladder troubles, receives the greatest praise, viz., Fluid Extract dandelion, one-half ounce, Compound Kargoo, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. These simple, harmless ingredients can be obtained at any good prescription pharmacy at little cost and are mixed by shaking well in a bottle.

The dose for adults is a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime, drinking a full tumblerful of water after each dose. It is further stated that this prescription is a positive remedy for kidney trouble and lame back, weak bladder and urinary difficulties, especially of the elderly people, and one of the best things to be used in rheumatic afflictions, relieving the aches and pains and reducing swellings in a short time.

A well known local druggist states that this mixture acts directly upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys; cleanses these sponge-like organs and gives them power to shift and strain the poisonous waste matter and uric acid from the blood which is the cause of rheumatism.

Cut this out and hand to some sufferer, which would certainly be an act of humanity.

Proof is inexhaustible that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cures female ills and carries women safely through the Change of Life.

Mrs. Letitia Blair, Cannifton, Ont., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I was sick for five years. One doctor told me it was ulceration, and another told me it was a fibroid tumor, and advised an operation. No one knows what I suffered, and the bearing down pains were terrible.

"I wrote to my sister about it and she advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"It has cured me of all my troubles, and I did not have to have the operation after all. The Compound also helped me to pass safely through Change of Life."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

OLD ENGLISH SPORTS

BARBAROUS GAMES WHICH FORMERLY AMUSED BRITISHERS.

Women as Prize Fighters — Cock-Fighting by Schoolboys—Patronized by Royalty—Origin of the "Cock-shy"—Birds Had a Rough Time—Bull-Baiting Was Counted Good Sport In Those Days.

If it be true, and we believe it is, that the sports of the people afford an index to the character of the nation, the present age has much to congratulate itself upon. For, notwithstanding the fact that the old English sport of football, which was condemned and prohibited by Acts of Parliament under successive monarchs from Edward III. to James I., still goes merrily on, the people have abandoned for good and all a number of barbarous diversions, which it seems hardly credible can ever have been practiced for amusement. Just think of boxing women! Yet this was a form of entertainment in high favor with Londoners of the eighteenth century. Under the tutelage of Broughton, the father of pugilism, women were matched to fight with their fists, although not quite in the scientific manner of men.

The favorite form of this diversion was to set two women pummelling each other, both of them holding a half-crown in each hand; and it is remarkable that well-dressed crowds would pay eagerly to witness these contests, delighting in the climax when one, giving way to the female tendency to scratch or tear an opponent's hair, opened a hand, and dropped her coin—a weakness of femininity which, of course, lost her the match.

The English sport with the oldest traditions—if we except hunting — is undoubtedly cock-fighting. It is said to have flourished in Ancient Greece, been carried thence to Rome, and to have enjoyed as one of its most enthusiastic champions Julius Caesar himself. It was the Roman conqueror's troops who were responsible for its introduction into England, where it flourished right down to 1849, when it was prohibited by Act of Parliament. It is strange to read that in Henry II.'s reign this sport was regularly practiced by schoolboys.

Schoolroom Cockpit.

The custom was for each boy to attend school on Shrove Tuesday, carrying in his arms a gamecock. The bird was ultimately destined to become a present to the schoolmaster; but before the change of ownership took place the cocks were fought in pairs on the schoolroom floor, the etiquette and ceremonial of the improvised cockpit being controlled and regulated by the schoolmaster himself.

Throughout the eighteenth and well into the nineteenth century this brutal sport maintained its popularity. Cocking was the sport of royalty and aristocrats, and cockpits were as numerous and largely patronized as music-halls are to-day. Hoyle, in his book of games, gives a practical treatise on gamecocks, enumerating the points of a first-class fighter, with directions for breeding and managing the birds. And it must be confessed it is all extremely interesting reading—to learn, for example, that a good cock, in respect of exterior qualifications, should possess a thin, long head, or very taper, if short; large full eyes; stout, crooked beak; thick, long neck; short, compact body, with a round breast; firm, stout thighs, placed well up to the shoulders; long, strong legs, and if they correspond in color with the beak, that is esteemed a perfection; broad, thin feet, and very long claws; an upright, easy carriage and stately walk, with wings not lying close to the back, but in some measure extended.

The best age for a cock to be "pitted" was two years. So said Lord Derby who, at the zenith of his fame, turned out his two or three thousand fighting cocks a year. The Black Country was the Mecca of the cocker, and the "Wednesbury cockings" were as famous a century ago as the Derby is to-day.

A curious (and more brutal still) variant of the cock-fight was a pastime indulged in on Shrove Tuesday, known as "Throwing at Cocks." A more devilish form of wanton cruelty can hardly be conceived. It is the original "cock-shy." Fortunately only the word itself remains.

"Thrashing the Fat Hen."

For some weeks prior to the day (Shrove Tuesday) young and active cocks, were specially trained for the game of being tied to a stake, and thrown at with sticks, not heavy enough to maim or materially hurt the bird, but sufficiently so to make it try to evade the missile by fluttering as far as the tether would permit—the cord would usually give the bird nearly a yard's play around the stake. In the course of a couple of weeks training the birds became quite agile in escaping the sticks thrown at them.

The lightness of the sticks only applied to the training, for when the revellers came to the pitch they hurled sticks heavy enough to kill any unfortunate bird they happened to strike.

Another old game involving equal cruelty to fowls was that known as "Thrashing the Fat Hen," which is thus described by an old writer:

"The hen is hung at a fellow's back, who has also some horse bells about him; the rest of the fellows are blindfolded, and have boughs in their hands, with which they chase the fellow, and his hen about some large court or small enclosure. The fellow, with his hen and bells, shifting as well as he can. They follow the sound, and sometimes hit him and his hen; other times, if he can get behind one of them, they thrash one another well favoredly.

Albeit this is a mild practical joke compared to the majority of games and sports beloved of our ancestors, such as cock-fighting, bull, bear, or badger baiting, all of which were "good old English sports" up to the middle of the nineteenth century.

The Count Too Touching.

In the long corridor of an uptown hotel they tell of a certain foreigner who until recently held court there of evenings. At last he disappeared, and then each of the men who had nightly been entertained by his flow of anecdote and his abundance of witty stories confessed that he had lent the count various sums, ranging from $100 up. The total seemed so formidable that a movement was set on foot to bring the defaulter back, his whereabouts having been ascertained. But funds were needed for the purpose. One of the big men of Wall street who was a creditor on the count's books to the extent of $500 was approached for a subscription.

"Not on your life!" said he. "I don't want him back. He'll borrow more money from me if he gets in town. But I'll subscribe $25 toward a fund to send him back to France if he'll agree to sail from Boston."—New York Globe.

Recipe For Making Money.

First catch your capital, however small, or if homemade, such as from savings, so much the better. Place in a safe, secure position, where it will not be disturbed, and allow to stand. Skim off all that accrues without waste and with that at the proper season make a stiff paste of business, in which place your capital or as much of it as you can use with advantage. A little ripe judgment should be added. Season with hope and enterprise and stir briskly with a bunch of fresh energy. While your pie is cooking watch it carefully yourself and see that nothing goes wrong. Keep up a good fire until it begins to brown and don't take too much off the top for tasting until the whole is well cooked; then enjoy the result.—London Graphic.

Square Bullets.

In 1718 an Englishman, James Puckle, secured a British patent for what seems to have been an attempt at a breechloading rapid firing gun. An original feature of the invention was the use of two different breech plates, one for square bullets, to be used against the Turks, and the other for round bullets, to be used against Christians. It is curious to find two opposing tendencies in the same invention—first, the desire to construct a gun that should be more effective because more destructive, and, second, a desire to recognize certain ethical distinctions in its use. If a round bullet was too good for a Turk, a square one was too bad for a Christian.—London Chronicle.

Stereotyping.

It is claimed that stereotyping was known in 1711. It was practiced by William Ged of Edinburgh about 1730. Some of Ged's plates are to be seen at the Royal Institution, London. A Mr. James attempted to introduce Ged's process in London in 1735, but failed. Stereotype printing was used in Holland during the last century, and a quarto Bible and a Dutch folio Bible were printed there. It was revived in London by Wilson in 1804. Since 1850 the durability of stereotypes has been greatly increased by electrotyping them with copper or silver.

The Cure.

Professor W. E. Grange, author of the "History of Primitive Love," alluded in the course of a lecture in Boston to the modern cynical view of love that prevails: "I remember once hearing a bricklayer and a plumber discuss love. 'I hold,' said the bricklayer, 'that if you are terribly in love the way to cure yourself is to run away.' The plumber shook his head and sneered. 'That will cure you,' he said, 'provided you run away with the girl.'"

Short and Out.

"Where is Mr. Middleman?" asked the caller at the broker's office.

"I think he's out on a little matter of wheat," replied the bright clerk.

"Out long?"

"Certainly not. If he had been long, he would have been in. It's because he was short that he's out.'—Philadelphia Press.

Chemical.

In Prestbury churchyard, near Macclesfield, England, may be found the following epitaph on a chemist:

Willie's dead—we're full of woe—
We'll never see him more.
He thought to drink of H^2O,
'Twas H^2SO^4.

A Vicious Dig.

Patty—I always think of all the unkind things I have said during the day before I fall asleep at night. Patricia—Dear me! Do you stay awake as long as that?

Many a fellow has his nose to the grindstone without sharpening his wits.—Philadelphia Record.

ONCE MORE WELL

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" ALONE CURED HIM

Clarence J. Placey is a farmer of Ulverton, Que., known as a man of integrity and good judgment. He writes in no uncertain terms of the great benefit he derived from taking "Fruit-a-tives" for a long standing kidney trouble.

Ulverton, Que.

I suffered for many years with kidney trouble, with bad pain in the back and all symptoms of disease of the kidneys. I took every known kidney remedy and kidney pill but nothing gave me relief and I was getting discouraged. I was advised to try "Fruit-a-tives" and I did so—and this medicine cured me when every other remedy failed. I used altogether fifteen boxes of "Fruit-a-tives" and from the outset they give me relief and I am now practically well again, no pain in the back, no distress, and all the symptoms of severe kidney disease have entirely left me. I am very thankful to be once more well and I freely make this statement for the sake of others who may suffer as I suffered and to them I say "Try "Fruit-a-tives." 151

WONDERFUL BREAD.

The Veracious Narrative of Its Making, Baking and Sale.

"How did I happen to become a hotel clerk?" replied the man behind the desk. "Well, it was this way: I used to be a sailor. That was where I learned about whales. In fact, I was second mate of the first iron ship that ever rounded the Horn, bound from Boston to San Francisco, loaded with flour, yeast and salt to furnish grub to the California miners soon after the civil war.

"We got around the Horn all right when we ran into about the worst bit of weather ever brewed on the Pacific. Iron ships were an experiment then, and we soon found ourselves in trouble. The fresh water tanks sprung a leak, and the water ran down over the cargo. To make matters worse, the flour barrels and boxes of yeast broke loose, and with the rolling of the ship we soon had it all mixed up together. In other words, the whole ship below decks was full of dough that the rolling of the ship kneaded just as a regular breadmaking machine does out in the kitchen here. And it began to rise.

"We fastened down the hatches at first, but soon had to take them off on the lower decks or the expanding dough would burst the ship. And we put on all steam for San Francisco. We crossed the equator like a race horse, and there we made our second great mistake. The strain on the engines caused them to break down, so we had to go at half speed, and we were at a standstill for two whole days right there under a burning sun. The storm we had run out of, and the weather was clear and hot. Whew!

"Then we got under full steam again and plowed north to the Golden Gate with a deck hand sitting on the safety valve. But we were too late. The tropic sun had baked that shipload of dough into one huge loaf of bread. How to get it out of the ship was a question.

"The owners, who were the captain and one of our passengers, sold the ship just as she arrived for only half what they had paid for her new in Boston. But the new owner was a genius. He put the hungry miners to work with picks and shovels cutting out the bread and sold it at the rate of $1 a shovelful. It was the finest bread you or any one else ever ate.

"I was out of a job as second mate, and when I saw what a profit there was in that bread I just naturally went into the feeding business myself, and that's how I became associated with the hotel business. Front! Show this gentleman to the cafe."

Mary Stuart's Curious Watches.

Among the watches owned by Mary Stuart was a coffin shaped watch in a case of crystal. Probably the most remarkable one in her collection was the one which was bequeathed to Mary Seaton, her maid of honor. It was in the form of a skull. On the forehead of the skull was the symbol of death, the scythe and the hourglass. At the back of the skull was Time, and at the top of the head were the garden of Eden and the crucifixion. The watch was opened by reversing the skull. Inside was a representation of the holy family surrounded by angels, while the shepherds and their flocks were worshiping the newborn Christ. The works formed the brains, while the dial plate was the palate. She also possessed another skull shaped watch, but it is not known what became of it.

A Very Mad Dog.

A little girl came running to tell about a mad dog she had seen. "We saw a mad dog," she gasped, but the words seemed too tame to do justice to the situation. "Oh, he was mad, mad!" she added, frowning and pumping her fists. "He was furious!"—Harper's Weekly.

A FRENCH HERCULES.

Marvelous Strength of the Father of Alexandre Dumas.

My father was twenty-four at the time of enlisting and as handsome a young fellow as could be found anywhere.

His free colonial life had developed his strength and prowess to an extraordinary degree. He was a veritable American horse lad, a cowboy. His skill with gun and pistol was the envy of St. Georges and Junot, and his muscular strength became a proverb in the army. More than once he amused himself in the riding school by passing under a beam, grasping it with his arms and lifting his horse between his legs. I have seen him do it, and I recollect my childish amusement when I saw him carry two men standing upon his bent knee and hop across the room with these two men on him. I saw him once in a rage take a branch of considerable toughness in both his hands and break it between them by turning one hand to the right and the other to the left.

A few years later the gallant hussar was a brigadier general and performing feats of valor which earned him the title of "the Horatius Cocles of the Tyrol." Best of all we like the son's description of Horatius' storming of Mont Cenis:

The climbers reached the plateau. Although it was a dark night, the long line of soldiers, clothed in blue uniforms, could have been perceived outlined against the snow from the fort. But my father had foreseen this contingency; each man had a cotton cap and a shirt rolled up in his knapsack. This was the ordinary dress my father adopted at night when he hunted chamois.

They reached the foot of the palisades without having roused a single challenge. The men began climbing the palisades as soon as they reached them; but, thanks to my father's herculean strength, he thought of a better and quieter way—namely, to take each man by the seat of his trousers and the collar of his coat and throw him over the palisades. The snow would break the fall and also deaden the noise. Surprised out of their sleep and seeing the French soldiers in their midst without knowing how they had come there, the Piedmontese hardly offered any resistance. — From "My Memoirs," by Alexandre Dumas, Translated by E. M. Waller.

OLD TIME SURGERY.

The Barbarous Methods of the Sixteenth Century.

Ambroise Pare, a barber surgeon of the sixteenth century, tells in his notes how in 1537 he went to the long wars to get practice in surgery. He invented some new processes, particularly in the treatment of amputated limbs.

Up to Pare's time the most barbarous means had been used to stop the bleeding. In his own words: "So soon as the limb was removed the surgeons would use many cauteries to stop the flow of blood, a thing very horrible and cruel in the mere telling. And truly of six thus cruelly treated scarce two ever escaped, and even these were long ill, and the wounds thus burned were slow to heal, because the burning caused such vehement pains that they fell into fever, convulsions and other mortal accidents. In most of them, moreover, when the scar fell off there came fresh bleeding, which must again be stanched with the cauteries. So that for many healing was impossible, and they had an ulcer to the end of their lives, which prevented them from having an artificial limb."

The idea of abolishing such cruelty by using the ligature occurred to Pare in one of his war journeys, and his success went beyond his own expectations. His other discovery was made within a few hours of his joining the army. It was believed by the surgeons of the day that there was poison in a gunshot wound, and one of the accepted authorities insisted that they must be cauterized "with oil of elders scalding hot, mixed with a little treacle." The pain was intolerable. It happened that at his first treatment of gunshot wounds Pare's oil ran short, and he used instead "a digestive made of the yolks of eggs, oil of roses and turpentine." To his surprise he found next morning that the patients he had thus treated were in better condition than the others. "Then I resolved never more to burn thus cruelly poor men with gunshot wounds."

Rebuked.

"Yaas," said Cholly Silley, "she was out when I called, but I hope for bettah luck next time."

"How ungallant of you!" exclaimed Miss Knox. "You should wish her the good luck."—Exchange.

BROWN BUTTER SAUCE.

Several Recipes For Serving With the Fish Course.

Place the desired amount of butter in a saucepan and heat until it becomes a rich brown color. Take care, however, that it does not burn. Add a little vinegar or lemon juice and pour over the fish or joint with which it is to be served. Another brown sauce is made by putting in a saucepan two tablespoonfuls of butter and two tablespoonfuls of flour. Cook until the flour is brown, stirring all the time. Then pour in one cup and a half of boiling water, simmering and stirring until smooth and thickened.

A still richer brown sauce is made in this way: Put two tablespoonfuls of butter in a pan over the fire. Then add one sliced onion, one small carrot, one-half of a turnip chopped fine, a bay leaf and sprig of parsley. Cover and simmer fifteen minutes. Then place over the fire, where the vegetables will color without burning. Add two tablespoonfuls of flour, stirring until the flour is well browned.

Add gradually two cups of stock, half a dozen peppercorns, three cloves and a blade of mace, with salt to season. Cover and simmer twenty minutes and serve. This sauce may serve as the foundation for the bordelaise sauce or may be varied by adding wine, lemon juice or mushrooms, thus making many different sauces with the same foundation.

HOUSEHOLD NOTES.

If a few drops of glycerin be added to the starch for linens it will be found that the iron will not stick and that the linens will have a beautiful gloss after they are ironed.

Use a clean brick to stand the iron on when ironing instead of the usual ironing stand. It has no holes underneath to admit the air, and the irons will retain their heat much longer.

New boots often do not take a good polish. They will do so if they are rubbed over with a cut lemon before they are blacked. A cut raw potato may be used instead of the lemon if the latter is not to be had.

To make paper stick to metal use a strong solution of washing soda. While hot dip the metal in and when clean take it out and rub with a soft cloth. Apply onion juice to the metal, press the paper smoothly over it, and it will adhere like glue, and it will be almost impossible to separate the two.

To Clean Oil Paintings.

To clean an oil painting that is covered with dirt and flyspecks wipe all the dust from the painting with a soft cloth.

Put a little linseed oil in a saucer and, dipping the finger in the oil, rub the painting gently.

It will require time and patience, but the effect will repay you.

Artists say that in cleaning a painting nothing but the fingers, dipped in oil or water, should be used.

Copper Chafing Dishes Popular.

Copper is the preferred metal for chafing dishes just at present, and a lovely utensil of this kind is in mission mountings. The dark oak cut in a square block is used for a knob on the cover and is guaranteed not to become hot. The corners of the frame are also set into the wood.

CURE FOR RED EYELIDS.

Hot Water and Antiseptic Cleansing Fluids Do the Work.

Only the simplest kind of treatment is necessary to reduce swollen or inflamed eyelids. Hot water, antiseptic cleansing fluids and simple astringents are the things required in this cure.

Many times inflammation comes from eye strain, and in such cases an oculist should be consulted. A low condition of the system, however, is frequently responsible for red and heavy lids, and while treating them externally it is well to take a tonic internally and do what one can to improve the general health.

When granulation is present make a paste to relieve the lids by rubbing a bit of alum into the raw white of an egg until the latter forms a curd. At night put this over the lids and place some on a linen bandage, which should be worn on the eyelids throughout the night. The paste should be made fresh each time.

While vaseline is most beneficial if applied to the edges of the lids every night, it is a balm rather than a medicine, for it has no stimulating or curing qualities.

Rinsing the eyes with a 5 per cent boracic acid solution is helpful. This should be done night and morning. To give this bath put the liquid into an eye glass in which it is possible to immerse the lids by opening and shutting them. This process clears the eye of any impurities or foreign matter and is one of the most harmless and best known applications for the eyes.

After this bath healing remedies should be put on. Oculists differ greatly as to the efficacy of cold or hot fomentations when there is inflammation. One scatters the trouble; the other brings it to a head. The application of a warm, but not hot, compress is undoubtedly soothing, and should the lids be inflamed from the effect of strong light, such as sun or snow or high wind, it will be found well to bathe them gently, really mopping, with warm water. Afterward they should be wiped with a solution of witch hazel and water, half and half. If you can then stay in a darkened room for fifteen minutes the inflammation will probably disappear.

Should stys recur frequently the services of an oculist should be sought.

Newton's Fearful Crime.

At the end of a meal at Haydon's house Keats proposed a toast in these terms: "Dishonor to the memory of Newton."

The guests stared at him in questioning surprise, and Wordsworth asked for an explanation.

"It is," answered Keats, "because he destroyed the poetry of the rainbow by reducing it to a prism." And the artists all drank, with one consent, confusion to the savant.

A Great Change.

Old Nurse (to young lady who is going to New Zealand)—So you're going away to one of the countries, Miss Mary, where they have day when we have night and night when we have day?

Miss Mary—Yes, nurse.

Old Nurse—Eh, it will take ye some time to get accustomed to the change! —London Punch's Almanac.

When Divers Get Angry.

"One of the strange effects that diving has upon those who practice it," said a veteran diver, "is the invariable bad temper felt while working at the bottom, and as this irritability passes away as soon as the surface is reached again it is only reasonable to suppose that it is caused by the unusual pressure of air inside the dress affecting the lungs and probably through them the brain. My experience has been that while below one may fly into the most violent passion at the merest trifle. For instance, the life line may be held too tight or too slack; too much air or too little or some imaginary wrongdoing on the part of the tender or the men above will often cause the temper to rise. I have sometimes become so angry in a similar way that I have given the signal to pull up with the express intention of knocking the heads off the entire crew, but as the surface was neared and the weight of air decreased my feelings have gradually undergone a change for the better until by the time I reached the ladder and had the face glass unscrewed I had forgotten entirely what it was I came up for."

Penalties of Being a Bachelor.

The ancient Romans were severe with their bachelors, who were made to pay heavy fines, and, worse than that, Camillus, after the siege of Veii, is recorded to have compelled them to marry the widows of the soldiers who had fallen in war. In the time of Augustus married men were preferred for public office. The Romans who had three children were exempted from personal taxes, and the bachelors had to pay them. Plato condemned single men to a fine, and at Sparta they were driven at certain times to the temple of Hercules by the women, who castigated them in true military style. In the French settlements of Canada women were sent over after the men, and the single men, that they might be forced to marry, were subjected to a heavy tax and to restrictions on their business and their movements generally.

Honor For British Explorer.

The Royal Geographical Society at Antwerp has conferred its gold medal upon Lieutenant Boyd Alexander, who read a paper before the society recently describing his famous journey across Africa from the Niger to Lake Tchad, and thence to the Nile.

Keeping Cake Pans From Sticking.

No matter how many devices there are in the way of patent cake pans, nothing gives more general satisfaction for layer cake than to line the pans with buttered paper.

It is a good idea to buy 10 cents' worth of the common yellow wrapping paper that is used in grocery stores, and some day when you have a little extra leisure cut these sheets to fit the different pans used. Thus some may be circular, others square or oblong and a few with a hole in the center for the Turk's head pans used for fruit or pound cakes.

Put these papers carefully away in the pantry closet, and they will prove worth their weight in eggs at present day prices when you come to bake your cakes on a crowded Saturday morning.

Do not grease the pan, only the top of the paper.

When the cake is done, then it should be turned upside down on a cloth and the paper pulled off as quickly as possible.

PERIL AHEAD FOR ENGLAND.

Astrologer Says She Will Have Trouble In Her Colonies.

If astrologers, especially those who foretell the happenings of a year before its birth, really believe their own predictions, they must have none but the gloomiest of outlooks for the year 1908, and must, indeed, be miserable men.

Decrease in trade, increase in the price of money, wars and rumors of wars, sedition and revolt, political ups and downs, earthquakes, international trouble, disease and other troubles, are all predicted for the coming year. The price of wheat will be high, says an astrologer, and there will be a failure of root crops.

"Sepharial," editor of the "Forecast," and a new weekly, "Futures," was asked yesterday to calculate a special horoscope for the year; and some of the more interesting of his predictions are given below:

"The year 1908 is likely to prove one of the most fateful in the history of England. Three major planets, Neptune, Uranus and Saturn, will hold cardinal signs, and be responsible for the development of great political crises. On the 3rd of January there will be a total eclipse of the sun in the sign of Capricorn. This falls close to the position of Mars in the royal horoscope, and as Capricorn rules India, we may look for an outbreak of sedition and revolt in the peninsula.

"Uranus continues in the sign of Capricorn and in opposition to Neptune in Cancer during the next two years, the result being that New Zealand and British South Africa, India and Egypt will perhaps be the scene of sedition and revolt.

"The position of the Government will be tremendously assailed and effectually undermined in the spring of 1908. Joseph Chamberlain will effect some signal successes in July, and, given a continuance of the present improvement in his health, I judge that he will be a most prominent figure in the administration of affairs. Saturn will then be stationary in the horoscope of the present Government.

SLEEP MYSTERIES.

Tasks Often Performed While the Worker Slumbers.

A psychologist was discussing the miracles of sleep.

"One can become so accustomed," he said, "to a monotonous task that one can fall asleep and still keep on working. Thus in India there are punka coolies, men who turn a fan all night long in the hot weather while their English masters rest, and it is not uncommon for a punka cooly to acquire the knack of sleeping at his task. On and on he sleeps through the hot, perfumed hours of the Indian night, but his hand mechanically and steadily turns the punka pulley.

"Men have composed great literary works in their sleep. Coleridge's 'Kubla Khan' is the most famous example of this; but, then, Coleridge was a morphinomaniac, and his sleep was scarcely natural. But R. L. Stevenson, Corelli and Longfellow have also done good work while sleeping.

"Divers sometimes fall asleep deep down in the sea, but some unknown part of their brain keeps watch, and at the proper moment, though asleep, they give the order to be hauled up. This is a good deal like the miracle that happens to all of us—the miracle whereby if we tell ourselves on retiring that we must wake at 7 we invariably do wake at that hour—how or why it is impossible to say. Some part of us watches, works, keeps awake all night, so that at 7 it may call us."

Penny For a Priceless Book.

A workingman once purchased for a penny an aged looking volume bearing date of 1540. The man tried to read it, but threw up the attempt apparently in disgust, and the volume was relegated to the cupboard. A friend of his happened to see the book and took it to the British museum authorities, who promptly made an offer of £90, the highest sum the librarian is allowed to expend without a special vote of the trustees. Had the man known what he was about he would have stood out for more, as the authorities would have paid almost any price rather than allow the volume to slip through their fingers. It was, in fact, the first book printed by Gutenberg and was therefore almost priceless.—London Tit-Bits.

Improved on Solomon.

In a certain Sunday school a little girl told the story of Solomon and the disputing mothers in this wise: "Solomon was a very wise man. One day two women went to him, quarreling about a baby. One woman said, 'This is my child,' and the other woman said, 'No, 'tain't; it's mine.' But Solomon spoke up and said: 'No, no, ladies; don't quarrel. Give me my sword, and I'll make twins of him, so you can both have one.'"

At a Disadvantage.

Bacon—Would you call him a good talker?

Egbert—No, I would not.

"How many times have you heard him talk?"

"Only once."

"And when was that?"

"When he was trying to open a car window."

Had a Woman to Blame.

"I have had dreadful luck. This morning I dropped my spectacles, and my wife stepped on them."

"That's what I call good luck. If I had dropped mine, I should have stepped on them myself."

The Poet Answered.

"Do you know that I was born on the same day Emerson died?"

"Both events being a cruel misfortune to literature."

He hurts the good who spares the bad.—Pope.

ALL RUN DOWN

Weak---Nervous---Unstrung.

Thousands get run down and become invalids before they realize anything is wrong. By permitting low vitality to develop, the way is paved for fevers, pneumonia and diphtheria. To put off makes it all the harder to get well. The time to repair the system is right now, before the damage gets any worse. The remedy is Ferrozone; it revitalizes, renews, builds up vitality that outlasts old age.

FERROZONE is a genuine invigorator that banishes weakness, and instils surplus force and vigor into every organ of the body. Ferrozone sharpens the appetite, produces rich nutritious blood, and thereby contributes that sense of buoyancy that adds so enormously to one's pleasure and usefulness in life.

For all forms of debility, weakness, lack of blood or nerve tone, sleeplessness, tiredness and exhaustion, there is no medicine so vitalizing and potent as Ferrozone. Even one trial demonstrates its rapidly and certainty of action.

To restore the energy of youth, to get back your vital stamina and reserve force, there is positively no treatment so certain as Ferrozone. You have only to try Ferrozone to know the enormous benefit it invariably brings to all in poor health.

FERROZONE

Miss Dorothy B. Ladue of Chester gives the following convincing evidence of Ferrozone's power:—"My work compels me to rise early in the morning and work ten hours daily as a saleslady. Last Spring I was run down, lost my color, and fell off in weight. I seemed to lack ambition and the life was out of me. A friend recommended Ferrozone, and I took one tablet after meals with wonderful results. Ferrozone brought back my complexion, and has given me new strength and abundance of energy and spirits. I would advise all young ladies to use Ferrozone."

Mrs. H. G. Wilder of Dexter says:—"My daughter was not very well last Winter, and lost her strength completely when the Spring came. I gave her Ferrozone, and am glad to say it did wonders. After six boxes were used my daughter was strong, and looked the picture of health."

AFTER TREATMENT

He was surprised at how the sores healed—"I took your New Method Treatment for a serious blood disease with which I had been inflicted for twelve years. I had consulted a score of physicians, taken all kinds of blood medicine, visited Hot Springs and other mineral water resorts, but only got temporary relief. They would help me for a time, but after discontinuing the medicines the symptoms would break out again—running sores, blotches, rheumatic pains, looseness of the hair, swellings of the glands, palms of the hands scaling, itchiness of the skin, dyspeptic stomach, etc. I had given up in despair when a friend advised me to consult you, as you had cured him of a similar disease 8 years ago. I had no hope, but took his advice. In three weeks time the sores commenced to heal up and I became encouraged. I continued the New Method Treatment for four months and at the end of that time every symptom had disappeared. I was cured 7 years ago and no signs of any disease since. My boy, three years old, is sound and healthy. I certainly can recommend your treatment with all my heart. You can refer any person to me privately, but you can use this testimonial as you wish." W. ON A SCOTTISH LOCH.

Pen Picture of a Quiet Spot In the Highlands.

Loch Finlaggan lies among the hills about five miles from Bridgend in the Island of Islay. To reach the loch one must trudge over three miles of moorland and up steep hills, but the efforts of the willing are well repaid when they reach the loch and view the scenery around, writes "J. B." in The Glasgow Herald. One lovely afternoon in the late autumn I sauntered leisurely up the hill, reflecting all the while how many lords of the isles had trod the same path in days of yore. When I reached the top of the hill and looked across the hilltops the sun is setting on Loch Indeal. Descending slowly down the other side of the hill towards the loch I find a very comfortable seat behind a rock where my position is comparatively impregnable. The place may well delight the naturalist and lover of peaceful retreats. The hues of the trees around would baffle the greatest masters of color among painters. Every shade of brown is there; the sterile ash is full of color and the beech trees stand like sentinels on duty. Very many birds build there, and at twilight one hears fox calling to vixen from the deeper places that the bracken hide. To my right there is a narrow stream, glorified by the sunset, plashing merrily over clean stones on its ceaseless journey to the sea. At the end of the loch there is a small wood but of excellent growth—a home of herons—for now a pair of those fine birds are wending their way in heavy flight from the marshes where they doubtless have been I watch the night come in fair guise to the surrounding country. The afterglow burns feebly in the heavens, but darkness is falling as from the far corners of the earth. Blackbirds and others of the countless woodland choir almost cease their song. Save for the subdued notes of the birds and the music of the little stream that flows unceasing under the willows, the silence is profound. All the land is deserted. To-night I seem to be the sole survivor left on the planet. North, south, east, and west there was no human habitation to be seen, nothing to hear except the far away murmur of the waves as they lapped against the castle walls; for yonder, silhouetted against the sky, is Finlaggan Castle, where Robert the Bruce's daughter and some of the lords of the isles are buried. Inside the castle there are many tombstones, and the inscriptions and engravings are still quite legible. The evening was exquisite. One never sees the true grace of the golden maiden moon unless on earth's forsaken places. As the eye accepted the surroundings, and the light came unimpeded for a moment, and then the clouds enveloped the moon once again, and the sense of sound seemed to fall with the sense of light. Again the moon made her appearance, and I drank in the scenery around, listening all the while to the tick of my watch as it hurried our lives away. I remain enraptured with the silence and the light until the moon has passed along her appointed way and the stars seem to grow cold in their spheres. A faint wind springs up and I wake up with a sudden start. In the bushes by the loch's edge some song birds, doubtful of the hour, are sounding a few notes as though in preparation for matin song. Theirs is the chant of the dawn that the choir of noon quisings.

A PUMA CUB.

He Was Plucky, but Paid For His Temerity With His Life.

Hissing like a sullen geyser, the great puma mother crouches with flaming eyes. Ridge of her tawny back brushed up in rage, tail a-switch, steel sinews rigid beneath soft skin, she glared at her four cubs in the cage corner. A fluffy ball of spotted fur sprawled on unsteady legs across toward her. Out shot a mighty fore paw; the baby was hurled suddenly back among his cowering brothers and sisters.

"Nasty temper," I remarked to the keeper. "Has she been long like that?"

"Started this forenoon." He shook his head in anxiety. "I don't like it. I'll have to separate them, I fear."

The unnatural mother commenced pacing her prison, sparring viciously at her offspring in passing. Three huddled together in a pitiful heap, but one stood up and defied her. A jungle terror in miniature, his tiny rage was magnificent. Tensely alert before his trembling mates, he shifted warily to meet each blow, dodging, spitting, striking out an awkward paw at the great thrusts.

"They don't turn on their cubs often. Only knew it once before. You notice, mein herr, her claws are not out when she strikes. That may come; then we will lose some promising babies here."

The young German keeper was greatly distressed. I returned in the morning to see how the affair had progressed. Entering the Frankfurt Thiergarten, I found the lion house. My friend stood in the empty corridor looking into the cage. Sleek forms shifted restlessly on every side; a pale light came from above; the place was close with a heavy odor.

He greeted me mournfully. "The little beggar was too spirited. She got him last night. Just a second in her jaws, and the taxidermist won't attempt to stuff the skin." The remaining cubs peered wonderingly at us from an adjoining cage; the murderess paced in silence, but her eyes were alive with a strange fascinating light. The tragedy had stirred the rows of imprisoned beasts. An uncanny howl in a chilling key came from the leopards; the lion's deep throated guttural sent unwelcome quivers through one's nerves.

I left the building, relieved to feel the breeze and see the sunlight. Poor little chap of a puma, he surely had tremendous pluck!

A PRESENT DAY UTOPIA.

Moorea Island, the Happiest and Fairest Spot on Earth.

Hugo Parton, writing in the Outing Magazine, says that the happiest and most beautiful spot on earth today is the island of Moorea, one of the Society islands, in the south seas. As a contrast to strenuous American methods this description sounds alluring:

"Whenever you are thirsty a word will send a lithe brown body scrambling up a tall palm tree trunk, and in two minutes a green cocoanut is ready for you to quaff—the nectar of the Polynesian gods. It is worth the trip down here to eat the native 'vittals,' for you get at every meal things you never tasted before, and each seems better than its predecessor; to see your dinner of fresh water shrimps, sharks' fins and roasted sea urchins. The bananas you eat—there are eleven varieties—baked, raw, fried, dried—grow a few rods back in the valley; ditto the breadfruit, the pineapples and about everything else on the board. It's nice to have your morning coffee ground in the back yard. Guavas grow in such profusion they are used as pig food, grated cocoanut is fed to hens, while sensitive plant is considered excellent fodder for cattle.

"For perfection of the human body the Tahitian is unexcelled, if, indeed, he is anywhere equaled. They are a large race, both men and women being noticeably taller and more fully developed than Anglo-Saxons. I doubt if any Society islander ever went through a whole day in his life without having a wreath of flowers on his head or a blossom behind his ear. The love of flowers is innate with man, woman and child. They can't pass through a patch of woods without emerging with a garland. Every gay mood calls for flowers on their hats, in their hair, behind their ears, and their life is an almost unbroken sequence of gay moods. Scarcely a native on the island of Moorea can speak a sentence of English, but every one you meet greets you with a courteous smile and the welcoming word 'Ia-ora-na' (Yorana)."

Eczema, Salt Rheum.

Eczema or Salt Rheum, as it is often called, is one of the most agonising of skin diseases. It manifests itself in little round blisters, which contain an extremely irritating fluid. These break and subsequently a crust or scale is formed.

The intense burning, itching and smarting, especially at night or when the part is exposed to any strong heat, are almost unbearable.

The pre-eminent success which Burdock Blood Bitters has met with in permanently curing a disease of such severity is due to its wonderful blood cleansing and purifying properties.

No other remedy has done, or can do, so much for those who are almost driven to distraction with the terrible torture, as our thousands of signed testimonials can testify to.

Mrs. Jno. R. Keady, Linton, N.B., writes: "I was so troubled with Salt Rheum for eight years, that I could not work my hands were so sore. By using Burdock Blood Bitters my hands were eventually cured."

Mrs. Ira C. Buckner, Eden, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with Eczema for a long time. It came out on my face and between my shoulders. A friend told me about Burdock Blood Bitters. I took two bottles and it helped me so much I cannot recommend it too highly."

Some Theatrical Jokes.

In a performance of "The Lady of the Lake" the actor who took the part of Roderick Dhu was known to be in pecuniary difficulties. When Roderick gave the line, "I am Roderick Dhu," Fitzjames responded, "Yes, and your rent's due too." On the production of a piece called "The Spy" the early acts showed that it was going to prove a failure. So when at a certain point a character had to rush on and shout, "Five hundred pounds for the spy!" the author-actor, who was concealed behind a rock, arose and cried, "It's yours—copyright, manuscript and parts!" That was the end of the performance.

When eating takes place on the stage, the temptations to play tricks with the food are naturally great. In "Henry V." the leek which that inimitable braggart Pistol has to eat is usually made from an apple. But on one occasion at Sadler's Wells the Fluellen of the evening gave him a real onion, and he had no choice but to struggle through it, though the tears coursed down his fat cheeks.—Cornhill Magazine.

Saved His Goldfish.

When a Bavarian peasant treats himself to a new hat, he does not throw the old hat away. He just puts the new hat on top of the old one. The other day an amusing scene was witnessed at the Munich railway station. A peasant who had bought a new hat and a bowl containing several goldfish found himself hustled by the crowd surging at the entrance to one of the platforms. In the crush the bowl was broken, and the fish fell out. For a moment the peasant knew not what to do. Suddenly he made up his mind. He snatched his two hats from his head, and, picking up the lively fish, he put them inside the old hat, which he then filled with water at the nearest water tap. Carrying the improvised aquarium, the ingenious peasant entered his train smilingly, but very carefully.—Munich Cor. London Globe.

Facing a Waterspout.

What it means to encounter a waterspout in the south seas is described by Beatrice Grimshaw: "First of all, a black trunk, like an elephant's, began to feel blindly about in midair, hanging from a cloud. It came nearer and nearer with uncanny speed, drawing up to itself as it came a colossal cone of turbulent sea until the two joined together in an enormous black pillar some quarter of a mile broad at the base and probably a good thousand feet high, uniting as it did the clouds and the sea below. Across the darkening sea, against the threatening copper crimson sunset, came this gigantic horror, waltzing over troughs of torn up water in a veritable dance of death, like something blind, but mad and cruel, trying to find and shatter our fragile little ship."

A Gladstone Bull.

Mr. Gladstone dearly loved a joke, even at his own expense, and he possessed considerable mimetic powers. He was once guilty of an amusing bull in a debate on the question of disestablishment. Dilating on the hold held on the affections of the people by the Church of England, he said: "When an Englishman wants to get married, to whom does he go? To the parish priest. When he wants his child baptized, to whom does he go? To the parish priest. When he wants to get buried, to whom does he go?"

The house answered with a roar of laughter, in which Mr. Gladstone himself joined, adding, "As I was contrasting the English church with the Irish, a bull is perhaps excusable."

His Punishment.

It was beginning to rain, and a man who was on the point of starting for church discovered that there wasn't an umbrella in the house fit for use.

"You can borrow one from the T—s next door," suggested his better half. "They never go to church."

"No, Laura," he answered with firmness. "It is wrong to borrow umbrellas on Sunday. I shall punish myself for my carelessness by not going to church this morning."

The Egg in Medicine.

The white of an egg is an antidote in cases of poisoning with strong acids or corrosive sublimate. The poison will coagulate the albumen, and if these poisons be in the system the white of an egg, if swallowed quickly, will combine with the poison and protect the stomach. An astringent poultice is made by causing it to coagulate with alum. This is called alum curd and is used in certain diseases of the eye. The yolk of the egg is sometimes used in jaundice and is an excellent diet for dyspeptics.

Helping the Musician.

At a political meeting an Irishman watched closely the trombone player in the band. Presently the man laid down his instrument and went out for a beer. Paddy investigated and promptly pulled the horn to pieces.

The player returned. "Who's meddled mit my drombone?" he roared.

"Oi did," said Paddy. "Here ye've been for two hours tryin' to pull it apart, an' Oi did it in wan minut!"—Argonaut.

Sappho.

Sappho was born in Lesbos about the end of the seventh century B. C. In antiquity the fame of Sappho rivaled that of Homer. She was called "the poetess;" he was called "the poet." She was styled "the tenth muse," "the flower of the graces," "a miracle," "the beautiful." But few fragments of her works are preserved, and these only incidentally by other writers.

Absence of Mind.

Many amusing anecdotes are told of Bishop Burnet's absence of mind, but few perhaps are more striking and have been less repeated than the following, which Lord Orford used to relate:

Burnet was once dining with the Duchess of Marlborough after the great duke's disgrace. In the course of conversation, speaking of Marlborough's great qualities, great services and great fall, Burnet compared the duke with Bellsarius, the great Roman.

"But how in reason," exclaimed the duchess, "could so great a general be abandoned?"

"Ah, my lady, do you know what a cursed brimstone of a wife he had?"

The hearers, to the good Burnet's surprise, were confused and dumb struck with the force of the parallel he discovered in the cases of the Roman and the Englishman.—St. James' Gazette.

Quite Familiar.

And the office boy in his excitement responded with "Goodness, sir, so we have! If we ain't a couple of blunder headed idiots!"—London Tit-Bits.

LINCOLN'S JOKE.

Fixing the Responsibility For the Loss of Harpers Ferry.

President Lincoln's jokes, especially when perpetrated in connection with grave matters, usually had a purpose in them. After Lee had taken Harpers Ferry the president, realizing how great a calamity it was to the northern arms, determined if possible to fix the responsibility for the loss of the important position.

Halleck was summoned, but did not know where the blame lay. "Very well," said Lincoln, "I'll ask General Schenck." The latter could throw no light upon the question, further than to say that he was not to blame. Milroy was the next to be called to the presence of the commander in chief and to enter a plea of "not guilty." Hooker was next given a hearing, and "Fighting Joe" made a very emphatic disclaimer of all responsibility.

Then the president assembled the four generals in his room and said to them: "Gentlemen, Harpers Ferry was surrendered and none of you, it seems, is responsible. I am very anxious to discover the man who is." After striding across the room several times the president suddenly threw up his bowed head and exclaimed: "I have it! I know who is responsible!"

"Who, Mr. President; who is it?" asked the distinguished quartet as they looked anxious, if not troubled.

"Gentlemen," said the president, with a meaning twinkle in his eye, "General Lee is the man."

There was a lack of mirth in the laugh created, and the four generals took their departure with a determination that they would not again be placed under suspicion.

Criminals and Crime.

In opposition to Sir Alfred Wills (an ex-judge), Mr. H. J. B. Montgomery advocates, from his experience as a prisoner, short, severe sentences. In "The Nineteenth Century" he writes: "The picture of the professional criminal who prefers a life of crime, with its excitement, its large element of sport, its periods of luxury, idleness and debauchery, to anything which involves the comparative monotony of honest work, is simply a figment of the imagination. These ruffians of our boasted civilization have been largely manufactured by the English prison system. Sir Alfred Wills is quite convinced that there are a considerable number of professional criminals whose reformation is absolutely hopeless. He would simply give them an 'indeterminate sentence.' The man so sentenced would not be released till he had given proof of advance in character. The result would be that there would be developed in gaol an even larger proportion of religious humbugs than are to be found there at present. During my incarceration I discussed this and other matters with criminals of every kind and degree, and I never came across a man, however long he had been a criminal, who did not loathe and detest his occupation. I found out, in nearly every instance, that the evolution of their career proceeded upon regular lines. And I had only to look round the corridors of that great convict prison in which I was myself a prisoner to see that the evolutionary process was still actively at work in the gradual, but sure, manufacture of the professional criminal. Every hour of their lives in that prison they had borne in upon them the fact that they were not as other men, and that they never could be again as other men, and on their return to the world they were given to understand, in unmistakable manner, that they assuredly were not as other men. I am very strongly of opinion that it is not short, but long, sentences that are mischievous. After a comparatively short period in gaol the only effect of imprisonment upon the man is to drive home to him the fact of its extreme stupidity. After two or three years it utterly fails to have any punitive effect whatever, and only tends to harden and degrade the prisoner, and to cause a mental and physical deterioration."

Breaking It Gently.

Little Marion, who had been taught to report her misdeeds promptly, came to her mother one day, sobbing most penitently.

"Mother, I—I—broke a brick in the fireplace."

"Well, that is not very hard to remedy. But how on earth did you do it, my child?"

"I pounded it with father's watch."

Man and a Carpet.

Clara—I'll give you a conundrum. Why is a man like a carpet? Tom—I give it up. Clara—Well, he's no sooner down than people walk all over him. Tom—Oh, pshaw! Man is totally unlike a carpet, for the more dust he has the less likely he is to get the shake.—Illustrated Bits.

Poetry Defined.

George P. Morris, the author of "Woodman, Spare That Tree," was a general of the New York militia and a favorite with all who knew him. Mrs. Sherwood in her reminiscences tells how another poet associated the general with a definition of poetry.

Once Fitz-Greene Halleck, the author of "Marco Bozzaris," called upon her in New York in his old age, and she asked him to define for her what was poetry and what was prose.

He replied: "When General Morris commands his brigade and says, 'Soldiers, draw your swords!' he talks prose. When he says 'Soldiers, draw your willing swords!' he talks poetry."

A Bargain.

"What!" exclaimed the husband. "You drew your savings from the bank, went to a broker's office and bought Z., X. and Y. stock at 14, when it has been dropping like a rock?"

"But, my dear," argued the wife. "It was such a bargain. Why, during the short time I was in the office I saw the man mark it down to 14 from 45!"—Success Magazine.

Next to excellence is the appreciation of it.—Thackeray.

SHIP WAS IN FLAMES.

Exciting Escape of Mariners on North Coast of Ireland.

A thrilling story of the sea comes from the North of Ireland. On the verge of midnight the Housatonic, a large oil steamer, went ashore on the South Maiden Island, at the mouth of Belfast Lough. Two lives were lost, and 32 of the crew were rescued after a terrible experience, by the lighthouse staff. A graphic description of the disaster was given by one of the officers on his arrival in Belfast. He said the vessel was proceeding up the Irish Sea from Barrow-in-Furness, en route to New York, for a cargo of oil. The night was clear, and there was not much wind. Shortly after 10 o'clock, when passing the mouth of Belfast Lough, the course was set, and the second officer was left in charge on the bridge. Owing to the strong currents which prevail at that part of the County Antrim coast, the steamer drifted out of her course, and she dashed on to what is known as Russell's Rock, which lies about a mile or so in a northeasterly direction from the maidens. The impact was a severe one, and the port side of the forecastle was completely torn away. The ship listed heavily, and at one time it was feared that nothing would prevent her from capsizing. About 20 minutes after the Housatonic struck it was apparent that there was no chance whatever of saving her, and the captain then decided to launch the lifeboats. Only two, however, were available, one of the small boats having been stove in, while it was impossible to reach the fourth, which was practically under water on the weather side.

The Ship Took Fire.

Meantime rockets had been sent up to attract the attention of the coastguard, and while this work was being performed one of the rockets dropped on to the deck, which, owing to the character of the trade in which the vessel engaged, was saturated with oil, the result being that in the space of a minute or so the ship took fire. At this time, Capt. Henry, chief officer, the second officer, and the second engineer were on the vessel, the other members of the crew being in the lifeboats, with the exception of the fireman, who was drowned, and regarding whose whereabouts at this juncture no one could give any information. The situation had now become so serious that the captain ordered all hands to the lifeboats. He and the second officer jumped into No. 1 boat, while the chief officer got into and took charge of No. 2. The second engineer, however, in jumping, fell short of the little boat, and dropped into the sea. Every effort was made to save him, but without success, and the poor fellow sank in sight of his comrades.

Boilers Exploded.

The fire raged with great severity, and in a comparatively short space of time the entire ship was a mass of flames. The survivors kept as close as was prudent to the burning vessel for about half an hour, when, with a terrible noise, the boilers exploded, the vessel heeled over, and in less time than it could be described, had sunk. The lifeboats, each carrying 17 souls, then made their way in the direction of the Maidens Light-house, whose welcome beacon light flashed brilliantly across the sea. The boat in charge of Capt. Henry reached the Maidens, but the one in charge of the chief officer was not so fortunate. Soon after leaving the wreck the little craft was partly stove in, and was constantly shipping water. The men were compelled to bail her out continuously, and during the greater portion of the voyage they were partially covered with water. It was hours after when they succeeded in effecting a landing at the lighthouse, and no sooner had the last man reached the stage than the boat disappeared. The four men in charge of the lighthouse were most assiduous in their efforts to allay the sufferings of the unfortunate seamen, and the officer states that their labors on their behalf were beyond all praise.

Deplorable State of the Men.

The condition which many of the men presented on landing on the mainland en route for Belfast was truly deplorable, notwithstanding the care and attention rendered to them on the lighthouse. A number were scantily clad, and in the chilly atmosphere, that defied even the warmest wraps, their condition was one to be pitied in the extreme. Many who had lost all their belongings and were devoid of cash, or the means of realizing any, were unable to communicate with friends at a distance, who, learning the news of the wreck through the press, would naturally be in a state of great anxiety. Several of the men on scrambling to the Maiden Rocks in the early morning darkness, were almost destitute of clothing. So far as the resources, necessarily scanty, of the lighthouse would avail, the unfortunate mariners were provided for.

When Dogs Want to Church.

Whether in repentance for sins of the week or for want of smaller kennels we are not told, but dogs of the good old days had a remarkable fondness for church services. The clergy and wardens had an equally extraordinary objection to four-legged devotees. There are many church records showing the expenditure on wisp and tongs for intruding dogs and wages paid to the wielders of these weapons.

In the County of Kent is a piece of land still known as Dog Whippers' marsh, from which a payment of 10 shillings a year was to be devoted to keeping order in the church and dogs out of it during service.

The purchase of dog tongs must have evoked merriment rather than the solemnity they were employed to secure. The cathedral at Bangor, in Wales, has a glass case full of specimens. They are familiar as the "lazy tongs" for the lump sugar or larger ones to pick pieces of coal. They are zizzag scissors with an extension movement. These dog tongs are big affairs, made of oak, which stretch out three feet and have teeth let into the end jaws to get a firm grip on the poor beast.

Talky.

"Miss Lowder was in your box party at the theatre last week, I hear."

"Yes, and everybody else within fifty feet of the box heard too."

BRITISH SOVEREIGNS' WRITING.

Characteristic Styles Used by the English Kings.

King Henry VIII. wrote a strong hand, but he seldom had a good pen. He seems to have written with the haste and vehemence with which he spoke, and hence the untimely destruction of many an honest goosequill.

Edward VI. wrote in a fair, legible, but somewhat effeminate hand, and managed to complete a neat manuscript diary; but the unfortunate boy-king had barely learned to write when he ceased to reign.

Queen Elizabeth, thanks to the pains of her assiduous tutor, Roger Ascham, wrote an upright hand, after the manner of the Italian school, and had acquired "all the elegancies of the pen," according to the notions of polite society in the sixteenth century.

James I. wrote a slovenly scrawl, strongly indicative of that personal negligence which he carried into all the little things of life.

Charles I. wrote a fair, open, Italian hand more correctly, perhaps, than any monarch who preceded him on the English throne.

Charles II. wrote a little, fair, running hand. He often wrote in odd situations, and his natural restlessness and vivacity prevented his penmanship from having the dignity and repose of that of his illustrious but unhappy father.

James II. wrote a large, fair hand, and Queen Anne's writing was round and fair, but a servile copy of that of her writing tutor.

The autographs of the Georges and of William IV. were for the most part "scrawly," but beyond this had no special characteristic.

Queen Victoria wrote a large, graceful, old-fashioned Italian hand.

Specter of Revolt in India.

India is in the throes of revolution, says Saint Nihal Sing, of Rawalpindi, Punjab, India.

The press despatches that have found their way into American newspapers fail to give a comprehensive idea of the real situation in Hindostan. Lord Curzon, on the eve of his assumption of the Vice-Royalty, declared India to be "the pivot of the British Empire." "If this Empire," he emphatically declared, "lost any other parts of its dominions, we could survive, but if we lost India the sun of the Empire would set." To-day this "pivot of the British Empire" is wobbling. Britain is apprehensive lest this "Sun of the Empire" is losing its potency.

Already bloody demonstrations have taken place in different parts of India. The Punjab, at one end of the country, is rent with riots. The two Bengals, at the other extremity, are proclaimed hot-beds of sedition. The Presidencies of Bombay and Madras are disaffected.

The unrest in Calcutta, the uprisings in Rawalpindi, the riots in Lahore, and the agitation in Bombay and Madras, separated from one another by hundreds of miles, indicate that community of interest is binding the races, nationalities and castes of Hindostan together, inspiring them to act in concert. A subtle chord of sympathy appears to run through the length and breadth of the land.

This is a new development for India. The country, notorious for its antagonisms of castes, creed, color, custom, climate, and language, now seems to pulsate at its vital centres, with the same heart-throbs.

The native press and leaders in India are pulling together and presenting a bold front. Hindus, Mohammedans, Sikhs, Brahmins, or Pariahs, they have the regeneration of India at heart—autonomy for India is their aim, their endeavor—and they are resolutely working singly and jointly in the face of "prosecution, persecution, and conviction."

India's awakening has not been sudden nor spasmodic. Gradually English education has been instilling into the minds of the people love of liberty. Imperceptibly English education has been fusing together the different castes and races of India, making them more tolerant toward one another.

SAILOR BOY'S ADVENTURE.

Runaway Lad Has Terrible Experience in an Open Boat.

A runaway sailor boy named Edward Gray has had a terrible experience. He was afloat all night in an open boat in the North Sea.

Gray was found recently lying on the beach at Walton-on-the-Naze shivering with cold. Beside him lay a grounded boat. A man named Southgate made the discovery, and, seeing the lad was in a state of collapse, took him to a policeman's house.

A warm fire revived him, and he told a most extraordinary story.

He ran away, he said, from the newly erected Royal Naval Barracks at Shotley, where he was stationed as a second-class boy. He walked to Manningtree, and there found a boat. The idea occurred to him of seizing the boat and rowing out to sea.

He plied the oars till he had passed through Harwich harbor into the North Sea. Soon he began to feel the terrible cold, and his numbed hands could hold the oars no longer. He was at the mercy of the waves.

All through the bitterly cold night he drifted along, almost insensible. At daybreak a steamer hove in sight, but his feeble shouts were unheard. Hope rose again when three barges came into view, but despite his shouts and signs they passed unheeding.

At last when he was too helpless and hopeless to see or feel, he heard the grating of shingle. Lifting himself up, he saw the boat had grounded on a beach. He made one spring and landed on the shore. Then he knew no more till he found Mr. Southgate bending over him.

The boy *remained at the police*man's house until the naval authorities sent for him.

All About Wigs.

A judge of the High Court has two wigs in ordinary use, the bull-bottomed, or full dress, and the tye, or undress. The former completely hides the head and hangs down in front on the breast. Its material is white horsehair, laboriously cleaned and curled, and woven with silk threads on a gauze foundation. The occasions when this is worn are strictly defined—indeed, the rules on this point are so abstruse that some judges are dependent for their due observance on the vigilance of their clerks. For instance, on the first day of Michaelmas term, which follows the long vacation, the full-bottomed wig is in evidence, while the tye wig does duty at the opening of Hilary, Easter, and Trinity terms. When the judges meet at the Old Bailey, when they dine with the Lord Mayor, when they attend levees and drawing-rooms, when they attend at the House of Lords, or at St. Paul's Cathedral, they don the flowing wig. Likewise it is their head-dress when opening an assize commission and charging a grand jury; but the moment these two latter functions are fulfilled, their lordships retire and reappear in tye wigs.

On the other hand, at state concerts and balls, at the Home Secretary's dinner, and at certain semi-state functions, no wig whatever is worn, possibly because its natural accompaniment, the robe, is also absent. Besides the Lord Chancellor, the Speaker of the House of Commons, and the judges of the High Court, the only persons entitled to wear a full-bottomed wig are King's counsel. On their first public professional appearance after "taking silk"—namely, when sworn in before the Master of the Rolls—they figure in this new possession. They also adopt it at the Lord Chancellor's breakfast and reception which precede the opening of Michaelmas sittings; but when pleading, their invariable headgear is the frizzled wig, similar in every respect to that worn by the members of the Junior Bar. A barrister pays for his wig from five to eight guineas, the price varying with the quality of the material used. A uniform practice regulates the making of the frizzed wig, in that curls are ranged horizontally round it, and two loops hang in the neck. But different makers have their own notion as to how many curls there should be, and the number varies from 27 to 32. Most wigs have a perpendicular curl at the root of the loop, but many are without this artistic variation.

IN OLD FLEET STREET.

Quaint Recollections of Former London Constable.

William and Mary Simonds, a hale and hearty old couple now living at Walworth, London, England, recently celebrated their golden wedding. They were married at Wren's famous old church of St. Bride, Fleet street, on Jan. 1, 1858.

Mr. Simonds, having served the greater part of his lifetime in the police force, constitutes an interesting link with an almost forgotten London. Neither he nor his wife is, however, London born, he coming from Swaffham Prior, Cambridgeshire, and she from Folkestone, Kent. Their first meeting was in the great metropolis just after he, in 1851, had joined the Metropolitan police, then mustering not 5,000. His experiences cover duty at the Hyde park exhibition of 1851 and at the lying in state of the Duke of Wellington at Chelsea hospital in 1852. That old exhibition building is now set up at Sydenham, and known as the Crystal Palace. The reminiscence of the Iron Duke centres round a terrible disaster in the final rush of people to be present, a score of folk being killed and many more injured. Then, by the way, Chelsea Hospital was virtually surrounded by market gardens, there being scarcely a house between it and riotous Cremorne.

While in the Metropolitan force Mr. Simonds was stationed at Old street, which took in its beat the old pleasure resort of the Eagle in City road. Here Mr. George Conquest, grandfather of the comedian now at Drury Lane, was advertising his show by giving a pony and some ill-starred bullocks rides in the car of a balloon. Crowds stood in the streets gaping at the attraction, and the small force of police available had all their work cut out before them to keep the peace.

Fleet Street of Olden Days.

Then in 1853 Mr. Simonds transferred to the city force. These were dandy times for the police, for they had huge rough beaver top hats, white duck trousers, and wore glossy whiskers and had their hair well curled. In the city, owing to the mud of the traffic, the white nether garments were displaced by more useful cloth, but the force's superiority was indicated in white gloves.

Mr. Simonds was the first point policeman at Ludgate circus, a very different centre then from what it is now. Shops ran out square to a sort of cross of roads of no more than Fleet street width. There were no railways here then, and the coach, with joyous tootlings on the horn, dashed by every morning to wheel into the yard of the Belle Sauvage, a flourishing hostelry, and the first London Treloar had just opened his shop on Ludgate Hill.

Away up Fleet street there were still many odd old houses, with overhanging upper floors and verandahs, and Temple Bar, with its wide doors, was considered an essential part of city life. They never found it was dangerous till 1868, and it was not removed till eleven years later.

It is Mrs. Simonds whose memory, appropriately enough at the time of her golden wedding, clings to a wonderful old shop in this Fleet street of the past where the most marvellous valentines were displayed. They had, she says, such a wealth of lace, such loving mottoes, and in bowers of loveliness reposed dainty bottles of scent, handkerchiefs like driven snow, and ravishing handbags.

Carriage folk then lived in Salisbury square. There was no Embankment, and Father Thames, when receding tides did not leave barges stranded on a foreshore of mud, ran right up to the houses.

Public Executions

Old-times and old manners. They hanged people in public, and the lot of the city policeman was made the harder many a Monday morning by compulsory attendance under the frowning walls of Newgate to keep the crowd back. People would congregate overnight and wait in the open to see some poor wretch meet his death.

"The hardest man I ever saw hanged," says Mr. Simonds, "was John Wiggins, a bargeman, sentenced for the murder of his sweetheart. He protested his innocence loudly on the scaffold, and struggled so desperately that he all but got his hands and legs free. He went through the drop so badly that they had afterwards to pull him by the feet. Calcraft, he who hanged the Fenians, was the executioner. And some time afterwards a woman confessed to the crime, for which Wiggins was hanged."

Reference books give the date of this execution as Oct. 15, 1867.

"These Fenian outrages kept us very busy. I was in company with Sergt. Chowne when he was shot in Red Lion square, but, fortunately, the bullet never went near me. I had much to do, too, with the suppression of garotting. I was one of those who helped to arrest the man who got 20 years' for the attack on Mr. Snow, of the Bolt and Tun. There were three in the gang all told, and by merest chance I met that man 19 years and six months later, when he was released.

"People to-day with the many police about scarcely realize the terror inspired by the Fenians and the garotters when I was a young man.

"In my youth the Lord Mayor of London went by water to Westminster. When it went by land I was in the show, altogether being in 29 processions.

"I was seventeen years a detective in private clothes, and among many things I might enumerate the most interesting to the public would be my arrest of Mr. Bradlaugh and Mrs. Besant, my share in unravelling the Snelling bond robbery, and the fraud on Mr. Labouchere to the extent of $240,000.

"It is something to have known your Fleet street before the newspapers made it what it is. In my early days The Times was sixpence and other papers fourpence."

Bank of England Notes.

When a Bank of England note returns to the bank it is never reissued, says Tit-Bits. It is canceled by having the signature of the chief cashier torn off. A day's signatures thus detached often amount to a weight of twenty pounds, so some idea may be gathered of the enormous quantity of notes dealt with in a day's business. After the signatures are torn off the notes are pricked off in the register and sorted into the dates of issue. They are then placed in boxes in the vaults, where they are kept for five years, after which they are burned in a furnace placed in a courtyard. Every morning at seven o'clock this fire is lighted, and the notes which were received at the bank five years previously are consigned to the flames, £20,000 notes being consumed in this manner every week.

Proclaiming Canada's Mint.

It will interest Canadians to know that the opening of our new mint was proclaimed in due and ancient form in the Imperial capital. From the English newspapers we learn that at the proper moment Lieut.-Col. Kearns, the Common Crier of the city of London, proceeded from the Mansion House to the steps of the Royal Exchange, where he read the King's proclamation for the establishment of a branch mint at Ottawa. The presence of the Common Crier in his wig and gown attended by the beadles of the Royal Exchange in their gold-laced uniforms, resulted in the little party being surrounded in a few minutes by a huge crowd, who listened to Lieut.-Col. Kearns' sonorous reading of the proclamation with great interest, hearting joining in shouts of "God Save the King" at the conclusion.

BATTLE OF CUT-KNIFE CREEK.

Howard Kennedy Describes the Fight and Praises Volunteers.

Howard Angus Kennedy, who went through the Riel rebellion of 1885, as war correspondent of The Montreal Witness, and this year traveled over the Canadian West as special correspondent of The London Times, has been contrasting the country as he found it in the year of the rebellion with its present development. Mr. Kennedy was present at the engagement of Cut Knife Creek and this year he revisited the scene of that little and rather unsatisfactory battle, and compared notes with no less a person than Piacutch, an Indian, who was an active enemy in that fracas. In 1885 Kennedy was with the force which set out from Swift Current for the relief of Battleford, then beleaguered by Poundmaker's braves. The Indians moved off without exchanging blows, and 300 men were sent after them to teach Poundmaker a lesson. The thing did not come off just right. The police and militia came up with Poundmaker's warriors at Cut Knife Creek, in the early morning, and after a six hours' engagement pulled out and returned to Battleford—in a day and a quarter marching in all eighty miles and spending six hours in fighting.

It will be remembered that in this expedition, as in the case of Gen. Middleton at Batoche, the officers were unnecessarily nervous about letting untried volunteers take the agressive. At Batoche the men took matters into their own hands at last and carried all before them.

Describing the affair at Cut Knife Creek the author says that the volunteers, whatever they felt, seemed in action to be as cool as veterans; cool of nerve, that is, for the sun beat down upon them with all its western might. And there were brave deeds done among them that day; deeds of positive as well as negative courage. Let me only instance one. Three of the Battleford Home Guard who had been trying to clear out the enemy from the creek bed in our rear were cut off by a bunch of Indians, and their only way of escape was by reaching and climbing a perpendicular earthen cut-bank. Two of the Queen's Own, theological students from Toronto, named Atcheson and Lloyd, who had themselves got separated from their company, caught sight of the Battleford men from the top of the bank and recognized their desperate strait.

Atcheson stretched himself over the edge and hauled up the refugees by main force as soon as they reached the foot of the cut-bank, while Lloyd took aim in turn at every Indian that rose to fire at the rescuer—took aim, but dared not let fly, for he had only one cartridge left. So hot was the Indian fire that every one of the three Battleford men was shot dead as soon as he reached the top of the bank. One of them got a second bullet in him while Atcheson was carrying him back.

Atcheson was picking the man up again when a half-breed scrambled up out of the gully and levelled his musket at the rescuer's back. Lloyd fired his last cartridge and knocked over the half-breed, whose body carried down with it half a dozen Indians who were scrambling up behind him. A moment after, a bullet pierced Lloyd's side, took off a piece of vertebra, and stretched him paralyzed on the turf. Acheson, all his ammunition gone, sprang to Lloyd's defence and stood over him with clubbed rifle; but neither of them would have lived another minute if a handful of their comrades had not come up in the nick of time and driven off their assailants.

It is that same Lloyd, now Archdeacon of Saskatchewan, who is so well known and gratefully remembered in England for his indefatigable efforts to supply the spiritual needs of the new settlers, and whose name is immortalized by the town of Lloydminster.

Grave as the situation was, it had its moments of humor. A bullet ripped open Major Short's cap, while he was directing the artillery—a brave officer he was, and lost his life afterwards fighting in Quebec. "It was a new cap, too," was his only remark as he mournfully held up the remains.

Another bullet, scraped the skin off Sergeant McKell's temple. "Another good Irishman gone!" he cried, as he fell—to pick himself up next minute on discovering that he was not killed.

"What on earth are you wearing that red toque for?" asked a rifleman as he met one of the Battleford men at the end of the fight. "I heard there was a half-breed with a red toque on, and I've been firing at you all the morning."

The guns were the grimmest joke of all: The Gatling sprayed the prairie with a vast quantity of lead, with a noise that gave the Indians a bit of a scare at first; but they soon got used to that. A Gatling may be all very well when your enemy stands in front of you in a crowd; but that is not the Indians' way. They had a wholesome respect for the seven-pounders—which was more than the gunners had, for the wooden trails were rotten and gave way under the recoil, so that one of the guns fell to the ground after each shot and the other had to be tied to its carriage with a rope.

Mr. Fielding Presents Magnificent Budget to the House.

NO CHANGES IN THE TARIFF

Finance Minister Full of Encouragement For Coming Year—Comparison of Public Debt—Feeling of Confidence For Future — Money Loaned For Moving Crops—Caution and Courage.

Ottawa, March 18.—Hon. W. S. Fielding held the attention of the House for an hour and a half yesterday afternoon in presentation of the budget. It is hardly necessary to say that the Finance Minister's statement was alike able and brilliant. The House and the country, through the medium of the press, have come to expect this of him, and have never been disappointed. There was no balm for the croakers on the Opposition side, who, desirous of making political capital out of the temporary depression, had predicted a budget over which the Government could not exult. On the contrary, Mr. Fielding's speech was surpassingly optimistic, in view of the prevailing world conditions of trade, and full of encouragement for the ensuing fiscal year.

Briefly the Finance Minister tabulated the revenue and expenditure for the fiscal years 1906-7, 1907-8, and probable conditions in 1908-9.

In the year ending March 31, 1907, there was a surplus of $16,427,167, and a decrease in net debt of $3,371,-117; while in 10 1-2 years the net increase in debt had been only $5,174,-427.

For the current year the estimated revenue was $96,500,000; ordinary expenditure, $77,500,000; surplus over ordinary expenditures, $19,000,000. On capital account the expenditure was $33,000,000, which, added to ordinary, made a total of $110,500,000, a deficit of $14,000,000. From this sinking fund $2,000,000 is taken, leaivng net increase of debt $12,000,000.

For the next year, 1908-9, there will probably be a decrease of imports, and Mr. Fielding believed the revenue would fall below $90,000,000.

The main estimates now before the House call for the expenditure of $119,237,090, made up of $76,871,471 on consolidated revenue account, and $42,375,620 on capital account. Then the supplementary estimates will swell the figures to probably $125,000,000, though Mr. Fielding did not give a hint as to the amount of these. Allowing for amounts that will not be spent, it seems safe to assume that the total expenditures will exceed the revenue by over $30,000,000.

Turning to next fiscal year Mr. Fielding said the general feeling of business men was one of hopeful confidence united with much caution.

"We are just emerging," he said, "from a period of world wide financial stringency. Financial systems and institutions of all countries have been severely tried. It should be gratification to us all that none have stood the test better than those of Canada. In a single case in which one of our banks became embarrassed sister institutions promptly took over its affairs and its business went on without the slightest hitch.

"Conditions should improve in the early summer, and if we are blessed with a season of good crops confidence will be fully restored.

"On the part of the Government it is time for caution and yet a time for courage on large new enterprises, which would call for great outlay, may well be laid aside for a little while, but works which we already have in hand and perhaps other works not calling for heavy outlay must not be neglected. Particularly we must not fail to push forward the great enterprise of the Transcontinental Railway."

As to probable revenue he would speak with caution. The monetary stringency was producing a curtailment of imports. He anticipated a falling off in revenue in the early part of the year, but was hopeful that later on the loss would be made up. He estimated the revenue at $96,500,000 for the year soon to close. For the coming year, it would likely fall below $90,000,000, but such a revenue would enable us to retain our strong financial position. For capital expenditure they would have to add to the public debt.

Mr. Fielding then plunged into the statement of the financial position of the country. The fiscal period ending March 31 last was for nine months, the broken period being made necessary by the change in the fiscal year, and it was a difficult matter to make comparisons with the 12 months previous. In the last fiscal year (nine months) the estimated revenue was $65,000,000; the actual revenue $67,-968,328; balance $2,968,328. Expenditures were $51,542,161; estimated expenditures $53,000,000; less than the estimate $457,838.

The surplus of revenue above expenditures was $16,427,167. The surplus for nine months, said Mr. Fielding, was larger than for any fiscal year since Confederation. The main sources of income were as follows: Customs, $39,760,172; excise, $11,865,-413; postoffice, $5,061,728; Dominion lands, $1,443,632; railways, $6,509,099. Miscellaneous, $3,389,262; total, $67,-969,328.

The customs revenue for the year had been very buoyant and in the past years the postoffice had been put on a paying basis. There was a balance of $1,082,,171 in the postoffice revenue, being $5,061,728, and expenditure $,979,567.

It was to be remembered, said the Finance Minister, that the change from deficits to surpluses was coincident with a material reduction in postal rates. The expansion in business of the postoffice had grown in the same period as follows: 236 postoffices, 355 postal note offices, 115 money order offices, 32 savings banks.

The revenue of the Intercolonial Railway for the last fiscal period was $6,248,251; ordinary expenditures, $6,031,171. and surplus $218,079. On the P. E. I. Railway there had been a deficit of $67,713.

Amended Architect's Bill.

Ottawa, March 18.—The private bills committee yesterday morning reported Mr. J. Walsh's bill to incorporate the Institute of Architects of Canada in an amended form.

There was opposition from Mr. Gervais, M.P., and from Mr. L. J. Lorangeu of Montreal, representing the Province of Quebec Architects' Association

The clauses giving the institute power to hold examinations, to grant certificates of efficiency, and to establish clauses of membership were struck out.

HUNDUS MUST GO BACK.

Drastic Action of Dominion Government Causes Surprise.

Vancouver, March 18.—The Dominion Government furnished a sensation yesterday in the immigration situation and the testing of several regulations in the courts is likely to follow.

One hundred and eighty-four Hindus, who arrived from Hong Kong by C.P.R. steamer Mount Eagle, and who have been in quarantine two weeks, were at noon yesterday ordered to be deported to the Orient. They had all been practically passed on Sunday afternoon by Dr. Monroe, Federal inspector, but were held Sunday temporarily in the Federal detention sheds, awaiting positive instructions from Ottawa.

Yesterday the Hindus and Federal and steamship officials were greatly surprised to receive an order for their deportation. All are sent back because they fail to meet the requirements of the Federal order, which denies admission to all immigrants except they arrive by continuous passage from the land of birth or adoption.

Eight of the Hindus were rejected because they could not get direct passage from Calcutta to Vancouver, but were compelled to wait months in Hong Kong. The remainder were unable to show that they were persons to whom tickets were originally issued in Calcutta, they not being identified on the tickets in any way. The steamer Empress of Japan will sail for Hong Kong to-day and the Federal officials are attempting to enforce deportation by this steamer and will likely succeed, unless stopped by habeas corpus proceedings before the Supreme Court.

SYMPATHY WITH PREMIER.

Queen Alexandra Pays Visit to Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman.

London, March 18.—The general anxiety aroused by the news filtering out from the sick room of Premier Henry Campbell-Bannerman, is evidence by the constant stream of enquiries at his house in Downing street.

The fact that Queen Alexandra and the Dowager Empress of Russia called personally yesterday afternoon at the Premier's residence to enquire as to his condition, shows that the illness of the patient is more critical than the bulletins given to the public indicate.

Up to the present time the Queen has sent an equerry to enquire concerning Sir Henry's condition.

Two Collisions at Once.

Port Arthur, March 18.—Sunday's wreck on the C.P.R. at Eagle, Ont., was peculiar. A passenger train from Winnipeg was carelessly switched into a standing work train which had its locomotive detached.

The engine of the passenger burrowed right inside a box car and was completely enveloped. Almost at the same moment the engine of the work train dashed into the passenger train, hurling several cars down a 30-foot embankment.

The latter engine once fell through a bridge and was eleven months under water. It has a bad reputation as a man-killer.

GRANTS FOR EDUCATION

Technical Instruction Forms Feature of Debate—New School Books Will Be Cheap and of a Patriotic Nature—Evasive Reply in Regard to Model Schools — Help For Sectarian Colleges.

Toronto, March 18.—One book for each subject, and a cheap and good book, was the school text book program enunciated by Hon. Dr. Pyne, Minister of Education, while the Legislature was in committee on the educational estimates yesterday. The subject matter was being carefully selected for the readers and would be as largely as possible from Canadian and British authors.

Hon. Dr. Pyne further intimated that the majority of the model schools would be continued this year and that important progress would be made along the lines of industrial education.

Before the orders of the day were called, Mr. A. B. McCoig (West Kent) drew the Government's attention to a report of an attempt by the Canada Land Co., to close the Ferris road in Colchester. He trusted that the Government was pressing its case against this company and using efforts to bring it to a successful conclusion.

Hon. Mr. Foy asked Mr. McCoig to put him in possession of the facts and he would have them looked into.

The House then went into Committee of Supply, the educational estimates being first taken up.

Hon. Dr. Pyne, Minister of Education, referred to the system of new school books that the Department had in view, the subject matter would be chosen, he assured the House, with great care. The authors, as far as possible, would be British and eminent Canadians would be represented. Patriotism was to be inculcated to a greater extent and such features of an ethical character as commended themselves were to be included.

"We have found the school book question fraught with many difficulties," declared the Minister "To my mind, all that is required in each subject is one book, a cheap book and a good one. School libraries should be well equipped for supplementary reading."

Mr. Studholme wanted to know about technical training. Hamilton was looking for a technical college.

Dr. Pyne said the whole subject of technical education was under consideration. It was a view he had long held that the Dominion Government should make special grants to all the Provinces for technical education.

Mr. Preston (Brant) maintained that there should be an industrial department in every high school.

Mr. Smith (Sault Ste. Marie) wanted to know the policy of the Government towards bi-lingual schools.

The Minister said the desire was to enable the French child to have equal chance with the English child.

Hon. Mr. MacKay drew attention to the fact that the amount for estimates for model schools was $10,000 as against $11,000 last year. Yet he had been led to understand that the model schools were going to be abolished.

They would disappear by degrees, said Dr. Pyne, but not for some time. They were going on for the present year, but the work of the model schools had not been satisfactory. There was no uniformity of standard.

Mr. Preston (Brant) reminded the Minister of the necessity of improved truancy laws.

Hon. Mr. Harcourt urged not only literary readers, but also geographical and historical readers.

Mr. McDougal (Ottawa) noted the increased grant to Queen's University. He had no desire to criticize, but asked why other similar institutions were not aided.

The Premier said the grant did not go to ordinary university purposes. The Government had taken the ground that no public moneys should be granted to sectarian institutions.

Col. Atkinson (Norfolk) commended the Government proposal to make the new readers strongly Canadian. The work of the late Dr. Drummond were suggested.

Mr. MacKay asked how the committee on text books was paid.

Dr. Pyne, said Dr. Goggin was paid a salary of $3,000, the others only being paid when they were called to-gether.

Tested Submarine.

Bridgeport, Conn., March 18.—A special test of the submarine boat Lake was held in Long Island Sound, three miles off the mouth of the Blackrock harbor yesterday, under the direction of a special naval board, the object of the test being to demonstrate the ability of the craft to maintain an even keel.

The boat was submerged and driven ahead in 30 feet of water for 30 minutes. The boat returned here early in the afternoon and the naval board returned to Washington to report to the secretary of the navy.

Will Stop "Undesirables."

Toronto, March 18.—"In most respects I think that the Salvation Army has done better than any other organization. I'm afraid it is the only one that has made an effort to do its whole duty. In the future, however, neither the Salvation Army or any other institution will be allowed to bring men here who are not needed and not wanted. We shall require the immigrant to have some means or to be qualified to engaged in farm work."

This was the statement made by Premier Whitney to H. B. Dickson, James Cooper, I. Shephard and J. Simpson yesterday, who were introduced to him as a deputation of the unemployed, representing, it was said, 2,000.

Mr. Whitney undertook to consult the Minister of Public Works at once and see what could be done for immediate relief.

ATTACK ON ANN ARBOR THEATRE

Building Wrecked by Students at Ann Arbor.

TWENTY-TWO ARE ARRESTED

Deliberate Raid on Playhouse by Angry Mob—To Avenge Blow Struck by a Policeman—Firemen Called Out —Police Was Powerless—Bugle Sounded For Militia — Then the Students Dispersed.

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 18.—Twenty-two University of Michigan students spent Tuesday night in jail and the Star Theatre was completely wrecked as the result of a riot of students Tuesday evening which lasted until nearly one o'clock in the morning. The moving picture machine and the theatre piano were broken to pieces. Trouble started Saturday night in a dispute between a forestry student named Kamm, from Kentucky, and Reynolds, the proprietor of the theatre. Some one whistled while the performance was in progress, and Kamm was ordered to leave the playhouse. He got up at once to leave, but it is said that at the door he slapped Manager Reynolds in the face. At this point Special Policeman Schlimmer, in the employ of the theatre, took Mr. Reynolds' part, and is said to have inflicted a scalp wound on the student by a blow with his billy.

News of the affair circulated among the students Sunday and Monday, with the result that some of the bolder spirits among the students planned to make reprisals against the theatre management. Tuesday night a procession was formed, that went through the district of the student boarding-houses shouting, "All out for the Star Theatre." College men poured out to join the marchers at every block, and when the procession reached the theatre, fully 2,000 men were in line.

Crashing glass announced the opening of the attack as one of the collegians hurled a brick through a front window of the theatre, and from that time pandemonium reigned. Windows, not only of the Star Theatre, but of adjoining buildings, were shattered by fusilades of rocks, and the students finally attacked the building in "rush" formation, and practically tore out the front. The police were powerless, the students jeering at the officers and stealing their helmets for souvenirs, and when the fire department was summoned to drench the crowd with water, the boys ran away with 100 feet of hose.

When the hose was recovered Chairman Millard, of the Board of Fire Commissioners, ordered the firemen to return to their station, declaring no one had any right to call out the firemen for such duty.

President Angell, the venerable head of the university, vainly pleaded with the young men and asked them to disperse, but his words could not be heard twenty feet away in the turmoil.

A bugle call, sounded at the local armory, indicating that the state militia were preparing to turn out, calmed the rioting students at last, and about midnight the mob began to disperse. It was not until one o'clock in the morning, however, that quiet was restored. Some of the police and several students were slightly hurt, but luckily no serious injuries resulted.

Not Through With Hitchcock.

New York, March 18.—Flora Whiston, the young girl who, in court on Monday, declared she had perjured herself before the grand jury, and that her allegations against Raymond Hitchcock were untrue, was released yesterday on $5,000 bail.

Mr. Garvin will present the case to the grand jury at once. He believes the story told on the witness stand Monday is untrue, and that the girl had been induced to tell another story than the one to which she testified before the grand jury. He is particularly anxious to find out who induced her to change her story.

There are five other indictments against Hitchcock, and Mr. Garvan says he will try him on one of the others in the next two weeks.

The former commander of Port Arthur ineffectually petitioned for a full pardon.

Wise Dog For Every House; Proves To Father That Daughter Had Held Hands With Her Beau

The domestic dog displays his wisdom in many ways but that belonging to a north end gentleman surpasses them all and is moreover a handy dog. It proved to the father in a conclusive manner that his daughter had been holding hands with her gentleman friend. It was getting around to ten o'clock and the father was telling the young man how well he had trained his dog and went upstairs with him to give a real exhibition of what "Old Faithful" could do.

The father sat on the bed, called the dog and pointed to his foot. The dog gave a little bark of understanding, ran down stairs and returned with one of the father's boots. The animal brought up the newspaper, hat, pipe and gloves to the amusement of the young man. The latter wanted the father to have the dog try and bring up his gloves and the governor agreed.

The dog sniffed at the young man's hand and the father spoke to it to go down stairs. It obeyed but did not return at once. The two men were surprised to hear the daughter call to the father to come down stairs. They both went down and found the dog jumping around the girl. It would sniff at her right hand and then bark and act as if it were on the right scent.

The daughter and her beau interchanged glances but it was sometime before the father got wise and the young man suddenly remembered that he had to catch the next car.

Lindsay Was Acquitted On The Charge Of Neglecting His Wife

Belleville, March 19.—(Special.) — The case of Richard Lindsay, charged with causing his wife's death by neglect, was concluded this morning. The only new thing brought out was that the woman died in convulsions. Witnesses stated that Lindsay did his best to feed and clothe his wife and children well. Mr. Moore, the prisoner's lawyer, made a strong plea for him, claiming that nothing had been proven against the man. Crown Attorney Anderson laid stress on the fact that the woman died without medical care, while her husband was away drinking. Judge Deroche gave a lengthy address and formally discharged the prisoner, whom, he said, while living in an uncivilized state, had done nothing amenable to the law.

John Doig Sentenced To Six Months In Jail With Hard Labour

Before Magistrate Dumble concluded his hearing of the case of the three youths, arrested for theft, he took up the case of John Doig. This individual has appeared a number of times in the police court on various charges, mostly for receiving or retaining stolen goods. He has served a short term in jail, but it appears that he still persists in his unlawful practices. His home has become the rendezvous of all the bad boys in the city, and the young lads, it is alleged, have always found a ready market for their goods at John Doig's. This morning he was sentenced to six months in jail, and the minds of the mothers of some of these incorrigible boys will be easy for that time.

When he appeared before His Worship this morning a charge of having unlawfully retained a hunting coat, sweater, car locks and brass fittings the property of Mr. R. M. Roy, receiving them from W. Fallon, S. McCabe and J. Reynolds, and knowing the goods to have been stolen.

Doig wanted to explain at first, but as P. C. Mayharry stepped into the box he came forward and said, "I plead guilty to the whole thing."

Two more charges, one of keeping an unlicensed second-hand store and the other of retaining stolen goods the property of Mr. E. S. Clarry, were made.

Doig pleaded guilty to these also.

Mr. Wood, who appeared for the Crown, said he understood Doig was sending boys out to steal for him. At the time the goods in question were sold a discussion took place at Doig's, and the latter knew where they came from. Mr. Wood also urged His Worship to send Doig down for seven years, as he was an habitual wrong-doer.

"Doig," began His Worship, "I heartily concur in what the Crown Attorney has said. If it were not for the easy market for their goods these boys would not steal. You are a great deal worse than they are. It is the gain, not the cost, with you. I sentence you to six months in the jail at hard labour."

Mr. William Trennum, Born At Sea, Passes Away In Peterborough

This morning there passed away in old and respected man at the St. Joseph's Hospital in the person of Mr. William Trennum, caretaker of the locks bridge for the past few years. Mr. Trennum had passed the three score and ten mark, being 79 years of age. His many friends throughout the county will regret to learn of his demise. Until a few weeks ago he was in excellent health, when suddenly, while chopping wood in Otonabee, he was seized with a paralytic stroke, narrowly escaping death in the woods. Since that time he has lain ill until death summoned him this morning at 6 o'clock.

The late Mr. Trennum was born at sea. He had lived most of his life in Smith township, and was formerly al umberman. Four years ago he married Miss Martha Taylor, who survives him. His sisters are Mrs. Hamilton, Bobcaygeon; Mrs. Crosby, Van da Griff; Mrs. Jas. Cole, Pittsburg, and his surviving brother is Thomas of Harvey.

The remains will be taken to Bobcaygeon to-night for burial on Saturday afternoon.

ANOTHER NEW POSTMAN APPOINTED

Mr. John O'Brien Will Commence Duties To-morrow.

Mr. Robert Durston, assistant inspector of city postoffices, is in Peterborough to-day engaged in rearranging the routes of the postmen. Through the efforts of Mr. R. R. Hall, M. P., an additional postman has been added to the staff, and Mr. John O Brien received notice to-day of his appointment as the new man on the force.

Mr. O Brien is well known in rugby circles in the city and his appointment will meet with general satisfaction. He is strong and active, and is endowed with that intelligence and honesty which make for an ideal postman.

At the time the city delivery was granted to Peterborough it was well known to the authorities that it would take some months before the system was placed on a smoothly-working basis and the requirements of the city fully appreciated. It became evident that a better service could be accomplished by the appointment of an additional postman, of which there are now eight.

Mr. O Brien's duties will, it is understood, begin to-morrow.

MR. R. GIBBS MAKES PURCHASE

He Has Secured Former Business of Mr. R. Leary on Water Street.

It was announced to-day that Mr. R Gibbs, the veteran livery proprietor, had purchased from Mr. Jas. Davidson the business lately conducted by McCollum & Lee, Water street. It in Mr. R. Leary's own-time business and in the hands of Mr. Gibbs should be as extensive as it ever was, and in fact the citizens may expect a thorough modern livery in every respect.

Mr. Gibbs' present barn on Chambers street will in a short time be transformed into a boarding stable. He has an efficient staff of men in his employ, and this large venture, enjoying his extensive past patronage, will undoubtedly be successful.

Mr. Gibbs has made no announcement in any way as to his plans, as the sale was just concluded yesterday.

The equipment of the Water street barn is in good condition, but any changes considered necessary will be made at once.

WAS PROMISING YOUNG RAILROADER

Death of Conductor Mooney Regretted in Lindsay—How He Met Death.

Lindsay, March 20.—The second Lindsay man inside of two weeks met death on the railway yesterday. At about five o'clock yesterday afternoon Conductor H. J. Mooney was killed at Orillia while doing some braking in the absence of the regular brakesman.

It seems that the conductor was riding on the step on the right hand side of a freight car, which was being pushed in front of the engine to the Canadian Wood Co.'s siding. When at Colborne street he leaped off and tried to run across the track in front of the moving car to a switch on the other side. When just in front he slipped in some way and fell, and the car passed over him, crushing his head and both hands. The coroner at Orillia viewed the remains at once and decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

Conductor Mooney was a sober, steady and very promising young railroader. His age was 29 years and 11 days.

The remains will be brought here this evening and interred on Thursday at Riverside cemetery. The deceased had only been employed as a conductor for about a year up to the time of his death, and leaves a young wife and one child, about a year old. The family live on William street south.

MEEHAN CASE IS AGAIN REVIVED

The summons now read King vs. Meehan. Officials have tried to serve the Payne people with the documentary papers but were unsuccessful. Another visit was made this afternoon.

In no place in the world is so close a watch kept upon the financial condition and prospects of nations and countries that are prospective borrowers. British expert financial opinion of the soundness of a country is reflected in the rates at which loans are made, and the facility of subscription. When it is stated that a Canadian enterprise, like the Canadian Pacific Railway can borrow money by the tens of millions at less than 4 per cent. in the London market and that the New York Central Railway has to pay over 5 per cent. in the same market, we have an illustration of the manner in which British capitalists regard the credit of Canada, and the United States respectively. The flotation of the C.P.R.'s loan of $10,000,000; the Grand Trunk's loan, together with the over subscription of the Dominion Government's loan of $3,000,000 of 3 1-2 per cents. at par are strong indications of how high Canadian credit stands in the Mother Land.

This faith founded upon knowledge, in Canada's soundness and future by the British people is a standing rebuke to the pessimists at home, who are preaching blue ruin. Conservative critics prate of government extravagance and claim that it is ruining Canada's credit abroad. The instances cited indicate a condition which gives the lie to their unpatriotic and extravagant criticisms of the government's record. A further evidence is available of the confidence of British financial opinion in Canada's condition. Sir Edgar Vincent, formerly financial adviser of the Khedive of Egypt after a three months' visit to Canada and the United States declares on the eve of his return to England as follows:

"I was especially impressed by the financial soundness of Canadian enterprises and the thorough and sure way in which that country is developing. I know of no greater tribute to the confidence in Canadian methods than the fact that the Canadian Pacific Railway has been able to borrow ten million dollars at a shade less than four per cent. The (Canadian) Government itself pays a little more, than three per cent. and by way of comparison we have the New York Central paying a bit more than four per cent."

This is indeed testimony to Canadian financial soundness of which we may well be proud. Sir Edgar Vincent is a high authority. He had a hand in the regeneration of Egypt under British rule, one of the most stupendous triumphs of financeing in the history of civilization. His remarks come to us through a United States channel, and it is safe to say that his strong sentiments as regard to Canada's financial soundness, did not by any means, gain in transmission. How unwarranted in the light of these concrete facts is the contention by Conservative critics, journalistic and otherwise, that the credit of Canada is being ruined by Government extravagance. Of course there has been an increase of the public expenditure; but this has not even been in keeping with the tremendous expansion of revenue, the tremendous trade increases and the great increase in every interest that indicates national growth and advancement. When it is mentioned that since its advent to power, the Liberal Government has spent 127 millions on capital account—in providing the equipment of national development and prosperity—and that all this has been done with an addition of only 5 million dollars to the public debt, it will be seen that the expenditures made have been in the people's interest, and have been a factor in creating the confidence abroad in Canada's financial soundness.

FEATURES OF THE DOMINION BUDGET.

On account of change in fiscal year, the budget only covered the period of nine months ending March 31st last.

Surplus for the nine months was over sixteen million dollars, and was larger than the surplus of any fiscal year since Confederation.

Revenue for nine months was $67,969,328, an excess of $2,969,328 over the estimate.

Expenditure for nine months was $51,542,161, which was $457,838 less than the estimate.

Post office revenue was $5,061,728, leaving a surplus of $1,982,171.

In 1896 post office showed a deficit of $700,997. Since then the revenue has steadily increased, and there have been lower postal rates and extensive expansion of the service.

In the last nine months 236 post offices, 355 postal note offices, 115 money order offices and 32 savings banks have been opened.

The Intercolonial Railway showed a surplus of $218,979.

In seventeen years the net debt per head of population was reduced from $49.09 to $42.84.

Hon Mr. Fielding estimated there would be a surplus of $19,000,000 for the year ending March 31st, 1908.

The Government proposes to spend $17,750,000 on the National Transcontinental Railway this year.

Imports during the year increased and exports slightly decreased.

Government proposes to readjust the tobacco duties to meet new conditions.

Government will not make any changes in the tariff at present.

FIELDING'S MOTTO: CAUTION AND COURAGE.

The character of Canada's Minister of Finance is well summed up in his description yesterday of the attitude Canada should assume at the present time toward great national enterprises. He himself is a sterling example of caution and courage. 'Serene alike in calm or danger,' Mr. Fielding, who was not reckless in the days of the flowing tide, does not, the Globe points out, give counsel of panic now that prosperity is for the moment at the ebb. 'It is a time for caution, and yet a time for courage,' he says. 'Large new enterprises, which would call for great outlays, may well be laid aside for a little while, but works which we already have in hand, and perhaps other works not calling for heavy outlay, must not be neglected. Particularly must we not fail to push forward the great enterprise of the Transcontinental Railway. We have reached a stage in that enterprise which calls for heavy expenditure. Yet we feel it our duty to urge upon the Commissioners the prosecution of the work, so that the new road may be completed at the earliest possible date.'

Mr. Fielding has left the way open for large expenditures and heavy borrowing, by guarding Canada's credit abroad. In the years since 1896, during which he has held his office as Minister of Finance, the net debt increase has been only $5,174,427, and the debt per head of population has decreased from $50.87 in 1897, the high-water mark of the Foster method of finance, to $42.84 in 1907.

Here are some of the striking exhibits filed by Mr. Fielding yesterday afternoon in conclusive evidence as to the statesmanlike and successful financial administration of the Laurier Government:

A surplus of revenue over all expenditure on consolidated fund account amounting to $16,427,167 for the fiscal period of nine months ending March 31 last, a larger surplus than for any fiscal year since Confederation.

A surplus of total revenue over total expenditure for the last fiscal period of $2,193,971, and a decrease in the public debt of $3,371,117.

In the ten and three-quarter years of the present administration ending March last the amount spent on capital account reached the enormous total of $127,000,000, the public service in every department had been greatly extended, postal rates had been reduced, tariff rates had been decreased, yet the public debt had been increased by only $5,174,427. And had it not been for a large expenditure on the National Transcontinental Railway there would have been a substantial reduction in the public debt.

The total trade of Canada in 1897 was $257,168,862; in 1907 it was $617,964,952. Railway traffic in number of tons was 25,300,331 in 1897; in 1907 it was 63,866,133. Deposits by the people in the chartered banks in 1897 totalled $236,960,482; in 1907 the total was $639,970,696.

THE LAND SPECULATOR IN PARLIAMENT.

(London Advertiser.)

There is evidence that the Opposition at Ottawa is determined to fight the Dominion Lands Act with all the rancour of which its leaders are capable. When the measure was introduced last session it met the fiercest hostility. The Government, rather than further protract an already too lengthy session, withdrew the bill, with the announcement that it would be re-introduced this session. The Opposition would prefer that the Government abandon the measure, because if it were opposed by their party as a whole there would be a day of reckoning for members who come from the Prairie Provinces.

To permit the homesteader to purchase an additional quarter section of land at a reasonable price and on condition that he bring it under cultivation is the chief provision of the bill. It would mean to the farmer the difference between a farm of a quarter section, and one of a half section, and make it possible for him to carry on operations on a larger scale, and at the same time settle his family near him. There is a demand in the West for such a change in the law, and the longer it is delayed the more difficult it will be to secure in the more thickly-settled districts the additional unoccupied quarter section, and permission to purchase them will become less valuable.

To understand the attitude of the Opposition toward the bill it is necessary to remember that that party is dominated by men whose western land speculations were financed by big corporations. Naturally the western farmer, if he wants more land, should be compelled to buy from syndicates, and they see in this plan of the Government to throw open public land at a reasonable price, the collapse of their hopes of getting gilt-edged figures for their western properties. The bill practically means shutting the door on the speculators, and the majority of Mr. Borden's lieutenants are in that category.

LINDSAY BRANCH WILL SOON OPEN

Work on the Machine Telephone Co's Plant Almost Completed.

The Canadian Machine Telephone Company is making rapid strides in Lindsay. The underground work is nearly all laid, and the pole lines are almost completed. The outside work is all under the supervision of Mr. W. Lytle of Peterborough.

The installation of the company's plant is going on under the direction of a telephone expert, and will be ready in a short time.

Mr. B. A. Lillie, local manager of the company, when seen to-day, said he expected the Lindsay branch would be opened in about two weeks. The people were very anxious for the phones, and they had already many subscribers.

REDUCING THE WAIST LINE IN BOTH SEXES

Men and women with heavy pendulous abdomens who wish to reduce them quickly and safely are usually advised to go in for certain tiresome twisting and bending exercises that, as a matter of fact, they should carefully avoid, as being dangerous rather than beneficial.

A far better plan is to use the following three simple household remedies, which can be obtained of any druggist at small cost, viz., 1-2 ounce Marmola, 3-4 ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, and 4 3-4 ounces Syrup Simplex. These are mixed together at home and taken a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime.

These three make a laxative that is not only perfectly harmless, but actually quite beneficial to the system, regulating the digestion, purifying the blood, and clearing the complexion of pimples and blotches. Its chief and surprising benefit is in the rapid, natural manner in which it reduces the fat person to the normal beautiful lines of a fine physique, it having been known to cause the reabsorption of as much as a pound of fat a day. Moreover, it does it symmetrically, so that no wrinkles or flabby skin are left behind. Strange to say, neither dieting nor exercise is advised when this simple home receipt is being used, for it will produce results independently of either, and so the patient is instructed to eat whatever he or she fancies, and is also permitted to take things easy.

The Sun Life of Canada

Has Had Another Year of Great Prosperity

From THE MONETARY TIMES)

New policies issued to the number of 12,429, an income premium of close upon $5,000,000, and a net surplus of $2,151,883 is the record of the Sun Life Company for last year. The large volume of new assurances is particularly gratifying in view of the prevailing financial conditions; as a matter of fact, over 4,000 more policies were applied for than were granted. The total amount in force on the books of the company is $111,136,694 under 83,401 policies. The total income last year was $6,249,288 and the assets $26,488,595. The profitable nature of the business enabled the company to pay dividends on a scale which has given great satisfaction, and which, it is believed, are not surpassed on this continent. The amount distributed was $422,950. After setting aside the full reserve, assuming only 3½ per cent. interest for all policies issued prior to December 31st, 1902, and but three per cent. for all those issued since, there remains an undivided surplus of $2,046,884 over all liabilities and capital stock. This is, indeed, a good showing.

DEPUTATION ABOUT HOSPITALS

Ask the Government for a Higher Grant —Under Old System It Has Decreased.

EXPENSES BECOME GREATER

Toronto, March 19.—The hospitals of Ontario were represented by a deputation about one hundred strongs which waited upon the Provincial Secretary and an umber of his colleagues yesterday to ask an increase in the Government grant. The Ministry was represented by Hon. Messrs Hanna, Matheson, Cochrane, and Reaume.

Ask Fifty Per Cent. Increase

There was formerly a lump sum voted to the hospitals by the Province, which was divided among these on a per capita basis. With the increasing number of hospitals and patients, the grant had fallen from 40 cents to 17 cents per patient. Therefore it was decided last session to make a flat grant to each hospital on the basis of 20 cents per patient. To-days deputation suggested an increase to say 30 cents or more. They were promised consideration.

Rev. Dr. McLeod of Barrie introduced the general subject of hospital need, remarking that there is no hospital in the world which is a self-sustaining institution.

How the Rate Dropped

He was followed by Mr. W. E. Rundle of Toronto, who headed the deputation. He remarked that during the past seven years the hospitals of the Province as a whole met expenditure for maintenance in only one year. He went on to say that in 1882 there were five sources of revenue, Government grants, municipal grants, revenue from patients, private donations, and revenue from investment. Comparing the years 1882, 1894 and 1907, the percentage of revenue received from these sources was as follows:

	1882.	1894.	1907.
Government	36	26	13
Municipal	18	21	17
Patients	16	19	53
Donations	20	27	13
Investments	10	7	4

Mr. Rundle added that the Succession Duties Act was originally intended to provide a revenue for hospitals and kindred institutions. Though succession duty is now, as Mr. Matheson pointed out, collected simply as a tax, the wealthy men of to-day are failing to provide for hospitals in their wills, contending that the succession duty on their estates will cover this need.

For New Ontario

Rev. G. S. Lebel of Sudbury appeared with Mr. C N Smith, M.P.P., to represent New Ontario. The Grey Nuns are in charge of most of the hospitals there, and labour under exceptional difficulties, said Dr. Lebel. In Sudbury hospital last year the lumbermen patients alone owed the hospital $2,200, for the bulk of them are unable to pay. In 250 townships there are only fourteen organized municipalities, so that municipal aid cannot be secured. Under these circumstances, Dr. Lebel asked that New Ontario receive special consideration.

Expense has Risen

Mr. C. W. Chown of Kingston pointed out that hospitals had done their best to meet increased municipal grants. Though the Government had raised their grant, still further assistance is necessary, as the cost of maintenance per patient has risen from 68 cents in 1882 to $1.16 at present.

Dr. Robertson of Ottawa, Mr. J. A. Hutchison of Brockville and Dr. Guest of St. Thomas followed. Dr. John Ferguson of the Western Hospital handed in a prepared statement of hospital needs.

Mr. Hanna's Reply

"I wish," said Mr. Hanna, "that more of my colleagues had been here, in order that you might have convinced them as completely as you have convinced me—" and thereupon the delegates applauded.

But Mr. Hanna had something up his sleeve. "Convince me," he went on, "that the succession duties belong to my department. If they were convinced of that, and would act on it, there would be no difficulty in granting your request."

Seriously, however, he said that the present grant did not measure the Government's good-will. All he could say was that the application did not come too late for consideration, as the supplementary estimates are yet to be brought down. It would come before the Cabinet and be discussed. Action would follow if the Ministry was as convinced as the deputation of the necessity for it. He said this not as a promise, but merely to intimate that the request did not come too late.

It is a pleasant, safe and effectual medicine for Coughs and Colds, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Pain in the Chest, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, Whooping Cough, Quinsy and all troubles of the Throat and Lungs.

A single dose will convince you that it will stop the cough, soothe the throat, and start you on the road to recovery.

Be sure and do not accept a substitute for Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. The genuine is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark, and the price 25 cents.

Miss C. M. Woodcock, Kinmount, Ont., writes: "For some time I suffered from a lingering cough. I was afraid it would turn to consumption, and, as I had tried many remedies and found no cure I asked my father to get me a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. When I had taken that bottle I was so much better I got three more, and I am now completely cured."

CANADA THROUGH A KIPLING EYE

Our Profound But Humourous Contempt For England Cut the Bard a Little —We are a Little Too Modest.

TO CUT THE PAINTER

The first of Rudyard Kipling's articles on his recent trip through Canada, appears in the current issue of Collier's Weekly. These articles are appearing simultaneously in the London Morning Post, and the brief summary of the article cabled yesterday by the C. A. P. created interest as to Kipling's exact words as to "cutting the painter," etc. Here is the extract:—

"It was an experience to move in the midst of a new contempt. One understands and accepts the bitter scorn of the Dutch; the hopeless anger of one's own race in South Africa is also part of the burden; but the Canadian's profound, sometimes humorous, often bewildered, always polite contempt of the England of to-day cuts a little. You see, that late unfashionable war was very real to Canada. She sent several men to it, and a thinly-populated country is apt to miss her dead more than a crowded one. When, from her point of view, they have died for no conceivable advantage, moral or material, her business instincts, or it may be mere animal love of her children, cause her to remember and resent quite a long time after the thing should be decently forgotten. I was shocked at the vehemence with which some men (and women) spoke of the affair.

Cutting the Painter

Some of them went so far as to discuss—on the ship and elsh where—whether England would stay in the family, or whether, as some eminent statesman was said to have asserted in private talk, she would cut the painter to save expense. One man argued, without any heat, that she would not so much break out of the Empire in one flurry, as politically send her children one by one to the nearest power that threatened her comfort; the sale in each case to be preceded by a steady blast of abuse of the chosen victim. He quoted—really these people have viciously long memories!—the five-year campaign of abuse against South Africa as a precedent, and a warning.

Canada's Calamities

At another place he writes: "Canada has in her time known calamity more serious than floods, frost, drought and fire—and has macadamized some stretches of her road toward nationhood with the broken hearts of two generations. That is why one can discuss with Canadians of the old stock matters which an Australian or New Zealander could no more understand than a healthy child understands death. Truly we are an odd family! Australia and New Zealand (the Maori War not counted) got everything for nothing. South Africa gave everything and got less than nothing. Canada has given and taken all along the line for nigh on three hundred years, and in some respects is the wisest, as she should be the happiest of us all. She seems to be curiously unconscious of her position in the Empire, perhaps because she has till lately been talked at, or down to, by her neighbors. You know how at any gathering of our men from all quarters it is tacitly conceded that Canada takes the lead in the Imperial game. To put it roughly, she saw the goal more than ten years ago, and has been working the ball toward it ever since. That is why her inaction at the last Imperial Conference made people who were interested in the play wonder why she, of all of us, chose to brigade herself with General Botha and to block the forward rush. I, too, asked that question of many. The answer was something like this: 'We saw that England wasn't taking anything just then. Why should we have laid ourselves open to be snubbed worse than we were? We sat still.' Quite reasonable—almost too convincing. There was really no need that Canada should have done other than she did—except that she was the Elder Sister, and more was expected of her. She is a little too modest."

Trip on the St. Lawrence

The trip up the St. Lawrence is described, and the approach to Quebec. The weather was bad.

"Then the autumn sun rose, and the man (a Quebecker) smiled. Personally and politically he said he loathed the city—but it was his.

"Well," he asked at last, "What do you think? Not so bad?"

"Oh, no. Not at all so bad." I answered, and it wasn't till much later that I realized that we had exchanged the countersign which runs clear round the Empire."

A TRIBUTE TO ST. PAUL'S CHOIR, ITS LEADER AND ITS SOLOIST

The March issue of "The Church Choir" published in Toronto contains an article on the choir of St. Paul's Presbyterian church of Peterborough accompanied by cuts of Mr. John Crane, the leader, Miss Helen Davies, soloist, and also of the choir and organ of the church. The article pays a tribute to both Mr. Crane and Miss Davies and is as follows:—

Among the choirs of the smaller cities of Ontario, few, if any have attained a better position than that of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, Peterborough. The organ shown, a three manual instrument, was recently installed by Messrs. Brechels and Matthews of Toronto, and is one of which the church may well be proud. It is tubular pneumatic throughout and supplied with all the most modern mechanical accessories. It is remarkably sweet in voicing, but at full strength carries an exceptionally large body of tone. The power is supplied by a Ross hydraulic motor of large size.

An opportunity was taken during the installation of the organ to move the choir gallery from its former position behind the pulpit to the position it now occupies. The change makes the choir virtually a part of the congregation proper, and as is readily seen, is conducive to much better congregational singing.

The choir numbers at its full strength, forty-two voices, the several parts being well balanced, and enjoys a high standing for its excellent musical services.

The progress of the choir is due in no small degree to the able leadership of Mr. John Crane, who has served in the dual capacity of organist and choirmaster for nearly fifteen years, and has in that time made a reputation for himself as a consistent worker, thorough musician and capable leader.

In connection with the choir may be mentioned the name of the soloist, Miss Helen Davies. Miss Davies, who has been with the choir for some years, has a reputation throughout the province, and even the Dominion having appeared as soloist with Dr. Albert Ham's National Chorus in Massey Hall. Her work with St. Paul's choir has made possible the production of many excellent choral numbers.

TWENTY CAR LOADS OF COAL

Unusual Freight Train at the C. P. R. Station.

Twenty cars of coal composed almost entirely a freight train at the C.P.R. station. The cars were all in a line and according to the cards the coal was from Black Rock, N.Y. The cars themselves were interesting, being of the very latest design and constructed entirely of iron, at least there was no wooden parts visible. They were Canadian Pacific cars and the capacity of each was marked at one hundred thousand pounds.

40,000 JOIN IN IMMENSE REVIVAL

Philadelphians are Enthusiastic Over "Simultaneous" Soul Saving Plan of Chapman-Alexander Meetings.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 16.—Simultaneously in twenty-two churches in Philadelphia Saturday night thousands of voices were raised in the same hymn; simultaneously the voice of the evangelist in charge was raised in prayer; simultaneously a mighty "amen" was uttered by some forty thousand persons.

It was the third day of the Chapman-Alexander revival, and the spirit of it has gripped deep on the religiously inclined of Philadelphia. The Rev. J Wilbur Chapman and Charles M. Alexander, evangelists, who mapped out the campaign, are delighted with the progress already made. Revivals of many sorts and under many leaders have been held in Philadelphia before, so these two workers hit upon the "simultaneous" plan to revive flagging interest.

Bethany church, long known as "Wanamaker's Church" and once unday the Rev. Mr. Chapman's charge, and where Rev. Robert Pogue, of St. Paul's, was once a minister, is the centre of the revivals, its large capacity — it accommodates 3,000 — making it a fitting headquarters. But in every section of the city a church has been picked out, an evangelist put in charge and the regular pastor is present to add regularity to the proceedings. The evangelists are gathered from all over the country and some of the best known in their chosen field are here.

HARD FOOD BEST FOR EGG PRODUCTION

Advice by Wilbur Bennett on the Feeding of Poultry.

In the last issue of the Canadian Dairyman, Wilbur Bennett, of North Monaghan, gives the following advice on the feeding of poultry:

In the feeding of poultry much depends on the size of the flock kept, and what is desired, eggs, or stock. For egg production on a large scale, and with the maximum amount of labour, there is nothing better than dry, or hopper feeding. Few other systems will give more profit, and keep the birds more hardy and vigorous.

My plan is to feed the whole grains such as wheat, corn, and buckwheat, in the litter, twice a day, after the birds have gone to roost, and at noon. This makes them take exercise, and keeps them out of mischief. About two quarts of grain to 50 hens at a feed, and a dry mash all days before them, gives them all that they require.

Many different mixtures are given for this dry mash. One that I use with success, is the following:—200 pounds bran, 100 pounds cornchop, 100 pounds low grade flour, 100 pounds gluten meal, the whole mixed well together, and kept in hoppers where the fowls can get at it at any time. They will not eat to excess of this kind of food, but are just as ready for their whole grain, and willing to scratch for it, as though they had had nothing since the last feed. I use a lot of green cut bone. Nothing tends more to make my poultry a success, than the meat food given in this form. I feed about 1-2 oz. a bird a day. Marigolds and green clover form fine vegetable food and are relished by the fowls very highly. The supply of water and grit, should be abundant, and clean.

One Prisoner Tried By Two Juries At The Same Time

Verdict of Guilty In Each Case and Thomas Brown of Winnipeg Gets Sentence of Seven Years.

PLAYED FLIM FLAM GAME

Winnipeg, March 18.—(Special.)—A most peculiar situation arose at the assize court yesterday in the trial of Thomas W Brown. He was charged with two offences, and two juries were engaged at one time, one jury considering the theft charge, while the other was hearing evidence on the charge of fraud. Brown was found guilty of stealing a coat from Frank Curry, and also of obtaining possession of a restaurant valued at $1,000 from Julius C Sly and giving him in payment a worthless cheque. He was sentenced to seven years imprisonment, the maximum penalty.

The prisoner admitted to the court that on Feb. 6, 1906, he was convicted of obtaining money under false pretences in the county court at Brandon. He denied, however, that he had been convicted of forgery in Brandon on Sept. 11, 1897, and this was not proven in court, as the crown abandoned the latter charge.

Deserts his Wife

Detective Stark said Brown served three years in the penitentiary for forgery, and after getting out advertised for a stenographer and was married to her in a few days by Rev. E G Chambers. A cheque given for the clergyman's fee was worthless. At this time Brown travelled under the name of Lindsay, and he deserted his wife the day after the marriage. In Elkhorn he bought a restaurant, sold it fraudulently and served two years at Stony Mountain for that offence. Brown had passed several bogus cheques, and tried to cash a cheque for $300 on the Bank of Montreal the day he was last arrested. Stark said the prisoner had gone under the names of Phillips, Howard, Edmonds, Cummings and Brown.

According to the evidence given in the second case Brown purchased a restaurant from Julius C Sly, at 143 Rupert street, on Feb. 1, and had charge of the place for a couple of days, during which time he took in the receipts. The purchase was made on Saturday and a cheque for $1,000 was given in payment after banking hours. The prisoner took in $21 on Sunday, and did not show up on Monday. When the cheque was presented there were no funds.

KATHRYN OSTERMAN

The appearance of Kathryn Osterman and her dashing sister Anna Belmont this season, as co-stars in "The Girl Who Looks Like Me," is not the first time these two handsome and gifted stars have played together. They were both stars in "What Happened to Johnes" when that comedy was originally produced and "Brown's In Town," which created oceans of laughter from Maine to California a few years ago. "The Girl Who Looks Like Me," will make merry at the Grand Opera House Monday, March 23rd.

Varied Programme At The Y. M. C. A. Debating Club

Many Subjects Discussed—Printing, Electricity, the Poet Milton and the Violin Among Them.

MANY USEFUL SUGGESTIONS

The regular meeting of the Y.M.C.A. Literary and Debating Club was held last night in their club rooms. The attendance was only fair, many of the members being unable to be present. The regular programme was to have been "A Night with the Authors," but this was cancelled, and an interesting and varied literary programme was introduced. Mr. G Hamon gave a very interesting address on the art of "Printing," dealing minutely with each step in this great art from its introduction into the world until the present day. Mr. Hamon gave a very interesting account of the various machines used in printing, and compared the ones of the present day with those of three hundred years ago, and gave a very detailed account of a printers life, its advantages and disadvantages.

Mr. Smedmore was next heard in an address on the wonderful science of "Electricity." Mr. Smedmore gave a very interesting account of the manner in which electricity was generated, its great advantage to man over steam, and defined clearly the manner in which various electrical machines are manufactured.

Mr. John Hardwick gave a very interesting essay on the life and works of the great poet, "Milton," describing clearly the life of this great man from infancy to the grave, and enumerating on several of the important events of his life and describing his chief works, and under what circumstances each was written.

Mr. Common's address on "The Violin," its early history and manufacture was one of the best addresses of the evening. Mr. Common, as well as being an expert player of the violin, has made a special study of this great musical instrument, and gave a very minute description of the process of manufacture and construction of this instrument, tracing its history from the early days down to the present time, and quoting many interesting facts connected with the violin.

A humorous reading by Mr. F. W. Simpson concluded the programme.

Mr. Hodgson, B.A., critic of the society, gave a very clear and concise criticism of the various speeches, enumerating the various points the speakers had endeavoured to show, and pointed out where points that might have been shown were omitted, and criticised the speeches in general, and gave many useful suggestions.

The meeting then adjourned to meet again in April, which will be the last meeting of the season for the club.

HORSE WAS KILLED IN BLACKSMITH SHOP

Threw Itself Against a Machine—Had to Be Shot.

Fenelon Falls, March 20.—(Special.)—An equine tragedy occurred on Monday forenoon about half past ten o'clock in Mr. Thos. Poulson's blacksmith shop, when a valuable mare belonging to Mr. Wm Robson, and used for delivery purposes, was shot as the result of an accident. Mrs. Robson sent the animal over to be shod, and as Mr. Poulson was shoeing her she jumped or started suddenly away from him, falling against a machine fastened on the wall, and used for upsetting tires. The fall broke one of her legs so badly, splintering the bone, that it was judged necessary to shoot her. Mr. Thos. Parker procured a 38 calibre revolver and put an end to her suffering. She was a spirited and intelligent animal, and having been owned by Mr. Robson since she was a colt, had become quite a pet of all the family.

FOR PROPOGATION OF THE LAYMEN'S MOVEMENT

Meeting to be Held of Church Representatives to Consider It.

At a meeting of a few friends of the Layman's missionary movement held a few days ago it was decided to call together a number of the representatives of the various Protestant churches of the city to consider the question as to whether any united action should be taken to promote the cause here. It has been suggested that this meeting take place at the Y.M.C.A. on the evening of Tuesday the 24th inst., and that each of the clergymen in the city should be asked to be present on that occasion and also to secure the presence of about three of his members most likely to be interested in the matter.

REAL ESTATE ACTIVE IN WINNIPEG

Much Building Going on Just Outside The City.

In touching on the real estate situation in Winnipeg the Free Press says: Building records all over the American continent show a decrease when compared with the corresponding dates of a year ago. Winnipeg also shows a decrease, but not one that can be considered serious. Up to March 11, 1907, there were 173 permits issued, and the approximate value of the buildings represented was $300,000. This year there have been 75 permits issued with an approximate value of $33,000. Last year the figures were swollen by a couple of large blocks, one of which was the Fairchild warehouse at $120,000. There is just as much building going on this year as last, but a great deal of it is located outside the city limits, where no record is obtainable.

GOOD GROWING WEATHER

When the new Scalp Antiseptic is Used

A good head of hair is as much a "crown of glory" for man as it is for woman, notwithstanding all the poetry on the subject applied to the female sex exclusively. In the season when fires bite, the bald-headed man can sympathize with the Egyptians who were so sorely plagued on account of the children of Israel. Why not try Newbro's Herpicide? Others have been benefitted and are loud in its praise. It cleanses the scalp, kills the germ at the root of the hair, and by keeping the scalp sweet, pure and wholesome, the hair is bound to grow as nature intended, regardless of the temperature. Try it and be convinced. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes—50 cents and $1.00. McDermid & Jury and the Market Drug Store, Special Agents.

A result long desired will be reached this year in the life of the woman whose birthdate is to-morrow. The unmarried will be courted.

There is danger in speculation in the twelvemonth for the man with this birthdate. Hazard not new fortunes on a single cast of the die.

The girl born to-morrow will be inclined to ignore counsel and other considerations and follow her own whims headlong. Wise guidance in childhood will prevail.

The boy born to-morrow will be quick, clever, generous and extravagant. A stiff course in the employ of others in early life will be of extraordinary benefit.

BIBLE STUDY AT GOSPEL HALL TO-MORROW NIGHT

There is a wide spread interest in Bible study at the present time, and especially over the question "Can a man once really born again ever be lost?" This was one of the questions left over from last Friday's Bible study in Gospel Hall, and it will be taken up first to-morrow night. All who have any interest in the question and its answer are cordially invited to attend the meeting and give in their answer and proof.—Com.

CONTRIBUTED TO BAND CONCERT IN PORT PERRY

Mr. F. Clarke There Last Night—The Attendance Was Large.

Mr. Clarke, jeweller, was in Port Perry last night and contributed to the band concert there in a banjo solo and also in a banjo and violin duet. The hall in which the concert was held was crowded to the doors, the programme being one of exceptional merit.

MOST SUPERB WINDOW DRESSING

Windows of Richard Hall & Son a Recognition of Spring Re-openings.

The windows of Richard Hall and Son's establishment are a striking recognition of the spirit of the spring millinery re-openings and as well a testimony to the good taste and artistic eye of Mr. H. C. McDonald, the firm's clever window dresser. The large window to the south has a background of green plush hanging in loose folds from brass rods. On each corner is a gold lattice containing a centre of oil paintings of spring scenes. The centre of the window is a representation of a lawn scene, the decorations being of apple blossom sprays, with pillars and imitation sandstone, designed and constructed by Mr. McDonald himself. The window contains a showing of linon fantaine, the newest Paris costume fabric.

The smaller window south of the entrance has a background of green velvet with a Louis XVI. mirror. It contains a two-toned forest green carpet touched up with a gold border in green, with a narrow band of golden green. Green silk draperies to match are shown.

The same green background is used in the north window. The design is the top is covered with artificial foliage, with the emblem in gold letters, "Spring Opening." An excellent showing of new spring suits is shown.

The interior of the establishment is appropriately decorated in spring garb for the millinery re-openings which take place to-day.

FOUR HUNDRED ANSWER THE ROLL CALL

Several Names Added to Membership of Murray Street Baptist Church.

The annual roll call of the congregation of Murray street Baptist church was held last evening. The Sunday school room was crowded and an interesting meeting was held. The pastor, Rev. J. R. Webb, occupied the chair and opened the meeting. About four hundred answered the roll call with verses of Scripture. Others out of the city sent contributions and messages. A substantial offering was taken. The congregation of Murray street church has steadily grown, and during the past year several names have been added to its membership.

Close Of Successful Ten-Days' Mission At St. John's Church

Largely Attended Services----Inspiring Addresses----Concluding Sermon By Rev. C. Ensor Sharpe, M.A.

External evidence, from the human point of view, indicates that the ten-days' mission, which closed at St. John's last night, was eminently successful. From the opening to the closing service, there was an increase of attendance, indicating an increasing popular interest. All the missioners assisting were men of zeal and earnestness, and presented the Gospel message in plain, simple and direct language, attended with earnestness and evident power. There has been aroused a deepened congregational interest in spiritual matters, and, as far as human judgment can be relied upon, there has been a deepening of the spiritual life of the members of the congregation, carelessness having been replaced by interest, and indifference giving way to earnestness, apparently more general than individual.

One of the largest congregations of the ten days mission series was present last night at the closing services in St. John's.

The service of Evensong was conducted by the rector, Rev. C. Ensor Sharpe of Toronto, the missioner, who has conducted the closing services of the mission, taking the lessons and giving the concluding address, which, in its simplicity and devotional directness, was in harmony with the excellent addresses which have marked the mission throughout.

The missioner, who chose no stated text, said that there was only one subject to speak of before the close of the mission, which would be remembered by some for a few days, by others for their whole lives, and by God through all eternity. He hoped that all the congregation would stand before the throne of God on the great day of account. It was to this end that the mission had been held—that God's message of forgiveness and peace had been proclaimed. He trusted that from the love of God all would resolve to do something to make them more worthy of the fellowship of Christ. Whatever good impressions derived from the services had led to good intentions, would be futile if not carried into the practice of our daily lives. As aid to this end, the missioner mentioned three things that were to be observed or avoided. Temptations would come from the body. Comfort of body, luxury of living and sensual pleasure could be bought at the price of the immortal soul. These three things could be pursued at the expense of the development of our higher natures. Hence the church appoints seasons for the mortification of the body, to teach us something of the life of noble poverty lived by our blessed Lord. Another danger to be avoided was pride in our own petty human knowledge which we often set against the great truths of divine revelation, and which tends to throw aside the cross of Christ and the solemn verities it represents. Pride, which rejects the faith and teaching of ages, the faith of our fathers, and lusts for something new and modern, something which "sounds so clever"—the cheap pride of a little superficial education which casts away what is, and has been, accepted by the greatest minds of the past or of the present age. Then the virtue of silence was to be cultivated. The missioner spoke sharply of the evil done by habits of thoughtless talk, saying thoughtless things of sacred things, which affect others injuriously; and as instance was related of a man dying in a London hospital of a loathsome disease, who traced his ruin to a foul story told by a friend. Christ gave an example of a noble silence. He was silent before Pilate, and silent upon the cross during his hours of agony. By imitating the example of our Lord we would be fitted for the service of praise in the presence of God.

HORSE FOUND DYING SATURDAY NIGHT IN THE PEN AT C. P. R.

By Dr. Ransom—Horse Lying in Slush and Filth—Was Shot by P. C. Newhall—John Duncan in Court This Morning.

THE CASE WAS DISMISSED

In the police court this morning John Duncan, the horse dealer, was charged with cruelty to animals. The case was not clearly proven against him and was dismissed.

Dr. Ransom, a veterinary surgeon and inspector at the Matthews packing house, said he saw a horse in the C.P.R. shipping pen lying in the mud, snow and filth, with the water of the round-house pouring down upon it. The horse was crippled and unable to rise. At 5 o'clock he saw this horse in the pen with a good many others, ready for shipment, and when he came back later it was lying down alone. He thought the horse was suffering from want of food, and said it would have been frozen to the ground by daylight. P. C. Newhall shot the horse, as the doctor thought that was the only thing to do. He said he tried to find the owner that night, and in telephoning the police he thought he was doing a humane act.

John Sherwood said that at 5 o'clock when the horse walked into the car it looked strong and healthy. Shortly afterwards the horse went down and the other horses began kicking it. Mr Duncan then ordered it to be taken out of the car, and after this was done witness left the grounds.

P. C. Meharry said Mr. Duncan came into the office station on Sunday to get the officer to shoot the horse, but he informed him the animal had been shot.

P. C. Newhall said he was called to the scene about 9 o'clock Saturday night. The horse was kicking around in the slush and filth. He saw the doctor examine the animal. The latter thought it wise to destroy the horse, and he did so.

Mr. D. Dodds, the next witness, said that the horse was still in the pen.

Mr. Duncan then went into the box and said he did not own the horse. He was helping his brother to load the horses, and this one appeared healthy. He came up town, and a boy came after him and said one of the horses was down. He had the horse pulled out and left in the pen, while the others went on to Montreal.

His Worship decided to dismiss the case as there were no acts of cruelty shown on the part of Mr. Duncan. He also ordered Duncan to see that the horse was taken out of the pen.

Three Local Youths Plead Guilty To Charges Of Theft

The court room was crowded this morning, when the three youths, Stanley McCabe, Joseph Reynolds and William Fallon, who were arrested some time ago on charges of theft, appeared before his Worship. Mr. R. E. Wood appeared for the Crown, Mr. F. D. Kerr appeared for Reynolds and Mr. G. Gordon represented the other boys.

The first charge read was against the trio for stealing several articles the property of Mr. R. M. Roy.

McCabe pleaded guilty as soon as the charge was read, but the other two wanted to go before a jury before they would plead. They finally pleaded guilty and elected to be tried summarily by his Worship.

William Fallon and Joseph Reynolds were then charged with stealing several articles from a yacht, the property of Mr. E. S. Clarry.

Fallon pleaded guilty to this charge through his counsel, but stated that Reynolds had nothing to do with it and the charge against the latter was dropped.

Mr. Wood asked to have the Doig case disposed of before sentencing the boys and this was granted.

Mr. F. D. Kerr, who appeared for the boy, had to leave the court and asked to address his Worship on his client's behalf. He said the boy was eighteen years of age and he had gone sadly astray. He appeared in court once before and his Worship dealt leniently with him. The boy's father had hoped that it would have proved a lesson, but apparently it did not. To send the lad to the Central Prison his ruin would be completed, and he asked to have him allowed out on suspended sentence, or at the most to be given a short term in gaol.

After the Doig case was disposed of, as recorded elsewhere, his Worship allowed the three boys to go to appear on Thursday week. He wanted to see how far the boys could be trusted.

FOR PROTECTION OF FORESTS

Annual Meetings are of Great Importance—Shall Canada Allow United States to Use Them Recklessly?

STOP WASTEFUL METHODS

The annual meetings of the Canadian Forestry Association are and should be very important events to all who are interested in the timber wealth of Canada. At these meetings are gathered together the most experienced foresters of the country, not only men of great theoretical knowledge of this subject, but also men of the most extensive and complete practical experience. They read papers and discuss questions of interest, and give expression to the very newest thought and the very latest discoveries in the science of forestry.

The meeting recently held by the association in Montreal, was quite up to the usual high standard of these annual gatherings. Many interesting and instructive papers were read by authorities in forestry, including Dr. Bell and Dr. Fernow, and much extremely useful discussion was engaged in. A very wide field was covered in these enquiries, and a great number of points were separately dealt with. There was, however, one fact brought out with greater and greater force as the sessions progressed, and that was the lack of proper data concerning the extent of Canada's timber resources, and the consequent need of obtaining this information with the least possible delay.

"The first requirements of Canadians just now with respect to their timberlands," said Dr. Fernow, of Toronto, one of the greatest living authorities on forestry, "is knowledge, and more knowledge, and still more knowledge. And the greater their understanding of the real situation to-day, the greater will be their alarm, and the greater will be their desire for active measures for the protection of their forests."

Again and again it was pointed out during the sessions that estimates of Canada's forest wealth had hitherto been altogether too optimistic; and that the tales of an inexhaustible supply of timber in the great northern forest belt stretching from Labrador to Yukon were nothing but childish folly. Explorers declared that in the first place this belt was by no means so well timbered as is generally supposed, the river banks being well wooded, but great part of the interior being covered with burned or barren lands without a vestige of commercially valuable lumber. Furthermore it was pointed out that the trees of this northern belt are of very much slower growth than in the forests to the south, spruce in some regions taking from 120 to 150 years to attain a growth which it reaches in the Province of Quebec in thirty years.

Without at all considering the inaccessibility of these northern forests—which would be a very great obstacle in the way of their exploitation—it is clear that Canadians are not justified in placing much reliance upon this northern supply of timber until more complete and reliable information is obtained regarding it. And it is also clear that Canadians cannot be too careful in their management of the timber they have close at hand. For this they have a very striking example on the story of American forestry methods and their consequences. Time was when the forests of the United States were incomparably richer than those of Canada. But wasteful and extravagant methods of exploitation have done their work, and now Americans are obliged to have recourse to Canada for their supply of wood. This is especially the case in the pulp industry, which draws one-third of its raw material from this country, and especially from the Province of Quebec.

What Canadians have to consider now is whether or not they will allow Americans to apply in this country the same methods which have had such disastrous results in the United States. Already similar results are being experienced in the eastern township and on the south shore of the St. Lawrence generally, and it is only a question of a short time before the available timber supply of the Province of Quebec will be largely consumed, without producing any adequate return to the country or its people.

LEGISLATION TO PREVENT DELAY

Mr. Borden's Bills to Make Bye-Elections Automatic.

TOO DRASTIC SAYS PREMIER

Vacancies Filled Within Reasonable Period—Would Only Cause Trouble—Raw Wool Imports Have Decreased—Day of Routine In the House of Commons—Several Measures Were Disposed Of.

Ottawa, March 19.—The House of Commons yesterday disposed of a large number of measures proposed by private members.

Several bills were read the second time, including the Election Act amendments of Claude Macdonell and A. O. Alcorn, and R. L. Borden's bill to provide for the automatic issue of writs for bye-elections.

Mr. Paterson informed Mr. Monk that $504,884 had been collected in customs duties on materials imported from the United States for the construction of the Quebec bridge.

Mr. Clements was informed by Mr. Paterson that Benjamin Pacaud had not been appointed to the customs staff at Windsor.

Raw Wool Importations.

The amounts of raw wool imported into Canada in 1905-6-7 were 7,617,211 pounds, 6,311,387 pounds, and 6,910,179 pounds. All of this, except 690 pounds, was entered free. Mr. Paterson informed Mr. Stanfield.

Mr. Armstrong was told by the Postmaster-General that claims made by daily papers for reimbursement on account of extra postage on papers had been compromised by allowing them a refund of three cents a pound. No complaints had been received from the Canadian Press Association regarding rates on weekly papers.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier told Mr. Armstrong that communications had been received by the Government from the Montreal Board of Trade and Harbor Commissioners with reference to the raising of the Quebec bridge, it being represented that the structure should be 190 feet above the water. The question had not been disposed of.

Mr. Fielding said in reply to Mr. Foster that the dredge Sir Wilfrid Laurier would be completed June 1, 1908, at a cost of $90,000. The Government did not advertise for tenders for the construction of the scow necessary for the work of the dredge, but asked the Collingwood Shipbuilding Co. and the Polson Iron Works of Toronto to tender for the work. The contract was awarded to the former at a cost of $34,000.

Mr. Foster also enquired as to the rental by the Government of the Canadian building owned by the Imperial Realty Co. Mr. Fielding said the amount paid for space in the building was $42,537 a year.

Automatic Bye-Elections.

R. L. Borden's bill to amend the House of Commons act by providing for automatic bye-elections was read a second time. The idea, he explained, was to prevent undue delay in issuing writs when vacancy occurs. The Prime Minister thought the proposal drastic. In the past vacancies had been filled within a reasonable period. He feared the bill might cause trouble and he cited two vacancies which occurred during the year previous to the general election of 1896, Bellechasse and Pontiac, when neither party, and he thought rightly, desired an election. Yet, had this law been in force bye-elections must have been held a short time before dissolution. He suggested that the bill be given a second reading and allowed to stand over to be considered with Mr. Aylesworth's Election Act amendments.

Mr. Borden demurred. The Prime Minister's objection could easily be removed by giving Parliament the power to control the issue of writs in case Parliament was soon to expire. Vacancies had not always been filled within a reasonable period. In St. James' Division of Montreal the vacancy covered a whole session, and in North Renfrew the late Ross Government delayed a bye-election eighteen months. The Ontario law, passed as a result of the Renfrew vacancy, was working satisfactorily. The bill was read a second time, as was also Mr. Alcorn's Election Act amendments. Both will be considered with Mr. Aylesworth's bill.

Compulsory Voting

Claude Macdonell's bill providing for compulsory voting received the same treatment, without discussion. E. M. Macdonald's bill to put the Intercolonial and Prince Edward Island Railways on the same footing as other railways in regard to liability to claims for damage by fire was also read a second time. It would be taken up with Mr. Graham's Railway Act amendments.

Dr. Barr moved the second reading of his bill to amend the Railway Act. It proposes to permit stringing of telephone, telegraph and electric wires under or over railway tracks on giving ten days' notice of intention to do so. The bill was read a second time.

Mr. Lavergne (Montmagny) secured a second reading for his bill to provide for the printing of notices in French and English on the I.C.R.

Mr. McCool's resolution for papers relating to the Georgian Bay Canal was further discussed and adopted.

When Mr. Blain's resolution calling for prohibition of the manufacture and sale of cigarettes was reached, Sir Wilfrid Laurier asked the mover if he proposed to go on.

Mr Blain said the resolution had been pretty well discussed; there had been a pretty general expression of opinion in its favor and he was prepared to press it to a vote.

Dr. Black (Nova Scotia) delivered a dissertation on the evils of cigarette-smoking. His argument was that, as the father smoked, so would the boy. Moreover, why should we say in what form the adult should use tobacco?

Mr. Gordon (Kent) favored the resolution and occupied only a minute in putting himself on record.

BUILDING WARSHIPS.

Lord Tweedmouth Defends Policy of British Government.

London, March 19—Speaking in the House of Lords last evening Lord Tweedmouth, First Lord of the Admiralty, defended the policy of the Government in refraining temporarily from laying down a large number of battleships and said that the construction of battleships just now partook largely of the nature of an experiment.

Great Britain's three vessels of the Temeraire type, he declared, were infinitely superior to the Dreadnought type and the three vessels of the St. Vincent type would be an improvement on the Temeraire type.

In the spring of 1911 Great Britain would have three squadrons of four ships each of the St. Vincent type. No power in the world would be able to assemble such a fleet of first-class battleships, Lord Tweedmouth declared, and he could almost say that a combination of all the powers of the world would not be able to put an equal squadron on the sea.

Irish Flag Offended.

Galveston, Texas, March 19.—When Capt. Moore of the British steamship Howthead of Belfast, Ireland, here for cargo, dressed ship Tuesday in honor of St. Patrick, he put the green emblem above the Stars and Stripes.

This violation of the United States law that requires the U.S. ensign always to be at the top when displayed in a United States port, was promptly called to the commander's attention by a Government inspector, but he bluffly refused to comply with the law.

Not until he received a formal demand from the United States collector of customs of this port, accompanied by a threat to call a gunboat into service unless the order of the flags was reversed, did the Irish skipper yield, and then only to haul down the American flag and leave the green one up.

He Stole the Razors.

Stratford, March 19.—Oliver Berry, convicted of stealing razors from Sebastian's barber shop on Monday night, was yesterday sentenced to six months in Central Prison. His home is at Parkhead Junction.

The home of Mrs. Sanderson, Erie street, was entered by burglars early yesterday morning and quite a sum of money and several valuable articles taken. Mrs. Sanderson heard the marauder in the house and courageously approached him, but he escaped.

A public inspection yesterday of several building revealed the Theatre Albert and Central school in an unsafe condition. The exits will be changed and improvements made in the doors, which now open inward.

Murdered His Cousin.

Olean, N.Y., March 19.—Chloe Hancock, 18 years of age, was shot and seriously wounded at her home in Washington street yesterday. Dacy Hill, 28 years old, her cousin, is under arrest.

Hill was a visitor at the Hancock home and had been very attentive to Chloe Hancock. Yesterday afternoon they had a quarrel over a trivial affair. Hill flew into a jealous rage, and, it is alleged, whipped out a revolver and began firing at the girl.

One bullet lodged in her left chest and another in her left hand. Her condition is critical.

Honored Their Memory.

Berlin, March 19.—The people of the east side of Berlin paid silent tribute yesterday to the memory of the revolutionists who were killed in the street fighting in this city in 1848.

An imposing crowd of sympathizers gathered at the graves of the dead men in Friedrichshain Park, which is now the centre of the east side district, and heaped them high with flowers and wreaths. The police had taken ample precautions to prevent any outbreak, but their services were not called for.

Rescuers Lost Lives.

Gloucester, Mass., March 19.—Three fishermen, Paul Williams, John Lawson and Alex. Landry, members of the crew of the Gloucester schooner, Fl[illegible] B. S[illegible], were lost off the Newfoundland coast two weeks ago while searching for a shipmate who has gone adrift.

Dr. Tin Commits Suicide.

Goderich, March 19. George Dunnin, 24 years of age, a resident of Goderich, committed suicide about 11 p.m. Tuesday night by taking carbolic acid. No reason has been given for his taking his life.

AN ATTEMPT TO CHECK BONUS EVIL

No Changes This Year in the Assessment Act.

SIXTEEN BILLS GO OVER

Mr. Downey Would Prohibit Municipal Councils Giving Bonuses—Proposed Pensions For School Teachers — Weight of Bread to Be Fixed—Mr. McNaught's Measure—Against the Automobile.

Toronto, March 19.—It was private members day in the Legislature yesterday and a good many bills were advanced a stage. The Prime Minister, Hon. Mr. Whitney, said it was the Government's intention at the next session to undertake a general revision of the Assessment Act, and on this understanding all the proposed amendments to it were withdrawn.

It was the last day for the introduction of private bills, and a shoal of them were forthcoming. Among the number was another automobile measure, that of Mr. Donald Sutherland (North Oxford.) It provides that drivers shall be licensed; that lights with an illumination of more than 25 yards must not be used; that cars must keep off all country roads between one and seven o'clock in the afternoon, except where county councils regulate to the contrary; that cars weighing over a ton are limited in speed to 10 miles an hour; that in all cases where horses are frightened and people injured they shall be entitled to secure damages against the owner of the motor.

Hon. Frank Cochrane, Minister of Lands and Mines introduced a Government measure to consolidate and amend the Mines Act. The bill is largely a re-arrangement by the Statutes Revision Commission. Only one change is noted. The close season between Nov. 15 and April 15, on which no work was required to be done on locations, has been abolished. The Government is of opinion that if discovery work can be done in the winter claims can also be worked on. The procedure of "snow-staking" and its resultant frauds are aimed at.

Mr. May (Ottawa) submitted a bill to amend the Public Schools Act by providing for the pensioning of public school teachers, inspectors and other school officials who have served more than 20 years on an annual allowance not exceeding the salary received at the time of retiring. In lieu of such a gratuity might be given under the amendment. Another clause of Mr. May's bill provides for the payment by urban school boards of salaries, repairs, furnishings, fuel, light, text books, stationery, insurance and miscellaneous expenses including the traveling expenses of the trustees and officers of the boards when traveling on business authorized by the boards.

Mr. J. P. Downey (Wellington) moved the second reading of his bill to amend the Municipal Act to prohibit bonusing by municipal councils. Mr. Downey dwelt upon the many burdens of the bonus evils. He cited cases where towns had been held-up by bonus-hunters, expecting to get wealthy, self-sustaining, industrial enterprises. He also alluded to the numbers of unwise private bills with bonus privileges that had to be dealt with from time to time.

The Prime Minister did not concur in the principle of the bill. He thought it was not right for one municipality to say what another should do with its funds, but in so saying he was speaking only as an individual. He was inclined to think that throughout the province sentiment was in favor of the bill and if the House approved it, it should pass.

An interesting situation followed in the discussion of the measure. Hon. Mr. Hanna said that while the Prime Minister as a private opinion was opposed to the bill, he was in favor of it. He thought something should be done to check existing evils.

Mr. Hoyle (North Ontario) and Mr. Lucas (Grey) opposed and Mr. McNaught (North Toronto) championed the measure. Mr. McCoig (West Kent) commended Mr. Whitney's position.

The bill passed its second reading and was referred to the Municipal Committee.

Mr. McElroy (Carleton) secured an order of the House for a return, showing: 1. How many persons have received permanent professional certificates under authority of either sections 2, 3, or 4 of chapter 52 of the statutes of Ontario, passed in 1907. 2. Their names. 3. Under which section they have qualified, and. 4. How many persons have notified the Minister of Education, in writing, of their intention to comply with the provisions of either section 6, or section 7 of chapter 52 of the statutes of Ontario, passed in 1907. 5. What were the names and addresses of those who applied under each section.

Mr. Pense (Kingston) moved the second reading of his bill seeking to restore a privilege removed from the Municipal Act in 1901, that of each council having a right to control the manufacture and sale of bread, the chief staff of life. The argument used in 1901 was that the increase in price of flour would involve a rise in bread above the convenient price of five cents, handy change. The bill then gave the privilege to all bakers in the province to bake bread of any weight provided it was labelled with the correct weight. Mr. Pense's measure took account of the strong call for the restoration of the two and four pound loaf. The question, he said, was one of local control against an arbitrary provincial standard.

The bill got its reading.

FATAL DUEL FOUGHT IN RUSSIA

Stoessel's Enemy Is Mortally Wounded by General Fock.

GENERAL SMIRNOFF WILL DIE

Officers Met In Riding School—Used Pistols at Close Range—Fock's Coat Was Perforated—Latter Resented Imputations on His Honor In Connection With the Siege of the Port Arthur Fortress.

St. Petersburg, March 19.—Lieut.-Gen. Smirnoff was probably fatally wounded in a duel fought here yesterday morning with Lieut.-Gen. Fock. The men met in the riding school of the Chevalier Guard Regiment and fought with pistols at short range.

The riding school was placed at the disposition of the combatants by the commander of the regiment, and the duel occurred with the full knowledge and approbation of the military authorities. It was witnessed by a number of officers of high rank, and it is even reported that several women were present.

Shortly before ten o'clock Gen. Fock and Smirnoff appeared at the riding school. Without saluting they took their places and assigned their seconds. For Gen. Smirnoff, the seconds were his brother-in-law, Vladimir M. Purishkevitch, a member of the Douma, and Capt. Schultz of the navy, while for Gen. Fock, Capt. Sido, adjutant to Gen Stoessel, and Lieut. Podgursky, one of the Port Arthur heroes, officiated in this capacity. The distance between the two combatants was twenty paces, and the duelists were instructed to open fire at the word of command and continue until one or the other was hit. At Gen. Fock's fourth shot, Gen. Smirnoff groaned and sank forward. He had been wounded in the abdomen above the right hip. He was carried in a litter to the military hospital, where doctors examined him by means of Roentgen rays to locate the bullet.

The word "fire" was given each time by Gen. Kireieff, the Russian authority on duelling. At the second exchange Gen. Fock's coat was perforated. At the third exchange Gen. Smirnoff accidentally fired prematurely, but Gen. Fock magnanimously declined to shoot at a defenceless opponent, and the fourth and final shots were then exchanged.

This duel will be followed by another between Gen. Fock and Gen. Gorbatoffsky, the commander of the western front at Port Arthur, who was severely criticized by Gen. Fock during the court-martial proceedings. Gen. Gorbatoffsky sent seconds some time ago to Gen. Fock, but he failed to secure permission to fight a duel.

One Stamp For Tobacco.

Ottawa, March 19.—It may interest cigar consumers to learn that after the new inland revenue regulations outlined by Mr. Fielding in his budget speech shall have gone into effect, it will be no longer possible for them to distinguish by the color of the stamp upon the box the origin of their smoke.

Under the regulations at present existing a man knows when he sees the blue label on the box that the contents are imported cigars. The black label denotes cigars manufactured in Canada from imported leaf, while the green stamp denotes a cigar made in Canada from "Tabac Canadien."

When the new rule comes into force there will be but one stamp in use, to wit, a black stamp. This will mean that when the new regulations come into effect the cigar smoker will have to depend upon his expert knowledge of the smoking qualities of the weed or trust to his dealers.

NINETY DEATHS

Bear Silent Witness to the Ravages of Kidney Disease.

An alarming fact—but statistics show that in post mortem examinations as to death from all cases, that in over 90 per cent. of such cases kidney disease is present. This almost incredible statement is borne out by years of comparison by most eminent medical men. A warning to humanity that the percentage of those not cursed with kidney taint is very small. South American Kidney Cure relieves in six hours—is nature's preventive—clears the clogged parts—heals and permanently cures. (8)

Successful Opening At New Bowling Alleys Last Night

Brunswick-Balke-Collender Team of Toronto Defeated the Local Merchants in a Splendid Game —Mayor Rush and Other Well Known Citizens Rolled the First Balls.

EXAMINER BEAT THE REVIEW

The formal opening of the Peterborough Bowling Club's new alleys in the old opera house last night and was a most successful affair, which explains Secretary-Treasurer J. B. Hay's broad smile to-day. A big crowd of citizens were present and seemed to heartily enjoy the games while the handsome equipment of the new alley was the subject of much favourable comment. There are few more complete or more accurate alleys in Canada than those that are now at the disposal of the local bowlers, and the pastime promises to flourish in Peterborough. The alleys are perfectly level and almost noiseless, while the pins and balls as near perfection as human skill can make them.

The alleys were formally opened by Mayor Rush, Ald. Phelan and Messrs. Dreskon Davidson, W. H. Denham, G. W. Hatton and F. B. Dixon, who rolled a ball down each of the alleys simultaneously.

The feature of the evening was the appearance here of the Brunswick Balke Callender Company's team, of Toronto, one of the strongest teams in the Queen City, who were booked up against the Peterborough merchants team. The visitors proved too strong for the locals, winning out by a score of 2,657 pins to 2,565, a majority of 92. The Toronto bowlers won two of their games but the locals considering their lack of practice, did remarkably good rolling and the games were warmly contested. W. Adams, of the visitors, was high man for the night, rolling the very respectable score of 581. Fletcher was second, with 560, and Charlie Frost, of the locals, was third, just one pin behind the Toronto man. The rolling was remarkably good, considering that the alleys were new to every one. Following are the figures:

B. B. C. Co., Toronto.

W. Adams	181	192	208	581
Fletcher	192	167	201	560
Whaley	161	148	187	496

Merchants, Peterborough.

C. E. Frost	184	177	198	559
T. T. Boyd	145	141	179	465
Henstead	167	165	188	520
W. Waram	125	150	231	506
McIlroy	172	172	191	535
	793	805	918	2565

Majority for B. B. C. Co., 92 pins.

The Review bowling team which met the Examiner five last night on alleys 3 and 4 encountered the same treatment as the Tory hockey seven going down to defeat in two games by 96 pins. Manager MacRae's aggregation were never in the running, or rather the rolling, and their decisive beating was a big surprise to the team who looked upon the game as an easy means for obtaining revenge for the hockey defeat, but their hopes were soon scattered, as were the pins when the Examiner trundlers began to perform. Harry Lacheur, of the Examiner, was the top scorer with 267 and Huston was second with 258. MacRae was the Review's best performer. The score was:

Examiner.

Lacheur	123	144	267

Burridge	75	124	199
Clarke	91	90	181

Majority for Examiner, 96.

Strikes and Spares

"Bill" Waram's score of 231 in the third game was the highest single score of the night, and is not likely to be beaten for some time on the local alleys. Waram struck his gait in the last game, and he certainly created havoc among the timber.

The visitors were royally entertained by the local bowlers and apparently enjoyed their visit immensely. They have extended an invitation to the local bowlers to visit them in Toronto, and the locals will likely go in the near future.

The B. B. C. team is rolling a game this afternoon with a local team.

The Grafters wish to challenge the Knockers to a bowling game on the Peterborough Bowling Club's alleys as soon as possible.

KARNOTS BEAT ROUGH RIDERS IN ROUGHEST GAME OF THE YEAR

In the roughest and most bitterly fought game of the season last night at the Brock street rink, the Karnots won the Intermediate championship of the season by defeating the Rough Riders, by the score of 4 goals to 1. At half time the teams were on an even footing, each having scored one goal, but the Karnots had considerably the better of the play after the rub down period and succeeded in scoring three goals, while the Rough Riders failed to score. It was never good hockey at any stage of the game. From the first face off the players went at each other hammer and tongs, and they never let up for a minute, in fact a lively scrap was going on when the final bell sounded. Tripping, slashing and cross checking were the favourite methods of stopping the men with the rubber and about every time a player ran into an opponent there was a fight. If there was one there were a dozen set-tos and referee Craig had his hands full in trying to preserve law and order. No less than twenty-one penalties were handed out, most of them for four minutes each, but the players continued to mix it up until the finish.

Under such conditions good hockey was almost an impossibility and the playing was for the most part of an individual nature, combination being out of the question, owing to the close hard checking. Karnots had about as much the better of the play as the score would indicate, and their victory was earned, although one of their goals was of a fluky nature, the puck glancing into the nets off somebody's skate. It was seldom that the Rough Riders got inside the winner's defence, Wade and Faux putting up an effective game, although marred by rough play. The Riders' forward line was outplayed by the advance guard of the Karnots and had it not been for the excellent work of their defence the score would have been larger.

Ray was the fastest man on the ice, tearing loose with a number of pretty individual rushes that kept the play in the Rough Riders' territory. Short also played pretty hockey in centre and Geale and Conroy, on the wings, did good work. Campbell was by far the most effective of the Rough Riders, getting away with a number of pretty rushes that, with some support on the part of his forwards, would have resulted in scores. Cahill was effective in his defence work, and Len Giroux played a good game in goal. The forwards were closely checked and got few opportunities to break away.

The Karnots scored first inside a few minutes of the start, Ray doing the trick after a rush. Rough Riders came back with the tieing goal a few minutes afterwards, and thus the score remained until half time. There was a change in the second half, when the Karnots forced the play. Conroy made it 2—1 on a shot from a scrimmage and Ray followed it up with another score. Before time was called Short increased the lead to three and the score at the finish was 4—1.

The teams were as follows:

Karnots	Rough Riders
Goal
McFadden	L. Giroux
Point
Faux	Cahill
Cover Point
Wade	Campbell
Rover
Ray	Hayes
Centre
Short	C. Giroux
Right Wing
Geale	Porter
Left Wing
Conroy	Waram

Referee—F. D. Craig.

The only men on both teams outside of the goal keepers, who were not penalized, were Short, of the Karnots, and Waram, of the Rough Riders. Eleven Rough Riders and ten Karnots adorned the fence. Following is the penalty list:

Rough Riders—Porter, 14 minutes; Campbell, 6 minutes; C. Giroux, 2 minutes; Hayes, 6 minutes; Cahill, 4 minutes; total, 32 minutes.

Karnots—Geale, 2 minutes; Faux, 6 minutes; Conroy, 4 minutes; Wade 10 minutes; Ray, 8 minutes; total 30 minutes.

Suffered From Heart and Nerve Troubles FOR THE Last Ten Years.

The heart has supplied to it two sets of nerves, one set which quickens, the other which slows its action. The proper action of these nerves, so important to the well-being of the heart, depends upon the general condition of the nervous system. If there be nerve derangement of any kind it is bound to produce all the various phenomena of heart derangement.

Knowing the intricate structure of the heart, and being aware how diseases of the nerves affect the heart, we have combined in Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a treatment that will cure all forms of nervous disorders as well as act on the heart itself, and in this is the secret of their success in curing so many cases of heart trouble which have defied all other treatment.

Mrs. John Riley, Down, Ont., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from heart and nerve troubles for the last ten years. After trying many remedies and doctoring for two years, without the least benefit, I decided to give Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a trial. I am thankful to say that, after using nine boxes, I am entirely cured, and would recommend them to all sufferers."

Price 50c. per box or three for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

AERIAL MEN FINISHED THE VICTORS

Put the Underground Men Up In The Air In Bowling Game.

A very interesting game was played between seven and nine o'clock at the Majestic bowling alleys last night between the Bell Telephone underground men and the aerial men. The game was exciting all through the aerial men having the best of the play, winning by 150 pins. For the underground men Cross and H. H. Leitch and the aerial men Grey and Deacon played the best game. Mr. Guerin og the aerial gang gavea cup which was presented to the winning team by Mr. J. Curzon. Mr. L. Sprodt on the foul line did effective work, while Mr. T. Hefferman handled the score card.

The aerial men have gone to Waterloo and the ambitious bowlers of Seagramville had better watch out.

REACH'S NEW BASEBALL GUIDE

Useful Publication is Crammed Full of Baseball Intelligence.

The Examiner has received an advance copy of Reach's Official American League Guide for 1908, published by the A. J. Reach Company of Philadelphia, and edited by Mr. Francis C. Richter, of Sporting Life, which is, as usual, first in the field, thus making it the harbinger of the baseball season. It can be said without qualification that, excellent as all of the editions of the Reach Guide have been in recent years, the 1908 Reach Guide is the best hand book of the kind ever issued by this or any other publisher. The special distinction of the 1908 Guide is, next to the text, the superior quality of paper used and fine number and beauty of the engravings furnished, the world's championship series being specially well dowered with splendid action pictures. The American League Guide is in all respects a first-class hand book of the national game and a decided credit to the American League and to the publishers, the Reach Company. This is the seventh annual issue of the Reach Guide as the official hand book of the American League, and the twenty-sixth consecutive year of its publication as a book of record and references for the entire baseball world.

The Guide gives a complete review of the seasons of the American and National Leagues, as well as the record and averages of no less than 33 minor leagues. The world's championship series is made the great special feature of the Guide, and in addition to the official account and averages of the games, there is a series of illuminating action pictures and remarkable half-tone photographs of the greatest world's championship series yet played. The complete playing rules are given, in fact, everything of interest or value either of record or reference will be found within the covers of this great book.

THE HOCKEY ASSAULT CHARGE

Randall Will Appear Before Magistrate Jackson of Lindsay To-morrow.

The assault charged preferred by Edward Swatter of the Midland hockey team against Kenneth Randall will be heard by Magistrate Jackson of Lindsay to-morrow afternoon. The case is attracting considerable attention locally, not only because both parties are well known here, but because of the fact that five local men who saw the game have been subpoenaed to appear and give evidence in the matter. The alleged assault took place in the game between Lindsay Midland on Friday, February 21, and the Midland man had one eye badly injured as a result.

HIBERNIANS OBJECT TO POST CARDS

Will Likely Ask Government to Bar Them From the Mails.

The Toronto Divisions of the A. O. H. have strongly objected to what is claimed to be a libel on the Irish race. It is stated that postcards, bearing caricatures, something of the order of the "stage Irishman," which was so prevalent some years ago, are being offered for sale. It is likely that on the recommendation of the Divisions, the Dominion organization will bring the matter before the Dominion Government, with the request that such objectionable matter be barred from the mails. It is also probable that the patronage of the members may be withheld from the merchants who sell the cards.—Catholic Register.

THE IRISH DRAMA WAS A SUCCESS

Was Well Patronized and Presented at Ennismore.

More than 500 were in attendance, not only from Ennismore Township, but also from Downeyville, Young's Point, Harvey, and even Hastings. The musical portion of the programme was also of a splendid and appreciated character. Rev. Father McGuire, of Downeyville, acted as chairman and delivered an able and interesting address on Ireland. A fuller report of the drama will appear later.

MISSING MAN COMES BACK TO CAMP

Little News About the Shooting—Disappeared After the Affair.

Examiner Special.

Warsaw, March 20.—According to the statements made by Mr. Jas. Dwyer, who arrived in the village here yesterday from Lynch & Ryan's lumber camp, Thomas Newell, the lost man, has returned. After meeting with the mishap some days ago at the canal at White Lake he disappeared but has again returned. Little news could be gleaned, however, of the exact nature of the affair in which he is said to have been shot in the leg.

A METEOR FELL NEAR BOAT

Crew of Steamer Ocean Witnessed a Strange Sight.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 20.—Barely escaping destruction by a meteor weighing many tons, the midocean, the Dutch steamship Ocean, which arrived here Tuesday, was almost enveloped by huge waves following the disappearance of the aerolite into the sea, according to Captain Benkert. Immediately after the meteor struck the sea the impact caused huge waves to sweep over the vessel.

Many of the crew became ill from the effects of the gas, which Captain Benkert declares would have asphyxiated them had they not sought shelter below decks. Then followed, according to Captain Benkert, a show of blazing meteors which began to fall about the vessel, the phenomena lasting several minutes.

AN ATTRACTIVE WINDOW DISPLAY

Mahogany Drawing Room Suite in the Window of United Agency Company

A drawing room handsomely furnished is something to be admired and many are admiring the window display of this nature presented by the United Agency Company in E. B. Clegg's old stand. With a beautiful mantel in the background, a handsome Karn piano, Louis Quinze style, a tall clock and attractive chairs and book case, the display deserves a great deal more than a passing consideration. The mahogany drawing room suite is attracting considerable attention and it certainly reflects credit on the designer and the quality of goods the United Agency Company are offering for sale.

The interior of the store is also very attractively arranged and is being much admired.

REAL ESTATE MEN HOLD MEETING

Strong Committee Will Form a Permanent Organization in Toronto.

Toronto, March 20.—A well attended and thoroughly representative meeting of the real estate agents of the city was held last night in the Mail and Empire building, when the first step towards the formation of a Real Estate Association was taken. A resolution affirming the advantages to be derived from such an organization as an influence in civic affairs, and as a bond of union between the realty brokers of the city was passed, and a strong committee was appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws to be submitted to a general meeting, which will be held in two weeks.

TAME DEER STRUCK BY LIGHT ENGINE ON THE C. P. R.; HURLED INTO THE AIR AND WAS KILLED

Belonged to Mr. John Brown, Reeve of North Monaghan—Killed Three Miles West of Peterborough Yesterday.

IT WAS CAPTURED YOUNG

A tame deer belonging to Mr. John Brown, Reeve of North Monaghan, was struck by a light engine on the C.P.R. about three miles west of the city yesterday afternoon and instantly killed. The animal had strayed from Mr. Brown's farm and crossing the fields reached the track. The fences offered no obstruction as the snow drifts were on a level with the tops and the deer easily reached the railway.

It had been on the track for some time during the afternoon and finally a light engine going west struck it, hurled it about ten feet in the air and after dragging it along for some distance when it had fallen, finally dropped it on one side, mangled and lifeless.

The deer was as domesticated as any of the other animals about the farm. Mr. Brown had received it from his brother who had got it when young in the back woods. It was as fleet as its storied progenitors from the unsettled regions and possessed most of the characteristics of its uncivilized brothers. For some time it had been noticed by the section men almost daily and it was accustomed to following their handcar.

However the pet ran its last course yesterday when it endeavored to keep in the lead of the engine but was soon overtaken and hurled to the happy hunting grounds there to roam among the countless herds of its ancestors.

Whitney Moves Lakefield Into Another Riding

Redistribution Question Up In Legislature To-day---No Changes In Many.

MENTION OF PETERBORO

Examiner Special.

Toronto, March 20.—The special redistribution committee of the Legislature met this morning when Premier Whitney let in additional light as to the Government's plans. A large number of constituencies will remain unchanged. The ridings marked "unchanged" are East and West Victoria, North and South Waterloo, North and South Wentworth, Addington, Lennox, Frontenac, Kingston, Hamilton, East and West Durham, North and South Norfolk, North and South Ontario, North and South Oxford and North and South Renfrew. Regarding Addington, Lennox, and Frontenac, Premier Whitney remarked this morning that after the next census a re-arrangement would be needed, but they would be allowed to stand as at present.

The Premier did not care to say anything at present regarding Grey, Hastings, Huron, Kent, Lambton, or Lanark. A change was hinted at in Northumberland. Mention of Peterborough was made, and the Premier remarked that the village of Lakefield would be moved from one riding to another. Four new ridings will be created in New Ontario.

VENERABLE COUPLE PASS AWAY AND LAID IN THE GRAVE TOGETHER

Tweed, March 20.(—Special) — A sad affair has occurred at Denbigh, Ont., where the remains of John Dool and of his faithful life partner, Mrs. Sarah Dool, were bedded for their last resting place in one grave. Mr. Dool had been poorly and suffering from general debility for some months, but became worse lately, and passed peacefully and quietly away last Monday at the ripe old age of nearly 94 years. Mrs. Dool was comparatively well and able to do most of her housework until a few weeks ago, when she also succumbed. Her enfeebled condition was aggravated by an attack of acute bronchitis, and after several days of intense suffering she followed her husband, with whom she had shared joys and sorrows for about 64 years, on Wednesday morning last, being then nearly 87 years of age. The funeral, which was attended by an unusually large number of sympathizing friends, took place at the Methodist church and cemetery on Thursday afternoon, the services being conducted by the Rev. Mr. Huyck. The departed were both born in Ireland, but came to Canada when quite young. They lived about 40 years in Denbigh township, being widely known and enjoying the esteem and respect of all who knew them. Their departure is mourned by three sons and three daughters, numerous grand-children and several great grandchildren.

CLOSE OF GRAND LODGE SESSION OF ORANGE ORDER IN PORT HOPE

The Peterborough representatives of the Grand Lodge of Eastern Ontario which has been in session in Port Hope since Wednesday returned home this morning. They were Mr. Jos. Batten, Past County Master; Mr. Wiley, Master of No. 80 Diamond Lodge; W. G. Bartley, County Financial Secretary; A. R. Robson, District Master of No. 457, Nassau Lodge. The first three members represented Diamond Lodge No. 80.

The closing session last night was held in the Orange Hall, Port Hope. In all there were about 200 delegates.

Among those present were Grand Master Boyce, Col. John Hughes, Deputy Junior Grand Master of Newtonville; J H Devitt, M.P.P., West Durham; Dr. Sproule, Provincial Grand Sovereign, and Colonel Sam Hughes.

A despatch from Port Hope says: At yesterday's session of the Grand Orange Lodge of Eastern Ontario, the prevalence of Separate schools in the counties of Prescott and Russell was referred to in the report of the Legislation Committee, and it was stated that two trustees in the township of Cumberland could neither read nor write. In several municipalities the proceedings were conducted in French.

On motion of Grand Master Munroe of Cornwall, a resolution was passed that legislation be secured providing that all members of Public and Separate School Boards be able to read and write, and that all the proceedings be conducted in the English language.

A suggestion was made that the Legislature make a grant to the Public Schools in any one section equal to that paid to the Separate Schools.

"Trimmest Corps Band In Canada" When New Tunics Are Received

When the Salvation Army Band appears with all its musicians dressed in brand new tunics the opinion is that it will be one of the trimmest corps bands in Canada. The men were measured some time ago and last night they arrived to be fitted. They are made by the Army which supplies everything that any of the corps require. They were found in almost every case to be a good fit and were taken back to Toronto for completion.

The tunics are still untrimmed and the question at issue is whether white braid or black will be used. Some prefer the one, while many like the dark colour. The matter will be decided at a meeting next Tuesday night.

SUGAR SOARS AGAIN IN PRICE; UP 20 CENTS IN TWO DAYS

Sugar is again soaring in price, making more unwelcome news for the housewife. In fact, the rapidity of the advance is beginning to be of a rather startling nature. On Thursday the wholesale price to the retailers went up ten cents per cwt., and to-day this was repeated, making an advance of twenty cents in two days. This means that during the past month the sweet stuff went up fifty cents per cwt., and a corresponding advance has been or will be made by the retailer. It will take the form of a less number of pounds for twenty-five cents or one dollar, as the case may be.

The cause of this is an the Fountain-head—Cuba. The estimated production of the raw material there was 1,200,000 tons, but the exact quantity has fallen short of this mark by at least 150,000 tons.

LOSS OF MONEY SCARED KINMOUNT MAN

Lost a Valuable Endorsed Cheque on the Train—He Was Fortunate.

Lindsay, March 20.—Last night one of the passengers on the Kinmount train carelessly left an endorsed cheque for $200 on the seat when he got off at his station. He missed it before long, but the train had gone on.

Chief of Police Vincent was immediately wired, and the banks warned not to cash it. This morning a railway employee came across it when going through the train and the owner was notified. It is pretty safe betting that there is one man who will be careful how he handles his papers and money in future.

MARCH-HARE HALLUCINATIONS

Our local contemporary, the Review, is getting bold. In yesterday's issue it reprints an article from the Globe dealing with the Dominion budget; not that it approves of the article, but apparently in order to show how easily it can crush the Globe and pulverize its arguments. The Globe is able to take care of itself under ordinary conditions, but when it becomes subject to an attack from so redoubtable a foe, it needs the support of all its friends, and the Examiner may venture to supply a very little, which may be of some use on the same principle that the mouse of the fable was able to give a little help to the lion.

The first fact of the Globe the Review pounces upon is the fact that since the Liberal Government came into power the net debt has decreased some $8 per head of population—from $50.89 in 1897 to $42.84 at the present time. The way the Globe is beaten to a standstill and covered with confusion in this regard is such a powerful piece of logic, such cogent reasoning, that the effort is reproduced in full. This is how the Solon of the Review airily sweeps away the contention contained in the statement of the decrease of debt per head. It says:

"Let us see to what we refer. The debt per head has decreased from $50.89 to $42.84. If the Conservative administration had filled this land full of unemployed, comprising Jews, Galicians, Doukhobors, Hungarians, Syrians, Roumanians, Italians, Sicilians, Bulgarians, Montenegrins, workshy people from other European countries, and Oriental coolies from India, China, Japan, Italy, Korea, Farther India, Beloochistan, Fiji, and the like, the debt per head would have been less than the triumphant record to which the Globe points." "The idea," as Mr. Caudle would say, "of calling that a reduction of the debt per head!" "Another good, or rather, equally good plan would be to run excursions to Canada from those outside countries, and when they have come, to divide up the debt at so much per head. A bad argument is much worse than none."

This brilliant argument is all right with the exception that it is all wrong—it is not founded upon fact. The inference sought to be suggested is that the bulk of the increased population of Canada is composed chiefly of the schoolboy list of nationalities given in the above excerpt. Since 1897 the immigration from the British Isles and the United States has, on the average, exceeded all the other nationalities combined. Since 1902, the Scotch and English immigration into Canada has constituted sixty per cent. of the total, including those from the United States. It is, therefore, idle to say that the population gained by immigration is composed of the classes which the Review mentions. Canada is recognized as the most desirable country in the world for British immigration. In 1906 the British immigration to Canada numbered 91,263; to the United States, 85,941; to Australia, 9,920; to the Cape, 3,160. What would the Review have? With Canada's countless acres waiting for settlement, would it, the representative of a party that claims a monopoly of British loyalty, have Canada shut the door in the face to our fellow subjects of the British Isles who wish to make homes in Canada? The Review must get some better reason for accounting for a decrease of the public debt per head than the influx of heathen nations, which exists only in its own demagogic imagination.

Another gem from the Review, showing what a broad, statesmanlike view it takes of national enterprise. It thus refers to the $127,000,000 spent on capital account—in providing the equipment necessary for national development—since the Liberal Government came into power. It says:

"This amount represents the penalty paid by Canada for its increase in trade, which, though small in comparison with the proportionate increase of trade of other countries, yet furnished a source of supply to an extravagant administration such as few have enjoyed."

This is March-hare madness. The fact is that no country in the world has enjoyed so tremendous an increase of trade as Canada has done under a Liberal Government. In the last ten years of Conservative rule the trade increase of Canada amounted in all to about twenty-one millions of dollars. In the ten years of Liberal administration the increase has been 378 millions. At the end of Conservative rule in 1897 the total trade of Canada was 257 millions, and in 1907 it was 617 millions, an increase in ten years of 378 millions, or an average increase per year of 37 millions, or 17 millions more yearly, than the total increase in the last ten years of Conservative administration. Another way of illustrating the difference between stagnation and go. In 1897, at the end of the Conservative regime, the trade of Canada was $51 per head of population; in 1907 it was $102 per head, a per capita ratio of trade that is perhaps equalled by no other country on the face of the globe.

LITTLE CANADIANS.

The Toronto World, in paying a high tribute to Hon. G. P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals, says that "the Trent Canal as a channel of commerce is, and always will be, useless." Is that so? The latest Conservative Government thought differently; a royal commission which exhaustively investigated its capability as a natural waterway, thought differently; the Liberal Goverament of the Dominion think differently, and Hon. Mr. Grahamself, whom the World so highly commends, recently declared that the activity now shown in its construction must be continued to its completion. Because it does not bring grist directly to Hogtown mills the canal is condemned by the Toronto press and others. By the way, the amount spent on the Trent Canal by the present Government, represents a part of the 127 millions spent in public works and for transportation by the Liberal Government, which is, the Review says, the penalty paid for Canada's increase in population. It is sectional little Canadians, like the World and demagogic appeals to socialistic sentiment in its worse acceptation, like those of the Review, that are the flies on the wheels of Canadian progress. Va-t-en mouche!

THE DENIAL OF SUPPLY.

(Montreal Herald.)

By way of excusing the obstruction of this year, Opposition newspapers are pleading that there were delays at the last session occasioned by the unreadiness of the Government. Granted that there were; but it was because the machinery of the departments had been dislocated by moving back the end of the fiscal year from June 30 to March 31, and moving back the opening of the session to correspond. That first year it was found impossible to overcome all the delays occasioned by the change. This year, however, all that had disappeared. The Government was ready when the session opened, has been ready every day since, but the Opposition will not allow work to be done. Mr. Fielding was understood to be ready with the budget in the second week of the session, away before Christmas. He only gets to it now. No harm is done, but that is an illustration. Of course the Opposition are quite within their privilege. If they fear an election and are afraid to face one they cannot be blamed if they try to stave it off by delaying business and holding Parliament there all summer. They must accept the responsibility, however, if by their action the Government is left unprovided with the money necessary to pay its obligations, and that is the position to which we are coming on the first of April. The Government has been for over three months asking a supply with which to carry on the administration after March 31 and the Opposition has been for over three months offering motions against going into supply and then obstructing the supply votes afterwards. If there is inconvenience later on, those who have to put up with it should know where the fault lies.

A TRIBUTE TO MR. GRAHAM.

Toronto World, Conservative.

If a man is to be judged by his public utterances, the Hon. George P. Graham is what might be termed a broadminded politician. While he himself deplores his lack of experience he has shown a remarkable grasp of the transportation necessities of the country, and apparently has the courage to grapple boldly with questions of far reaching importance to the welfare and progress of Canada. His statement that it may become necessary to deepen the Welland Canal is one that will meet with the approval of every man having a knowledge of the tremendous possibilities of the St. Lawrence route, but he should go further and provide a deep waterway right through to the Atlantic Ocean.

The St. Lawrence River is the natural echannel for the movement of traffic between the markets of the great west (including those of the United States) and the continent of Europe, and if it is made a deep waterway to the Atlantic Ocean, the Erie Canal can never become a formidable competitor for this trade. Provide a deep waterway to the Atlantic Ocean by way of the St. Lawrence, and Lake Ontario would teem with commerce instead of lying as it is to-day, apparently useless for the purpose of navigation.

Cheap transportation is necessary for the development of trade, and a deep waterway through the Welland Canal and the St. Lawrence would place Canada indisputably in control of the carrying trade between the west and Europe.

The Trent Valley Canal as a channel of commerce is, and always will be, useless, and had the money wasted in that enterprise been spent in deepening the Welland Canal and the St. Lawrence route, Canada would have had something of value to show for the expenditure.

If the Hon. George P. Graham will undertake this task, together with the extension of the Intercolonial Railway westward, he will achieve a work that will result in lasting benefit to his country and redound to his credit as a statesman.

THE HOUR is auspicious for the development of the Canadian trade. Has THE MAN to accomplish the work arrived?

DOCTOR DENIES HE IS GUILTY

Emergency Operation Only, Says Dr. Fletcher—Inquest on Death of Miss Jessie Helen Gould.

SAUNDERS IS COMMITTED

Toronto, March 20.—The inquest on the death of Jessie Ellen Gould, the young woman who died under suspicious circumstances on the 10th inst., at the Western Hospital, was opened last night at the City Hall, and was adjourned until Monday next.

Dr. A. G. Ashton Fletcher, who is charged with murder in connection with the girl's death, and a young man named Harry Saunders, charged with having procured an illegal operation to be performed upon her, were both present and represented by counsel, Mr. J. W. Curry, K. C., appearing for Dr. Fletcher, and Mr. Thomas Phelan for Saunders.

When first called upon to give evidence both Dr. Fletcher and Saunders refused to testify, on the advice of their counsel, but later Dr. Fletcher, after being promised protection by the court, gave his evidence. Saunders, however, still persisted in his objection, and was committed to jail on the order of the Coroner, Dr. A. J. Johnston.

In his evidence, Dr. Fletcher admitted having performed an operation upon the girl, but denied that it was of an illegal nature. He said the operation he performed was an attempt to save her life, and such as any medical man would make under similar circumstances. He proved that he had no knowledge of what caused the girl's illness, and merely acted because he was called in to treat the girl in an emergency.

Dr. J. Harvey Todd, who was called in to 75 Shuter street on the morning of Tuesday, March 10, to administer an anaesthetic, told of what had occurred there, and also of a conversation he had with Dr. Fletcher. Most of the evidence was of a medical character, and cannot be printed.

Drs. Gideon Silverthorn and J. Milton Cotton, who conducted the autopsy, said that the woman's death appeared to be due to septic poisoning.

Sleuth Admires The Laws Of Dominion Of Canada

Why Law Across Border Is Lax—Policeman Needed For Every Thousand Citizens.

COMPARES TWO COUNTRIES

Vancouver, March 19.—(Special.)—"I am a great admirer of Canadian law. Justice in this country is meted out to the guilty, and the innocent are protected with as much vigour as the guilty are prosecuted."

This and some more, is the praise that Mr. W. S. Swain, assistant general manager of the Thiel Detective agencies in the Northwestern States and British Columbia, is at all times ready to make when comparing the methods of the law in Canada and the United States. Mr. Swain arrived in the city yesterday and is registered at the Hotel Vancouver.

Mr. Swain stated that his company had been operating in British Columbia fifteen years, and they had operated for many years in other parts of Canada. The statistics showed that, pro rata the population, there were practically no violent crimes committed in Canada in comparison to the United States. This, said Mr. Swain, was solely and simply due to unperverted application of the law in this Dominion, "the innocent being protected with as much vigour as the criminal is hunted down."

Asked why the law was often so lax across the border, Mr. Swain in plain English attributed the fact to graft in politics. He intimated that the police in the United States were practically powerless in the face of so much political corruption. "It is pull," said the detective, "nothing but pull from the smallest politician up to the governors. Had the Orchard case been tried in Canada," continued Mr. Swain, "these fellows would all have been convicted. There may be justice in the United States, but it is easier to find in Canada.

"What crooks there are in Canada are afraid of the law, and this undoubtedly is the reason there are so few crimes, despite the lack of policemen. During the few days I was in Victoria I saw only two policemen, but I have not been in Vancouver long enough to pass an opinion on the situation here. I am a firm believer in the gospel that there should be at least one policeman for every thousand residents."

Mr. Swain is stationed at Spokane, Wash. Though British Columbia is part of his division, he has not before visited this Province, and this he says, is the only reason for his trip. He is already much impressed with what he has seen.

The Wolves Working Havoc On The Buffalo And Moose

Visitor Describes Their Depredations in the Far North—An Indian's Story.

FOUR WOLVES TO A BUFFALO

A visitor to the far north, writing from Fort Chippewyan, describes a trip he made into the far north and tells of the depredations of timber wolves and the sport which is available for daring spirits. He writes as follows:

"If there are any enthusiastic hunters who would be glad to know of quarry, I have just returned from the Buffalo country and can give them some idea of what may be found there, which can also account for the generosity of the government in offering $30 bounty for the ears of the grey wolf. My trip was over 950 miles from Edmonton right up over the Great Slave Lake, and during this journey I have been much in the company of Indians and in many talks with them regarding the depredations of wolves and their increasing number have been much interested. I am convinced they were telling me the truth, certainly as regards the numbers, for wolf tracks were continuous and ever fresh.

"One of the Indians, an excellent old hunter, still full of energy told me in reply to questions that the herd of buffalo is considerably over 500 and would quickly increase were it not for their implacable foes the wolves which go about in packs of twenty to fifty and more. This hunter described how they destroy their prey. The wolves follow up and hamstring the buffaloes and four of the brutes can bring down the largest animals. They then seize the throat. This he has often seen done, and estimates the slaughter of buffalo to be very great, also many moose and other animals are destroyed. He further added that it is not safe for one man to go hunting by himself.

"I found out that the real hindrance to the Indians doing good service to the state and to himself is this great superstition about killing a wolf. He believes very persistently that his forefathers are in some manner or other with the wolf and notwithstanding that anyone may point out that such relationship would be as well ended, yet many let their fear master them and so the wolf gets the benefit.

"Near Fort Resolution, however, there is one old hunter, a Scotchman, who is shooting those around him; he has no respect for relative wolves. He bagged five, assuring me it would not be long before he got some more. He was grumbling to think that while many people said they liked sport, yet nobody would come out for it, and he stated he would willingly give assistance to anybody requiring it if they would go with him. When not out hunting this man may be found at Resolution. He is a crack shot and capable forest ranger, a good guide for anybody and the right fellow to be out with."

INDIANS ARE BOLD THUGS.

Men Tied and Gagged by Burglars at Thamesville.

Thamesville, March 20.—A daring robbery occurred here about 2.30 yesterday morning. Messrs. Brooks and Howes, who are residing over a jeweler's store, were awakened by hearing a noise at the door.

Brooks, getting up, walked towards the door and spoke in a loud tone, asking who was there. The answer was a report from a gun and bullets smashed through the window.

Howes was awakened by this time, and got up, as three burglars walked in on them and began to fire in all directions.

Howes, grabbing his money, hid it under the carpet and made a dash for the window and tried to escape, but all in vain. He was grabbed, tied and gagged with one of the sheets on the bed, which was cut in pieces for the purpose. Brooks by this time had been bound, and both were put in bed. The daring three went on looking for their valuable, and found eight dollars in Brooks' pocket, and Howes' watch. Then they made good their escape.

The burglars are supposed to be Indians of Moraviantown, which is situated southeast from here about six miles.

LIQUOR WAR IN QUEBEC.

Brewers and Hotelkeepers to Make Fight For Existence.

Montreal, March 20.—The wholesale liquor men, the brewers and all the affiliated industries of the Province of Quebec, have picked up the gage of battle thrown down to them by the Dominion Alliance, the Anti-Alcoholic League and the other temperance societies, both English and French, and yesterday they held a meeting here presided over by Herbert Molson.

The claim was made that no less than fifty millions of capital was represented. Lawrence A. Wilson explained that the situation was serious and that 100,000 signatures had been affixed to a petition presented to the Legislature asking for a change in the license law.

He said that every French paper was at present preaching temperance, and the priests were conducting an active campaign. It was decided to send a monster delegation to Quebec and ask for the maintenance of the present law, which he said had been accepted by the Dominion Alliance a few years ago.

A Homesteader shot.

Prince Albert, March 20.—Harry Gillingwater, a young homesteader living north of here, was instantly killed last night by the explosion of a gun as he was driving a dog team to this city.

Marvelous case of Leo Corrigan

which shows that skin diseases heretofore considered hopeless can be cured.

Since childhood, Leo Corrigan had been tortured with the burning agony and itching of Eczema. His parents had spent a great deal of money in consulting physicians and buying medicines—but all to no purpose.

As he grew older he sought other doctors—some of them specialists. He was eleven weeks in a Toronto hospital—eight weeks in bed. At times the irritation and pain caused by the Eczema were so severe, life was a burden. He would get so bad he could not walk. Several winters he could do no work.

He wrote, on February 20, 1906:

"In November, 1905, I had another attack, and was advised to use Mira Ointment. (I thought this would be like the other remedies I had tried, and of no use to me.) But, to my great delight, a few hours after the first application, I felt great relief.

I have used it, now, two and a-half months, and unhesitatingly state that it is the best remedy I ever used. It has worked wonders for me. Since using Mira Ointment I have been able to work every day—without irritation or pain—no stiffness of the limbs or soreness. I feel a new person.

"From a state of great irritation and sometimes excruciating pains to freedom from all such, being capable of doing hard work every day, is a marvelous change. Mira Ointment has effected it.

"I strongly recommend any person afflicted with this terrible complaint—Eczema—to use Mira Ointment."

What this wonderfully effective Ointment has done in this extreme chronic case, it can do in other seemingly incurable conditions. If you suffer from any form of skin-disease, don't delay. Certain relief and cure is waiting you in Mira Ointment. Get a box to-day. 50c. —6 for $2.50. At drug-stores—or from The Chemists' Co. of Canada, Ltd., Hamilton—Toronto. 16

MISSIONARY UNION ON MARCH 30

To be Held in St. Andrew's Church—To Discuss Mission Matters.

An important event in church missionary circles will be held on Monday evening, March 30th, at St. Andrew's Church. It will be a union of the various churches, at which the results of the recent Pittsburg convention will be an important topic and it is understood that some of the delegates will give addresses, dealing with the events of the convention.

Afterwards a meeting will be held at which representatives from the churches will consider the plans for the mission institute, which will be held in Peterborough in May.

WEAK WOMEN

A Letter of Interest to Many in Peterborough.

After a very long and trying experience, Mrs. W. C. Parker, of Jackson, Michigan, writes a friend as follows: "I have been sick and all run down for more than a year. I took all kinds of medicines that were recommended by friends. I was in such a nervous condition that I could not bear the slightest noise, and so weak that I could hardly walk up stairs. A friend advised me to try the cod liver preparation, Vinol, and I did so with wonderful results. My weakness and nervousness are all gone, I can walk any distance, and have gained very rapidly in strength and flesh. I am writing you of my experience in order that you may advise any one whom you know is suffering as I was what to take."

This is only additional testimony in regard to the value of our cod liver preparation, Vinol, which we have so unhesitatingly recommended to the people of Peterborough for the last few years. Vinol is not a patent medicine, but a cod liver preparation made by scientific extractive and concentrating process from fresh cods' livers, combining with peptonate of iron, which is a needful constituent for the blood, all of the medicinal, healing and body building elements of cod liver oil, but no oil.

We ask every person in Peterborough who is run down, nervous, debilitated and every aged, feeble person to try Vinol on our guarantee to return money if it fails to give satisfaction. McDermid & Jary, druggists, Peterborough, Ont., also the Market Drug Store.

More Dynamite Victims.

Kenora, Ont., March 20.—Another fatal dynamite accident occurred yesterday morning at Thompson-Egan's Camp 2, north of Hawke. It is reported that two foremen named Hill and Anderson, and another, name unknown, were killed. They were in charge of the powder house and were thawing dynamite, when the door opening let in a cold blast which drove gases on the flames, causing the explosion and killing three. The bodies, shockingly mangled, were brought into town and await an inquest.

What looks like a suicide happened at 5 o'clock yesterday morning. A yard engine proceeding to the station ran over an unknown man, supposed to be a Swede, cutting him in two. It was very misty at the time, but the witness thought deceased threw himself in front of the engine.

Head of Firm Indicted in Buffalo on Smuggling Charge.

Buffalo, March 20. — Robert H. Fairweather, head of the big Toronto firm of J. W. T. Fairweather & Co., was indicted in the United States court here on the charge of smuggling. The manager of the firm's fur department, Wm. J. Clancy, also was indicted for smuggling. A third Toronto man indicted is Thos. A. Crowe head of the firm of Crowe & Murray, well-known horse dealers of Toronto.

The smuggling charge against Fairweather and Clancy is based almost entirely upon a confession made by Wm. E. Tuttle, of Niagara Falls, Ont. Tuttle said he ran advertising for the Toronto firm in his newspaper and that occasionally he received a fur garment to take across the border, the garment being his pay for the advertising. He was caught, confessed, and was fined $200. In his confession he implicated the Toronto firm.

Big Seizure Of Calves In Montreal Unfit To Be Killed

Two Hundred and Sixty-one Animals Confiscated—More Stringent Rules.

ADEQUATE FOOD INSPECTION

Montreal, March 20.—(Special.) — Officials of the Food Inspection Department stated at the City Hall yesterday that no less than 261 calves unfit to be slaughtered for human consumption, were confiscated at the abattoirs yesterday. The calves were about one week old on the average. The food inspectors explained that veal eaten at such an age as this was absolutely dangerous to health.

More stringent rules are about to be laid down by the Health Department in regard to the sale of all kinds of food unfit for human consumption. In most cases the offenders are simply punished by having meat, cattle, etc., seized. More drastic punishment is to be meted out, however, and those who offer for sale any kind of food dangerous to health are to be brought before the courts and fined.

Better inspection will also be made of canning factories, where fruits, meats, etc., are put up. Complaints have been made that these places are not inspected in a manner that will insure purity of food.

It was explained by a member of the Health Committee to-day that a request was to be made to the City Council for means to appoint additional meat inspectors. It was impossible to have abattoirs, stores, markets and factories properly inspected with the small staff of inspectors which the city now had. With a good staff of inspectors there would be little or no danger of bad food being palmed off on citizens. There was not the slightest doubt that diseased food frequently caused disease to break out among human beings. It was poor policy on the part of the city to curtail expenses by providing an inadequate Food Inspection Department.

The Membership Of Poultry Association Increasing Rapidly

Enthusiastic Meeting Held Last Night—The Brahma and Black Minorca Studied.

AUDITORS ARE APPOINTED

Ten new members joined the Peterborough Poultry Association last night at the regular meeting, making the membership now more than half a hundred. The meeting was held in the hall over Mr. C. N. Brown's toed store, Simcoe street, which has been secured by the Association for their sessions which will be held on the first Thursday of each month.

Practical lessons were learned last night. Mr. John McClelland gave a practical talk on the Black Minorca and the Brahma, specimens of which were present. Before referring to the birds he gave some advice on breeding.

Anyone intending hatching, he said should look well to the nests to see that they are free from vermin. This is important in raising strong chickens. The nests should also be placed on the ground if at all possible and not on a board floor. To free the birds from vermin a good plan is to oil them well with a mixture of butter or lard and sulphur, particularly the neck and at the rear of the back. He advised that carbolated wood to be used about the roosts. It is a disenfectant and assists to keep away the vermin.

On examining the Minorca Mr. McClelland stated that a good bird had five points to the comb and that the ear lobes should be white with no spots.

In selecting a hen to mate a cock bird a good large hen should be secured. Mating should be done carefully and it is better to mate the pullets back to the old cock bird. If it is found necessary to introduce new blood it is wiser to introduce a hen bird and find out whether the mating has been successful.

The Brahma

The examination of the light Brahma was next made. The Brahma should have a black beak and wattles and ear lobes red. The ground colour should be as near white as possible, although several good birds have dark under colour. The surface of the back should be white. A Brahma should have a long back and should be well toe-feathered with the feathers curled nicely around the neck, instead of stiff, straight feathers as are found with some birds. It is also important to keep them out of the sun as much as possible, especially when fitting the birds for show purposes.

On motion of Messrs. Kelly and Robson, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. McClelland for his profitable address.

Other Speakers

Mr. Jas. Baptie, the president, next gave a talk on a black minorca pullet, during which he stated that the serrations of the comb should be some distance apart and the more the green colour in the feathers the better for showing purposes. Large white ear lobes and a good cherry face are points necessary in a good minorca pullet. The standard weight is six and a half pounds.

Mr. Harry Lush stated that the comb should always have a fold and this should be set well over the beak. The serrations of the comb should be deep and broad as well. The colour of a minorca is a hard thing to obtain and it is always better to secure a good coloured cock bird and a dull coloured pullet for the obtaining of good stock. The feathers in the tail should be wide and of good length. The tail should be carried at an angle of 45 degrees and not of the squirrel variety.

Birds should, especially at this time o tthe year, be given plenty of sunlight and good fresh air. Cabbage, we believed, excelled any green food for hens.

Several question were asked the various speakers showing that the members are taking a keen interest in the work. The attendance was over forty.

At last night's meeting Messrs. S. C. Srigley and Wm. Smith were elected auditors for 1908.

FARMERS WILL ASK CITY TO BUILD SHELTER ON THE MARKET

It is likely the City Council will be asked by the farmers of the surrounding country to erect a shelter around the outside of the Market Square to protect those who attend the market from the weather. The farmers feel that something should be done along this line, and one of them remarked to-day that they had paid enough in tolls to build a new market. He remarked that it was not a pleasant thing after a long drive to have to sit for several hours in the blazing sun or in the midst of a downpour of rain. A shelter such as proposed would not be expensive, and would effectually protect the farmers who attend the market. They are talking the matter over among themselves, and will select a representative delegation to wait upon the Property Committee of the Council and urge that body to take some steps at once to benefit the conditions at the market.

THE DAILY ASTROLOGICAL HOROSCOPE

What the Stars Bring for the 21st Day of March.

Upon the changing dial of the sky
The omens of unkindly planets lie.

On this 81st day the Vernal Equinox begins. The Sun enters Aries. The sky is set with omens. Saturn is conjoined with the Sun, and the malign aspect is modified only by the Trine of the Sun with Jupiter. The 19-day old moon is in parallel declension with Mercury and in Trine with Neptune. Uranus is in benefic aspect.

To such close attendance of Saturn on the Sun, astrology always ascribes an influence for sickness in high places and mortality among the great of the earth.

A political disclosure of great moment will be made to the American people during the latter part of this period.

These twenty-four hours are favourable to enterprises that call on the possession of unusual knowledge or uncommon skill. Searching old records, applying curious chemical, physical or mechanical formulas, or undertaking duties of an unconventional nature are all under favourable signs.

Household affairs will prosper.

The woman with this birthdate will receive a letter with strange tidings. Her twelvemonth will be one of unexpected happenings.

The man whose birthdate this is will have many perplexing and harrassing problems, with a prosperous ending.

The girl born this day will experience many fortunes, both good and ill.

Steadfastness and courageous conviction will be needed by the boy born this day. His life will be uncommon, and full of ups and downs.

RETURNS SHOW A CASH BALANCE

Revenue of Province Has Doubled in Ten Years.

BUDGET SPEECH YESTERDAY

Criticism By the Opposition — Civil Government of Province Costs More —Mr. Pense Points Out Many Extravagances — Cash Assets Absorbed by Railway Construction—To Float a Loan Soon.

Toronto, March 20.—Amid much enthusiasm from the Government benches Hon. A. J. Matheson, the Provincial Treasurer, delivered the budget speech at the Legislature yesterday. It was most encouraging in character, showing the province's financial condition to be better than it ever was before. He reviewed the great progress made in all the Departments and predicted, if care were exercised in the conduct of permanent expenditures, that a still more satisfactory report would be made next year.

Mr. Pense, the Opposition critic, did not attempt anything serious in criticism. He took credit to the Liberals for much of the present prosperity, and complained that the expenditures had largely increased, but was generous enough to congratulate the Treasurer on the general conduct of his Department.

In opening, the Provincial Treasurer congratulated the province on its continued prosperity in spite of the period of financial stringency. During the past year the surplus of receipts over expenditure had been $606,000. This sum, said the Treasurer, could have been much larger had the Government exacted the full payment of dues from the lumbermen, who had experienced an unfortunate season and had been accorded consideration.

The announcement was greeted with applause that the earnings of the Government railway last year had been more than sufficient to pay the interest on the sinking fund on the portion of the road in operation as well as to pay the interest on the Canadian loan of $3,000,000.

A provincial loan would be issued for $2,855,000, the amount advanced to the T. & N. O. Railway, to which amount should be added surpluses netting $1,656,000, making a total of $4,511,000. This money would be expended on asylums, public institutions, roads, bridges, and permanent public improvements.

The estimated revenue last year had been $7,612,000 to which should be added the increased subsidy of $395,000 and the earnings of the Government railway amounting to $235,000. Even taking these amounts into full consideration the actual revenue overrealized them all. (Government applause.) Excluding the money received for the sale of the Cobalt and Kerr lakes and all capital receipts the surplus for the year had been over $600,000.

"These results show," said the Treasurer amid Government applause, "that this Government carefully, honestly and fearlessly collects the revenues due the crown."

The Minister pointed out that the Government had found many patients in the asylums and public institutions at the expense of the province, who were well able to pay for themselves. He instanced one case of a man being supported by the province who had an estate of $7,000. All cases were treated fairly. This was promptly remedied. When a patient and his friends were unable to pay the patient was allowed care free, but when they were well able to pay the bill was collected.

A like policy was pursued in relation to the collection of succession duties. No favorites were considered, and collections made upon all estates.

"Notwithstanding the very satisfactory and encouraging position in which we find ourselves," continued Mr. Matheson, "I desire to urge the necessity for economy. The estimated expenditure has all been provided for and is justified, but we must be guarded in increasing too much the permanent expenditures."

Hon. Mr. Matheson referred to the fact that within the last three months provincial securities had risen three per cent. in England. If the province was able to get its securities upon the Trustee list in London it would materially help Ontario's financial position.

The estimated receipts for the present year the Minister placed at $7,921,000 with an additional $300,000 as earnings from the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway. These estimates were well within the mark and he looked for another surplus next year. (Applause.)

The greatest increase in expenditure would be in education and the amount would be distributed directly among the people. Over $600,000 would be spent outside the university and School of Science. There were also other claims upon the Treasury in connection with the development of the north country.

Alluding to what had been done, the Minister said the railway annuities had been decreased by $250,000, while there had been a reduction in the provincial debt during the three years the present Government had held office of over $352,000.

He spoke of the development of the Government railway, which was now operating over 130 miles, with steel laid for 70 more and grading for rails in 10 more. By September 15 next it was hoped to effect the junction with the Grand Trunk Pacific. Some delay had been experienced owing to the Toronto Bridge Co. which had not been prompt. Several branches were also operating. During the past year the railway had carried over 16,633,000 passengers, not one of whom had been maimed or injured. A great deal of the expenditure on the railway had resulted from the poor way it had been laid out under the previous Government.

"We claim," said Hon. Mr. Matheson in concluding, "that we have fulfilled every pledge we made in Opposition. We have kept the expenditures within the receipts, improved the school system, reduced the price of school books and improved their quality. We have paid moneys directly to the people for school purposes and from railway taxes and hotel licenses. We have seen to it that the law was observed and endeavored to improve the condition of the farmers and agricultural interests. The asylums are being looked after, prison conditions being improved — and through all there is no graft." (Applause.)

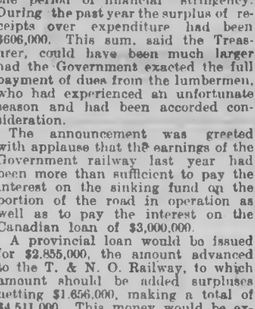
Mr. E. J. B. Pense (Kingston), the Opposition critic, followed. He joined in extending congratulations upon the splendid financial showing of the province, particularly so, he said, because it was largely the result of the policy adopted by the predecessors of the present Government.

It seemed hard, said Mr. Pense, that after toiling in the wilderness it was not the lot of the party he represented to enter the Promised Land on these policies. Of the provincial income of last year, he claimed, some $3,645,000 of the $8,000,000 was the direct result of the policies inaugurated by the Liberals.

With so large an increase in revenue, Mr. Pense said, the Provincial Treasury should show a greater reserve. The Government, he believed, were honest, but he did not think they had been economical.

Mr. Pense dwelt at length upon the increases in expenditure and reminded the Government that in the old days of Opposition they "clamored long and loud for economy."

Mr. G. H. Ferguson (Grenville) followed, and Mr. A. Hislop (East Huron) moved the adjournment of the debate.



WHITNEY CANNOT HELP.

Unemployed Get Little Satisfaction From Provincial Government.

Toronto, March 20.—In reply to several hundred unemployed men, who assembled in front of the Parliament Buildings yesterday morning, who wanted work. The following statement from the Premier's private secretary, was read:

"I have been directed to inform you that the Government has given careful consideration to the application made by your deputation, as well as to several similar applications on behalf of the unemployed in a number of cities and towns of the province, and finds with regret that there is no employment under its control or within its power at the present time that it can give to those whom you represent. The Government will be glad to facilitate the wishes of yourselves and friends in every way possible, and later on in the season may be able to do this especially by indicating the direction in which employment may be found. The Government views the situation with regret, but is unable at present to deal with it under the circumstances."

To a deputation Premier Whitney said that there are no public works in progress, and that a money grant would involve making impossible distinctions between applicants. They suggested employment in the Government mines, but Prof. Miller gave the information that there are applications for employment daily at Cobalt.

The statement will be sent to the English press.

Panic During Fire Drill.

Kattowitz, Prussian Silesia, March 20.—During a fire drill in this city school yesterday afternoon, there was a stampede among the children, which resulted in ten of the little ones being trampled by their comrades until they were unconscious. No lives were lost. A locked door was the primary cause of the panic.

C. N. R. Timekeeper Sentenced.

MAKES A REPLY TO MR. FOSTER

Mr. Paterson Deals With Criticisms of the Budget.

DISPELS FISCAL FALLACIES

Old Policy and the New—Trade and Settlement Under Present Administration—Mr. Foster Brings Up the Crow's Nest Coal and Western Timber Leases — Sees Millions in the Scenery.

Ottawa, March 20.—When Hon. Geo. E. Foster moved the adjournment of the debate on the budget on Tuesday night, after he had spoken nearly three hours, he said there was another subject to which he wished to refer and which would occupy threequarters of an hour. Yesterday afternoon he spoke for two hours and a half, concluding at 6 o'clock, and the speech was in a very large measure an elaboration of his arguments of Tuesday. To-night when Hon. William Paterson rose to reply, Mr. Foster and his leader were both absent and remained away the whole session. The speech of the Minister of Customs was a slashing onslaught on Mr. Foster, enlivened by flashes of humor and sarcastic allusion. In an hour and fifteen minutes he gave the Opposition object lessons alike in brevity and point. It was one of the best fighting speeches of the session, and was loudly cheered by the Liberal side. Mr. Cockshutt, who followed, was in a more pessimistic mood than ever. Hon. Clifford Sifton resumes the debate to-morrow.

On the trade returns Mr. Foster dwelt long. These were swollen by a world-wide enhancement of prices, and to arrive at a correct idea of the growth of business it was necessary to reduce the columns from values to quantities.

These returns showed that the balance of trade was running steadily against us. In ten years there had been an aggregate adverse balance of $522,000,000 in our trade with United States. Last year the balance was $124,000,000. To remedy matters Mr. Foster would reduce the volume of imports and practice economy.

After referring to the increase of expenditures from $43,000,000 in 1896 to $110,000,000 this year with the probable extension to $130,000,000, Mr. Foster spoke of Mr. Feilding's glossing over of trade conditions.

In times gone by the Finance Minister had devoted a great deal of time to this, but this year, when business men were taking stocks of their affairs, he had rushed through this important phase.

Mr. Foster was willing to discuss that there was never an increase in value of exports, but there was a corresponding increase in imports. The cost of living was just so much greater, and were people better off? In the ten years there was an increase in value of our imports of $177,900,000, or 169 per cent. For the same period exports increased one hundred and thirty-three millions of 118 per cent., Imports from Britain increased by 110 per cent. and exports by 100 per cent, while from the United States the increase of imports was 209 per cent. and exports 141 per cent. There was an adverse balance of sixty-one millions in our trade with the United States, and of eleven millions in our trade with other countries outside of Great Britain.

The table of trade with the United States was startling. In ten years the aggregate adverse balance of trade with the United States was five hundred and fifty-two millions. This was increasing every year, and last year it had reached enormous sums of one hundred and twenty-four millions.

Mr. Foster went on to show large increases in imports of manufactured articles. This was a condition that required treatment. The Government quailed in its boots every time it saw a labor deputation coming to protest against the importation of skilled mechanics to compete with our own laborers; yet what did it matter whether we brought skilled mechanics or hired them over in Europe to manufacture articles to be brought to Canada. In one case wages were spent and their families founded in Canada, while in the other money stayed in Europe. As the result of the policy of the Government the woollen industry was on its last legs.

Scenery as an export commodity was an idea that Mr. Foster offered to the House. He instanced Switzerland. That country had scenery for export. Millions upon millions of money were spent by tourists buying the unrivaled scenery of that country.

The Finance Minister had been going abroad borrowing money at a very high rate of interest. He had taken 120 millions out of the people for capital expenditure, but would now have to look elsewhere. If the C.P.R. hadn't been bringing in money where would the Finance Minister have been in the recent financial crisis?

"Whither are we drifting and how are we going to prevent drifting any farther?" asked Mr. Foster. By limiting the imports we must reduce the adverse balance. Next, greater economy was advised.

A surplus was claimed on the Intercolonial Railway, but Mr. Foster challenged the Government to name a committee and he would prove that surplus was arrived at by changing the method of keeping accounts.

The Government had created a paradox for middlemen. The recital of facts in connection with the Kentville transaction roused the Minister of Militia. A boon companion of the Minister, said Mr. Foster, got wind of the fact that some land was to be taken by the Government and bought it at $6 an acre. A referee in sympathy with the Minister was appointed and the price was fixed at a large sum.

Mr. Foster's fiscal fallacies were then taken up by Mr. Paterson. The argument of this member for North Toronto was that an increase of revenue was proof positive that there had been an increase of taxation. Mr. Paterson, on the contrary, held it to be proof positive that the man who made such solemn assurances was not a safe man to trust with the finances of the country. On the basis of Mr. Foster's contention, the Post-office surplus, for instance, would be taxation, and yet the postal facilities had been increased and the postal rates reduced. He pointed out that in 1896 the average rate of taxation on each $100 of imports was $18.28, and in 1906 $15.73, a reduction of 14 per cent., yet Mr. Foster had talked of increased taxation. Continuing, he referred among other things to what the member for North Toronto had termed the Crow's Nest Pass scandal. Hon. gentlemen opposite had as much foundation for that as for any other of their alleged scandals. They had, including Mr. Foster, voted for the subsidy of $3,500,000, the granting of which had resulted in the opening up of the Boundary country and a reduction in the rates on coal that in five years had put back into the pockets of the people all that had been given as a subsidy. And now the hon. gentlemen talked of scandal! Mr. Paterson ably defended the Government's course in respect to the Yukon, and particularly in reference to the attempt frustrated by the then Conservative influences in the Senate to secure the building of the all-Canadian railway to that territory. To Mr. Foster's rehashed attack on the Arctic expedition to the North Sea he said Mr. Foster had belittled the putting up of the Canadian flag on the islands, and had urged them to trust in diplomacy. "I believe in trusting to occupancy myself," said Mr. Paterson, a remark that evoked hearty Liberal cheers.

Mr. Lemieux was asked for a statement regarding a despatch from Vancouver that R. L. Drury had gone to Tokio with instructions to denounce the treaty if Japan is found to be violating the Lemieux understanding.

The Minister said there was no truth in the statement. Drury has gone to Japan as part of the arrangement with the Mikado's Government, to see how the arrangement is working out and to keep track of immigration to Canada. He has no other instructions.

FURNACE ACCIDENT
MOULDER'S HAND INJURED

Mr. William Burdett who works for the Canadian Westinghouse Co., at Hamilton, and resides at 198 Simcoe Street East, says: "As the direct result of a heavy mould being rolled over, as I was assisting other workmen to line a furnace, I sustained a severe injury to my left hand. Had this mould fallen it would undoubtedly have crushed both fingers and hand, as it was, I escaped with a bruised, blackened, and much swollen member. By the next morning my hand was so cramped and stiffened it was impossible to hold or lift any object. By noon the same day there was no improvement, although my hand had been bathed and well rubbed with liniments we had in the house. My wife having used Zam-Buk previous to this, now persuaded me to send for a box, which I did. Regular applications of this ointment well rubbed in over the injuries and swollen member, soon drew out all discolorations, banished the swelling and worked so effectually that by the beginning of the week my hand was well again and I could go to work. I have suffered no inconvenience since and would recommend Zam-Buk to all workmen." The secret of Zam-Buk's clean and painless healing lies in the fact that it imitates Nature's own "healing by first intention." It is composed of pure vegetable saps and juices, which soothe the pain and allay inflammation by effective antiseptic and germicidal action. No toiler should be without it!

RANCHER IN TROUBLE.

Arrested on Charge of Bigamy—Alleged Triple Alliance.

Victoria, B.C., March 20.—An alleged bigamy case with interest ranging between two continents has developed in the little town of Duncan, forty miles from here.

T. Brownell, rancher, lives with a woman he calls his housekeeper, while the wife he deserted in Boston ten years ago, is dressmaker four miles from the ranch. Meanwhile, proof has been obtained that after deserting his first wife he took a second one in South Africa after fighting for the British in the war. After peace was declared he deserted wife No. 2 and child and returned to Canada, picking up his third partner in Nova Scotia, and coming on to Duncan. The first wife is suing for alimony, which will undoubtedly develop into bigamy proceedings.

Apostle Atherton Arrested.

St. Louis, March 20.—Rev. Albert Atherton of St. Thomas, Ont., who styles himself "The Thirteenth Apostle, ordained with power to cast out devils and other evil spirits by the laying on of hands," was arraigned in the police court yesterday, on charges preferred by Nellie Stelton, 14 years old.

The case was continued until March 26, to give the apostle time to raise funds to pay his attorney's fees.

PIMPLES

ALTHOUGH, NOT A DANGEROUS DISEASE, ARE A VERY TROUBLESOME AND UNSIGHTLY AFFLICTION . . .

They are caused by either poverty or impurity of the blood and require the prompt use of a good blood medicine such as Burdock Blood Bitters, for their eradication, which it speedily accomplishes, at the same time strengthening the entire system. Pimples also often arise from dyspepsia and constipation, and in these cases Burdock Blood Bitters has the double effect of removing the pimples together with their cause.

Mr. D. P. Sammon, Osceola, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with pimples all over my face and hands. I paid out money to doctors but they could do me no good. A friend convinced me to try Burdock Blood Bitters, and after using two bottles the pimples vanished, and I have not been troubled with them since."

Burdock Blood Bitters may be procured at all Druggists and Dealers.

LOCAL BOWLERS WON MATCH GAME FROM TORONTO B.B.C. YESTERDAY

The Brunswick, Balke, Collander Company's team of Toronto and the Peterborough Merchants played another match game yesterday afternoon on the Peterborough Bowling Club's alleys and the locals won by a majority of 74 pins, although the Toronto travellers won two out of the three games played. The bowlers have quickly adapted themselves to the new alleys and the scores put on yesterday were very creditable. Chantler of the B. B. C. was high for the three games with a score of 532, and W. Mellroy of the locals was second up with 524. Seagar had the highest single score, rolling 213 in the first game. Following was the score:

SEND MEN TO OLYMPIC GAMES WHO HAVE A CHANCE TO WIN

This writer seems to forget that we have a Fred Simpson and an Ernie Wilson in Peterborough, who can travel a bit in the Marathon and three mile events respectively. The Toronto Star says:

A sportsman who has the athletic situation at his finger-ends has written a letter to the press, which is one of the best things emanating from any source upon the Canadian Olympic situation.

While this writer is far from being a knocker, he pertinently enquires, "Where is Canada to get eighty athletes fit to pit against the world's best?" He points out that there are only a dozen or fifteen men at the outside who have any chance in track and field events with the United States and continental champions, and suggests, as Tom Flanagan suggested three months ago, that the Olympic committee adopt a standard of performances, and send only these men who equal or beat those standards in the trials, or give signs of being able to make the required mark.

The writer points out that Tom Longboat and Tom Coley are the only Canucks who have any chance in the Marathon, but he suggests that three or four more likely men be sent to give the two Toms the benefit of their pace. He conceded Bobby Kerr a grand chance in the sprints, but points out that he will have to step some to get a look-in at the prize money.

No Quarter Men

In the quarter he points out Canadians have yet to beat 51 seconds, while J. B. Taylor, the coloured quarter-miler is doing 48 flat.

He doesn't concede us a chance there. Well, he is about right, for there are no fifty-second men in sight here. In the half he points out that Harkins, Sheppard and Hillman, the United States cracks, are running halves in 1.56 and miles in 4.20 and 4.25, and says we have no chance.

He is a bit away there. True, in the half Irving Parkes and W. A. Haddleton, the Canuck half-milers, only made 1.58 2-5 last year, but they made it on a track that is slower than those the Americans are running on, and they made it in a duel in which both men were watching each other the last quarter, and did not shove themselves out to the last notch until the 220-yard mark was reached on the home stretch.

Tait is Good

In the mile Jack Tait, the West End crack, ran 3.32 the first time out in a race that was won and lost in the stretch. He is running away faster now, and on a good track he will be down about the four twenties with his time. In the three-mile he is every bit as good as Fred Bellairs. He showed this when he made E. P. Carr, the Xavier (New York) man look like a piano truck in a three-mile indoor contest at Buffalo, which Bellairs funked out of. Carr had been chasing Bellairs closely all season, too, yet Tait won as he pleased.

He is about right. Send only men who have a chance.

A few honours with a small team will look far better than a few honours divided into a camp of eighty men.

SHIELD GAMES FOR VANCOUVER

Chairman of the Trustees Writes Letter To The Secretary of Committee— Calgary's Claim Not Considered.

LETTER TO THE SECRETARY

The People's Shield games will no doubt be played in Vancouver, according to the following letter printed in the Vancouver World, and the Quakers will be obliged to travel to the coast in quest of the silverware:

"Will Ellis, Vancouver:

Dear Sirs—I have your esteemed favour of February 25, enclosing circular letter which you have sent regarding the visit of a team from British Columbia to England during the Olympic games. When I was in London a short time ago I saw Mr. Madge, one of the proprietors of the People, and he read to me a letter from Dr. Ings regarding the tournament for Calgary during the Dominion Exhibition. Mr. Madge saw it was impossible to fall in with Dr. Ings' views for this year, and he wrote suggesting that they should co-operate with you now that arrangements had gone so far forward, and that in the near future Calgary should have the tournament.

I have written Dr. Ings a letter to this effect, and I am hopeful he will take his fine team to your city. I have also written to the other trustees in Winnipeg, giving them my views, and we are unanimous that the tournament should be held in Vancouver this April. I hope to get through myself to see the series of games. The only conditions are that the games should be played under Old Country rules, your committee being responsible for the carrying out of the tournament. I am sure the visiting teams will be quite satisfied with your efforts.

Regarding the suggestion to send a team to England, I have written Colonel Hanbury Williams suggesting that either the winners of the People's Shield in April, or that a picked team from the best teams represented there, should be sent to England. Colonel Hanbury Williams will no doubt keep his eyes on this tournament and perhaps send a representative over there. I will write you again as soon as I hear from Dr. Ings, and I am also making inquiries as to whether it is possible to get a team to go through from here or Montreal. The C.P.R. did think of it some time ago. I have written them again about it, and will write you later."

Yours very truly,
G. A. PARKER,
Toronto, March 5, 1908.

SEASON ENDS AT JACKSON PARK

Has Had a Very Successful Coarse— Fixtures Have Been Taken Out

The winter pleasures at Jackson Park are through for the season. The grounds are deserted and the place is quiet again. What was an excellent skating rink a few weeks ago is now a pool of water, and the lights that shone so brilliantly over the many skaters have been taken down. The toboggan slide also has been closed and the small lights have been taken from the sides. The restaurant and dressing rooms and work shop are closed up until the warm weather sets in.

The railway company have had a very successful season and every year the park is becoming more and more popular as a pleasure resort. During the past season the band has been out on an average of one night a week and two very successful carnivals were held.

The Street Railway Company in the past few years have always endeavoured to add new attractions each year to Jackson Park for the summer season. This year, it is learned, a vaudeville attraction will be seen at the park and several other novel features.

"HAPPY EMMA," FATEST GIRL ON EARTH

The amusement-loving public of Peterborough will soon be given a real treat in the presentation of "Happy Emma," the largest young lady of her age in the world. Emma's history has been a somewhat remarkable one. At birth she weighed but 8 pounds, the same as any ordinary baby, although her mother weighed 385 pounds. At 5 years of age she was a chuncky little girl, but not remarkable in any other way except for her sweet nature and cheerful disposition. From that age on, she rapidly accumulated flesh, weighing at the age of 15, 290 pounds. At the present time Emma is but 20 years old and enjoys the astonishing weight of 688 pounds.

Born in the heart of the Alleghaney Mountains in Pennsylvania, Emma's life was a rugged one, but to her present great benefit, as is seen in her remarkably beautiful complexion, perfect health and overflow of animal spirits. While her friends considered her "rather stout" neither they, her parents nor herself knew nor realized that she was the fattest girl in the world, as she really is. By accident a well known show man chanced to see her, and by strong inducements persuaded her to enter the show world. This was two years ago. Since then she has been seen by thousands upon thousands of people, and all have gone away her friends and more than satisfied that they have been privileged to see her. She is as beautiful as she is fat; with the face of a Madona, one soon loses sight of her enormous proportions, and is more than pleased and delighted with her sweet and sunny nature, unusual intelligence and ready wit. Unlike most very fat women there is nothing coarse or disgusting about Emma, and all ladies and children especially, are charmed with her pleasing personality. Emma will exhibit here on March 25th, and the following few days, and those who see her will have something pleasant to remember for a long time to come.

GOOD FISHING THROUGH THE ICE

Reports That Fish Are Being Caught and Are Excellent in Taste.

News has been received from Chemong Lake that the fishing through the ice is particularly good and some fine catches are being made. Bass and lunge can be caught now and are said to be better in taste than those caught at any other season of the year. The Indians from the village know where the beds are and when they need a mess of fish they know just where to get it. In this respect they are like their forefathers, who were dependent more on nature for their daily subsistence.

NOT SO SMART AS HE THOUGHT

Boarded Train for Peterborough Instead Of Going to the Brewery.

Mr. R. W. Smart, of the Port Hope Brewing and Malting Company, says the Guide, was desirous of returning to the brewery in a hurry yesterday morning, and he boarded the train, mistaking it for the cannon ball express, which stops at the brewery each day. But unfortunately for Mr. Smart it was the flyer for Peterborough and the first stop was made at Garden Hill. Mr. Smart had dinner with his friend Webber at the King Edward, and returned to town on the 12.45 train.

FAREWELL GATHERING TO DEPARTING FRIENDS

At the residence of Mrs. J. B. Fair, 471 Bolivar street, a farewell gathering was held last night in honour of Messrs. Doughty and Paton, who left the city to-day for the West. A number of guests were present, and Miss Fair gave several pianoforte selections. Mr. Arnott contributed a number of mouthorgan selections, Mr. Andrews gave an exhibition of step-dancing, and numerous songs were sung by Messrs. Doughty and Healy. The gathering was brought to a close after refreshments had been served, by the singing of Auld Lang Syne and God Save the King. —Com.

BARBERSHOP WINDOW BROKEN

Pole Outside the Door Fell Through—Window Not Insured.

Shortly after four o'clock yesterday afternoon the large front window of Cottingham's barber shop, George street, was badly smashed. Some children were playing in front of the door and were swinging on the barber pole. The wire which held it to the woodwork gave away and the pole went crashing through the window. The two barbers were busy inside at the time and upon hearing the crash rushed to the door only to see a crowd of young boys making off along Brock street. The window was a very expensive one and was not insured.

Music and Drama

AMELIA BINGHAM

Two good productions at the Grand to-morrow. A carload of scenic effects.

Though written at a time when stock manipulation was not the troublesome topic that it was to-day, the revival of Clyde Fitch's "The Climbers," which Miss Amelia Bingham will present at the Grand to-morrow matinee and night, comes at a peculiarly apropos period. In this play, which is probably Fitch's masterpiece, the frenzied financier and his finish is drawn. "The Climbers" strikes from the shoulder with characteristic Fitchian sharpness. Its people are royal flesh and blood folk of everyday life, much as we may regret it in instances. The role of Blanche Sterling is a dope fit for Miss Bingham, and there are several other characters that stand out prominently through the interpretation of such clever players as Byron Douglas, Gordon Edwards, Jane Gordon, Adelyn Wesley, Jane Wheatley and others.

At a special Saturday matinee, Miss Bingham will appear in the title role of Haddon Chamber's great play, "A Modern Magdalen." A great many theatre-goers who have followed Miss Bingham's career closely, regard the true hearted, self-sacrificing "Katura" as among the best things Miss Bingham has done. The play teems with wit and telling situations.

KATHRYN OSTERMAN'S FUNNY PLAY

Kathryn Osterman, who is styled the mirth communicating comedienne will be the attraction at the Grand Opera House, Monday, March 23rd, in her newe three-act comedy "The Girl Who Looks Like Me." Miss Osterman will have the assistance of a well balanced company, including Anna Belmont. The action of the piece occurs all in one day, at the home of Prof. Hugo Stanley, at Beechwood Terrace, on the Hudson. The professor, who is a scientist, has been driven from his home by his wife, a termagant, five years before, and has gone to Asia. Six months previously the wife has disappeared, leaving the place in charge of Erma Desmond, who was engaged as her companion, and who was her exact double. Miss Desmond continues the deception of being Mrs. Stanley. Phyllis Burnham, a friend of Miss Desmond's, is let in on the real situation, and promises her assist if trouble comes. It does; the two women are kept busy thereafter, and right there is one of the peculiarities of the play.

The bulk of the work falls on Miss Desmond, which is played by Miss Osterman, while masquerading as Mrs. Stanley, and Anna Belmont as Phyllis Burnham. The arrival of a lawyer and his friend, the latter an old admirer of Miss Desmond, and the addition of the lawyer's friend, Chester Clynch, to the ranks of the deceivers is followed by the arrival home of Prof. Stanley from Asia; Gilberta, his daughter from a boarding school and Mrs. Baddly Bytton, a prominent divorcee and friend of Mrs. Stanley. They entangle the situation, until no one knows who is who. The bogus Mrs. Stanley, nearly cornered in her deceptions, once wins a respite by going into a tantrum such as the real Mrs. Stanley used to exhibit, and of which everyone, including the professor, was in great fear. The unravelling of the chaotic condition of affairs and confessions by all the deceivers, comes suddenly on the arrival of a telegram from the real Mrs. Stanley, that she has been six months in South Dakota and has secured a divorce. The bogus Mrs. Stanley then coyly agrees to become the real Mrs. Stanley and everything ends happily. It is said that Miss Osterman has made a distinct triumph in her new play, which is conceded to be one of the funniest comedies presented to the American public for some time.

FROM "HAT" TO CALIFORNIA

Around Cape Flattery in a December Storm—Trip for Health and Pleasure—At Lick Observatory.

From the city of Medicine Hat, resting on the vast prairie lands of the west, over the world-famed Rockies down to Vancouver, by boat to the City of the Golden Gate and the land of Uncle Sam, has been the experience of Mr. Geo. E. Pentland, nephew of Mr. J. D. Pentland, of Peterborough, which he tells of in a pen picture given below. Mr. Pentland gives interesting tales of his travels, describing the towns and cities of note he visited and gives a graphic account of a trip by sea in stormy weather. His letter to his relatives here is as follows:

Ever since I came home from my long and pleasant trip to California, I have been going to write a long letter to all the friends, to tell you all about the country, the people, the nature of the land, etc., but have been putting it off for so long that if I do not soon get at it, I will have forgotten all about writing.

Last fall I became unwell, owing to the pressure of work here in the city schools, and the doctor recommended me to go to California, where I could be outside all the time, and, as I have long wanted to see the beauties of that country, I was really glad when I was able to get off.

I left here on December 2nd, and took the Crow's Nest Railway from Medicine Hat, crossing the prairie to the mountains through the night. About daylight we were well into the foot-hills, and by nine o'clock we began to get well up into the mountains.

There are no places of any importance till we came to Nelson, but I will stop a minute to tell you about the town of Frank.

This is a place of about 1,000 inhabitants or less, all engaged in the coal mining business. The particular thing about Frank is that about four years ago the town was almost completely wiped out of existence by a great rock slide. The place is right at the foot of the mountains, where the rock is very steep. About four in the morning, for some reason, a great slide of millions of tons of rock swept down the face of the cliff, slid along till it struck the town, and where this took place, there is not a solitary house, or brick, or board, to be seen. You can imagine what a great amount of damage was done when you know that the mass of broken rock which slid down, covers an area of two miles long by a mile and a half wide. This broken rock is in lumps all sizes up to the size of a big house. The loss of life was very great.

When you pass Frank, you come to the towns of Blairmore, Coleman, etc., all of which seem to depend on the coal mining for an existence. They are all right in the mountains, and there is no agriculture of any kind carried on near them. There seems to be a very large amount of coal in the Crow's Nest Pass.

Beautiful Scenery

A few miles from Coleman you come to the highest ridge of the rockies, at a little place called Summit. Here you are about 4,225 feet above the sea level. Then you pass Cranbrook, and a few more towns, coming to Kootenay Landing. This is about 400 miles from Medicine Hat, and it is here that you take the boat for the first time. We boarded a small steamer of the C.P.R. line, and sailed to Nelson, a distance of 82 miles. Nelson is a town of about 6,000 people, but in common with most towns in the west, the people say it has a population of about 8,000. It is beautifully situated right on the face of one of the numerous mountains, and almost every spot of ground is monopolized for houses. It was not a lake up which we sailed to go to Nelson, but was a lake-like expansion of the Kootenay River. Passing Nelson, we took the train to a place called Robson, which is about 26 miles from Nelson. Then we again board the C.P.R. boat, for a trip of 127 miles up the Columbia River, which is one of the longest rivers in Canada, or at least, in British Columbia. The part up which we sail is lake-like in its nature, and indeed is called the Arrow Lakes. They run the whole way from Robson to Arrowhead, or a hundred and twenty miles, 127, to be accurate.

On this trip trip you see some of the finest scenery in the world. You are never more than a few hundred yards from the shore, and mountain peak after mountain peak lines the bank, all of which seemed to be most beautiful, being lined with great rocks, fir forests, with here and there a tiny water-fall coming down the side of a cliff.

I may say just here that this is not the best scenery in the West, for there is nothing in all the world to equal that seen along the main line of the C.P.R. I have been over both routes several times, and would advise you if you ever come to the Coast, to take the main line. On it, especially from Laggan to Revelstoke, the scenery is the best to be seen anywhere, the chief points at which tourists stop being Banff and Laggan there is a little lake called Lake Louise, which is said to be the finest lake in the world, and I can well believe it. The water is a perfect blue, due to the silt which the glaciers wash from the cliffs. Never go to the Coast without stopping to see it. It is about three miles from the track. All along the road here the C.P.R. has good hotels, at which you can stop. Their rates run from $3 a day up, principally up. But the service is fine, and the hotels are located where the scenery is the best.

At Arrowhead we again took our train to Revelstoke, one of the finest located towns in the mountains. The town itself is nothing much, but the location is most beautiful. It is entirely surrounded by high mountains, several of which are 10,000 feet high.

Passing Revelstoke, we come to the Valley of the Thompson River after about six hours run. This runs into the Fraser, and the scenery along it, the Fraser, is gorgeous. The train runs along the cliffs and the river is one of the most rapid and boisterous in the world. It is quite a wide stream, being in some places, 300 yards wide, but in some places it is not more than a few feet in width, and here the rush of water is very beautiful. In many places the train runs along on the very edge of the most precipitous of rocks, and to look down at the boiling, swirling, foaming mass of water, then up to the mountain peak on the other side, gives a person an idea of the greatest and grandest and most sublime scenes that he can ever hope to see in this world. Of course, all the mountains are snow-capped, and there are myriads of little water falls tumbling down the sides of the cliffs. As you go down the river you can see that you are coming to a different part of the country, for here and there you see a tiny field, or a fruit tree of some sort. Following the river, the Fraser, for hundreds of miles is an old stage trail, not used now, since the road has been put through, but which, in its day, was the only possible means of getting across the backbone of the continent.

The Pacific Coast

About 2 o'clock in the afternoon we came to Vancouver. This, of course, is the great city of the Canadian coast. It has a population of about 75,000, and is one of the most up-to-date cities I have ever seen. It will some day be a very large place, possibly half a million. It is the terminus of the main line and it is here you take the boat for Victoria. I stopped at Vancouver, and took the trolley to New Westminster to see cousin Ed. Pentland. They are all well, and seem to like the West as well as any of us, and we all like it. I had not seen any of them since long before they left Collingwood some years ago. Here I had the pleasure also of meeting Mrs. R. J. Hall, whose husband died less than two years ago. Her eldest daughter, Villa, is in Berkeley, a suburb of San Francisco, studying music. I met her also when I got there. She is one of the most accomplished musicians on the Pacific Coast.

From Vancouver I took the C.P.R. steamer 'Princess Victoria' and sailed to Victoria, a distance of 80 miles. The whole route is lined with islands, much like the trip from Collingwood to Killarney, via Parry Sound. This was the first time I ever saw any part of the ocean. Victoria is said to be the most beautiful city in Canada, and as I have seen most of them, especially west of Montreal, my opinion might be of some value. From the point of view of public buildings and private residences, and location, I have not the slightest hesitation in saying that it is certainly the finest I have seen, but the people do not keep their streets in good condition. They say it is impossible, owing to the fact the town is built right on the solid rock, and it is impossible to go more than a foot or two without striking rock. You can easily see, that, that it is not easy to make very good roads. The rock crops out at many places all over the town.

I remained one day here in Victoria and saw all there was to be seen in it. When in Vancouver, I met several of my old pupils, who went to school to me in Kimberley, and all through the West I met many of them. Indeed, it is almost impossible to go any place without meeting old friends.

While in Revelstoke, I met a man in whom you may be interested. I was walking around the town with a young fellow whom I know well, and we were looking at the churches, and my friend proposed that we call at the parsonage and introduce ourselves. Of course, the parsonage is always next door to the church. This is one of the defects of Methodism, for the parsonage is the great resort of tramps the world over, and they seem to have a particularly keen scent for Methodists. So we two tramps tried our luck. I rang the door bell, and a matronly looking woman, with a kindly look on her face, came to the door.

"How do you do?" I asked. "My name is Pentland, and this is my friend, Mr. Brown."

"Pentland, did you say your name was?" she asked.

I pleaded guilty, and then she said, "Now, I wonder are you any of our Pentlands."

I rather hoped I was, and she hoped so, too, and brought us into the parlour.

"Just take seats," she said, "and I will call Mr. Hall."

When he came in we began to investigate each other a little, and when he learned who I was he said he knew all about me, and about all our relations. Of course, I began to feel uneasy at a stranger knowing all that, so I asked him if he was Thomas Hall, and he said he was. I had not seen him for many years, in fact, I am not sure that I ever saw him. But I had heard of him, and knew several of the others. We had a fine time for a few minutes, recalling old times, old acquaintances, old friends, and old associations. What a satisfaction it is to be able to meet with men who have known you for years. Since we cannot get away from old acquaintances it seems to me that it behooves us all to be kind to everyone, for it is like the bread cast on the waters—we are sure to find it after many days. Since I left home, many years ago now, I have met many people who have known the Pentland family, and it may be a source of satisfaction to you all to know that we are said to be a first-class family.

On the Billows

Well, I guess I better get out on the ocean. This was the first time I ever saw the ocean proper, and my first experience with it was very unsatisfactory for a first introduction.

To a person who has never seen a storm at sea, it is not only terrible storm at sea, it is not only terrible, it is interesting also. All day before we sailed, the day I spent in Victoria, a heavy gale was blowing in the city, but we set sail just the same, at 7 p.m. What a night. It was not bad for the first fifty miles, till we came to the cape, known as Flattery. Then we caught it, and for 36 hours we tossed and tumbled around like a piece of driftwood. Almost every one was sick, and I was strictly in the fashion. All we could do was to lie in our berths and wish the ship would either keep still or go to the bottom. Any of us would willingly have traded our berth for one in a pullman car and would have given anything to boot. When daylight came, for in the end it actually came, I crawled out of my berth, and by dint of hanging on to whatever I could get hold of, I managed to crawl to the window and to look out at the ocean.

When passing through the canyons of the rivers in British Columbia, you know that there is not one chance in a thousand that you will tumble over but when I looked out at that swirling, foaming, boiling, hungry-looking awful mass of water, and knew that there was not one chance in a million of missing the smash that I could see coming—well, it made me think that, after all, there were some things in favour of being a landlubber.

Of course everyone was so sick that eating was out of the question. All we could do was to lie in our berths and even that was not easy, for the ship was lurch first one way then another, so that it was impossible to tell in what direction it would be hurled next. The wind was actually blowing ninety-four miles an hour, and, I tell you, that is going some. The waves were villainous and when one of them would strike the ship it would make it tremble from stem to stern. When things would get very bad the captain would order the engines stopped, and we would drift with the waves, but that was dangerous, for we might have drifted in so close to the shore that we might have struck a rock. Finally we sailed out of the storm area, then we made good speed, but it was awful to look down into those troughs and to know that nothing could possibly keep you out of them. The fellow was right who described sea-sickness as the disease in which "at first you are afraid you are going to die, and afterwards you are afraid you are not."

Round Cape Flattery

I've had my Experience, and now when I get into a crowd of fellows who are telling "their strange ventures happ'ed by land and sea," when it comes my turn I'm simply going to lean back in my chair, put my thumbs in the arm-holes of my vest, look as wise as possible, and remark that I once rounded Cape Flattery in a December storm.

The last half of the sail was very pleasant, and at last we came in sight of the Golden Gate, as the entrance to San Francisco Harbour is called. The harbour is almost landlocked and is one of the best in the world. The city is situated, not on the ocean, but on San Francisco Bay, on the inside from the ocean.

We landed there after a sail of about 1,000 miles, occupying seventy-two hours. This is the city which was devastated by the earthquake and by the fearful fire which followed it. There are no signs of earthquake to be seen, but the ravages of the fire are still to be seen. It was in the sky-scraper region that the fire did its greatest work. At one time the fire front reached for five miles.

I did not stay this time at 'Frisco longer than it took me to find out where the station was for the train to San Jose. This is a beautiful city of about 35,000 people, and the ride to it, which is about fifty-one miles, gave me my first glimpse of Californian scenery. The city and the roads leading everywhere through which we passed, are lined with the most beautiful palms, the eucalyptus trees, and the farm houses are fairly nestled among beautiful surroundings. The streets are (in the city) all paved and the lovely lawns, the ornamental fences, the great variety of strange trees—all made me think that at last I had begun to realize that I was in the land made famous by such authors as Mark Twain, Bret Harte, Jack London and others.

My particular reason for wishing to get to San Jose so soon was that I wanted to catch the stage for Mount Hamilton, on which the Lick Observatory is located. The telescope there is the second largest in America, and visitors are admitted on Saturday night only, and I tried to get there in time to catch the stage. But I was disappointed and had my trip for nothing. The stage was gone and I was forced to stay around the upper part of the State till the Saturday following, if I wanted to see anything through the big telescope. I returned to 'Frisco and spent the week visiting the various beauties and scenes around 'Frisco and the neighbouring cities. The next Saturday night I returned to San Jose and caught the stage for the Observatory. The fare is five dollars, and it is worth it. I saw the planet Saturn through the enormous telescope.

When we got near the southern part of the State, the flowers became much more numerous. You folks, I suppose, think you have seen roses. Now, let me say that it is impossible to see them till you go to Southern California. They are so big that you would hardly recognize them, some being as big as small saucers. Then, they do not grow on the little bushes as in Ontario, but on trees all the way from thirty feet down. And the trees are simply laden with them, and the perfume is beautiful in the extreme.

I bought my ticket to Los Angeles, the largest city in the south. It has a population of about 200,000, and is simply one vast rooming house. They depend on tourists for their living, but things are very cheap. Rooms may be rented for all the way from $1.50 a week up, but a good one may be bought for $2.50 a week. Meals may be bought for 15 cents. I remained here for two weeks, and had a good chance to see the city. Oil is everywhere in the south and there are many oil wells right in the city. The city is about twenty miles from the coast, and there are many

NATURE AND A WOMAN'S WORK

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

Nature and a woman's work combined have produced the grandest remedy for woman's ills that the world has ever known.

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers they relied upon the roots and herbs of the field to cure disease and mitigate suffering.

The Indians on our Western Plains to-day can produce roots and herbs for every ailment, and cure diseases that baffle the most skilled physicians who have spent years in the study of drugs.

From the roots and herbs of the field Lydia E. Pinkham more than thirty years ago gave to the women of the world a remedy for their peculiar ills, more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is now recognized as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

Mrs. J. M. Tweedale, 12 Napanee Street, Toronto, Canada, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I was a great sufferer from female troubles, had those dreadful bearing down pains, and during my monthly periods I suffered so I had to go to bed. I doctored for a long time but the doctor's treatment failed to help me. My husband saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and got a bottle for me. I commenced its use and soon felt better. I kept on taking it until I was well and an entirely different woman. I also found that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made childbirth much easier for me. I would recommend your Vegetable Compound to every woman who is afflicted with female troubles."

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Tweedale, it will do for other suffering women.

DON'T WORRY

While every intelligent person realizes the danger encountered every day from germ diseases, it is comforting to know that none of them can develop in a perfectly healthy body. Rich blood and a clean body are the greatest protection, but it is very important to keep the body clean. If the bowels are irregular, the body cannot be clean, as the poisonous matter, instead of being eliminated, is re-absorbed into the system. In that condition you are not safe and might easily fall a victim to any of the germ diseases, such as typhoid fever, typhus fever, diphtheria and even tuberculosis. Common sense dictates that you should keep your liver and kidneys active, and no better medicine has been discovered for this purpose than King Palmetto Compound. As an intelligent individual, you want to know what you are taking, and the manufacturers of King Palmetto Compound make no secret of the ingredients of their preparation. The formula is on the wrapper. They do claim, however, that they know how to prepare it scientifically and are in a position to obtain the very purest material. Price $1.00 per bottle. Write for free sample, King Palmetto Co., Bridgeburg, Ont. King Palmetto Compound is guaranteed to act directly on the bowels, liver and kidneys and on the strength of this fact it is guaranteed and recommended by MacDermid & Jury, druggists.

WORTH TAKING

One ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion;
One ounce Compound Salatone;
Four ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla;

Mixed and taken in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime, is pronounced by a prominent physician to be the best mixture for the cure of the kidney, bladder, and all urinary troubles.

This says the doctor, is the most simple though remarkable prescription ever written to cleanse the system of impurities and waste matter. It acts as a powerful tonic to the kidneys, forcing them to filter out the acids and poisons, overcoming rheumatism, lame back, sciatica and other afflictions arising from sour, impure blood.

The ingredients can be procured at any good drug store, and being purely vegetable and entirely harmless, can easily be mixed at home.

If you have a suffering friend show this to him, as he will undoubtedly be pleased to learn of so simple and highly recommended a remedy.

CHAPTER IV.

MISS MATTIE sat on her little front porch, facing the setting sun. Across the road, now ankle deep in June dust, was the wreck of the Peters place—back broken roof, crumbling chimneys, shutters hanging down like broken wings, the old house had the pathetic appeal of shipwrecked gentility. A house without people in it, even when it is in repair, is as forlorn as a dog who has lost his master.

Up the road were more houses of the nondescript village pattern, made neither for comfort nor looks. God knows why they built such houses! Perhaps it was in accordance with the old Puritan idea that any kind of physical perfection is blasphemy. Some of these were kept in paint and window glass, but there were enough poor relations to spoil the effect.

Down the road between the arbeseed the weeping willows came first the brook, with the stone bridge—this broken as to coping and threadbare in general—then on the hither side of the way some three or four neighbors' houses and opposite the blacksmith's shop and postoffice, the latter of course in a store, where you could buy anything from stale groceries to shingles.

In short, Fairfield was an eastern village whose cause had departed, a community drained of the male principle, leaving only a few queer men, the blacksmith and some hulking boys to give tone to the background of dozens of old maids.

An unsympathetic stranger would have felt that nothing was left to the Fairfieldians but memory, and the sooner they lost that the better.

Take a wineglassful of raspberry vinegar, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, half a cup each of boneset and rhubard, a good full cup of the milk of human kindness, dilute in a gallon of water and you have the flavor of Fairfield. There was just enough of each ingredient to spoil the taste of all the rest.

Miss Mattie rested her elbow on the railing, her chin in her hand, and gazed thoughtfully about her. As a matter of fact, she was the most inspiring thing in view. At a distance of fifty yards she was still a tall, slender girl. Her body retained the habit as well as the lines of youth, a trick of gliding into unexpected, pleasing attitudes, which would have been awkward but for the suppleness of limb to which they testified and the unconsciousness and ease of their irregularity.

Her face was a child's face in the ennobling sense of the word. The record of the years written upon it seemed a masquerade—the face of a clear eyed girl of fourteen made up to represent her own aunt at a fancy dress party; a face drawn in trifle fine, a little sweeter, but balanced by the humor of the large, shapely mouth, and really beautiful in bone and contour, the beauty of mignonette and elowes and gentle things.

You could see that she was thirty-five in the blatant candor of noon, but now, blushed with the pink of the setting sun, she was still in the days of the fairy prince.

Miss Mattie's reverie idled over the years upon year of respectable stupidity that represented life in Fairfield, while her eyes and soul were in the boiling gold of the sky for story. She sighed.

A panorama of life minced before Miss Mattie's mind about as vivid and full of red corpuscles as a Greek frieze. Her affectionate nature was starved. They visited each other, the ladies of Fairfield—these women who had rolled on the floor together as babies in their best black or green or whatever it might be, and gloves—this though the summer sun might be hammering down with all his might. And then they sat in a closed room and talked in a reserved fashion which was entirely the property of the call. Of course one could have a moment's real talk by chance meeting, and there were the natural griefs of life to break the corsets of this etiquette, although in general the griefs seemed to be long drawn out and conventional affairs, as if nature herself at last yielded to the system, conquered by the invincible conventionality and stubbornness of the ladies of Fairfield. It was the unspoken but firm belief of each of these women that a person of their circle who had no more idea of respectability than to drop dead on the public road would never go to heaven.

Poor Miss Mattie! Small wonder she dropped her hands, sat back and wondered, with another sigh, if it were for this she was born. She did not rebel—there was no violence in her—but she regretted exceedingly. In spite of her slenderness it was a wide motherlap in which her hands rested, an obvious cradle for little children. And instinctively it would come to you as you looked at her that there could be no more comfortable place for a tired man to come home to than a household presided over by this slow moving, gentle woman.

There was nothing old maidish about Miss Mattie but the tale of her years. She had had offers, such as Fairfield and vicinity could boast, and declined them with tact and the utmost gratitude to the suitor for the compliment, but her "no," though mild, was firm, for there lay within her a certain quiet valiant spirit which would rather endure the fatigue and loneliness of old age in her little house than to take a larger life from any but the man who was all—a commonplace in fiction, in real life sometimes quite a strain.

The sun distorted himself into a Rugby football and hurried down as though to be through with Fairfield as soon as possible. It was a most magnificent sunset, flaming, gorgeous, wild—beyond the management of the women of Fairfield—and Miss Mattie stared into the heart of it with a longing for something to happen. Then the thought came, "What could happen?" She sighed again, and, with eyes blinded by heaven shine, glanced down the village street.

She thought she saw—she rubbed her eyes and looked again—she did see, and surely never a stranger sight was beheld on Fairfield's street! Had a Royal Bengal tiger come slouching through the dust it could not have been more unusual. The spectacle was a man; a very large and mighty shouldered man, who looked about him with a bold, imperious, keep the change regard. There was something in the swing of him that suggested the Bengal tiger. He wore high heeled boots outside of his trousers, a flannel shirt with a yellow silk kerchief around his neck, and on his head sat a white hat which seemed to Miss Mattie to be at least a yard in diameter. Under the hat was a remarkable head of hair. It hung below the man's shoulders in a silky mass of dark scarlet flecked with brown gold. Miss Mattie had seen red hair, but she remembered no such color as this, nor could she recall ever having seen hair a foot and a half long on a man. That hair would have made a fortune on the head of an actress, but Miss Mattie was ignorant of the possibilities of the profession.

The face of the man was a fine tan, against which eyes, teeth and mustache came out in brisk relief. The mustache avoided the tropical tint of the upper hair and was content with a modest brown. The owner came right along, walking with a stiff, strong, straddling gait, like a man not used to that way of traveling.

Miss Mattie eyed him in some fear. He would be by her house directly, and it was hardly modest to sit aggressively on one's front porch while a strange man went by, particularly such a very strange man as this. Yet a thrill of curiosity held her for the moment, and then it was too late, for the man stopped and asked little Eddie Newell, who was playing placidly in the dust—all the children played placidly in Fairfield—asked Eddie in a voice which reached Miss Mattie plainly, although the owner evidently made no attempt to raise it, if he knew where Miss Mattie Saunders lived?

Eddie had not noticed the large man's approach and nearly fell over in a fright, but seeing, with a child's intuition, that there was no danger in this fierce looking person he piped up instantly.

"Y-y-yessir, I kin tell yer where she lives yessir! She lives right down there in that little house. I kin go down with you jes' swell 's not! Why, there she is now, on the stoop!"

"Thankee, sonny," said the big voice "Here's for miggies," and Miss Mattie caught the sparkle of a coin as it flew into the grimy fists of Eddie.

"Much obliged!" yelled Eddie and vanished up the street.

Miss Mattie sat transfixed. Her breath came in swallows, and her heart beat irregularly. Here was novelty with a vengeance! The big man turned and fastened his eyes upon her. There was no retreat. She noticed with some reassurance that his eyes were grave and kindly.

As he advanced Miss Mattie rose in agitation, unconsciously putting her hand on her throat. What could it mean?

The gate was opened and the stranger strode up the cinder walk to the porch. He stopped a whole minute and looked at her. At last!

"Well, Mattie!" he said, "don't you know me?"

A flood of the wildest hypotheses flashed through Miss Mattie's mind without enlightening her. Who was this picturesque giant who stepped out of the past with so familiar a salutation? Although the porch was a foot high, and Miss Mattie a fairly tall woman, their eyes were almost on a level as she looked at him in wonder.

Then he laughed and showed his white teeth. "No use to bother and worry you, Mattie," said he. "You couldn't call it in ten years. Well, I'm your half uncle Fred's boy Bill, and I hope you're a quarter as glad to see me as I am to see you."

"What!" she cried. "Not little Willy who ran away!"

"The same little Willy," he replied in a tone that made Miss Mattie laugh a little, nervously, "and what I want to know is, are you glad to see me?"

"Why, of course! But, Will—I suppose I should call you Will? I am so flustered—not expecting you—and it's been so warm today. Won't you come in and take a chair?" wound up Miss Mattie in desperation and fury at herself for saying things so different from what she meant to say.

There was a twinkle in the man's eyes as he replied in an injured tone:

"Why, good Lord, Mattie! I've come 2,000 miles or more to see you, and you ask me to take a chair just as if I'd stepped in from across the way! Can't you give a man a little warmer welcome than that?"

"What shall I do?" asked poor Miss Mattie.

"Well, you might kiss me for a start," said he.

Miss Mattie was all abroad. Still one's half cousin, who has come such a distance and been received so very oddly, is entitled to consideration. She raised her agitated face and for the first time in her life realised the pleasure of wearing a mustache.

Then Red Saunders, late of the Chanta Seechee ranch, North Dakota, sat him down.

"I'm obliged to you, Mattie," he said in all seriousness. "To tell you the truth, I felt in need of a little comforting—here I've come all this distance—and, of course, I heard about father and mother—but I couldn't believe it was true. Seemed as if they must be waiting at the old place for me to come back, and when I saw it all gone to ruin— Well, then I set out to find somebody, and do you know, of all the family there's only you and me left? That's all, Mattie, just us two! While I was growing up out west I kind of expected things to be standing still back here and be just the same as I left them—hum— Well, how are you, anyhow?"

"I'm well, Will, and"—laying her hand upon his, "don't think I'm not glad to see you—please don't. I'm so glad, Will, I can't tell you—but I'm all confused—so little happens here."

"I shouldn't guess it was the liveliest place in the world, by the look of it," said Red. "And as far as that's concerned, I kinder don't know what to say myself. There's such a heap to talk about it's hard to tell where to begin. But we've got to be friends, though, Mattie—we've just got to be friends. Good Lord. We're all there's left! Funny I never thought of such a thing! Well, blast it! That's enough of such talk. I've brought you a present, Mattie." He stretched out a leg that reached beyond the limits of the front porch and dove into his trousers pocket, bringing out a buckskin sack. He fumbled at the knot a minute and then passed it over, saying, "You untie it—your fingers are soopler than mine." Miss Mattie's fingers were shaking, but the knots finally came undone, and from the sack she brought forth a chain of rich, dull yellow lumps fashioned into a necklace. It weighed a pound. She spread it out and looked at it astounded. "Gracious, Will! Is that gold?" she asked.

"That's what," he replied. "The real article, just as it came out of the ground; I dug it myself. That's the reason I'm here. I'd never got money enough to go anywhere farther than a horse could carry me if I hadn't taken a fly at placer mining and hit her to beat h—er—the very mischief."

"He's my own cousin," she whispered to herself.

Miss Mattie looked first at the barbaric, splendid necklace and then at the barbaric, splendid man. Things grew confused before her in trying to realize that it was real. What two planets so separated in their orbits as her world and his? She had the imagination that is usually lacking in small communities, and the feeling of a fairy story come true possessed her.

"And now, Mattie," said he, "I don't know what's manners in this part of the country, but I'll make free enough on the cousin part of it to tell you that I could look at some supper without flinching. I've walked a heap today, and I ain't used to walking."

Miss Mattie sprang up, herself again at the chance to offer hospitality.

"Why, you poor man!" said she. "Of course you're starved! It must be nearly 8 o'clock. I almost forget about eating, living here alone. You shall have supper directly. Will you come in or sit a spell outside?"

"Reckon I'll come in," said Red. "Don't want to lose sight of you now that I've found you."

It was some time since Miss Mattie had felt that any one had cared enough for her not to want to lose sight of her, and a delicate warm bloom went over her cheeks. She hurried into the little kitchen.

"Mattie!" called Red.

"What is it, Will?" she answered, coming to the door.

"Can I smoke in this little house?"

"Certainly. Sit right down and make yourself comfortable. Don't you remember what a smoker father was?"

Red tried the different chairs with his hand. They were not a stalwart lot. Finally he spied the homemade rocker in the corner. "There's the lad for me," he said, drawing it out. "Got to be kinder careful how you throw 250 pounds around."

"Mercy!" cried Miss Mattie, pan in hand. "Do you weigh as much as that, Will?"

"I do," returned Red, with much satisfaction. "And there isn't over two pounds of it fat at that."

"What a great man you have grown up to be, Will!"

Red took in a deep draft of tobacco and sent the vapor clear across the little room.

"On the hay scales, yes," he answered, with a sort of joking earnestness, "but otherwise I don't know."

The return to the old home had touched the big man deeply, and as he leaned back in his chair there was a shade of melancholy on his face that became it well.

Miss Mattie took in the mass of him stretched out at his ease, his legs crossed, and the patrician cut of his face, to which the upturned mustache gave a cavalier touch. They were good stock, the Saunders, and the breed had not declined in the only two extant.

"He's my own cousin," she whispered to herself in the safety of the kitchen. "And such a splendid looking man!" She felt a pride of possession she had never known before. Nobody in Fairfield or vicinity had such a cousin as that. And Miss Mattie went on joyfully fulfilling an inherited instinct to minister to the wants of some man. She said to herself there was some satisfaction in cooking for somebody else. But slack-a-day, Miss Mattie's ideas of the wants of somebody else had suffered a Fairfield change. Nothing was done on a large scale in Fairfield. But she sat the little cakes—lucky that she had made them yesterday—and the fried mush and the small pitcher of milk and the cold ham and the cold biscuit on the table with a pride in the appearance of the feast.

"Supper's ready, Will," she said.

Red responded instanter. He took a look at the board and understood. He ate the little cakes and biscuit and said they were the durned best he ever tasted. He also took some pot cheese under a misapprehension, swallowed it and said to himself that he had been through worse things than that. Then, when his appetite had just begun to develop, the inroads on the provisions warned him that it was time to stop. Meanwhile they had ranged the fields of old times at random, and as Red took in Miss Mattie, pink with excitement and sparkling as to eyes, he thought, "Blast the supper! It's a square meal just to look at her. If she ain't pretty good people, I miss my guess."

It was a merry meal. He had such a way of telling things! Miss Mattie hadn't laughed so much for years, and she felt that there was no one that she had known so long and so well as Cousin Will. There was only one jarring note—Red spoke of the vigorous celebration that had been followed by the finding of gold. It was certainly well told, but Miss Mattie asked in soft horror when he had finished, "You didn't get—intoxicated—Will?"

"Did I?" said he, lost in memory and not noticing the tone. "Well, I put my hand down the throat of that man's town and turned her inside out! It was like as if Christmas and Fourth of July had happened on the same day."

"Oh, Will," cried Miss Mattie, "I can't think of you like that—rolling in the gutter!" Her voice shook and broke off. Her knowledge of the effect of stimulants was limited to Fairfield's one drunkard—old Tommy McKee, a disreputable old Irishman—but drunkenness was the worst vice in her world.

"Rolling in the gutter!" cried Red in astonishment. "Why, girl, what for would I roll in the gutter? What's the fun in that? Jiminy Christmas! I wanted to walk on the telegraph wires. There wasn't anything in that town high enough for me. What put gutters into your head?"

"I—I supposed people did that when they were—like that."

"I wouldn't waste my money on whisky if that's all the inspiration I got out of it," replied Red.

"Well, of course I don't know about those things, but I wish you'd promise me one thing."

"Done!" cried Red. "What is it?"

"I wish you'd promise me not to touch whisky again."

"Phew! That's a pretty big order!" He stopped and thought a minute. "If you'll make that 'never touch it when it ain't needed,' leaving when it's needed to what's my idea of the square thing on a promise, I'll go you, Mattie. There's my hand."

"Oh, I shouldn't have said anything at all, Will. I have no right, but it seemed such a pity such a splendid man—I mean—I think— You mustn't promise me anything, Will," stammered Miss Mattie, shocked at her own daring.

"Here!" he cried. "I'm no little kid! When I promise I mean it! As for your not having any right, ain't we all there is? You've got to be mother and sister and aunt and everything to me. I ain't as young as I have been, Mattie, and I miss she-ways terrible at times. Now, put out your fin like a good partner, and here goes for no more rhinecaboos for Chanta Seechee Red—time I quit drinking, anyhow," he slipped a ring off his little finger. "Here, hold out your hand," said he. "I'll put this on for luck and the sake of the promise—by the same token, I've got a noose on you now, and you're my property."

"Why do you say olden times?" asked a little girl who had been listening to a Bible story. "Times are ever so much older now than they were then."

TO MAKE KEENE MORE BEAUTIFUL

The Improvement Association Doing Good Work—Cement Sidewalks Extending—All the Villagers Assist.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION

Examiner Special.

Keene, March 20.—The following is the report of the annual meeting of the Keene Village Improvement Association held in the Council Chamber Wednesday evening.

The president, Mr. James McNeil occupied the chair.

Mr. Shearer presented the financial statement which showed a deficit for the year of $155.00. On motion of Mr. Wm. Drummond, seconded by Rev. D D McDonald the statement was accepted.

Mr. Jas. McNeil was re-elected President and Mr. Andrew Shearer, Secretary-treasurer for the coming year. Mr. Thomas McIntyre was recommended for the office of road-master for the coming year and Dr. W T Harrison and J C Read were appointed to interview the council regarding the appointment.

The following gentlemen were appointed members of the executive committee—Messrs. Wm. Campbell, Dr. W T Harrison, James Henderson, Wm. Drummond, J C Read, Wm. Shore, John Lang and Thos. McIntyre. Messrs. J J Moore, J R McIntyre and R J McCamus were re-appointed members of the Entertainment Committee.

Mr. S Smithson moved, seconded by Mr. Wm. Drummond, a vote of thanks to the Entertainment Committee for their services during the past year.—Carried.

Mr. R J McCamus responded thanking the association for their appreciation and giving reasons why entertainments were not held in the latter part of the year as had been intended.

A discussion took place regarding plans for raising funds during the coming year, as well as on the improvements to be put on the streets during the coming year, the matter finally being left in the hands of the executive committee with the recommendation that the cement sidewalk on Bridge street be extended as far as Messrs. Anderson & Stewart's store, if the necessary funds are available.

Messrs. James Henderson and William Drummond were appointed to take charge of the work of cleaning up the streets on Arbour Day, the first Friday in May.

Financial Report

During the past year the society has spent $398.17, most of the expenditure being for about nine hundred feet of cement sidewalk.

The receipts for the year were: $117.00, commutation of statute labour; $50.00, township grant, and $76.11 raised by concerts and excursions, and from private subscription. Besides the above the association has done as usual a great deal of voluntary labour on the streets. An instance of this is the case last year where the cost of grading about 900 feet of road was only six dollars for one man and team two days, the balance of the work being done by members of the Association.

Since the formation of the association six years ago the sum of six hundred and fifty-three dollars and twenty-six cents has been raised by by voluntary subscriptions, concerts, dances and excursions. The association has by voluntary subscriptions, concerts, etc., paid for about fifty per cent. of the expenditure on the village streets and the amount of voluntary labour would be difficult to estimate, but must, at a conservative estimate, have been worth over a thousand dollars during the last six years.

Before the association was formed there was only a small strip of cement sidewalk and the board walks were in a bad condition. Now the cement sidewalks extend nearly all over the village all excepting about a hundred and fifty feet of board walk being replaced by cement, and cement sidewalks in many places where before there were no walks at all. Besides a considerable amount of draining and grading has been done and the streets have been wonderfully improved as regards neatness and cleanliness.

They all Assist

While, as is usually the case in any such undertaking, the heaviest share of work has fallen on the shoulders of a few of the members, yet, all the residents of the village have taken part in the work and there is not a citizen of Keene who has not helped the association either by voluntary subscriptions or labour, and none but are proud of the cleanliness and neatness of the streets.

If the active liver of the cod-fish could be put into the place of the torpid liver of the consumptive it would probably do him a world of good. Next best thing is
